Paul to Tymothy. ii. Tymo. iii.

All Scripture geuen by inspiracyon of God. is profitable to teache / to imptoule / to amende to instruct in rightnesse / the ma of God maye be perfect & prepared to al good works.

The same to the Rom. xv.

What thynges so euer are wyrtten / are wyrtten for our lernyng: that we thozou pacyfe and comforyth of the Scripture / myght haue hope.

Salomon Proverb. xxx.

All the worde of God is pure & cleane / it is a thyde vnto the that put their trust in it. But nothyng vnto hys wordes / lest he reprove the and thou be founde a liar.

Moses to the people. Deut. xxi.

Ye shall not do euery man what seemeth hym good in hys awne eyes: But whatsoeuer
I commaunde you / that take heede ye do: and put nought therto / ner toke ought therfrom.

The Lorde vnto Iosua. Iosue. i.

Let not the booke of this lawe departe oute of thy mouth: But reorde therein daye and nyght / that thou mayest be circumspect to do accordyng to all that is wyrtten therein. For then shalt thou make thy waye prosperous / and thyn shalt thou haue vnderstandyng.
Turne therfrom nether to the ryght hande / ner to the lefte: that thou mayest haue vnderstandyng in all that thou takest in hande.

The same to the people. Exodi. xxi.

And thou shalt shew thy sonne at that tyme / sayyng: This is done because of that whych the Lorde dyd vnto me when I came out of Egypte. Therfore it shall be a sygne vnto the vpon thyn hande / and a remembraunce betwene thyn eyes / that the Lordes lawe maye be in thy mouth. For with a stronge hande the Lorde brought the oute of Egypte.

Moses. Deutero. xxxi.

Se that thou reade this lawe before all Israell in their eares. Gather the people together / both men / women / and chyldren and the straungers that are in thy cytyes: that they maye heare / lerne / and feare the Lorde your God / to kepe all the wordes of this lawe.

To the moost noble and gracious

Prinse Kyng Henry the eyght/kyng of England and of Fraunce/Lorde of Ireland &c. Defender of the faythe: and under God the chiefe and supreme head of the church of Engeland.

I hath bene vfed of olde auncient custome (moost redoubted and prudent Prinse) to dedicate soche booke as men put forth in to lyght (whether they be made of their awne indurte and proper wyttes / or translated forthe of one language in to another) to some noble Prinse/Kyng or Emperour / or otherwyse excellent in byth or renoune: to thynkt that the woork myght freely and boldely be occupied in the hādes of men/as a thyng hauyng saucondet & beyng put in to the tustyon of the Prinse / vnto whom it is offred a dedycate. This custome not onely auncient but also laudable / haue youre synygular and rare gyftes in wooldy regyment / and the vertuous and Godly moderation of mayntenyng true preachers for the inducyng of your symple subiectes to the syncretie and purenes of Chrystes Gospell: with the other many folde and synygular vertues / wherewith the Prinse of Princes hath indued your hyghnes / encozaged me to enbrace. For vnto whom or in to whose proteccyon shulde the defence of soche a woork be soner comyted (wherin are contayned the infallible promyses of mercy in the olde testament ptefigured & in the newe fulfilled / with the whole summe of Chrystianitye) then vnto his maiestye / which not onely by name and tyle / but moost euidently & openly / moost Chrystenly & with moost Godly pollicye / bothe professe the defence therof.

The want of lernynge / the obscurenes & lownes of byth / the lack of youre graces knowledge &c. shuld haply haue vterly forbydden me / to haue interpyled the dedycation herof to so purpauant a Prinse: But the experience of youre graces benygntyte / wher-throughe your prayse is renoumed and hyghly magnified / euen amōge straungers and alyenges / not alone amōge your awne subiectes / the Godly moderation of youre heuenly polycye / wherewith ye suppress supersticyon and mayntene true holynes / inflameth me to some part of boldenes: Specyally syth the thyng which I dedycate is soch as your grace studyeth dayly to forther. In which studie & endeuoure he cōtynue you / which hath moued you to so holefome a purpose: and geue the same dyligence vnto other Christen Princes and forren potentates / that he hath breathed & indyled in to your bzeate.

For the cheafe & princypall thyng appertaynyng to Princes & nobles (which thyng it is good to se that your grace doth well consyder) is to defende / forther / set out & augment the knowledge of God. Moses & saythfull seruaunt of the Lorde / prophesying by hys spete & Israel shulde haue a Kyng / comāunded: that he ones set on hys seat of his kyngdome / shulde reade the seconde lawe (meanynge the boke of Deuteronomy) all the dayes of his lyfe: to thynkt that he myght learne to feare the Lorde his God / for to kepe all the wordes of his lawe & ordynances / and that he shulde not retorne from the comāndement ether to the right hand or to the left. He perceaued / vnderstanded that yf the Prinse himselfe were so affectuously animated vnto the keepynge of the lawe / as he is there expressely comāunded: it shulde not a lytell inflame hym to an ardent and burnyng zeale of lettynge out Goddes glozpe / in fortherynge the thynges in that lawe expessed: And knowe what wholsome and Godly lawes soche a kyng wolde endeuoure hym selfe to enstablyshe / by which the lawe of God myght the better be obserued / & the largelyr and forther spynge a broade: And saw right well that soch a Prinse coulde not but will his subiectes to craue & folowe all the poyntes of that lawe / which he him selfe was so straghtly bounde both to kepe & reade. Further in that he willett the Kynges of Israel / not ones to swaue from the lawe of the Lorde ether to the right hande or to the left / he instructeth them / to fulfill the mynde of God playnly / purely / without puttynge to or takynge therfrom / without supersticyon: not to be exalted thozou prosperytye / ner delecte in aduersytye: to cleane and leane vnto the woide of God in tyme of glozpe & renoune / and in tyme of dishonoure and ignomye. O amplyte right welnes & to loue heritye: which thyngs sene in h noblyte / adde no smal spozre vnto the comens to imitate & folow the same. Yee they so woich in h herites of the noble / that they be enforced what by ensample of tye / & by pollicye ordynances to h bse inuented / to allure soche as be vnder their subieccyon to h performace therof.

Unto the Kynges Maiestye.

therof. That Moses there comādueth vnto the kyngs of Israel / parrayneth vnto all Princes of the Chrysten name. That he there calleth the lawe is to be the holy scripture & woide of h moost holy & myghtie God. Vnto princes (euery one in his dominion) belongeth the amplyfyng therof / as of the roce of all Godlynes. Now in as moche as the Lorde hath rayfied you by befoze other princes of our tyme / moost earnestly to hearken vnto this comāndement of his seruaunt Moses / & to attempt the thynges that do not a lytel auadice Goddes glozpe: & hath also opened your eyes to se the falsheed of the subtel al. the immocency of the Godly: to note the wynges of the chylden of this woide / & the symplecete of the holy to extyng a bowthe enome & synful abuses / and in their steads to rote & syre the right / true / & pfect doctrine of Chrystianitye: ther is founde no man / w. so whom h translacion of the Lordes lawe can so woithely be offred and dedycate as vnto your moost gracious hyghnes. For nothing myght but that it shal moost acceptably come in to your moost sauourable & sure proteccyon. Therof both your peculiar desyre of fortherynge soche lyke laboures sufficiencyly assure me. It is no bulgare or comen thyng wherby is offred in to your graces proteccyon / but the blessed woide of God: which is euerydayng & ca not fayle / though heaue & earth shuld perishe. So pfectious a thyng requyeth a singular good patron & defendar / & findeth no other vnto whō the defence therof may so fully be comitted as vnto your graces maiestye. It is h lawe of the celestiall kyng which ruleth all thynges with a becke / & yet is it some tyme greatly forthered or hyned by the ayde & hyndradice of earthly & wooldy princes. Longe & oft was it obscured & darchened / yee & in maner cleane abolisshed in tyme of the comen wealtch of Israel. The wyse suggeling of preaches in persuadynge h princes & rulers to be conformable to their inuencions / & the rather beleuynge people / which thought euerythyng an oracle that the prestes bzeched in to their bzeates / dyd oft & many tymes fyll all full of supersticyon and ydolatre.
From the tyme of Abrahā vnto h raygne of kyng Dezekiah / save a few holynes and the perfect sekyng of God vterly oppressed: And Dezekiah in his tyme renued the lawe to hys proteccyon / & hath therfore hys woithy prayse in the scripture: But hys sonne Manasseh set by agayne all the wychednes that his father had suppressed. Josiah after he had one reade the boke of the lawe founde in h temple / let no tyme slipp tyll he had called all Israel together / put downe all kyndes of ydolatre / & holden the feast of passouer accordynge to the lawe. Hys sonne Jehoahaz / with the rest of the kyngs folowing dyd discontent and displeas the Lorde / mayntenyng supersticy & ydolatre in steade of godlynes / & causynge the people to applye the selues thereto. The number of the euell kynges was usually greater than the nombze of the good / as the boke of h kyngs & Paral. do clearly testifie.
Soch was h subtelte of h false prophetes & they fyrt & principally bewitched h princes to h defence of their imaginacions: whō / as their head / h people were cōstrayned to folow.
The youth of Manasseh was a mete praye for the false prophetes and prestes of Baal / which dyd instant hym / compasse hym / and leade hym as it hath bene with a lyne to their trade of ydolatre. They had learned in the tyme of Abrahā to do sacryfice vnto ydoles / wher-by their lucre & aduantage was not a lytell increased: which thyngs / for feare of puny-ment be ye sure / they had intermytted and left of all the Raygne of that good kyng Deze-kiah. In his dayes they were cōpelled to haue the lawe of God in honoure. They in deade abhorred the true woithyppynge of God / but dyd obey the kynges comāndementes say-nedly thozow hypocryte / and were in hert moost wyched and wretched. But they so subtelly depraued the tyme of the domynyon of young Manasseh that they persuaded hym by their craft to relect and let alpe the lawe of the Lorde / as the new founde releygyō of hys father Dezekiah: & to receaue the supersticyōs which his fore father Abrahā / as moare aged & wyser had instytute: yee and those agreeable to the lawes of other nacyns. Hys applyable and conformable wyttes yd they to be bewitch / that he thought it greates holynes to dysanull all that his father had moost godly redressed: & to retayne all the olde supersticyons / rytes and customes of ydolaters: to kyll & slaye all that by any meanes shewd loue or zeale to true religyō & godlynes: so that he cruelly filled the cytie of Ierusalem with the bloode of the ydophetes / & of soch as warred & fought agaynst ydolatre. In lyke maner dyd they with Jehoahaz / which shortly had put downe his fathers decrees: lettynge moare by h supersticyōs of his fore father Abrahā / than by the godlynes of his good father Josiah. False prophetes / hypocrytes / prestes / & the mutable & vnconstant comenaltye / haue euer bene ready to re-ceae their olde phantastycall dreames / & haue for the moost parte continually perswaded agaynst the true ydolaters & preachers of the Lorde. The exāples herof / yf there shulde be many be rehearsed as h Chronycles of all tymes domenyōs wolde make a great & an huge volume. Whether thyngs I it be to trouble your grace to a so longe a pcesse as to reite the. And the experiences of soch as shall hereafter come / are only knowe vnto h Lorde: whether knoweth any man what chaunge may fall. But for þe fortunate & prosperous estate of this oure tyme (so farre as concerneth this your graces Realme) are hygh and vncallable chanches to be geuen vnto the Lorde of Lorde: which hath dealt somerfully wth the inhabytauntes therof / as to sende them a Prince that continually studyeth to be the enryched in all poyntes of true godlynes. Who so remayneth vnto this day here / is not alone vngodly but also wretched. For soche a Prince as geueth no care vnto þe inchauntementes of false preachers is one of the greatest gyftes of God / & soch a wretchedly blessing to a comen wealth as requyeth an earnest thanckesgeuyng therfore.

That Hezekiah and Josiah were vnto Israel / the same is your grace vnto þe Realme of England: yee the goodly haue greates hope that your prayse shalbe fauourable theys. They byhelde the verye a true wozshippinge of God / but onely for their awne tymes. Your graces wysdome / illumyned of God / shall (we trust) so fymely stablyse the trade of Godlynes in your lyfe tyme / that it shall neuertheless flozpy after your decesse. Your deuyne gouernance / no lesse fortunate than polytique / putteth vs in hope of soch a redress as shalbe permanent and durable / and so luerly grounded / that the wont suggelyng & venemous persuasions of false preachers shall not be so noysome vnto your posterite / as they haue bene vnto the former age. This hope haue the godly euil of foxen & straunge nacyns in your graces goodnes / moche moare they of your awne realme. Soche confidence haue they conceaued by your former actes / wherthoug your grace hath so exceedingly profyted this affayre. The euershyng Lorde so prosper your begonne purpose vnto soch effect / that the thinge may be cotynually which ye haue begonne: And so directly oute his myghty hande and woche so strongly in you / that no stoarme of false Prophetes (the verye destroyers of Princes and Realmes) maye hereafter be able to extynct the lyght / whych now in your graces dayes hath begonne to shyne: And double vnto you the addycion of yeares that was geuen vnto Hezekiah / ouer and aboue those that ye shulde naturally lyue / that ye maye the better accomplysh your moost godly intent: And enspyre soch streames of grace in to your breast / that you perseuerynge vnto the ende / maye leaue behynde you this testimony of glozpe: that ye haue truly defended the pure sayth of Christ / maynteyned his holy woide / suppressed superstycion / delecte & put away Idolatrye / ended the blasphemie of false Prophetes / & brought your realme vnto the true trade of godlynes: And bleste you at this present wth a sonne / by your moost gracious wyfe Quene Jane / which may prosperously & fortunately raygne / & folowe the godly steppes of his father: And after your grace shall geue place to nature / and forsake this mortall lyfe / graunte you the rewarde of that vnspeakable and celestyal foze / whych no eye hath sene / no eare hearde / noz can ascende into the herte of man.

To the Chrysten Readers.

The grace and peace of God be geuen vnto you by Iesus Christe.

As the bees oyllyently do gather together swete flowers / to make by naturall craft the swete honny / so haue I done the pryncypall sentences conteyned in the Byble. The whych are ordered after the maner of a table / for the consolacion of those whych are not yet exercysed / & instructed in the holy Scripture. In the whych are many harde places / as well of the olde as of the newe Testament expounded / gathered together / concolored / and compared one wth another: to thintent that the prudent Reader / by the sperte of God / maye beare awaye pure and cleare vnderstandenge. Wherby euery man (as he is bounde) maye be made ready / stronge and garnished to answeere to all them that aske hym a reason of his sayth. This is also profytable for the particular and generall exhortacions whych we make to certayne personages / or comune people: & so to answer truly to Heretiques / & to confounde the aduersaries of the woide of God. In the whych also we may fynde (by which helpe) greatly the studie of the readers / the openyng of certayne Hebrew tropes / translacyns / & synonimes / and maners of speakynge (whych we call Phrases) conteyned in the Byble. And for the more easely to fynde the matters desyred (because that by disorder engendzeth confusyon) I haue proceeded after the order of an Alphabete: so thintente that none be depyued of so preycious a treasure: the whych ye shall see to the honoure and glozpe of God / and to the edyfyinge of his Church. Now be it (good Reader) yf thou fynde not the thynges in this table expressed / in the same letters of the Chapters wherin they are assygned: vouchsaue to loke in þe letter goyng next before or in the letter next folowynge.

erth. And all the herbes of the felde before they sprange / for the Lorde God had yet sent no rayne vpon the erth / neither was there yet any man to tyle the erth. But there arose a myste out of the ground / & watered all the face of the erth: Then the Lorde God * Hope man / vnto the mould of the erth / & bryght into hys face the bryght of lyfe. So * ma was made a luyng soule.

The Lorde God also planted a garden in Eden from the begynnyng / & there he sette man whō he had formed. And the Lorde God made to sprynge out of the erth / all maner trees betwixt to the syght and pleasant to eate / & the tree of lyfe in the mydd of the garden: & also the tree of knowledge of good & euell.

And there sprange a ruer out of Eden to water the garden / & thence deuyded it selfe / & grew in to foure pryncypall waters. The name of the one is * Phison / he it is that compasseth all the lande of * Heupla / where gold groweth. And the golde of that contrey is precious / ther is founde Bedellyp / & a stone called Onix. The name of the second ruer is Gihon / which compasseth all the lande of * Sude.
And the name of the thyrde ruer is * Hydelhell / whych runneth on the easte syde of the * Atyryan. And the fourth ruer is * Euphrates.

And the Lorde God toke * Ada / & put hym in the garden of Eden / to dreffe it & to kepe it.
And the Lorde God commaunded * Ada saynge:
Of all the trees of the garden se thou eate:
But of the tree of knowledge of good & euell se thou eate not: for euen the same daye thou eatest of it thou shalt dye the dethe.

And the Lorde God sayde: It is not good that man shuld be alone / I will make hym an helper to beare hym company. And after that the Lorde God had made of the erth all maner beastes of the felde / & all maner foules of the ayre / he brought them vnto Adam to se what he wolde call them. And as Adam called all maner luyng beastes / euen so are their names. And Adam gaue names vnto all maner catell / & vnto the foules of the ayre / & vnto all maner beastes of the felde. But ther was no helpe founde vnto Ada to beare hym company.

Then the Lorde God cast a slumber on Ada / and he slepte. And then he toke out one of hys ribbes / & in steede ther of he filled by the place with flesch. And the Lorde God made of the ribbe which he toke out of Adam * a woman: and brought her vnto Adam. Then sayde Adam: Thys is once bone of my bones / & flesch of my flesch. Thys shall be called woman: because she was take of the man. * For thys cause shall a man leue father & mother / & cleue vnto hys wyfe / & they shall be one flesch. And they were ether of the naked / bothe Adam & hys wyfe / and were not ashamed.

The serpent deceaueth the woman. The serpent the woman & the man are cursed / and dryuen out of Paradise. Thys our sauour is promysed.

The iii. Chapter.

At the serpent was soryller than all the beastes of the felde / whych the Lorde God had made: & sayde vnto the woman: ye hath God sayd in bede / ye shall not eate of all maner trees in the garden: And the woman sayde vnto the serpent / of the frute of the trees in the garden we may eate / but of the frute of the tree that is in the myddes of the garden (sayd God) se ye eate not / & se that ye touche it not / lest ye dye.
Then sayde the serpent vnto the woman: truly ye shall not dye: but God doth knowe when ye euer ye shuld eate of it / your eyes shulde be opened / & ye shulde be as God / and knowe both good & euell. And the woman sawe that it was a good tree to eate of / & lusty vnto the eyes / & a pleasant tree for to geue vnderstondyng. And toke of the frute of it & ate / and gaue vnto hys husband also with her / and he ate. And the eyes of bothe them were opened / that they vnderstode how that they were naked. And they sowed figge leues toggeder and made them apurys.

And they herde the voyce of the Lorde God as he walked in the garden in the coole of the daye. And Adam hyd hym selfe & hys wyfe also from the face of the Lorde God / amonge the trees of the garden. And the Lorde God called Ada / & sayd vnto hym: where art thou?
And he answered: thy voyce I hearde in the garden / but I was afrayed / because I was naked / & therfore hyd my selfe. And he sayde:
Who tolde the that thou wast naked? hast thou eate of the tree / of which I bade the that thou shuldest not eate? And Adam answered: The woman whych thou gauest to bere me company she toke me of the tree / & I ate. And the Lorde God sayde vnto the woman: wherfore dydest thou so? And the woman answered: The serpent deceaued me and I ate.

And the Lorde God sayde vnto the serpent: because thou haste so done moste cursed be thou of all catell & of all beastes of the felde: vpon thy bely shalt thou go: and erth shalt thou eate all dayes of thy lyfe. Moreover I will

will put hatred betwene the & the woman / & betwene thy seed and hys seed. And that seed shall tread the on thy heed / and thou shalt treade it on the heile.

And vnto the woman he sayde: I will suer ly increase thy sorow / and make the oft with chylde / & with payne shalt thou be deliuered:
And thy lustes shall pertayne vnto thy husband / and he shall rule the.

And vnto Adam he sayde: For as moche as thou hast obeyed the voyce of thy wyfe / and hast eate of the tree of which I commaunded the / saynge: Se thou eate not therof: cursed be the erth for thy sake. In sorow shalt thou eate therof all dayes of thy lyfe: And it shall beare thornes & thystels vnto the. And thou shalt eate the herbes of the felde. In the sweete of thy face shalt thou eate bryde / vntill thou returne vnto the erth whiche thou wast take: for erth thou art / & vnto erth shalt thou returne.

And Adam called hys wyfe Heua / because she was the mother of all that liueth. And the Lorde God made Ada & hys wyfe garmentes of skynnes / and put them on them. And the Lorde God sayde: Lo / Adam is become as it were one of vs / in knowledge of good and euell. But now lest he stretch forth hys hand and take also of the tree of lyfe / & eate & lyue euer. And the Lorde God cast hym out of the garden of Eden / to tyle the erth whence he was taken. And he cast Adam out / & sette at the enterynge of the garden Eden / Cherubin with a naked swerde mourynge in and out / to kepe the waye to the tree of lyfe.

Cayn killeth hys ryghteous brother Abell. Cayn dispayreth & is cursed. The generacyon of Enoch / Mathufael / Tubal / Lamech / Seth and Enos.

The iiii. Chapter.

Ada laye with Heua hys wyfe / whych conceaued a bare Cayn / & sayde: I haue gotten a man of the Lorde. And he proceded forth / and bare hys brother Abell: And Abell became a sheperde / and Cayn became a plowman.

And it fortunied in procelle of tyme / that Cayn brought of the frute of the erth / an offeryng vnto the Lorde. And Abell he brought also of the fyrstlynges of hys shepe / & of the fatt of the. And the Lorde looked vnto * Abell and to hys offering / but vnto Cayn and vnto hys offering hys offeringe looked he not. And Cayn was wroth exceedingly / & loured. And the Lorde sayde vnto Cayn: why art thou angry? & why lourest thou? doest thou not yet thou dost well thou shalt recceue it: But and yet thou dost euell / by a by thy synne lyeth open in the doze. Not withstanding let it be subdued vnto the / and see thou rule it. And Cayn talked with Abell hys brother.

And as soone as they were in the felde /

Cayn fell vpon * Abell hys brother / & slawe * Sapien. r. a.
hym. And the Lorde sayde vnto Cayn: where is thy brother? where is Abell thy brother? And he sayde: I can not tell / am I my brothers keeper? And he sayde: What hast thou done? The voyce of thy brothers blood cryed vnto me oute of the erth. b. Cryeth that

And Cayn sayde vnto the Lorde: my synne is greater / then that it may be * forgiven. Be * Job. r. b. holde thou castest me out thys daye from the face of the erth / & fro thy syght must I hyde my selfe / & I must be wandryng and a vagabunde vpon the erth: Moreover whosoever synneth me / will kyll me. And the Lorde sayd vnto him: Not so / but whosoever sleth Cayn shall be punished. b. folde. And the Lorde put a marke vpon Cayn that no man that founde hym shulde kyll him. And Cayn went out fro the face of the Lorde / and dwelt in the lande Nod / on the east syde of Eden.

And Cayn laye with hys wyfe / which conceaued a bare Enoch. And he was burying a cyle / & called the name of it after the name of hys sonne / Enoch. And Enoch begat Irad. And Irad begat Mahuail. And Mahuail begat Mathufael. And Mathufael begat Lamech. And Lamech toke hym two wy-ues: the one is called Ada / & the other Zilla.
And Ada bare Qabal / of whome came they that dwell in tentes / & possesse catell. And hys brothers name was Jubal / of hym came all that exercise them selues on the harpe & on the organs. And Zilla she also bare Tubalcayn a worker in metall & a father of all that graue in brasse & yeron. And Tubalcayn sister was called Naema.

Then sayde Lamech vnto hys wyues Ada & Zilla: heare my voyce ye wyues of Lamech & herke vnto my wordes / for I haue slayne a man & wounded my selfe / & haue slayn a yong man / & gotte my selfe stryppes: for Cayn shall be auenged sevenfolde / but Lamech sevenie tymes sevenfolde. Adam also laye with hys wyfe yet agayne / & she bare a sonne & called

The cause of the floude. God warneth Noe of the comyng of the floude. The preparing of the arche.

The. vii. Chapter.

Noe it came to passe/whā men began to multiply vpon the erth/a had begot them daughters/the sonnes of God sawe the daughters of men which they best lyked amōge the all. And the Lozde sayde: My spirite shall not all waye sturue wth mā/for they are flesh. Neuerthelesse I will geue the yet space an. c. & xxx. yeres.

There were tytates in the worlde in those dayes. For after that the chyldre of God had gone in vnto the daughters of men/a had begotten them chyldre/the same chyldre were the mightiest of the worlde/and of renowne. And whā the Lozde sawe the wickednesse of man was encreased vpon the erth/a that all the ymagynacion and thoughtes of hys hert was only euell continually/he repented that he had made man vpon the erth/and sozowed in hys hert. And sayd: I will destroy man/hynde whych I haue made/from of the face of the erth: both man/beast/worme and foule of the ayre/for it repenteth me that I haue made them. But yet Noe founde grace in the sight of the Lozde.

These are the generacions of Noe. Noe was a ryghteous man & vncorrupte in hys tyme/a walked wth God. And Noe begat. iij. sonnes: Sem/Ham/ & Japheth. And the erth was corrupt in the syght of God/a was full of mischete. And God looked vpon the erth/a lo it was corrupte: for all flesh had corrupted hys waye vpon the erth.

Then sayde God to Noe: the ende of all flesh is come before me/for the erth is full of their myschete. And lo/ I will destroye them wth the erth. Make the an arche of pyne tree/and make chaumbers in the arche/and pytch it within & without wth pytch. And of this sayon shalt thou make it.

The length of the arche shall be. iij. hundred cubytes/a the bredth of it. i. cubytes/a the heyth of it. xxx. cubytes. A wyndow shalt thou make aboue in the arche. And within a cubyte copasse shalt thou fynysh it. And the doze of the arche shalt thou sette in the syde of it: & thou shalt make it wth. iij. loftes one aboue a nother. For beholde/ I will brynge in a floud a floud of water vpon the erth to destroye all flesh fro vnder heauē/wherin bryeth of lyfe is: so that all that is in the erth shall perishe. But I will make myne apoyntment wth the/that both thou shalt come into the arche and thy sonnes/ thy wyfe & thy sonnes wyues wth the.

And of all that lyueth what so euer flesh is be/ shalt thou brynge into the arche/ of euery thyng a payre/ to kepe them a lyue wth the. And male & female se that they be/ of byrdes in their kynde/ & of bestes in their kynde/ & of all maner of wormes of the erth in their kynde: a payre of euery thyng shall come vnto the to kepe them a lyue. And take vnto the of all maner of meate that may be eaten and laye it vp in stooze by the/ & it may be meate bothe for the and for them: and Noe dyd accordyng to all that God commaunded hym.

The entraince of Noe & them that were wth him into the arche. The rpyng of the floude wherwth all thynges dyd perishe.

The. vii. Chapter.

Noe the Lozde sayde vnto Noe: Go in to the arche bothe thou and all thy household. For the haue I sene ryghteous before me in this generacion. Of all cleue bestes take vnto the seuen of euery kynde/the male & female/and of vncleue bestes a payre/the male & hys fe wyche manerth male: lythe wyfe of the byrdes of the ayre seue the the sonnes of euery kynde/male and female to saue seed of God as I sende rayne vpon the erth. xj. dayes and. xj. nyghtes/a I will destroye all maner of thyngs that I haue made/fro of the face of the erth.

And Noe dyd accordyng to all that the Lozde commaunded hym: & Noe was. vi. hundred yere olde/ whē the floud of water came vpon the erth: & Noe wēt & hys sonnes & hys wyfe & hys sonnes wyues wth him/into the arche fro the waters of the floud. And of cleue bestes/ & of the bestes that were vncleue/ & of byrdes and of all that crepeth vpon the erth/ came in by cooples of euery kynde vnto Noe into the arche/a male & a female: eue as God commaunded Noe. And the seuenth daye the waters of the floude came vpon the erth.

In the. vi. hundred yere of Noes lyfe/ in the seconde moneth/ in the. xviij. daye of the month/that same daye were all the founteynes of the greates depe broke vp/ & the wyndowes of heauen were opened/ & there fell a rayne vpon the erth. xj. dayes & xj. nyghtes.

And the selfe same daye went Noe/ Sem/ Ham & Japheth/ Noes sonnes/ & Noes wyfe & the. iij. wyues of hys sonnes wth the in to the arche: bothe they & all maner of beast in their kynde/ and all maner of catell in their kynde/ & all maner of wormes that crepe vpon the erth in their kynde/ & all maner of byrdes in their kynde/ & all maner of foules what so euer had feders. And they came vnto Noe in to the arche by cooples/ of all flesh that had bryeth of lyfe in it. And they that came/ came male & female of euery flesh accordyng as God commaunded hym: & the Lozde shut the doze vpon hym. And the floud came. xj. dayes and. xj. nyghtes vpon the erth/ & the water increased & bare vp the arche/ & it was lyfte vp fro of the erth. And the water preuayled & increased exceedingly vpon the erth: & the arche wēt vpon the toppe of the waters. And the waters preuayled exceedingly aboue mesure vpon the erth/ so that all the hye hylls which are vnder all the partes of heauē were couered: euen. xv. cubytes hie preuayled the waters/ so that the hylls were couered.

And all flesh that moued on the erth/ bothe byrdes/catell and bestes perished/ wth all that crepte on the erth & all men: so that all that had the bryeth of lyfe in the nostrils of it thozow out all that was on drye lande/dyed. Thus was destroyed all that was vpon the erth/ both man/beastes/wormes & foules of the ayre/ so that they were destroyed fro the erth: laue Noe was reserued only & they that were wth him in the arche. And the waters preuayled vpon the erth an hundred & a. i. dayes.

After the sendyng forth of the rauen & the doue Noe went forth of the arche. He offereth sacrifice. & he maketh of mannes heart.

The. viij. Chapter.

Noe God remembred Noe & all the beasts & all the catell that were wth him in the arche. And God made a wynde to blowe vpon the erth/ & the waters ceased: & the fountaynes of the depe & the wyndowes of heauē were stoppe/ & the rayne of heauē was sozbydde/ & the waters returned from of the erth/ & abated after the ende of an hundred and. i. dayes.

And the arche rested vpon the mountayns of Ararat/the. xviij. daye of the. viij. moneth. And the waters went awaye/ & decreased vntill the. x. moneth. And the fyft daye of the. x. moneth/ & toppes of the mounteyns appered.

And after the ende of. xj. dayes Noe opened the wyndows of the arche which he had made/ & sent forth a rauen/ which went out/ euer & a. iij. goyng

And he abode yet. viij. dayes more/ and sent out the doue agayne out of the arche/ & the doue came to hym agayne about euentye/ & beholde/ there was in hyr mouth a lefe of an olyue tree whyche she had plucked: whereby Noe perceaued that the waters were abated upon the erth. And he tarped yet. viij. other dayes/ and sent forth the doue/ whych from thence forth came no more agayne to hym.

And it came to passe/ the sixte hundred and one yere & the fyrst daye of the fyrst moneth/ that the waters were dreyed by vpon the erth. And Noe toke of the hatches of the arche/ & looked: and beholde/ the face of the erth was drye. So by the. xxiij. daye of the second mo- neth the erth was drye.

I make my bonde with you/ that hence forth all flesh shall not be destroyed with the waters of any floud/ & that henceforth there shall not be a floud to destroy the erth.

And God sayde: This is the token of my bonde whych I make betwene me & you/ & betwene all lyuyng thyng that is with you for euer: I will sette my bowe in the cloudes & it shall be a sygne of the apoyntment made betwene me & the erth: so that when I bring in cloudes vpon the erth/ the bowe shall ap- pere in the cloudes. And than wyll I thynke vpon my testament whyche I haue made be- twene me and you/ and all that lyueth what soeuer flesh it be. So that henceforth there shall be no more waters to make a floud to destroye all flesh.

The bowe shall be in the cloudes/ & I wyll loke vpon it/ to remembre the euerylastyng te- stament betwene God & all that lyueth vpon the erth/ what soeuer flesh it be. And God sayde vnto Noe: This is the sygne of the te- stament which I haue made betwene me and all flesh that is on the erth.

And whē he sawe thē / he ran to mete thē fro the tent doze / & fell to the grounde and sayde: Lorde yf I haue founde fauoure in thy syght: goo not by thy seruante. Let a lytle water be sett / & wash your fete / & rest your selues vnder the tree: And I will sett a * moztell of bryed / to cōfōrt your hartes withall. And thā goo your wayes / for euē therfore ar ye come to your seruante. And they answered: Wo euen so as thou hast sayde. And Abraham wēt a pace in to his tent vnto Sara & sayde: make redy attōce thre peches of fyne meale / kneade it and make cakes. And Abraham ran vnto his beastes & sett a calfe & was tendre and good / & gaue it vnto a yonge mā whych made it redy attonce. And he toke butter and mylke & the calfe whych he had prepared / & sett it before them / and stode hym selfe by them vnder the tree: and * they ate.

¶ And they sayde vnto him: where is Sara thy wyfe? And he sayde: in the tent. And he sayde: I will come agayne vnto the as soone as the frute can lyue. And loo: Sara thy wyfe shall haue a sonne. That herde Sara / out of the tent dooze whych was behynd his backe. Abraham & Sara were both olde & well stryke in age / & it ceased to be wth Sara after the maner as it is wth wyues. And Sara laughed in hys selfe sayinge: How I am wared olde /

¶ And she sayde: How I am wared olde / how I shall geue my selfe to * lust / & my lorde olde also: thā sayde the Lorde vnto Abraham: wherfore doth Sara laugh sayinge: Shall I of a fūrtie here a childe / now whē I am olde? is the thyng to harde for the Lorde to do? ¶ In the tyme * appointed wll I retorne vnto the / as soone as the frute can haue lyfe / and Sara shall haue a sonne. Chan Sara denyed it sayinge: I laughed not / for I was a fūrtie. But he sayde: yee thou laughdest. Chan the men stode by fro thē & looked towarde Sodome. And Abraham wēt wth thē to bynge thē on the waye. And the lorde sayde: Can I hyde fro Abraham that thyng whych I am aboute

¶ And the Lorde sayde: The crye of Sodome & Gomorra is great / & their synne is excedyng greuous. I wll go dōwne and see whether they haue done all to gether acōrdyng to that crye whych is come vnto me or not / that I may knowe. And the mē departed thence & wēt to Sodome ward. But Abraham stode yet before the Lorde / & dytwe nere and sayde: Wylt thou destroy the rightwys wth the wyked? If there be I. rightwys wth in the cyte / wylt thou destroy it & not spare & place for the sake of I. rightwys & aretherin: That be farr fro the / that thou shuldest do after this maner to slei & rightwys wth the wyked / & the rightwys shulde be as the wyked: & be farr from the. Shulde not the iudge of all the worlde do acōrdyng to righte? And the Lorde sayde: If I fynde in Sodome I. rightwys wth in the cyte / I wll spare all the place for their sakes.

¶ And Abraham answered & sayde: beholde I haue takē vnto me to speake vnto the Lorde / & yet am but * dust and ashes. What though there lacke. b. of I. rightwys / wylt thou destroy all & cyte for lacke of b. And he sayde: If I fynde there. x. and. b. I wll not destroy thē. And he spake vnto hym yet agayne and sayde: what yf there be. x. fōside there. And he sayde: I will not do it for fourtyes sake. And he sayde: O let not my Lorde be angry / that I speake. ¶ The xlv. Chapter.

¶ And there came. ii. angells to Sodome at euē. And Lot sat at the gate of the cyte. And Lot saue them / & rose vp to mete thē / & he * bowed hym selfe to the grounde wth his face. And he sayde sayd: Se Lordes / turne in I praye you in to your seruantes house & tary all nyghte & wash your fete & ryle by early and go on your wayes. And they sayde: nay / but we wll byde in the streates all nyghte. And he cōpelled thē excedyngly. And they turned in vnto him & entred in to his house / & he made thē a feaste & dyd bake swete cakes / & they ate. But before they wēt to rest / & men of the cyte of Sodome cōpelled the house rounde aboute both olde & yonge / all the people fro all quarters. And they called vnto Lot & sayde vnto him: where are the mē whych came in to thy house to a nyght: bynge thē out vnto vs that we may do oure lust wth them.

¶ And Lot went out at doozes vnto thē and sayde: Beholde I haue two daughters whych haue knowe no mā / thē wll I bynge out vnto you: do wth thē as it seemeth you good: Only vnto these mē do nothing / for therfore came they vnder the shadowe of my rose. And they sayde: come hither. And they sayde: camest thou not into Zoar? & wylt thou be now a * iudge: we wll surely deale worse wth & thā wth thē.

¶ And as they ptealed soze vpon Lot and he gaue to bzeake by the dooze / the mē put forth their handes & pulled Lot in to the house to thē & shut to the dooze. And the men & were at the dooze of the house / they smotte wth byndness * both small & greates: so that they coulde not fynde the dooze. And the mē sayde mozeouer vnto Lot: If thou haue yet here any sonne in law or sonnes or daughters or what so euer thou hast in the cyte / bynge it out of thys place: for we must destroy thys place / because the crye of thē is great * before the Lorde. wherfore he hath sent vs to destroy it.

¶ And Lot wēt out & spake vnto his sonnes in law whych shulde haue married his daughters / & sayde: stonde by & get yow out of this place / for the lorde will destroy the cyte. But he semed as though he had mocked / vnto his sonnes in law. And as the moynynge arose the angells caused Lot to speke hym sayinge.

¶ Stonde by / take thy wyfe & thy two daughters & that & is at hande / lest thou perishe in the synne of the cyte. And as he ptealed the tyme / the mē caught both hym / hys wyfe & his two daughters by the handes / because the Lorde was mercifull vnto him / & they brought hym forth & sette hym without the cyte. When they had brought thē out / they sayde: Saue thy lyfe & loke not behynde the nether tary thou in any place of the contre / but saue thy selfe in the mostayne / lest thou perishe. Chan sayde Lot vnto thē: Oh nay my Lorde: beholde / in as moch as thy seruante hath sowed grace in thy syght / now make thy mercy great / whych thou shewest vnto me in sauing my lyfe. for I can not saue my selfe in & mostayns / lest some misfortune fall vnto me & I dye. Beholde / here is a cite by / to flee vnto / and it is a lytle one: let me saue my selfe therin: is it not a lytle one / & my soule may lyue? And he sayde to hym: I haue receaued thy request as cōcerning this thyng / that I wll not ouerthrowe thys cyte for the whych thou hast spoken. Haste the / and saue thy selfe there / for I can do nothing tyll thou be come in thither. And therfore the name of the cyte is called Zoar. And the sone was vnto the erth whē Lot was entred in to Zoar.

¶ Chan the Lorde rayned vpon Sodome & Gomorra by ymmittone & fyre fro the Lorde out of heauē / & ouerthrowe those cytes and all the regio / & all that dwelled in the cytes / & that that grewe vpon the erth. And Lots wyfe looked behynde her / & was turned in to a pylle of salte. Abraham rose by early and got hym to the place where he stode before the Lorde / & looked toward Sodome & Gomorra & toward all the londe of that cōtre. And as he looked: beholde the smoke of the cōtre arose as it had bene the smoke of a fōrnace. But yet whē God destroyed the cytes of the regio / he thought vpon Abraham: & sent Lot out fro the dāger of the ouerthrowe / whē he ouerthrowe & cyties where Lot dwelled.

¶ And Lot departed out of Zoar & dwelled in the mostayns & hys. ii. daughters wth him for he feared to tary in Zoar: he dwelled therfore in a caue / bothe he & his. ii. daughters also. thā sayde the elder vnto the yonger: oure father is olde / & there are no moo men in the erth to come in vnto vs after the maner of all the worlde. Come therfore / let vs geue oure father wyne to dzyne / & let vs lye wth hym & we may saue seed of oure father. And they gaue their father wyne to dzyne that same nyghte. And the elder daughter went & laye wth her father. And he perceaued it not / nether when she laye doune / nether whē she rose vp.

¶ And on the moztowe the elder sayde vnto the yonger: beholde yesternyght laye I wth my father. Let vs geue hym wyne to dzyne this nyght also / & go thou & lye wth him / & let vs saue seed of oure father. And they gaue their father wyne to dzyne & nyght also. And the yonger arose & laye wth hym. And he perceaued it not: nether when she laye doune / nether when she rose vp. Thus were both the daughters of Lot wth chyldre by their father. And the elder bare a sonne / and called hym Moab / which is the father of the Moabytes vnto thys daye. And the yonger bare a sonne / & called hym Ben Ammi / which is the father of the chyldren of Ammon vnto thys daye.

The xx. Chapter.

* Gene. xxi. c. and. xxi. b.

And Abraham departed thence towarde the southcontre & dwelled betwene Cades and Sur and sojourned in Gerar. And Abraham sayde of Sara hys wyfethat she was hys sister. Then Abimelech kinge of Gerar sent and sett Sara awaye.

And God came to Abimelech by nyghte in a dreame & sayde to hym: Se/ thou art but a deed man for the womans sake whych thou hast taken awaye / for she is a mans wyfe. But Abimelech had not yet come nye her / & therfore sayde: Lorde wylt thou slep myghtewes people: sayde not he bnto me / that she was hys sister: yee & sayde not she herself that he was hys brother: wylt thou slep a pure herte and innocent handes haue I done thys. And God sayde vnto hym in a dreame. I wot it well that thou dydest it in the purenesse of thy herte. And therfore I kepte the & thou shuldest not synne agens me / nether suffred I the to come nygh her. Now therfore deliuer the ma hys wyfe ageyne / for he is a prophete. And let hym praye for the that thou mayst lyue. But and yf thou deliuer her not agayne / be sure & thou shalt dpe the deeth / wylt all that thou hast.

Then Abimelech rose by be tymes in the mornynge & called al his seruantes / & tolde all these thynges in their eares / and the men were soze afrayde. And Abimelech called Abrahā & sayde vnto hym: What hast thou done vnto vs / & what haue I offended the / & thou shuldest bynne on me and on my kynge dome so great a synne: thou hast done dedes vnto me that ought not to be done. And Abimelech sayde moouer vnto Abrahā: What sauest thou & moued the to do this thyng?

And Abrahā answered. I thought that per a. The feare of God amonge aduerture the feare of God was not in thys place / & y they shulde slep me for my wyfes sake: yet in very dede she ys my sister / the daughter of my father / but not of my mother: and became my wyfe. And after God caused me to wadze out of my fathers house / I sayd vnto her: Thys kynnesse shalt thou thewe vnto me in all places where we come / that thou saye of me / how that I am thy brother.

Then toke Abimelech shepe & oxen / men seruantes & women seruantes & gaue the vnto Abrahā / and deliuered hym Sara hys wyfe agayne. And Abimelech sayde: beholde the lande lyeth before the / dwell where it pleaseth the best. And vnto Sara he sayde: Se I haue geuen thy brother a thousande pecces of syluer / beholde this thyng shall be a couerynge to thine eyes & vnto all that are wylt the and vnto all men an excuse.

And so Abrahā prayde vnto God / & God healed Abimelech & his wyfe & his maydes / so that they bare chyldre. For the Lorde had closed to / all the matryces of the house of Abimelech / because of Sara Abrahā's wyfe. Isaac is bozne. Agar is cast oute wylt hys younge sonne Ismael. The Angell comforteth Agar. The couenaunt betwene Abimelech and Abraham.

The xxi. Chapter.

And the Lorde visyted Sara as he had sayde & dyd vnto her acorpyng as he had promysed. And Sara was with childe & bare Abrahā a sonne in hys olde age euen the same season whych the lorde had appoynted. And Abrahā called hys sonnes name that was bozne vnto hym whych Sara bare hym Isaac & Abraham circycled Isaac his sonne whē he was. viij. dayes olde / as God comāded him. And Abrahā was an hundred yere olde / whē hys sonne Isaac was bozne vnto hym. And Sara sayd: God hath made me a laughynge stocke: for all & heare / will laugh at me. She sayde al so: who wolde haue sayde vnto Abrahā / that Sara shulde haue geue childe suche / or y I shulde haue bozne hym a sonne in his olde age: The childe grew & was wened / & Abraham made a great feast / the same daye that Isaac was wened. Sara sawe the sonne of Hagar the Egyptian whych she had bozne vnto Abrahā / a mockynge. Then she sayde vnto Abrahā: put away this bondmayde & hys sonne: for the sonne of this bondwoman shall not be heyre with my sonne Isaac: But the wordes semed berey greuous in Abrahams syghte / because of his sonne. Then the Lorde sayde vnto Abrahā: let it not be greuous vnto the / because of the ladd & of thy bondmayde: But in all that Sara hath sayde vnto the / heare hys voyce / for in Isaac shall thy seed be called. Moouer of the sonne of the bondwoman wylt I make a nacion / because he is thy seed.

And Abrahā rose by early in the mornynge & toke hys wyfe & a bottell with water / & gaue it vnto Hagar / puttynge it on hys shuldres wylt the lad also / & sent her awaye. And she departed & wadzed by & dwelt in the wyldernes of Berseba. When the water was spent that was in the bottell / she cast the lad vnder a bush & wēt & satt her out of syghte a great waye / as it were a bowshot of: for she sayde: I wylt not se the lad lye. And she satt doune out of syghte / & lyfte by hys voyce & wepte.

And God herde & hys voyce of the childe. And the angel of God called Hagar out of heauē & sayde vnto her: What ayleth the Hagar: feare not / for god hath herde the voyce of & childe where he lyeth. Aryse and lyfte by the lad / & take him in thy hande / for I will make of hym a grete people. And God opened hys eyes and she sawe a well of water. And she went she went & fylled the bottell with water / and gaue the boye dyynke. And God was wylt the lad / & he grewe and dweld in the wyldernes / & became an archer. And he dweld in the wyldernes of Pharan. And his mother gotthim a wyfe out of the land of Egypte.

And it chaunced the same season / that Abimelech & Phicol his chefe captayne spake vnto Abrahā sayng: God is wylt the in all that thou doest. Now therfore sweare vnto me eue here by God / that thou wylt not hurt me nor my chyldre / nor my chyldrens chyldren. But that thou shalt deale wylt me & the contre where thou art a stranger / acorpyng vnto the kynnesse that I haue thewed the. Then sayde Abrahā: I wylt sweare.

And Abrahā rebuked Abimelech for a well of water / whych Abimelechs seruantes had takē awaye. And Abimelech answered I wylt not whoddyd it: Also thou toldest me not / nether herde I of it / but thys daye. And Abraham toke shepe and oxen & gaue them vnto Abimelech. And they made both of the a bonde together. And Abrahā sett. viij. lammes by the selues. And Abimelech sayde vnto Abrahā: what meane these. viij. lammes whych thou hast sett by the selues. And he answered. viij. lammes shalt thou take of my hāde / that it maye be a wytnesse vnto me / that I haue dygged thys well: wherfore the place is called Berseba / because they swore both of the. Thus made they a bonde to gether at Berseba. Then Abimelech & Phicol his chefe captayne rose by & turned agayne vnto the lande of the Philistines. And Abrahā plantēd a wodd in Berseba / and called there on the name of the Lorde / the euerlastynge God: & dwelt in the Philistin lande a longe season.

The sayth of Abraham is proued in offrynge hys sonne Isaac. Christ our sauour is promysed. The generacyon of Nachor Abrahams brother.

The xxi. Chapter.

After these dedes / God dyd proue Abraham & sayde vnto hym: a bracham. And he answered: here am I. And he sayde: take thy only sonne Isaac whome thou louest / & get the vnto the lande Moza / & sacrific him there for a sacrifice vnto one of the mostayns whych I wylt thewe the. Then Abrahā rose by early in the mornynge & saddled his asse / & toke two of his meyny wylt hym / & Isaac his sonne: & cloue wodd for the sacrifice / & rose by & gotthim to the place whych God had appoynted hym.

The thyrde daye Abrahā lyfte by hys eyes & sawe the place a farre of / & sayde vnto hys younge men: byde here wylt the asse / & the lad wylt goo yonder and wylt wyppye and come agayne vnto you. And Abraham toke the wodd of the sacrifice & layde it vpon Isaac his sonne / & toke fyre in his hāde & a knyfe. And they went both of them together.

Then spake Isaac vnto Abraham his father & sayde: My father: And he answered here am I my sonne. And he sayde: Se here is fyre and wodd / but where is the shepe for sacrifice: And Abraham sayde: my sonne / God wylt proude hym a shepe for sacrifice. So went they both together.

And whē they came vnto the place whych God thewed hym / Abraham made an auter there & dresed the wodd / & bownde Isaac his sonne & layde him on the auter / aboue vnto the wodd. And Abraham stretched forth hys hande / & toke the knyfe to haue kylled hys sonne. Then the angell of the Lorde called vnto hym fro heauē sayng: Abraham Abrahā: And he answered: here am I. And he sayde: laye not thy handes vnto the chylde / ne ther do any thyng at all vnto hym / for now I knowe that thou fearest God / in that thou hast not kepte thine only sonne fro me. And Abrahā lyfted by hys eyes & looked aboute: and beholde / there was a ram caught by the hornes in a thickette. And he wēt & toke the ram and offred hym by for a sacrifice in the steade of his sonne. And Abraham called the name of the place / the Lorde wylt see: wherfore it is a comen sayng thys daye: in the mounte wylt the Lorde be sene.

And the Angell of the Lorde cryed vnto Abrahā fro heauē the seconde tyme sayng: by my selfe haue I sworne / sayth the Lorde / because thou hast done this thyng & hast not spared thy only sonne / that I wylt blesse the & multiplye thy seed as the starrs of heauen & as the sonde vnto the see syde. And thy seed shall possesse the gates of hys enymies. And in thy seed shall all the nacions of the erth be blesed / because thou hast obeyed my voyce. So turned Abrahā agayne vnto hys younge men / & they rose by & went to gether to Berseba. And Abrahā dwelt at Berseba. And it chaunced after these thynges / that one tolde Abrahā sayng: Beholde / Milcha the hath also bozne chylde vnto thy brother Nachor: thus hys eldest sonne and thus hys brother / and Kemuell the father of the Syrians / & Cesed / and Haso / and Ysidar / and Jedaph /

Sara dyeth & is buried in the felde that Abraham bought of Ephron the Hethite.

The xxiii. Chapter.

Sara was an hundred & xxiij. yere olde (for so longe lyued she) & than dyed in a heade cyte called Hebron in the lande of Canaan. Then Abraham came to moorne Sara / and to wepe for her. And Abraham stode by from the coorse / & talked wth the sonnes of Heth sayinge: I am a straunger & a forpner amonge you / geue me a posselpon to burie in wth you / that I may bury my dead out of my syght. And the chyldren of Heth answered Abraham saying vnto hym: Heare vs Lorde / thou art a prynce of God amonge vs. In the cheffest of oure sepulchres bury thy dead: None of vs shall for byd the hys sepulchre / that thou shuldest not bury thy deade thereyn. Abraham stode by / and bowed hym selfe before the people of the lande the chyldren of Heth. And he comonde wth the sayinge: If it be youre myndes that I shall bury my deade out of my syght / heare me and speke for me to Ephron the sonne of Zoar: and let hym geue me the dubbyll caue which he hath in the ende of hys felde / for as moche money as it is worth / let hym geue it me in the presence of you / for a posselpon to burie in. For Ephron dwelled amonge the chyldren of Heth.

Then Ephron the Hethite answered Abraham in the audyence of the chyldre of Heth & of all that went in at the gates of hys cyte / sayinge: Not so my Lorde / but heare me: The felde geue I the / & the caue & therein is geue I the also: & euē in the presence of the sonnes of my people geue I it the to bury thy deade in. Then Abraham bowed hym selfe before the people of the lande / & spake vnto Ephron in the audyence of the people of the cōtre saying: I praye the heare me / I will geue syluer for the felde / take it of me / & so will I bury my deede there. Ephron answered Abraham saying vnto hym: My Lorde / harken vnto me. The lande is worth. iiii. hundred sylces of syluer: but what is that betwixte the and me: bury thy deede. And Abraham harkened vnto Ephron & weyde hym the syluer which he had sayde in the audyence of the sonnes of Heth. Euen. iiii. hundred syluer sylces of currat money amonge marchantes. Thus was the felde of Ephron where in the dubbyll caue is before Mamre: euen the felde & the caue that is therein & all the trees of the felde whyche growe in all the borders rounde about / made sure vnto Abraham for a posselpon / in the syght of the chyldren of Heth / & of all that wet in at the gates of the cyte. And then Abraham buried Sara hys wyfe in the double caue of the felde that lyeth before Mamre / otherwyse called Ebron in the lande of Canaan. And so both the felde and the caue that is therein / was made vnto Abraham a sure posselpon to bury in / of the sonnes of Heth.

Abraham maketh hys seruante to swere. & sendeth hym to seke a wyfe for Isaac his sonne. The seruante was saythfull and brought Rebecca / whych Isaac toke to his wyfe.

The xxiiii. Chapter.

Abraham was olde and streken in dayes / & the Lorde had blessed hym in all thynges. And he sayde vnto his eldest seruante of his house whych had the rule ouer all & he had: Put thy hande vnder my thye that I maye make the swere by the Lorde that is God of heauē & God of the erth / that thou shalt not take a wyfe vnto my sonne / of the daughters of the Canaanites / amonge whych I dwell. But shalt goo vnto my cōtre and to my kynred / and there take a wyfe vnto my sonne Isaac.

Then sayde the seruante vnto hym: what & yf the womā wyl not agree to come wth me vnto this lande / shall I byryng thy sonne agayne vnto the lāde which thou camest out of: And Abraham sayde vnto hym: beware of that / that thou byryng not my sonne thyther. The Lorde God of heauē which toke me fro my fathers house & from the lande where I was borne / & whych spake vnto me & sware vnto me sayinge: vnto thy seed wyl I geue this lāde / he shall sende his angell before the that thou mayst take a wyfe vnto my sonne fro thence.ouer the lesse yf the womā wyl not agree to come with the thā shalt thou be with out dainger of this oath. But aboue all thing byryng not my sonne thyther agayne. And the seruante put his hand vnder the thye of Abraham & sware to hym as cōcernyng & matter. And the seruante toke. x. camels of the camels of his master & departed / & had of all maner good of his master wth hym / & stode by & wet to Mesopotamia / vnto the cyte of Nahor. And made his camels to lye doune wthout the cyte by the well of water / at euē: aboute the well women come out to drawe water / and he sayde.

Lorde God of my master Abraham / sende me good speede this daye / and shewe mercy vnto my master Abraham. Lo I stonde here by the well of water and the daughters of the men of this cyte wyl come out to drawe water: Now the damsell to whome I saye / stoupe doune thy ptycher / and let me dryncke. If she saye: Dryncke / and I wyl geue thy camels dryncke dryncke also / & same is she that thou hast ordeined for thy seruante Isaac: yee & therby shall I knowe & thou hast shewed mercy on my master. And it came to passe yee he had left speakeyng / that Rebecca came out / the daughter of Bethuel / sonne to Milca the wyfe of Nahor Abraham's brother / and hys ptycher byd hys shoulde: The damsell was berry sayre to loke vpon / & yet a mayde and vnknown of man. And she went doune to the well and fylled hys ptycher and came by agayne. Then the seruante ranne vnto her and sayde: let me suppe a lytle water of thy ptycher. And she sayde: dryncke my Lorde.

And she halsted and late doune her ptycher byd hys arme & gaue hym dryncke. And whē she had geuen hym dryncke / she sayde: I wyl drawe water for thy camels also / vntill they haue dōcke ynough. And she poured out hys ptycher in to a trowgh hastily / & rāne agayne vnto the well / to fett water: & dreme for all his camels. And the felowe monyred at her. But helde hys peace / to wete whether the Lorde had made hys journey prosperous or not. And as & camels had left drynkyng / he toke a golde earyng of halfe a sicle weght / & two braceletes for hys handes / of x. sicles weyght of gold / and layde vnto her: We hope daughter art thou: tell me: is there rowme in thy fathers house for vs to lodge in: And she seares. And he sayde vnto hym: I am the daughter of Bathuel Nahor: and sayde mozeouer vnto hym: we haue litter and prauonder ynough / and also rowme to lodge in.

And the man bowed hym selfe / & sayde: My Lorde / & sayde: blessed be & Lorde God of my master Abraham whych ceaseth not to deale mercifully & truly wth my masters brothers house. And the damsell rāne & tolde the of her mothers house these thyngs. And Rebecca had a brother called Laban.

And Laban rāne out vnto the man / to the well: for as soone as he had sene the earyngs & the braceletes vpon hys sisters handes / & hearde the word of Rebecca his sister sayig thus sayde the man vnto me / than he wet out vnto the man. And loo / he stode yet wth the camels. And Laban sayde vnto the Lorde. wherfore stondest thou wthout: I haue dremed the house / and made rowme for the camels. And than the man came into the house: and he bydded the camels: & brought litter & prauonder for the camels / and water to washe hys fete & their fete that were wth him / & there was meate sett before hym to eate. But he sayde: I wyl not eate / vntill I haue sayde myne earende. And he sayde: saye on / And he sayde: I am Abraham's seruante / & the Lorde hath blessed my master out of measure / & he is become greate / & hath geue hym shepe / oxen / syluer & golde / menseruantes / maydes / seruantes / camels & asses. And Sara my wedded wyfe bare him a sonne / whē he was taken the waye. And my master made me swere saying: thou shalt not take a wyfe to my sonne amonge the daughters of the Canaanites in whose lande I dwell. But thou shalt go vnto my fathers house and to my kynred / & there take a wyfe vnto my sonne. And I sayde vnto my master: what yf the wyfe wyl not folowe me: And he sayde vnto me: The Lorde before whome I walke / wyl sende his angell with the / and prospere thy journey that thou shalt take a wyfe for my sonne / of my kynred & of my fathers house. But & yf (when thou comest vnto my kynred) they wyl not geue & one / than shalt thou bere no perell of myne oath.

And I came this daye vnto & well & sayde: O Lorde / the God of my master Abraham / yf it be so & thou makest my journey which I go / prosperous: beholde I stonde by this well of water / and when a byrgyn cometh forth to drawe water / & I saye to her: geue me a lytle water of thy ptycher to dryncke / and she saye agayne to me: dryncke thou / and I wyl also drawe water for thy camels: that same is the wyfe whom the Lorde hath prepared for my masters sonne.

And before I had made an ende of speakeyng in myf harte: beholde Rebecca came forth / & hys ptycher on hys shoulde / & she wet doune vnto the well & dreme. And I sayde vnto her: geue me dryncke. And she made hast / & toke doune hys ptycher fro of hys / and sayde: dryncke / & I wyl geue thy camels dryncke also. And I drāke / & she gaue & camels dryncke also. And I asked her saying: whose daughter art thou: And she answered: the daughter of Bathuel Nahors sonne / whom Milca bare vnto him. And I put & earyng byd hys face & the braceletes byd hys handes. And I bowed my selfe / & worshipped the Lorde / & blessed the Lorde God of my master Abraham which in this place as had brought me the ryght waye / to take my masters brothers daughter vnto hys sonne. Now therfore yf yee wyl deale mercifully & truly wth my master / tell me: and yf not tell me also: & I may turne me to the ryght hand or to the left.

Then answered Laban & Bathuel saying: The thyng is proceeded euē out of the Lorde: we can not therfore say vnto the / ether good may knowe or bad: beholde Rebecca before thy face / take her a goo / and let her be thy masters sonnes wyfe / euē as & Lorde hath sayde. And when Abraham's seruante hearde their wordes / he bowed

b. ij. when

When Esau was .xl. yere olde / he toke to wyfe Judith the daughter of Dery an Dethyte / & Basmath the daughter of Elon an Dethyte also / which were disobeidit vnto Isaac & Rebecca. And it came to passe that Isaac wered olde & hys eyes were dymme / so he coude not see. Chan called he Esau his eldest sonne & sayde vnto hym: my sonne. And he sayde vnto hym: here am I. And he sayde: beholde / I am olde / & knowe not daye of my deth: now therfore take thy weapen / thy quyet & thy bowe / & get the to the felde / & take me some venyson / & make me meate soche as I loue / and bringe it me / & let me eate that my soule maye be blessed the before I dye. But Rebecca hearde when Isaac spake to Esau his sonne. And as soone as Esau was gone to the felde to catche venyson / & to bringe it / she spake vnto Jacob hyr sonne sayig: Beholde / I haue herde thy father talkyng with Esau thy brother & sayig: bringe me venyson & make me meate / that I maye eate & be blessed the before the Lorde per I dye. Now therfore my sonne heare my voyce in that which I commaunde the: gett the to the floche / & bringe me thence two good kyddes / and I will make meate of them for thy father / soche as he loueth. And thou shalt bringe it to thy father / & he shall eate / that he may be blessed the before his deth.

Chan sayde Jacob to Rebecca his mother: beholde Esau my brother is rough / & I am smooth. My father shall peradventure fele me / & I shall seme vnto him as though I wet aboute to begyle hym / & so shall he bringe a curse vpon me / & not a blessing: & his mother sayde vnto hym: vpon me be thy curse my sonne / only heare my voyce / & go & fetch me them. And Jacob wet & fet the / & brought the to his mother. And his mother made meate of the / according as his father loued. And she wet & fett goodly rayment of hyr eldest sonne Esau / which she had in her house / & put it vpon Jacob hyr youngest sonne / & she put the chymes vpon his hand / & vpon the smooth of his necke. And she put the meate & brede which she had made in her hande of hyr sonne Jacob. And he went in to his father sayig: my father. And he answered: here am I: who art thou my sonne? And Jacob sayde vnto his father: I am Esau thy eldest sonne / I haue done according as thou baddest me: by & fyt & eate of my venyson / that thy soule may be blessed me. But Isaac sayde vnto his sonne: how cometh it that thou hast founde it so quyet my sonne? He answered: the Lorde thy God brought it to my hande. Chan sayde Isaac vnto Jacob: come nere and let me fele the my sonne / whether thou be my sonne Esau or not. Chan wet Jacob to Isaac hyr father / & he felt hym and sayde: thy voyce is Jacobs voyce / but the hande are the handes of Esau. And he knewe hym not / because hys handes were rough as hys brother Esaus handes: & so he blessed hym.

And he axed hym: art thou my sonne Esau? And he sayde: that I am. Chan sayd he: bring me & let me eate of my sonnes venyson / that my soule may be blessed. And he brought hym / & he ate. And he brought hym wyne also / & he dracke. And his father Isaac sayde vnto him: come nere / & kysse me my sonne. And he wet vnto hym and kysed hym. And he smelled the sauoure of hys rayment / and he blessed hym / & sayde: See / the smell of my sonne is as the smell of a feld which the Lorde hath blessed. God geue the of the dewe of heauē / & of the fatnesse of the erth / & plenty of corne & wyne. People be thy seruantes / & maye bowe vnto the. Be lorde ouer thy brethren / & thy mothers chylde stoupe vnto the. Cursed be he that curseth the / & blessed be he that bleth the.

As soone as Isaac had made an end of blessing Jacob was scarce gone out fro the presence of Isaac his father: then came Esau his brother from hys huntynge / & had made also meate / & brought it vnto hys father / & sayde vnto hym: Dryse my father / and eate of thy sonnes venyson / & thy soule may be blessed me. Chan his father Isaac sayde vnto him: who art thou? he answered: I am thy eldest sonne Esau. And Isaac was greatly astoynd out of measure / & sayde: where is he then that hath hunted venyson and brought it me / & I haue eate of all before thou comest / & haue blessed hym / & he shall be blessed still. When Esau herde the wordes of hys father / he cryed out greatly & bitterly aboue measure / & sayde vnto his father: blethe me also my father. And he sayde: thy brother came with subtilte / & hath takē away thy blessing. Chan sayde he: he maye well be called Jacob / for he hath ben dermynd me now two tymes / fyrst he toke away my byrthright: & se / now hath he taken away my blessing also. And he sayde: hast thou kept neuer a blessing for me?

Isaac answered and sayde vnto Esau: beholde I haue made hym thy lorde / & all hys mothers chylde haue I made his seruant. Moreover with corne & wyne haue I stablished hym / what can I do vnto thee now my sonne? And Esau sayde vnto hys father: hast thou but one blessing my father? blethe me also my father: so I fynd by Esau hys voyce & wepte. Chan Isaac hys father answered & sayde vnto him: beholde thy dwelling place shall haue of the fatnesse of the erth / & of the dewe of heauē fro aboue. And in thy serue shalt thou lye / and shalt be thy brothers seruante. But thy time will come / when thou shalt gett a masterye / & I will hys poche fro of thy necke. And

When Esau hated Jacob / because of the blessing that his father blessed hym with all / & sayde in hys harte: the dayes of my fathers sorowe are at hande / for I will kyle my brother Jacob. And these wordes of Esau hyr eldest sonne were told to Rebecca. And she sent & called Jacob hyr youngest sonne / & sayde vnto hym: beholde thy brother Esau threatheneth to kyll the: now therfore my sonne heare my voyce / make the redy / & flee to Laban my brother at Haran: & tarpe with hym a whyle vntill thy brothers feardnes be swaged / & vntill thy brothers wrath turne awaye from the / & he forget that which thou hast done to hym. Chan will I sende & set the awaye fro thence. Why shulde I lose you bothe in one daye? And Rebecca spake to Isaac: I am weary of my lyfe / for feare of the daughters of Deth. If Jacob take a wyfe of the daughters of Deth / soche one as these are / or of the daughters of the lande / what lust shuld I haue to lye.

Isaac is sent into Mesopotamia to Laban for a wyfe. Esau marrieth an Hmaelyte. Jacob dreameth a dreame. Thys is promysed. Jacob maketh a bowe.

Chap. xxviii.

In Isaac called Jacob hys sonne & blessed hym / & charged hym / and sayde vnto hym: se thou take not a wyfe of the daughters of Canaan / but arye & gett the to Mesopotamia to the house of Bethuel thy mothers father: & there take the a wyfe of the daughters of Laba thy mothers brother. And God almyghty blethe the / increase the / & multiplye the that thou mayst be a nomibre of people / & geue the the blessing of Abraham both to the & to thy seed with the / that thou mayst possesse the lande (wherein thou art a stranger) whyche God gaue vnto Abraham. Thus Isaac sent forth Jacob / to go to Mesopotamia vnto Laban / sonne of Bethuel the Syrian / and brother to Rebecca Jacobs and Esaus mother.

When Esau sawe that Isaac had blessed Jacob / & sent him to Mesopotamia / to set him a wyfe thence / & that as he blessed him he gaue him a charge / sayig: se thou take not a wyfe of the daughters of Canaan: & Jacob had obeyed his father & mother / & was gone vnto Mesopotamia: & sayig also to the daughters of Canaan pleased not Isaac his father: then went he vnto Hmael / & toke vnto him a wyfe which he had / Mahala the daughter of Hmael / Abrahams sonne / the syster of Mabsloth to be his wyfe. Jacob departed fro Berseba / & wet toward Haran / & came vnto a place / & tarped there all nyght / because the sonne was downe. And toke a stone of the place / & put it vnder his heade / & layde hym downe in the same place to slepe. And he dreamed: & he beholde there stode a ladder vpon the erth / & the topp of it reached by to heauē. And se / the angels of God went by & downe vpon it / yee & the Lorde stode vpon it / & sayde:

I am the Lorde God of Abraham thy father / & the God of Isaac: the lande whiche thou slepest vpon will I geue the & thy seed. And thy seed shall be as the dust of the erth: & thou shalt sprede a brode: west / east / north & south. And thou shalt be as the seed of the erth: & thou shalt be blessed. And se / I am with thee / & I will be thy keeper in all places whither thou goest / & I will bringe the agayne in to this land: neither will I leaue the vntill I haue made good all that I haue promysed the.

When Jacob was awaked out of his slepe he sayde: surely the Lorde is in this place / & I it the house of God because of how fearfull is this place: it is none other / but the house of God & a gate of heauē. And Jacob stode by early in the mornynge / & toke the stone that he had layde vnder his heade / & pitched it by an ende / & poured oyle on the topp of it. And he called the name of the place Bethel / for in dede the name of the citie was called Lus before tyme. And Jacob bowed himselfe vnto the house of God / & sayde: If God will be with me / & I shall come agayne vnto my fathers house in safety: then shall the Lorde be my God / and this stone which I haue set by an ende / shall be the house of God: & of all that thou shalt geue me / will I geue the the tenth vnto the. And Jacob cometh to Laban & serueth seue yere for Raachel. Lea was brought to his bed in steede of Raachel. He marrieth them bothe / & serueth yet .vij. yere more for Raachel. Lea conceaueth.

When Jacob lyfte by his fete / & wet toward the east costre. And as he looked aboute / beholde there was a well in the felde / and .iii. flockes of shepe laye therby (for at that well were the flockes watered) & there laye a great stone at the well mouth. And a maner was to bring the flockes thither / & to roull the stone from the well mouth / & to water the shepe / & to put the stone agayne vpon the well mouth vnto his place. And Jacob sayde vnto the: brethren / whence be ye? And they sayde: of Haran are we. And he sayde vnto the: knowe ye Laban the sonne of Nahor? And they sayde: we knowe hym. And he sayde vnto the: is he in good health? And they sayde: he is in good health: & behold / his daughter Raquel cometh in the shepe. And he sayde: lo / it is yet a great whyle to nyght / neither is it tyme that the cattel shulde be gathered together: water the shepe / and go & fede them. And they sayde: we may not / vntill all the flockes be brought together / & the stone be roullid fro the well mouth / mouth/and so we water our shepe.

Whyle he yet talked with the/ Rachel came with hir fathers shepe/ for she kepte the. As soone as Jacob sawe Rachel/ the daughter of Laban hys mothers brother/ & the shepe of Laban hys mothers brother/ he went & rowled the stone fro the wells mouth/ & watered the shepe of Laban hys mothers brother. And Jacob kysed Rachel/ & yfte by hys boyce & wepte: and tolde her also that he was hir fathers brother & Rebeccas sonne. Then Rachel ranne and tolde hyr father.

When Laban hearde tell of Jacob his sisters sonne/ he rane to mete him/ & embraced him & kissed him/ & brought him to his house. And then Jacob tolde Laban all the matter. And then Laban sayde: well/ thou art my bone & my flesh. Abide with me the space of a moneth. And afterward Laban sayde vnto Jacob: Though thou be my brother/ shuldest thou therfore serue me for nought? tell me what shall thy wages be? And Laban had. if daughters/ the eldest called Lea & the yongest Rachel. Lea was tender eyed/ but Rachel was bewtyfull & well fauored. And Jacob loued her well/ & sayde: I wyll serue the. bis. yere for Rachel thy yongest daughter. And Laban answered: it is better that I geue her the/ than to another man: yde therfore with me.

And Jacob serued bis. yeres for Rachel/ & they semed vnto hym but a fewe dayes/ for he loue he had to her. And Jacob sayde vnto Laban: geue me my wyfe/ that I maye lye with hir. for the tyme appoynted me is come.

Then Laban bade all men of that place/ & made a feast. And when euen was come/ he toke Lea his daughter & brought her to him: & he wot in vnto her. And Laban gaue vnto hys daughter Lea/ Zilpha hys mayde/ to be hir seruante. And whē the mornynge was come/ beholde it was Lea. Then sayde he to Laban: wherfore hast thou played thus with me? dyd not I serue the for Rachel/ wherfore hast thou begyled me? Laban answered: it is not the maner of this place/ to marie & ydgest before the eldest. Passe out this weke & than shall this also be geue the for the seruyce which thou shalt serue me yet. bis. yeres more. And Jacob dyd eue to/ & passed out that weke/ & than he gaue him Rachel his daughter to wyfe also. And Laban gaue to Rachel his daughter/ Bilha his handmayde to be hyr seruante. So laye he by Rachel also/ & loued Rachel more than Lea/ and serued hym yet bis. yeres more.

When the Lorde sawe that Lea was despyed/ he made her frutefull: but Rachel was barren. And Lea conceived & bare a sonne/ & called hys name Ruben/ for she sayde: the Lorde hath looked vpon my tribulatio. And now my husband wyll loue me. And she conceived agayne & bare a sonne/ and sayde: the Lorde hath herde & I am despyed/ & hath therfore geue me this sonne also/ & she called him Simeon. And she conceived yet/ & bare a sonne/ & sayde: now this once will my husband kepe me company/ because I haue borne hym. bis. sonnes: & therfore she called his name Leui. And she conceived yet agayne/ & bare a sonne saying: now will I praye the Lorde: therfore she called his name Iuda/ & left bearinge. Rachel & Lea beinge bothe barren geue their maydes vnto their husbands/ & they bare hym chyldren. Jacob deceaueth Laban in the conceyuinge of the shepe and byddes. Jacobs rewarde for hys serues.

The xxx. Chapter.

When Rachel sawe that she bare Jacob no chyldren/ she enuyed hir sister/ & sayde vnto Jacob: Geue me chyldre/ or els I am but deed. Then was Jacob wrooth with Rachel sayinge: Am I in Godes steade which kepeth from the frute of thy wombe? Then she sayde: here is my mayde Bilha: go in vnto her/ & she maye beare vpon my lappe/ that I maye be encreased by her. And she gaue hym Bilha hyr hand mayde to wyfe. And Jacob went in vnto her: and Bilha conceived & bare Jacob a sonne. Then sayde Rachel. God hath geue sentence on my syde/ & hath also hearde my boyce/ and hath geuen me a sonne. Therfore called she him Dan. And Bilha Rachels mayde conceived agayne/ and bare Jacob another sonne. And Rachel sayde: God is turned/ and I haue made a chaffe to my sister/ & haue gotte the upper hand. And she called his name: Nephtali.

When Lea sawe that she had left bearinge/ she toke Silpha hyr mayde/ & gaue her Jacob to wyfe. And Silpha Leas mayde bare Jacob a sonne. Then sayde Lea: Good luck: and called his name Gad. And Silpha Leas mayde bare Jacob another sonne. Then sayde Lea: happy am I/ for I haue brought forth many sonnes. And she called his name Isser.

And Ruben wot out in & wheat harvest & fodd* mādazagoras in the feld/ & brought the vnto his mother Lea. Then sayde Rachel to Lea: geue me of thy sonnes mādazagoras. And Lea answered: Is it not ynough & thou hast take awaye my houbd/ but woldest take awaye my sonnes mādazagoras also? Then sayde Rachel: well/ let him slepe to the this nyght/ for thy sonnes mādazagoras. And when Jacob came from the felde at euen/ Lea went out to mete him/ & sayde: come in to me/ for I haue bought the with my sonnes mādazagoras.

And he slepte to her that nyght. And God herde Lea/ & she conceived & bare vnto Jacob a sonne. Then sayde Lea. God hath geue me my rewarde/ because I gaue my mayden to my houbd/ & she called hym Issachar. And Lea Lea conceived yet agayne/ & bare Jacob the bi. sonne. Then sayde she: God hath endewed me to a good dowry. Now will my husband dwell with me/ because I haue borne him. bis. sonnes: & called hys name Zabulon. After that she bare a daughter/ and called her Dina.

And God remembred Rachel/ hearde her/ & made her frutefull: so & she conceived & bare a sonne/ & sayde: God hath take awaye my rebuke. And she called his name Joseph/ sayig: The Lorde geue me yet a nother sonne. As soone as Rachel had borne Joseph/ Jacob sayde to Laban: Sende me awaye & I may go vnto my awne place & cotre/ geue me my wyues & my chyldre for whom I haue serued the/ & let me goo: for thou knowest what seruyce I haue done the. Then sayde Laban vnto hym: If I haue founde fauour in thy sight for I suppose that the Lorde hath blessed me for thy sake/ appoynte what thy rewarde shall be/ & I will geue it the. But he sayde vnto hym: thou knowest what seruyce I haue done the/ & in what tarynge thy cattell haue bene vnder me: for it was but lytle & thou haddest before I came/ & now it is encreased into a multitude/ & the Lorde hath blessed the for my sake. But now what shall I make pro uise for myne awne house also. And he sayde: what shall I then geue the? And Jacob answered: thou shalt geue me nothing at al/ yf thou wilt do thys one thyng for me: & then will I turne agayne/ & fede thy shepe & kepe the.

I will go aboute all thy shepe this daye/ & separate fro them all the shepe that are spotted & of dyuers coloures/ & all blacke shepe amonge the lambes/ & the partye/ & the spotted amonge the hyddes: & the same shall be my rewarde. So shall my ryghtwinesse answere for me: when the tyme cometh that I shall receaue my rewarde of the: so & what so euer is not speckled & partie amonge & goot & blacke amonge the lambes/ let that be thest with me. Then sayde Laban: Loo/ I am content/ that it be acording as thou hast sayde. And he toke out that same daye & he gootes that were partie & of dyuerse coloures/ & all the she gootes that were spotted & partie coloured/ & all that had whyte in the/ & all the blacke amonge the lambes: & put the in the keepinge of hys sonnes/ & set thys dayes iourney betwixte him selfe and Jacob. And so Jacob kepte the rest of Labans shepe.

Jacob toke rodde of grene poplar/ hawell & of chestnottrees/ & pyllid whyte strakes in them/ & made the whyte apere in the staues: And he put the staues whyche he had pyllid/ eue before the shepe/ in & gutters/ & watring troughes/ when the shepe came to drynke: that they shulde conceaue when they came to drynke. And the shepe conceived before the staues/ & brought forth straked/ spotted and partie. Then Jacob parted the lambes and & turned the faces of the shepe toward spotted things/ & toward all maner of blacke things/ & toward out the flockes of Laban. And he made hym flockes of hys awne by the selfe/ whych he put not vnto the flockes of Laban. And all waye in the fyft bucking tyme of the shepe/ Jacob put the staues before the shepe in the gutters/ that they myght conceaue before the staues: but in the latter buckynge tyme/ he put them not there: so the last brode was Labans & the fyft Jacobs. And the mā became exceeding ryche & had many shepe/ maydes/ uantes/ mens/ seruantes/ camels & asses.

At the comendement of God/ Jacob departed fro Laban/ & toke hys goodes with hym. Rachel stealeth hyr fathers ymages. Laban followeth Jacob. The countenance betwixt Laban and Jacob.

The xxxi. Chapter.

When Jacob hearde the wordes of Labans sonnes how they sayde: Jacob hath take awaye all that was our fathers/ and of our fathers goodes/ hath he gotte al this honoure. And Jacob behelde the countenance of Laban/ that it was not toward hym as it was in tymes past. And the Lorde sayde vnto Jacob: turne agayne in to the lande of thy fathers/ & to thy kynred/ & I will be with the. Then Jacob sent & called Rachel & Lea to the selfe vnto hys shepe/ & sayde vnto the: I se your fathers countenance that it is not toward me as in tymes past. Moreover & God of my father hath bene with me. And ye knowe how that I haue serued your father to all my myght. And your father hath disceaued me/ & chaffed my wages. x. tymes: but God suffered him not to hurte me. When he sayde/ the spotted shall be thy wages/ than all the shepe were spotted. If he sayde/ the straked shall be thy rewarde/ than bare all the shepe straked: thus hath God take awaye your fathers cattell/ & geue them me. for in bucking tyme I lyfted by myne eyes & sawe in a dreame/ & beholde/ the rāmes & bucked the shepe were straked/ spotted & partie. And & angell of God spake vnto me in a dreame/ sayinge: Jacob? And I answered: here am I. And he sayde: lyfte by thys eyes & se/ how all the rāmes that leape vpon the shepe are straked/ spotted & partie: for I haue sene all & Laban doth vnto the. I am & God of Bethel where thou anoyntedst the stone/ & wher thou bowedst a boipe vnto me. Now arylle & get the out of this cotre/ & retorne vnto & lade wher thou wast borne.

Then answered Rachel & Lea/ & sayde vnto hym: we haue no parte nor inherytaunce in our fathers house/ he cometh by euen as strangers/ for he hath solde vs/ & hath euen eaten eaten by the price of vs. Moreover all the riches which God hath take fro oure father / & is oures & oure chyldres. Now therfore what soeuer God hath layde vnto the / & do. Than Jacob rose by / & set hys sonnes & wyues by bys camels / & carried away all his carell & all his substance which he had gotten in Mesopotamia / for to go to Isaac his father vnto the lande of Canaan. Laban was gone to where his shepe / & Rachel had stole by / fathers ymagines. And Jacob stalle awaye the hert of Laban the Syrian / in & he tolde hym not & he fled. So fled he & all that he had / & made him selfe redy / & passed ouer the ryuers / & set his face streight toward the mounte Gilead.

Upon the thyrde day after / was it told Laban & Jacob fled. Than he toke his brethren by hym & folowed after hym. viij. dayes journey / & ouer toke him at the mounte Gilead.

And God came to Laban the Syrian in a dreame by nyght / & sayd vnto him: take hede to thy selfe / that thou speake not to Jacob ought saue good. And Laban ouer toke Jacob: & Jacob had pitched his tete in & mouite. And Laban in his brethren pitched their tete also vnto the mounte Gilead. Than sayde Laban to Jacob: why hast thou thys done to steale awaye my hert / and carpe awaye my daughters as though they had bene take captiue to the swerde? wherefore wentest thou awaye secretly vnto me / and dydest not tell me / & I myght haue brought the on the waye in myrth / syngyng / tymrels & harpes / & hast not suffred me to kisse my chyldren.

My daughters? thou wast a sole to do it / for I am able to do pou euill. But & God of your father spake vnto me yesterday sayig: take hede & thou speake not to Jacob ought saue good. And now though thou wilst thy waye / because thou lovest after thy fathers house / yet wherefore hast thou stole my gods?

Jacob answered & sayde to Laban: because I was afrayed / & thought that thou woldest haue take awaye thy daughters from me. But with whome soeuer thou fyndest thy gods / let him dye here before oure brethren. Seke that thyne is by me / & take it to. & for Jacob wylt not & Rachel had stolen the. Than went Laban in to Jacobs tete / & into Leas tete / & in to iiij. maydes tentes: but founde the not. Than went he out of Leas tete / & entered in to Rahels tete. And Rachel toke the ymagines & put the in the camels drawe / & fate downe vpon the. And Laban serched all the tete: but founde the not. Than sayde he to hys father: my lorde / be not angry that I can not ryle by before the / for the defeate of women is come vnto me. So serched he / but founde the not. Jacob was wrooth / & chode with Laban. Jacob also answered and sayde to him: what haue I trespassed or what haue I offended / & thou folowest after me? Thou hast searched al my stuffe / & what hast thou founde of all thy household stuffe: put it here before thy brethren & myne / & let the iudge betwixte vs both. This xx. yere that I haue bene to the / thy shepe & thy gootes haue not bene bare / & the rammes of thy flocke haue I not eaten. What soeuer was to me of beast I brought it not vnto the / but made it good my selfe: of my hande dydest thou requyte it / whether it was stolen by daye or nyght. Moreover by daye the hete consumed me / and the colde by nyght / & my shepe departed from myne eyes.

Thus haue I bene. xx. yere in thy house / & serued the. xxiij. yeres for thy iiij. daughters / & bi. yere for thy shepe / & thou hast charged my reward. x. tymes. And except the God of my father / the God of Abraham / & & God whome Isaac feareth had bene to me: surely thou haddest sent me awaye now all emptye. But God behelde my tribulacyon / and the labour of my handes: and rebuked the yester daye.

Laban answered & sayde vnto Jacob: the daughters are my daughters / & the chyldren are my chyldren / & the shepe are my shepe / & all that thou seest is myne. And what can I do this daye vnto these my daughters / or vnto their chyldren which they haue borne? Now therfore come on / let vs make a bonde / & I and thou to gether / & let it be a witness betwene the & me. Than toke Jacob a stone and set it by an ende / and sayde vnto his brethren / gather stones. And they toke stones / & made an heape / & they ate there vpon the heape. And Laban called it Jegar Sahadutha / but Jacob called it Gilead.

Than sayde Laban: this heape be witness betwene & a me this daye / (therfore is it called Gilead) & this toke hym which & Lorde seeth / (sayde he) be witness betwene me and the when we are departed one fro another: that thou shalt not bere my daughters neither shalt take other wyues vnto them. Here is no man with vs: beholde / God is witness betwixte the and me. And Laban sayde more ouer to Jacob: beholde / this heape and thys marke which I haue set here / betwixte me & the: this heape be witness & also this marke that I wylt not come ouer this heape to the / & thou shalt not come ouer this heape & this marke to do any harme. The God of Abraham / the God of Nahor / and the God of their fathers be iudge betwixte vs.

And Jacob sware by hym that hys father Isaac feared. Then Jacob dyd sacrifice vpon the mounte / and called hys brethren to eate bredd. And they ate bredd & taried all nyght in the byll. And early in the morninge Laban rose by & kysed his chyldren and his daughters ters / & blessed the & departed and went vnto his place agayne. But Jacob went forth on his journey. And the angels of God came & mett hym. And when Jacob sawe them / he sayde: this is goddys host: & called the name of that same place / Mahanaim.

The vision of the Angells. Jacob sendeth presents vnto hys brother Esau. How he wrestled with the angel which chaunged his name and called him Israel.

The xxxij. Chapter.

Jacob sente messengers before hym to Esau hys brother / vnto the land of Seir & the feld of Edom. And he commaunded them saying: se that ye speake after this maner to my lorde Esau: thy seruante Jacob sayth thus. I haue so-gerned & bene a stranger with Laban vnto thys tyme / & haue gotten oxen / asses & shepe / men seruantes & women seruantes / & haue sent to shewe it my lorde / that I may fynde grace in thy syghte. And & messengers came agayne to Jacob saying: we came vnto thy brother Esau / & he cometh agaynst the. iij. hundred men with him. Thā was Jacob greatly afrayd / & wylt not which waye to turne him selfe / and deuyled the people that was with him & the shepe / oxen & camels / into iiij. companies / & sayd: If Esau come to & one parte & smyte it / the other may saue it selfe.

And Jacob sayd: O god of my father Abraham / & God of my father Isaac: Lorde whych saydest vnto me / returne vnto thy citie and to thy kynred / & I wylt do all well with the. I am not worthy of the leaste of all the mercyes & treuth whych thou hast shewed vnto thy seruante. For to my staf came I ouer this Jordan / & now haue I gotten iiij. houses. Deluyr me from the handes of my brother Esau: for I feare him: lest he wylt come and smyte the mother with the chyldren. Thou saydest that thou woldest surely do me good / & woldest make my seed as the sonde of the see which can not be nombred for multitude.

And he taried there that same nyght / & toke of & whych came to hande / & presented vnto Esau hys brother. ii. hundred she gootes & xx. he gootes. ii. hundred shepe and xx. rammes: thyrtye mych camels with their coltes. x. kyne & x. bulles. xx. sheasses & x. soles and deluyrered them vnto hys seruantes / euery droue by them selues / & sayde vnto the: goo forth before me & put a space betwixte euery droue. And he commaunded & forimest sayinge.

Whē Esau my brother meteth the & arerh the sayinge: whose seruante art thou and whither goost thou / & whose ar these & goo before & thou shalt say they be thy seruante. Jacobs / & are a present sent vnto my lorde Esau / & beholde / he hym selfe cometh after vs. And so commaunded he the seconde / & euen so & thyrde / & sythwyse all that folowed the droues sayinge of this maner se & ye speake vnto Esau when ye mete him / & sayde more ouer. Beholde thy seruante Jacob cometh after vs / for he sayd. I wylt please hys wrath with the present that goth before me & after ward I wylt see hym my selfe / so peraduenture he wylt receaue me to grace. So went the present before him and he taried all that nyght in the tete / & rose by & same nyght & toke hys ii. wyues & his ii. maydens & his xi. sonnes / & wēt ouer the foorde Jacob. And he toke the & sent the ouer the ryuer / & sent ouer & he had staried behind him selfe alone.

And there wastled a man with him vnto the breakyng of & daye. And when he sawe that he coude not preuaile agaynst him / he smote hym vnder the thye / & the senow of Jacobs thye shynke as he wastled to him. And he sayd: let me goo / for & daye breaketh. And he sayd: I wylt not lett the goo / excepte thou blesse me. And he sayde vnto him: what is thy name? He answered: Jacob. And he sayd: thou shalt be called Jacob no more / but Israel. For thou hast wastled with God & hast preuailed.

And Jacob asked him sayinge / tell me thy name. And he sayd / wherefore dost thou aske after my name? & he blessed him there. And Jacob called & name of & place Pheniel for I haue sene God face to face / & yet is my face referred. And as he went ouer Pheniel the sonne rose vpon him / & he halted vpon hys thye: wherefore the chyldren of Israel eate not of the senow & shynke vnder the thye / vnto thys daye: because & he smote Jacob vnder the thye in the senow that shynke.

Esau & Jacob are agreed / & Jacob came into Sich.

The xxxij. Chapter.

Jacob lyfte vpon his eyes & sawe hys brother Esau come / & with hym iiij. hundred men. And he deuyled the chyldren vnto Lea & vnto Rachel & vnto & ii. maydes. And he put the maydes & their chyldren foremost / & Lea & hys chyldren after / & Rachel and Joseph hindermost. And he went before them & fell on the grownde. bi. tymes / vntill he came vnto his brother.

Esau ranne to mete him & embraced him and fell on his necke & kysed hym / and they wepte. And he lyfte vpon hys eyes & sawe the wyues & their chyldren / & sayd: what are these which thou there hast? fynde grace in the syghte of my Lorde. And Elau sayde: I haue ynough my brother/kepe þe thou hast vnto thy self. Jacob answered: oh nay/ but yf I haue founde grace in thy syghte/receauie my present of my hande: for I haue sene thy face* as though I had sene the face of God: wherfore receauie me to grace & take my blessing that I haue brought the/ for God hath geue it me. And I haue ynough of all thyngs. And so he compelled him to take it. And he sayde: let vs take oure iourney & goo/ and I will goo in thy company. And he sayde vnto him: my lorde knoweth þe I haue tene chylde/ ewes & hyne with ponge/ vnder myne hande/ which yf men shulde ouerdyue but euē one daye/ the hole flocke wold dye. Let my lorde therfore goo before his seruante and I will dyue saye and sofly/ accordeyng as the catell that goth before me and the chylde/ be able to endure: vntill I come to my lorde vnto Seir.

And Elau sayde: let me yet leaue some of my folke wth the. And he sayde: what needeth it: let me fynde grace in þe syghte of my lorde. So Elau went his waye agayne that same daye vnto Seir. And Jacob toke hys iourney towards Succoth/ and bylt him an house/ and made bootes for hys catell: wherof the name of the place is called Succoth.

And Jacob came peafably in to the cite of Sichem in the lande of Canaan/ after that he was come from Mesopotamia/ & pitched before the cyte/ & bought a parcell of ground where he pitched hys tent/ of the children of Hemor/ Sichem's father/ for an hundred labes. And he made there an auter/ & there called vpon the myghtie God of Israel.

The raising of Dyna Jacobs daughter by the men of Syche. And of the great bloude sheddyng done by the sonnes of Jacob.

The xxxiii. Chapter.

In the daughter of Lea whych he bare vnto Jacob/ went out to see the daughters of the lade. And Sichem the sonne of Hemor the Heuite lorde of þe countre/ came her & toke her/ & laye wth her/ & forced her: & his harte laye wth Dina þe daughter of Jacob. And he loued þe damsell & spake hyndly vnto her/ & spake vnto hys father Hemor sayinge/ gett me this mayde vnto my wyfe. And Jacob herde that he had defyled Dina hys daughter/ but hys sonnes were wth the catell in the feld/ and therfore he helde his peace/ vntill they were come. Then Hemor the father of Sichem wēt out vnto Jacob/ to comen with him. And the sonnes of Jacob came out of þe feld as soone as they herde it/ for it greued the/ & they were not a lytle wrooth/ because he had wrought folye in Israel/ in þe he had gyuen to Jacobs daughter/ whych thyng oughte not to be done. And Hemor comened with the sainge: þe soule of my sonne Sichem logeth for poure daughter: geue her him to wyfe/ & make marriages wth vs: geue poure daughters vnto vs/ & take oure daughters vnto you/ & dwell wth vs & þe lade shall be at poure pleasure/ dwell & do poure butynes/ & haue poure possessions there in. And Sichem sayde vnto hys father & hys brethren: let me fynde grace in poure eyes/ & what soeuer ye appointe me/ that will I geue. Tre frely of me both the dowry and gyses/ & I will geue accordeyng as ye saye vnto me/ & geue me the damsell to wyfe.

Then the sonnes of Jacob answered to Sichem & Hemor his father deceptfully/ because he had defyled Dina their syster. And they sayd vnto the/ we can not do this thyng that we shulde geue oure syster to one that is vncircumcised/ for that were a shame vnto vs. Only in this will we consent vnto you: If ye will be as we be/ that all the men chylde amonge you be circumcised/ than will we geue oure daughter to you & take poures to vs/ & will dwell wth you & be one people. But & yf ye will not harken vnto vs to be circumcised/ than will we take oure daughter & goo oure wayes. And their wordes pleased Hemor & Sichem his sonne. And the ponge mā defelde not for to do the thyng/ because he had a lust to Jacobs daughter: he was also most sett by of all that were in hys fathers house. Then Hemor & Sichem went vnto the gate of their cyte/ & comened wth the men of their cyte sayinge: these men are peafable wth vs/ & will dwell in the lande & do their occupation therin. And in the lade is rowne ynough for the/ let vs take their daughters to wyues & geue the/ oures: only herin will they consent vnto vs for to dwell wth vs & to be one people: yf all the men chylde that are amonge vs be circumcised as they are. Their goodes and their substance & all their catell are oures/ only let vs consente vnto the/ that they maye dwell wth vs.

And vnto Hemor and Sichem hys sonne harkened all that wēt out at the gate of hys cyte. And all þe men chylde were circumcised wth whatsoeuer wēt out at the gates of his cite. And the thirde daye when it was paynefull to them/ of the sonnes of Jacob Symeon and Leui Dina's brethren/ toke ether of the hys swerde & went in to the cyte boldly/ & slewe all that was male/ & slewe also Hemor and Sichem hys sonne wth the edge of the swerde/ and toke Dina their syster out of Sichem's house/ & went their waye.

Then came the sonnes of Jacob vpon the deed/ & spoiled the cite/ because they had defyled their syster: and toke their wepe/ ornamēt ment & what so euer was in þe cyte & also in the feld. And all their goodes/ all their children and their wyues toke they captiue and made hauock of all that was in the houses.

And Jacob sayde to Symeon and Leui: ye haue troubled me & made me stycke vnto the inhabitatours of the lande/ both to the Canaanites and also vnto the Pherezites. And I am fewe in nombze. wherfore they shall gather them selues together agaynst me & slep me/ & so shall I and my house be destroyed. And they answered: shuld they deall wth oure syster as wth an whoore?

The xxx. Chapter.

And God sayde vnto Jacob/ arise & get the vp to Bethel/ and dwell there. And make there an auter vnto God that appeared vnto the/ when thou fleddest from Elau thy brother. Then sayd Jacob vnto his household & to all that were wth him/ put away the strange goddes that are amonge you and make poure selues cleane/ & chaunge poure garmetes/ & let vs arye & goo vp to Bethel/ & I maye make an auter there/ vnto god which herde me in the daye of my tribulaciō & was wth me in the waye which I went.

And they gaue vnto Jacob all the strange goddes which were vnder their handes/ & all their carnyges which were in their eares/ & Jacob hyd them vnder an ooke at Sichem. And they departed. And the feare of God fell vpon the cyties þe were rounde aboute the/ that they durst not folowe after the sonnes of Jacob. So came Jacob to Lus in þe land of Canaan/ otherwyse called Bethell/ wth al the people that was wth hym. And he buryed there an auter/ and called the place Bethell: because that god appered vnto him there/ when he fled from his brother.

Then dyed Deboza Rebeccas noyse/ & was buryed benethe Bethell vnder an ooke. And the name of it was called the ooke of lamentacion. And God appeared vnto Jacob agayne after he came out of Mesopotamia & blessed him & sayde vnto him: thy name is Jacob. Not wthstandyng thou shalt be no more called Jacob/ but Israel shall be thy name. And so was his name called Israel.

And God sayde vnto hym: I am God all myghtie/ growe & multiplye: for people and a multitude of people shall spryng of the/ yee & kynge shall come out of thy loynes. And þe lande which I gaue Abraham & Isaac/ will I geue vnto the/ & vnto thy seed after þe will I geue it also. And God departed from hym in the place where he talked wth him. And Jacob set by a marke in þe place where he talked wth him: euē a pilloure of stone/ & powred dynkeoffringe thereon & powred also oyle therō/ & called the name of þe place where God spake wth him/ Bethell.

And they departed from Bethel/ & when he was but a feld bryde fro Ephrath/ Rachel begā to trauell. And in traueylng she was in perell. And as she was in paynes of hys labour the mydwylde sayde vnto her: feare not/ for thou shalt haue thys sonne also. Then as hys soule was a departyng/ that he must dye: he called his name Benoni. But his father called him Ben Jami. And thus dyed Rachel & was buryed in the waye to Ephrath which now is called Bethlehe. And Jacob sett by a pyller vpon hir graue/ whych is called Rahels graue pyller vnto thys daye. And Israel wēt thence & pitched by his tent beyonde the toure of Eder. And it chaunced as Israel dwelt in þe lande/ that Ruben wēt & laye wth Bilha his fathers concubyne/ and it came to Israels eare. The sonnes of Jacob were xiiij. in nombze. The sonnes of Lea/ Ruben/ Jacob's eldest sonne/ and Simeon/ Leui/ Juda/ Issachar/ & Zabulon. The sonnes of Rachel/ Joseph & Ben Jamin. The sonnes of Bilha Rahels mayde/ Dan & Nephtali. And the dayes of Isaac were an hundred & xxx. yeres: & than fell he leke & dyed/ and was put vnto his people beyng olde and full of dayes. And his sonnes Elau and Jacob buried hym.

 Jacob bewaileth Joseph.

The. xxvij. Chapter.
And Jacob dwelt in the land where he is father was a stranger / that is to saye in the lande of Canaan.
 And these are the generacions of Jacob: when Joseph was. xviij. yere olde / he kepte shepe with his brethren / & the lad was with the sonnes of Bilha & of Zilpha his fathers wyues. And he brought vnto their father an euill saying / i.e. was of them. And
 And Israel loued Joseph more than all hys chyldren / because he begat hym in hys olde age / & he made hym a coote of many colour.

When his brethren sawe that their father loued him more thā all hys brethren / they hated him & coude not speke one kynde worde vnto hym. Moreouer Joseph * dreamed a dreame & tolde it his brethren: wherfore they hated him yet p more. And he sayde vnto the heare I praye you thys dreame whych I haue dreamed: Beholde we were makinge sheues in the feld: & lo / my sheffe arose and stode by ryght / & poures stode rosse aboute & made obeysaunce to my sheffe. Than sayde hys brethren vnto hym: what / shalt thou be oure

oure kyng? or shalt thou reygne ouer vs?
 And they hated him yet the more / because of his dreame and of his wordes.

And he dreamed yet another dreame & tolde it his brethren saying: beholde / I haue had one dreame more: me thought the sonne and the moone and. xi. starres made obeysaunce to me. And whē he had tolde it vnto his father and his brethren / hys father rebuked hym & sayde vnto him: what meaneth this dreame which thou hast dreamed: shall I and thy mother and thy brethren come and fall on the grounde before the? And his brethren hated hym / but his father noted the sayinge.

His brethren went to kepe their fathes shepe in Sichem / and Israel sayde vnto Joseph: do not thy brethren kepe in Sichem? come that I may send the to the. And he answered: here am I. And he sayde vnto hym:
 goo & see whether it be well with thy brethren & the shepe / & bringe me worde agayne. And sent him out of the vale of Hebron / for to go to Sichem. And a certayne mā founde hym wandryng out of his waye in the feld / and axed him what he soughte. And he answered: I seeke my brethren / tell me I praye the where they kepe shepe. And the man sayde / they are departed hence / for I herde the say let vs goo vnto Dothan. Thus went Joseph after hys brethren / and founde them in Dothan.

And whē they sawe hym a farre of before he came at them / they toke counsell agaynst him / for to sleie him / & sayde one to another / Beholde thys * dreamer cometh / come now and let vs sleie hym and cast hym in to some pyt / and let vs saye that some wycked beast hath deuoured him / and let vs see what hys dreames wyll come to.

When Ruben herde that / he went aboute to ryde hym out of their handes and sayde / let vs not kyll him. And Ruben sayde moreouer vnto the / shede not his bloude / but cast hym in to this pyt that is in the wyldernes / and laye no handes vpon him: for he wolde haue rydd hym out of their handes and deliuered hym to hys father agayne.

And as soone as Joseph was come vnto hys brethren / they strypte hym out of hys gay coote that was vpon hym / and they toke hym and cast hym in to a pyt: But the pyt was emptye and had no water therein. And they lye by their eyes & looked aboute / there came a compaignie of Imaelites fro Gilead / & their camels laden with spicery / baulme / & myrr / & were goynge downe in to Egypte.

Than sayde Juda to his brethren / what auayleth it that we sleie oure brother / & kepe his bloude secrett: come on / let vs * sell hym to the Imaelites / & let not oure hādes be de-tyled vpon hym: for he is oure brother & oure flesch. And his brethren were content. Than as the Adianites marchant men passed by / they drewe Joseph out of the pyt & solde hym vnto the Imaelites for. xx. peces of syluer. And they brought him into Egypte.

And when Ruben came agayne vnto the pyt and fonde not Joseph there / he * rent his clothes and went agayne vnto his brethren saying: the lad is not ponder / & whether shall I goo? And they toke Josephs coote & kyllled a goote / & dypped the coote in the bloud. And they sent that gay coote and caused it to be brought vnto their father & sayd: This haue we fonde: se / whether it be thy sonnes coote or no. And he knewe it saying: it is my sonnes coote / a wycked beast hath * deuoured hym / & Joseph is rent in peces. And Jacob rent hys clothes / and put sacke clothe aboute hys loynes / & sorowed for hys sonne a longe season. Chā came all his sonnes & all his dought-ters to comforte him. And he wold not be co-forted / but sayde: I wyll go downe in to the graue vnto my sonne / mourninge. And thus his father wepte for him. And the Adianites
 * solde hym in Egypte vnto Putiphar a Iorde of Pharaos: & his chefe marshall.

And she sayde: thy sygnett / thy bracelet / and thy staffe that is in thy hande. And he gaue it her a lay by her / & she was whith childe by hym. And she gatt her by & went & put her mātell from her / and put on her wydwes rayment agayne. And Juda sent the kydd by his ney-bure of Odollam / for to fetch out his pledge agayne fro the wyfes hande. But he found her not. Chan asked he the men of the same place sayinge: where is the whooze that satt at Chaim in the waye? And they sayde: there was no whooze here. And he came to Juda agayne sayinge: I can not fynde her / & also the men of the place sayd: that there was no whooze there. And Juda sayde: let her take it to her / lest we be shamed: for I sente a kydd and thou couldest not fynde her.

And it came to passe that after .iii. monethes / one tolde Juda sayinge: Chamar thy daughter in lawe hath played the whooze / & wyth playnge the whooze is become great w childe. And Juda sayde: byynge her forth & let her be bzente. And when they brought her forth / she sent to her father in law sayinge: by the man vnto whome these thynges pertain / am I with childe. And sayd also: loke whose are this feall / bracelet / and staffe. And Juda knewe them sayinge: she is moze ryght wch than I / because I gaue her not to Sela my sonne. But he laye with her nomoze.

God prospereth Joseph. Pharaos wyfe tempteth hym. He is accused & cast in prysen. God hath mercy upon hym.

The .xxxix. Chapter.

Joseph was brought vnto Egypte / & Putiphar a lord of Pharaos: & his chiefe marshall an Egyptian / bought him of the Ismaelites which brought him thither. And the Lord was w Joseph / & he was a luckie felowe & continued in the house of his master the Egyptian. And his master sawe that the Lord was wyth hym / and that the Lord made all that he dyd prosper in his hande: wherfore he founde grace in his masters syghte / and serued him. And his master made hym ruelar of his house / & put all that he had in his hand. And as soone as he had made him ruelar ouer his house & ouer all that he had / the Lord blessed this Egyptians house for Josephs sake / and the blessinge of the Lord was vpon all that he had: both in the house & also in the feldes. And therfore he left all & he had in Josephs hand / & looked by on nothinge that was with him / saue only on a bread which he ate. And Joseph was a goodly persone & a well fauored. And it fortuned after this / that his masters wyfe cast his eyes vpon Joseph & sayde: come lye with me. But he denyed & sayde to her: Beholde / my master wotech not what he hath in the house w me / but hath commytted all that he hath to my hande. He hym selfe is not greater in the house than I / and hath kepte nothinge fro me / but only the because thou art his wyfe. How than can I do this great wykydnes / for to synne agaynst God? And after this maner spake she to Joseph dawe by dawe: but he harkend not vnto her / to slepe nere her or to be in her company.

And it fortuned aboute the same season / that Joseph entred in to the house / to do his busynes: & there was none of the household by in the house. And she caught hym by the garment sayinge: come slepe with me. And he left his garment in her hande & fled and gott him out. When she sawe that he had left his garment in her hande / and was fled out / she called vnto the men of the house / & tolde the sayinge: Se / he hath brought in an Hebrew vnto vs to do vs shame: for he came in to me / for to haue slept wyth me. But I cryed wyth a lowde voyce. And when he harde / I lyfte by my voyce & cryed / he left his garment w me and fled awaye and got hym out.

his lord came home. And she told hym accordynge to these wordes sayinge. This Hebrewes seruante which thou hast brought vnto vs came in to me to do me shame. But as soone as I lyft by my voyce and cryed / he left his garment with me & fled out. When his master herde & woordes of his wyfe which she tolde hym sayinge: after this maner dyd thy seruante to me / he waxed wrooth.

And he toke Joseph & put him in a prysen: euē in the place where the kynges prysoners laye bounde. And there continued he in prysen / but the Lord was wyth Joseph & he twed hym mercie / & gott hym sauoure in the syghte of the keper of the prysen which commytted to Josephs hande all the prysoners & were in the prysen house. And what soeuer was done there / that dyd he. And the keper of the prysen asked vnto nothinge that was vnder his hande / because the Lord was wyth hym / and because that what soeuer he dyd / the Lord made it come luckely to passe.

Joseph expoundeth the dreames of the two prysoners.

The .xl. Chapter.

And it chafced after this / that the chiefe butlar of the kyng of Egypte and his chiefe baker had offended the lord the kyng of Egypte. And Pharaos was angrie wyth the and put the in ward in his chiefe marshalls house: euē in the prysen where Joseph was bound. And the chiefe marshall gaue Joseph a charge with them / and he serued them. And they continued a season in ward.

And they dreamed ether of them in one nyght: both the butlar and the baker of the kyng of Egypte which were bounde in the prysen house / ether of them his dreame / and echē mannes dreame of a sondrye interpretacon. When Joseph came in vnto them in the moynge / & looked vpon them: beholde / they were sabb. And he asked them sayinge / wherfore loke ye so sadly to daye? They answered hym / we haue dreamed a dreame / & haue no man to declare it. And Joseph sayd vnto the. Interpretynge belongeth to God but tel me yet. And the chiefe butlar tolde his dreame to Joseph and sayde vnto hym. In my dreame me thought there stode a byne befoze me / & in the byne were .iii. braunches / and it was as though it budded / and her blossoms shot forth: & the grapes there of waxed rype. And I had Pharaos cuppe in my hande / and toke of the grapes & wronge them in to Pharaos cuppe / & deliuered Pharaos cuppe in to his hande. And Joseph sayde vnto him / this is the interpretacon of it. The .iii. braunches ar thre dayes: for wythin thre dayes shall Pharaos lyft by thynne heade / and restore the but-to thynne office agayne / & thou shalt deliuer Pharaos cuppe in to his hande / after the old maner / euē as thou dydest when thou wast his butlar. But thynke on me w the / when thou art in good case / & shewe mercie vnto me. And make mencion of me to Pharaos / & helpe to byynge me out of this house: for I was stollen out of the land of the Hebrewes / & here also haue I done nothing at all wherfore they shulde haue put me in to this dongeon. When the chiefe baker sawe that he had well interpretate it / he sayde vnto Joseph / me thought also in my dreame / that I had .iii. wyker baskettes on my heade. And in the bypermost basket of all maner bakemeates for Pharaos. And the bydes ate them out of the basket vpon my heade.

Joseph answered and sayde: this is the interpretacon therof. The .iii. baskettes are .iii. dayes / for this daye .iii. dayes shall Pharaos take thy heade from the / and shall hange the on a tree / and the bydes shall eate thy flesch from of the.

And it came to passe the thyrde dawe which was Pharaos byrth dawe / that he made a feast vnto all his seruantes. And he lyfted by the head of the chiefe buttelar and of the chiefe baker amonge his seruantes. And restored the chiefe buttelar vnto his buttelarshippe agayne / and he reched the cuppe in to Pharaos hande / and haged the chiefe baker: euē as Joseph had interpretated vnto them. Notwithstodyng the chiefe buttelar remembred not Joseph / but forgat him.

Pharaos dreames are expounded by Joseph. He is made ruler ouer all Egypt. He hath two sonnes / Manasses and Ephraim. The berth begynneth in Egypt.

The .xli. Chapter.

And it fortuned at .ii. yeres ende / that Pharaos dreamed / & thought that he stode by a ryuers syde / and that there came out of the ryuer .vij. goodly kyne & satt flesched / and sedd in a medowe / and hym thought that .viij. other kyne came by after them out of the ryuer euelsauored and leane flesched & stode by the other vpon & bynke of the ryuer. And the euill fauored & leane flesched kyne: ate by .viij. well fauored and satt kyne: and he awoke therwith. And he slepte agayne and dreamed the second tyme / that .viij. yeres of corne grewe byd one stalke rache & goodly. And that .viij. thynne eares blasted w the wynde / sprang by after them: & that the .viij. thynne eares deuoured the .viij. ranche and full eares. And thā Pharaos awaked: & se / here is his dreame. When the moynge came / his sprete was troubled. And he sent and called for all the soothsayers of Egypte & all his wyse men therof / and told them his dreame: but there was none

none of the that coude interpretate it unto Pharaon. Chan spake the chefe buttelar unto Pharaon saying. I do remembre my sawte this daye. Pharaon was angrie wth his seruantes / & put in warde in the chefe marshalls house both me & the chefe baker. And we dreamed both of vs in one nyght & ech mānes dreame of a sondre interpretacion.

And there was wyth vs a yonge man / an Hebrie borne / seruante unto the chefe marshal. And we told him / and he declared oure dreames to vs accordyng to ether of oure dreames. And as he declared them vnto vs / even so it came to passe. I was restozed to myne office agayne / and he was hanged.

Chan Pharaon sent and called Joseph. And they made him haste out of * pylson. And he shaued him self and chaunged his raymet / & wēt in to Pharaon. And Pharaon sayd vnto Joseph: I haue dreamed a dreame & no man can interpretate it / but I haue herde saye of the & as soone as thou hearest a dreame / thou doste interpretate it. And Joseph answered Pharaon sayinge: God shall geue Pharaon an answer of peace without me. Pharaon sayde vnto Joseph: in my dreame me thought I stode by a ryuers syde / and there came out of the ryuer. vii. fatt fleshed and well fauozed kyne / and fedd in the medowe. And then. vii. other kyne came bp after them / poore & very euell fauozed & leane fleshed: so that I neuer sawe their lyke in all the lande of Egypte in euell fauozednesse. And the. vii. leane & euell fauozed kyne ate bp the. vii. fatt kyne. And when they had eaten the bp a mā coude not perceaue that they had eaten them: for they were still as euill fauozed as they were at the begynnyng. And I awoke. And I sawe agayne in my dreame. vii. eares spryng out of one stalk full and good / &. vii. other eares wytherd / thynne & blasted wth wynd / spryng bp after the. And the thynne eares deuowzed the. vii. good eares. And I haue tolde it vnto the sothsayers / but no man can tell me what it meaneth. Then Joseph sayd vnto Pharaon: both Pharaons dreames are one. And god doth shewe Pharaon what he is aboute to do. The. vii. good kyne are. vii. yeres: and the. vii. good eares are seuen yere also / and it is but one dreame. A the wythe / the. vii. thynne & euell fauozed kyne that came out after the / are. vii. yeres: & the. vii. emptie & blasted eares shalbe. vii. yeres of hunger. Thys is that which I sayde vnto Pharaon / & God doth shewe Pharaon what he is aboute to do.

Beholde there shall come. vii. yere of great plenteousnes through out all the lande of Egypte. And there shall arys after them. vii. yeres of hunger. So & all the plenteousnes shalbe forgotten in the lande of Egypte. And the hunger shall consume the lande: so that & plenteousnes shall not be once alene in the land by reason of that hūger that shall come after / for it shalbe excedyng great. And as concerning that the dreame was doubled vnto Pharaon the second tyme / it betokeneth & the thyng is certainly prepared of God / and that God wyll shortly brynge it to passe.

Now therfore let Pharaon prouyde for a man of vnderstandyng & wyldome / and sette hym ouer the lande of Egypte. And let Pharaon make officers ouer the lande / & take bp the fyfte parte of the lande of Egypte in the. vii. plenteous yeres & let the gather all the fooode of these good yeres that come / & lay bp come vnder the power of Pharaon / that there may be fooode in the cyties / and there let the kepte it: that there may be fooode in stooze in the lande / agaynst the. vii. yeres of hunger which shall come in the land of Egypte / and that the lande perishe not thozow hunger.

And the sayinge pleased Pharaon & all his seruantes. Chan sayde Pharaon vnto his seruantes: where shall we fynde soch a mā as thys is / that hath the spere of God in hym? wherfore Pharaon sayde vnto Joseph: for as moch as God hath shewed the all this / there is no man of vnderstandyng or of wyldome lyke vnto the. Thou therfore shalt be * ouer my house / & accordyng to thy worde shall all my people obey: only in & thynges seate wyll I be aboue the. And he sayde vnto Joseph: he holde / I haue sett the ouer all the lande of Egypte. And he toke of hys rynge from hys fynyng / & put it vpon Josephs fynyng / and arayed him in raymet of bysse / & put a golde chayne aboute his necke & sett him vpon the best charet that he had saue one. And they cryed before hym. Abrech / & Pharaon had made him ruelar ouer all & land of Egypte.

And Pharaon sayde vnto Joseph: I am Pharaon / without thy wyll / shall no man lyffe bp ether hys hand or fote in all & land of Egypte. And he called Josephs name * Zaphnath Paena. And he gaue him to wyfe Asnath the daughter of Putiphar preast of On. Chan went Joseph abrode in the lande of Egypte. And he was. xxx. yere olde: when he stode before Pharaon kyng of Egypte. And than Joseph departed from Pharaon / & went thozow out all the lande of Egypte.

And in the. vii. plenteous yeres they made Meues & gathered bp all the fode of the. vii. plenteous yeres which were in the lande of Egypte & put it in to the cyties. And he put the fooode of the felde that grewe vnto the aboute euery cyte: even in the same. And Joseph layde bp come in stooze / lyke vnto the lande of the see in multitude of mesure / vntill he left nombryng: for it was wyth out out nombryng. And vnto Joseph were borne. ii. sonnes before & yeres of hūger came / which Asnath the daughter of Putiphar preast of On bare vnto him. And he called the name of the fyrst sonne * Manasse / for God (sayde he) hath made me forgett all my laboure and all my fathers household. The seconde called he Ephraim / for God (sayde he) hath caused me to growe in the lande of my trouble.

And when the. vii. yeres of plenteousnes that was in the land of Egypte were ended / than came the. vii. yeres of * derty / accordyng as Joseph had sayde. And & derty was in all landes: but in the land of Egypte was there yet fooode. When now all the lande of Egypte began to hunger / than cryed the people to Pharaon for bread. And Pharaon sayde vnto all Egypte: goo vnto Joseph / and what he sayth to you that doo. And when the derty was thozow out all the land / Joseph opened all that was in the cyties and solde vnto the Egyptians. And hunger waxed soze in the lande of Egypte. And all countrees came to Egypte to Joseph for to bye come: because that the hunger was soze in all landes.

Josephs brythren came into Egypte to bye come. And he knoweth them and cryeth them. Symeon is put in pylson / the other retorne to their father to fetch Benjamin. His father is lothe to let hym go / but at the last he graunted it.

The. xliij. Chapter.

Ben Jacob sawe that there was come to be solde in Egypt / he sayd vnto hys sonnes: why are ye negligent? beholde / I haue hearde & there is come to be solde in Egypte. * Gte you thither and bye vs come from thence / & we may lyue & not dye. So went Josephs ten brythren doun to bye come in Egypte / for Benjamin Josephs brother wold not / Jacob sende wth hys other brythren: for he sayde: some mysfortune myght happen hym.

And the sonnes of Israel came to bye come amonge other that came / for there was derty also in the lande of Canaan. And Joseph was gouerner in the lande / and solde come to all & people of the land. And his brythre came / & fell flat on the grounde before him. When Joseph sawe his brythre / he knewe the: but made straunge vnto them / and spake roughly vnto them sayinge: whence come ye? a they sayde: out of the lande of Canaan / to bye bytyle. Joseph knewe his brythre / but they knewe not hym.

And Joseph remembred his * dreames which he dreamed of them / and sayde vnto them: ye are spies / and to se where the lāde is weake is youre comynge. And they sayde vnto him: nay my lord: but to bye bytyle thy seruantes are come. We are all one mans sonnes / & meane: & dely / and thy seruantes are no spies. And he sayd vnto them: nay berely / but euen to se where the lande is weake is youre comynge. And they sayde: we thy seruantes are. xij. brythren / the sonnes of one man in the lande of Canaan. The yongest is yet with oure father / and one no mā woteth where he is. Joseph sayde vnto them / that is it that I sayde vnto you / that ye are suretye spies. Here by ye shall be proued. For by the lyfe of Pharaon / ye shall not goo hence / vntill youre yongest brother be come hither. Sende therfore one of you and lett hym sett youre brother / & ye shalbe in preason in & meane season. And thereby shall youre wordes be proued / whether there be any trueth in you: or els by the lyfe of Pharaon / ye are but spies. And he put them in warde the. dyes.

And Joseph sayde vnto the the. xij. daye: This doo and lyue / for I feare God. If ye meane no hurte / let one of youre brythre be bounde in the preason / and goo ye & brynge the necessarie fooode vnto youre householdes / and brynge youre yongest brother vnto me: that youre wordes maye be beleued / & that ye dye not. And they dyd so.

Chan they sayde one to a nother: we haue berely synned agaynst oure brother / in that we sawe the angurys of hys soull when he besought vs / & wold not heare hym: therfore is thys trouble come vpon vs. Ruben answered them sayinge. Sayde I not vnto you & ye shulde not * synne agaynst the lad: but ye wolde not heare. And now berely see / hys bloude is requyred. They were not aware that Joseph vnderstonde them / for he spake the. xij. to them by an interpreter. And he turned & from them & wepte / and than turned to them agayne & comened with the / & toke out Symeon from amonge them and bounde hym to him / as in before their eyes / & comaunded to fyl their saches wyth come / and to put euery mans money in hys sache / and to geue the bytyle to spende by the waye. And so it was done to them. And they laded their asses wyth the come & departed thence. And as one of them opened his sache / for to geue his ass prauender in the ynne / he fynyed hys money in hys sachs mouth. And he sayde vnto his brythre: my money is restozed me agayne / & is eue in my sachs mouth. Chan their hartes fayled them / and were astonyed and sayde one to a nother: how cometh it that God dealeth thus wyth vs. And they came vnto Jacob their father vnto the land of Canaan / and tolde him all & had happened them sayinge. The lord of the lande spake roughly to vs / and toke vs for spyres to serche the costre. And we sayde vnto him: we meane truly & are no spies. We be. xij. brythren sonnes of oure father / one is awaye / and the yongest is now wyth oure father in the lande of Canaan. And the lord of the countre sayde vnto vs: here by shall I knowe yf ye meane truly: leaue one of youre brethren here with me / & take foode necessary for youre householdes and get you awaye / & bynge youre yongest brother vnto me. And thereby shall I knowe yf ye are no spyes / but meane truly: So will I deliuer you youre brother agayne / & ye shall be cuppe in the lande.

And as they emptied their sakes / behold: euery mans badell of money was in his sake And when both they & their father sawe the bundells of money / they were a frayde.

And Jacob their father sayde vnto the: We haue ye robbed of my chyldren: Joseph is awaye / and Symeon is awaye / and ye will take Benjamin awaye. All these thynges fall vpon me. Ruben answered hys father sayinge: Slee my two sonnes / yf I bynge him not to the agayne. Welpuer him therfore to my honde / and I will bynge hym to the agayne. And he sayde: my sonne shall not go doونه with you. For his brother is dead / & he is left alone. Moreover some mysfortune might happen vpon him by the waye which ye go. And so shuld ye bynge my gray head with sorrowe vnto the graue.

b. Byng me to my graue: that is / ye shall bynge me to my death / as in goeth aspe and wepe. The feast to gether. Gen. xliij.

The xliij. Chapter.

And the deth waxed sore in the land. And wher they had eat by the corne which they brought out of the lande of Egypt / their father sayde vnto them: goo agayne & by vs a lytle food. Chan sayde Juda vnto him: the ma dyd testifie vnto vs sayinge: Ioke yf ye see not my face excepte youre brother be with you. Therfore yf thou wilt sende oure brother with vs / we will go & bye the food. But yf thou wilt not sende him / we will not goo: for the man sayde vnto vs: Ioke that ye see not my face / excepte youre brother be with you. And Israel sayd: wherfore delt ye so cruelly to me / as to tell the man yf ye had yet another brother? And they sayde: The ma asked vs of oure kyndred sayinge: is youre father yet alive? haue ye not another brother? And we tolde him acoording to these wordes. How coulde we knowe yf he wold byd vs bynge oure brother downe to vs? Chā sayd Juda vnto Israel his father: Send the lad with me / & we will ryle & goo / & we maye lyue & not dye: both we / thou & also oure chyldren. I will be surety for hym / and of my handes requyre him. If I bynge him not to the / & sett hym before thine eyes / I shall let me bere the blame for euer. For except we had made thys taryng: by thys we had bene there twyse and come agayne.

Chan their father Israel sayd vnto them: Yf it must ned be so now: than do thus / take of the best frutes of the lande in youre besselles / and bynge the ma a present / a curtesye bawme / and a curtesye of hony / spices & myrr / dates & almōdes. And take as moch money moze wyth you. And the money that was brought agayne in youre sakes / take it agayne wyth you / peradventure it was some ouersyghte.

Take also youre brother with you / & aryle & goo agayne to the ma. And God almightie geue you mercie in the syghte of the ma and send you youre other brother and also Benjamin / and I will be as a man robbed of his chyldren.

Thus toke they the present and twyse so moch moze money with them / and Benjamin. And rose vp / went downe to Egypt / & presented the selfe to Joseph. When Joseph sawe Benjamin with them / he sayde to the ruelar of his house: bynge these men home & slep and make redie: for they shall dyne with me at none. And the man dyd as Joseph bad / and brought them in to Josephs house.

Wher they were brought to Josephs house / they were a frayde and sayde: be cause of the money that came in oure sakes mouthes at the first tyme / are we brought / to paye a quarrell with vs and to laye some thinge to oure charge to bynge vs in bondage & oure allies also. Therfore came they to the man yf was the ruelar oure Josephs house / & comened wyth hym at the doore and sayde.

Syr / we came hyther at the first tyme to bye food / & as we came to an inne / & opened oure sakes: beholde / euery mannes money was in hys sake / & full weyghte: But we haue brought it ageyne to vs / & other money haue we brought also in oure handes / to bye foode / but we cannot tell who put oure money in oure sakes. And he sayde: be of good chere / feare not: youre God and the God of youre fathers hath put you that treasure in youre sakes / for I had youre money. And he brought Symeon out to the & led the in to Josephs house / & gaue the water to washe their fete / & gaue their allies prauender. And they made redye their present agaynst Joseph came at none / for they herde say yf they shuld dyne there. When Joseph came home / they brought yf present into yf house to him / which they had in their handes / & fell flat on yf ground before him. And he welcomed the courteously sayinge: is youre father yf old man whych ye told me of / in good health? & is he yet alive? they answered: thy seruante oure father is in good health / and is yet alive. And they bowed the selues and fell to the grounde.

And

And he lyfte by his eyes & behelde his brother Benjamin his mothers sonne / & sayd: Gen. xliij. c. *is thys youre yongest brother of whome ye sayde vnto me? And sayde: God be mercifull vnto yf my sonne. And Joseph made hast for hys hert dyd melt vnto his brother / & sought wher to wepe / & entred in to his chambze / for to wepe there. And he washed hys face & came out & refrayned hym selfe / & hadd sett bread on the table.

And they prepared for hym by hym selfe / & for the by them selues / & for the Egyptians which ate with him by them selues / because the Egyptians may not eate bread with the Hebrewes / for that is an abhominacion vnto the Egyptians. And they satt before him: the eldest acoordinge vnto hys age / and the yongest acoordinge vnto hys youth. And the men marueled and ge the selues. And they broughte rewardes vnto them from before hym: but Benjamin parte was spue tymes so moch as any of theirs. And they ate and they dzonke / & were dzonke with him.

The xliij. Chapter.

And he commaunded the ruelar of hys house sayinge: fill the mens sakes with food / as moch as they can carpe / & put euery mans money in hys bagge mouth / & put my syluer cuppe in the sakes mouth of the yongest and hys come money also. And he dyd as Joseph had sayde. And in the mornynge as soone as it was lychte / the men were let goo with their allies. And when they were out of the cytie & not yet ferre awaye / Joseph sayde vnto the ruelar of his house: bp and folowe after the men and ouertake them / and saye vnto the: wherfore haue ye rewarded euell for good? is that not the cuppe of which my lord byneth / and doth he not prophesye therein? ye haue euell done that ye haue done.

And he ouertoke them and sayd the same wordes vnto them. And they answered hym: wherfore sayth my lord such wordes? God forbydd yf thy seruantes shulde doo so. Beholde / the money which we founde in oure sakes mouthes / we brought agayne vnto the / out of the lande of Canaan: how then shuld we steale out of my lord house / ether syluer or golde: wyth whosoever of thy seruantes it be founde let hym dye / and let vs also be my lordes bondmen. And he sayde: Now therfore acoordinge vnto youre wordes he to whom it is found / shall be my seruante: but ye / shall be harmelesse.

And attonce euery man toke downe hys sake to the grounde / & euery man opened his sake. And he serched / and began at the eldest and left at the yongest. And the cuppe was founde in Benjaminis sake. Then they rent their clothes / and laded euery ma hys asse and went agayne vnto the cytie. And Juda & hys brethren came to Josephs house / for he was yet there / & they fell before hym on the grounde. And Joseph sayde vnto the: what dede is this which ye haue done? wilt ye not that soch a man as I can prophesye? Then sayde Juda: what shall we saye vnto my lord / what shall we speake or what excuse can we make? God hath founde out yf wekednesse of thy seruantes. Behold / both we and he to whom the cuppe is founde / are thy seruantes. And he answered: God forbyd that I shulde do so / the man to whom the cuppe is founde / he shall be my seruante: but go ye in peace vnto youre father.

Then Juda went vnto him and sayde: oh my lord / let thy seruante speake a worde in my lordes care / and be not wrooth wyth thy seruante: for thou art euen as Pharaο. My lord axed his seruante sayinge: haue ye a father or a brother? And we answered my lord: we haue a father that is olde / & a yonge lad which he begat in his age: and the brother of the sayde lad is dead / & he is all yf is left of that mother. And his father loueth him. Then sayde my lord vnto his seruantes bynge hym vnto me / & I maye sett myne eyes vpon him. And we answered my lord: that the lad coulde not goo from hys father / for yf he shuld leaue hys father / he were but a deed man. Chan saydest thou vnto thy seruantes: excepte youre yongest brother come with you / Ioke that ye see my face no moare.

And wher we came vnto thy seruante oure father / we shewed hym what my lord had sayde. And when oure father sayde vnto vs / goo agayne & bye vs a lytle fode: we sayde / yf we coulde not goo. Neuerthelesse yf oure yongest brother go with vs then will we go / for we maye not see the manes face excepte oure yongest brother be with vs. Then sayde yf thy seruante oure father vnto vs: Ye knowe that my wyfe bare me ij. sonnes. And the one went out from me & it is sayde of a surety that he is come in peaces of wyld beastes / and I sawe hym not sence. If ye shall take this also awaye from me and some mysfortune happē vnto him / then shall ye bynge my gray head with sorrowe vnto the graue.

Now therfore when I come to thy seruante my father / yf the lad be not with me: sayinge that his lyfe hāgeth by the laddes lyfe / then as soone as he seeth yf the lad is not come / he will dye. So shall we thy seruantes bynge the gray hedde of thy seruante oure father with sorrowe vnto the graue. For I thy seruante became surety for the lad vnto my father.

Gene. xliij. b father and sayde: * ¶ I byng him not into the agayne. I will were & blame all my lyfe longe. Now therfore let me thy seruante byde here for the lad/and be my lordes bondman: and let the lad goo home with his brethren. For how can I goo vnto my father / and the lad not with me: lest I shoulde see the wretchednes that shall come on my father.

¶ Joseph maketh hym selfe knowne vnto his brethren / and sendeth for his father.

Chap. xlv.

And Joseph coulde no longer re-frayne befoze all them that stode aboute hym / but commaunded that they shuld goo all out from hym / & that there shuld be no man wth him / whyle he battered hym selfe vnto his brethren. And he wrote a word / so that the Egyptians & the house of Pharaos herde it. And he sayde vnto hither / but God: and he hath made me father vnto Pharaos and lord ouer all his house / & ruler in all the lande of Egypte. Hast you goe to my father & tell hym / this sayeth thy sonne Joseph: God hath made me lord ouer all Egypte. Come downe vnto me and tarye not. And thou shalt dwell in the lande of Go-san and be by me: both thou and thy children / and thy childrens children: and thy shepe and thy flockes & all that thou hast. There will I make prouyson for thee: for there remaine

And after that / his brethren talked with him.
And when the tydinges was come vnto Pha-

And Pharaos spake vnto Joseph: saye vnto thy brethren / this do ye: lade your bestes the lande of Canaan / take your father and your householdes & come vnto me / & I will geue you the best of the land of Egypte / and for you out of the lande of Egypte / for your childe & for your wyues: & byng your father goodes of all the land of Egypte shall be yours.

And the child of Israel dyd euen so / And them: se that ye fall not out by the waye.

And they departed from Egypte and came in to the lande of Canaan vnto Jacob their fa-

And Jacobs hert wauered / for he belued

And Joseph went & tolde Pharaos and sayde: my father and my brethren their shepe and their bestes & all that they haue / are come out of the lande of Canaan and are in the lande of Gosan. And Joseph toke a parte of his brethren: eue lyue of them / and presented them vnto Pharaos. And Pharaos sayd vnto his brethren: what is your occupation? And they sayde vnto Pharaos: shepardes are thy sersayd moreover vnto Pharaos: for to * togeorne haue no pasture for their shepe so for is the same smēt in the land of Canaan. Now therfore let thy seruantes dwell in the lande of

And Pharaos sayd vnto Joseph: thy father & thy brethren are come vnto the. The land of the lande make both thy father & thy brethren dwell: And euen in the lande of Gosan let the dwell. Moreover if thou knowe any in Jacob his father and sett hym befoze Pha-

There was no bread in all the land/for the derty was exceeding sore: so that the lād of Egypte & of Canaan / were famelshyd by reason of derty. And Joseph brought together all the money that was sold in the lande of Egypte & of Canaan / for the corne which they boughte: & he layde by the money in Pharaos house. When money failed in the lande of Egypte & of Canaan / all the Egyptians came vnto Joseph and sayde: geue vs sustenance: wherfore suffrest thou vs to dye before? for oure money is spent. Then sayd Joseph: brynge youre catell / & I will geue you for your catell / yf ye be without money. And they brought their catell vnto Joseph. And he gaue them bread for horses & shepe / and oxen and asses: so he fed them with bread for all their catell that yere.

When that yere was ended / they came vnto him the nexte yere and sayde vnto him: we will not hyde it from my lord / how that we haue nether money nor catell for my lord: there is no moare left for my lord / but euen oure bodies and oure lādes. Wherfore latestt thou vs dye before thine eyes / and the lande to goo to noughte: by vs and oure land / for bread: & let both vs and oure lādes be bonde to Pharaos. Geue vs seed / that we may lyeue & not dye / & that the lande goo nat to wast.

And Joseph boughte all the land of Egypte for Pharaos. For the Egyptians solde every man hys land because the derty was sore vpon them: & so the lande be came Pharaos. And he appoynted the people vnto the cyties / fro one syde of Egypte vnto the other: only the land of the Priestes bought he not. For there was an ordinaunce made by Pharaos for the Priestes: that they shulde eate of which was appoynted vnto them: whych Pharaos had geue the gentiles wherfore they solde not their land.

Then Joseph sayde vnto folke: beholde I haue boughte you this daye & youre land for Pharaos. Take there seed & goo sowe the lande. And of the encrease / ye shall geue the fyfte parte vnto Pharaos / & iiii. partes shal be youre awne / for seed to sowe the seld: and for you / & them of youre houtholdes / and for youre chylzen / to eate. And they answered: Thou haste saued oure lyues. Let vs fynde grace in the syghte of my lord / and let vs be Pharaos seruantes. And Joseph made it a lawe ouer the lande of Egypte vnto this daye: that men must geue Pharaos the fyfte parte / excepte the land of the priestes only / which was not bond vnto Pharaos.

And Israel dwelt in Egypte: euen in the countre of Gosan. And they had their possessions therein / and they grew & multiplied exceedyngly. Moreover Jacob lyued in the lande of Egypte .xvii. yeres / so that the hole age of Jacob was an hundred & .xvii. yere.

When the tyme drew nye / & Israel must dye: he sent for his sonne Joseph & sayde vnto hym: If I haue fofide grace in thy syghte / put thy hande vnder my theye and deale mercifully and truly with me / that thou burye me not in Egypte: but let me lye by my fathers / and carie me out of Egypte / & burye me in their buryall. And he answered: I will do as thou hast sayde. And he sayde: Swere vnto me. And he sware vnto him. And than Israel bowed hym vnto the beddes head.

And Jacob lyeth sycke. He despyeth Ephraim and Manasses for hys sonnes and blesteth them.

The .xlviii. Chapter.

After these deades / tydings were brought vnto Joseph / that his father was seke. And he toke with him his .ii. sonnes / Manasses and Ephraim. Then was it sayde vnto Jacob: he holde / thy sonne Joseph cometh vnto the. And Israel toke hys strength vnto hym / and satt by on the bedd / & sayd vnto Joseph: God all myghtie appeared vnto me at Lus in the lande of Canaan / & blessed me / & sayde vnto me: beholde / I will make the growe & will multiplye the / & will make a great nombre of people of the / & will geue this land vnto the & vnto thy seed after the vnto an euerlasting possellion. Now therfore thy .ii. sonnes Manasses & Ephraim which were bozne vnto the before I came to the / in to Egypte / shal be myne: euē as Ruben & Symeon shall they be vnto me. And the chylde which thou getest after the / shal be thine awne: but shal be called with the names of their brether in their inheritaunces. And after I came from Mesopotamia / Rachel dyed vpon my hand in the lande of Canaan / by the waye: when I had but a felde bzyde to goo vnto Ephraim. And I buried her there in the waye to Ephraim which is now called Bethlechem.

And Israel behelde Josephs sonnes & sayde: what are these? And Joseph sayde vnto his father: they are my sonnes / which god hath geue me here. And he sayd: brynge the to me / & let me blesse the. And the eyes of Israel were dymme for age / so he coulde not well see. And he broughte them to hym / and he kyssed them and embraced them. And Israel sayd vnto Joseph: I had not thought to haue sene thy face / and yet loo / God hath shewed it me and also thy seed. And Joseph toke the awaye from hys lappe / & they fell on the grounde before hym.

Israels ryghte hande / and brought the vnto hym. And Israel stretched out hys ryghte hande & layde it vpon Ephraims head which was the yonger / and hys left hande vpon Manasses head / crossinge hys handes / for Manasses was the elder. And he blessed Joseph saying: God befoze whome my fathers Abraham and Isaac byd walke / & the God which hath fedd me all my lyfe longe vnto this daye / And the angell which hath deliuered me from all euill / blesse these laddes: & they maye be called after my name / & after my father Abraham and Isaac / and that they maye growe and multiplye vpon the erth.

When Joseph sawe that hys father layd hys ryghte hand vpon the heade of Ephraim / it displeased hym. And he lyfte by hys fathers hād / to haue remoued it fro Ephraims head vnto Manasses head / and sayde vnto hys father: Not so my father / for this is the eldest. Put thy ryght hande vpon hys head. And hys father wold not / but sayd: I knowe it well my sonne / I knowe it well. He shal be also a people & shal be great. But of a truth hys yonger brother shal be greater than he / and hys seed shal be full of people. And he blessed the sayinge. At the ensample of these / the Israelites shal blesse & saye: God make the as Ephraim and as Manasses. Thus sett he Ephraim before Manasses.

And Israel sayde vnto Joseph: beholde / I dye. And God shal be with you & brynge you agayne vnto the land of youre fathers. Moreover I geue vnto the / a porcyon of the lande aboute thy brether / which I gatt out of the handes of the Amorites with my swerde & with my bowe.

And Jacob blesteth all his awne sonnes and sheweth the what is to come. He apoynteth where he wolbe buryed: and dyeth.

The I. Chapter.

And Joseph commaunded his seruantes that were Philistines / to embawme his father / and the Philistines embawmed Israel. xl. dayes longe / for so longe both the embawminge last and the Egyptians beweped hym. lxx. dayes.

And when the dayes of wepyng were ended / Joseph spake vnto the house of Pharaos sayinge. If I haue founde fauoure in your eyes / speake vnto Pharaos and tell him / how that my father made me swere and sayd: loo / I dye / se that thou burie me in my graue which I haue made me in the lande of Canaan.

Now therfore let me goo & burie my father / and than will I come agayne. And Pharaos sayde / goo & burie thy father / accordinge as he made the swere.

And Joseph went vnto burie his father / and with him went all the seruantes of Pharaos that were the elders of his house / and all the elders of Egypte / and all the house of Joseph and his bretheren & his fathers house: only their chyldren and their shepe and their cattell left they behynde them in the land of Goshan. And there went with hym also Charettes and horsemen: so that they were an exceeding great companye.

And when they came to the felde of Atad beyonde Iordane / there they made great & exceeding sore lamentacio. And he mourned for his father. vii. dayes. When the inhabitants of the land of Canaan sawe Joseph mourning in the felde of Atad / they sayde: this is a greete mourning which the Egyptians make. Wherfore the name of the place is called Abel mizraim / which place lyeth beyonde Iordane. And his sonnes dyd vnto him accordinge as he had commaunded them.

And his sonnes carryed hym in to the land of Canaan & buried him in the double caue which Abrahā had boughte with the felde to be a place to burie in / of Ephron the Hethite before Maare. And Joseph returned to Egypte agayne and his bretheren / and all that went by with hym to burie his father / as he had buried hym.

When Josephs bretheren sawe that their father was deade / they sayd: Joseph myghte fortune to hate vs and rewarde vs agayne all the euell which we dyd vnto him. They dyd therfore a commaundment vnto Joseph sayinge: thy father charged vs before his deeth sayinge. This wyfe say vnto Joseph / for geue I praye the the trespase of thy bretheren & their synne for they rewarded the euell. Now therfore we praye the / for geue the trespase of the seruantes of thy fathers God. And Joseph wepte when they spake vnto hym.

And his bretheren came and fell before him and sayde: beholde we be thy seruantes. And Joseph sayde vnto them: feare not / for am I not I vnder god? Ye thoughte euell vnto me: but God turned it vnto good to byrge to passe / as it is this daye / euen to saue moche people a lyue. feare not therfore / for I will care for you and for your chyldren / and he spake kindly vnto them.

Joseph dwelt in Egypte and his fathers house also / and lyued an hundred and x. yere. And Joseph sawe Ephraims chyldren / euen vnto the thyrde generacion. And vnto Manasse the sonne of Manasses were chyldren borne / and satt on Josephs knees.

And Joseph sayde vnto his bretheren: I dye / and God will surelie bysett you & byrge you out of this lande / vnto the lande which he swaue vnto Abrahā / Isaac and Jacob. And Joseph toke an ooth of the chyldren of Israel and sayde: God will not faile but bysett you: se therfore that ye carpe my bones hence. And so Joseph dyed / when he was an hundred and x. yere olde. And they embawmed hym and put hym in a chest in Egypte.

The end of the fyrst booke of Moses.

The chyldren of Jacob are numbered. The new Pharaos oppresse the. The acte of the godly mydwives.

The fyrst Chapter.

These are the names of the chyldren of Israel / which came to Egypte with Jacob / every man with his household: Ruben / Simeon / Levi / Iuda / Issachar / Zabulon / Beniamin / Dan / Nephthali / Gad & Aser. All these soules that came out of the loynes of Jacob were. lxx. & Joseph was in Egypte all redie. When Joseph was dead & all his bretheren & all the generatione the chyldren of Israel grewe / encreased multiplied & waxed encending myghtie: so that the lande was full of them.

Then there rose by a new kynge in Egypte which knewe not Joseph. And he sayde vnto his folke: beholde the people of the chyldren of Israel are moo and mightier than we. Come on / let vs playe wisely with them: lest they multiplie / and then (yf there chaunce any warre) they toyne them selues vnto oure enemies and fyghte agaynst vs / and so gete they out of the lande.

And he sette taskmasters ouer them / to kepe them vnder with burthens. And they bylte vnto Pharaos treasure cities: Pithon & Rameses. But the more they bere the / the more they multiplied & grewe: so that they abhorred the chyldren of Israel. And the Egyptians helde the chyldren of Israel in bondage without mercie / and made their lyues bitter vnto them with cruell labour in claye and byrche / and all maner worke in the felde / & in all maner of seruice / which they caused them to worke cruelly.

And the kynge of Egypte sayde vnto the mydwives of the Egiptian women / of which the ones name was Sephora & the other Phua: when ye do office of a mydwife to a womē of the Egiptians & se in the byrth tyme that it is a boye / kyll it. But yf it be a mayde / let it lyue. Notwithstonding the mydwives feared God & dyd not as the kynge of Egypte commaunded them: but saued the men chyldren.

Then the kynge of Egypte called for the mydwives and sayd vnto them: why haue ye delt on this maner and haue saued the menchyldren? And the mydwives answered Pharaos / that the Egiptian women were not as the women of Egypte: but were shilde women / and were deliuered per the mydwives came at them. And God therfore delt well with the mydwives. And the people multiplied and waxed very myghtie. And because the mydwives feared God / he made them houses. Then Pharaos charged all his people sayinge

All the menchyldren that are borne / cast in to the ryuer and saue the maydechyldren a lyue. Moses is borne and cast in to the flagges. He is taken by Pharaos daughter. He killeth the Egyptian. He fygth & maryeth a wyfe. The Israelites crye vnto the Lord.

The seconde Chapter.

And ther wēt a man of the house of Levi. And toke a daughter of Leui. And she conceaued & bare a sonne. And when she sawe that it was a pryncer childe / she hid hym three monethes longe. And when she coude no longer hyde him / she toke a basket of bulrushes & darbed it with spynne & pitch / & layd the chyld therein / & put it in the flagges by the ryuers byrke. And his sister stood a ferre of / to wete what wold come of it. And the daughter of Pharaos came downe to the ryuer to washe her selfe / & hir maydens walked a longe by the ryuers syde. And when she sawe the basket amonge the flagges / she sent one of hir maydes & caused it to be fet. And when she had opened it / she sawe the childe. & beholde / the babe wepte. And she had compassion on it and sayde: it is one of the Egiptian chyldren. Then sayde his sister vnto Pharaos daughter: shall I go and call vnto the a nurse of the Egiptian women / to nurse the childe? And she mayde vāie & called the chyld her mother. Then Pharaos daughter sayde vnto her. Take this chyld awayne and nurse it for me / & I will rewarde thee for thy labour.

And she toke the childe / & nursed it by the ryuer. And when the childe was growne / she brought it vnto Pharaos daughter / and it was made hir sonne / & she called it Moses / because she sayde she toke him out of the water. And it happened in these dayes when Moses was warte great / that he went out vnto his bretheren and looked on their burdys / & spied an Egyptian smytynge one of his bretheren an Egiptian. And he looked round aboute and when he sawe that there was no man there / he slew the Egyptian and hyd him in the sonde. And he went out a nother daye: & beholde / two Egiptians stroue to gether. And he sayde vnto him that dyd the wronge: wherfore smyttest thou thine neyghboure? And he answered: who hath made the a ruler or a ther chyldre iudge ouer vs? intendest thou to kill me / as thou killedest the Egyptian? Then Moses feared and sayde: of a suertie the thinge is knowne. And Pharaos herde of it and went aboute to see Moses: but he fled from Pharaos and dwelt in the lande of Madian / and he sat downe by a wellles syde.

Moses and Aaron let the people from their worke/get you vnto your labour. And Pharao sayd furthermoze: beholde there is moch people in the lande/and ye make them playe and let their worke stonde.

And Pharao commaunded the same daye vnto the taskemasters ouer the people/ & vnto the officers saying: se that ye geue p people no moze strawe to make byrche with all/ as ye dyd in tyme past: let them goo & gather

And the taskemasters hastened the forward raos taskemasters had sett ouer them/ were beaten. And it was sayde vnto them: wherfor haue ye not fulfilled youre taske in making byrche/ both yesterdaye and to daye/ as well as in tymes past.

Chan went the officers of the children of Israel & complained vnto Pharao saynge: wherfore dealest thou thus with thy seruatimade the sauoure of vs sincke in the sighte of Pharaos and of his seruantes/ and haue put a swerde in to their handes to sle vs.

Moses returned vnto the Lorde & sayde: Lorde wherfore dealest thou cruelly with this people: & wherfore hast thou sent me: for sence I came to Pharaos to speke in thy name/ he hath sared soull with this folke/ & yet thou hast not deliuered thy people at all.
Then the Lorde sayde vnto Moses: Now halt thou see what I will doo vnto Pharaos for with a myghtie hande shall he let them goo/ and with a myghtie hand shall he dryue them out of hys lande.

The vii. Chapter.

And God spake vnto Moses sayng I vnto him: I am the Lorde/ and I appeared vnto Abraham/ Isaac & Jacob an allmightie God: but in my name Iehouah was I not knowne vnto them. Wherfore I made an appoyntment with them to geue them the lande of Canaan:
the lande of their pilgrimage wher in they were strangers. And I haue also herde the groynge of the children of Israel/ because the Egyptians kepe them in bondage/ and haue remembred my promysse.

Wherfore saye vnto the children of Israel I am the Lorde/ & will brynge you out from vnder the burdens of the Egyptians/ & will rydd you out of their bondage/ and will deli-uer you with a stretched out arme and with great iudgements. And I will take you for my people and wilbe to you a God. And ye shall knowe that I am the Lorde your God which brynge you out from vnder the burdens of the Egyptians. And I will brynge you vnto the lande ouer the which I dyd swyre by my hande to geue it vnto Abraham/ Isaac and Jacob/ and will geue it vnto you for a possession: euen I the Lorde. And Moses tolde the children of Israel eue so: But they harkened not vnto Moses for angurthe of spete and for cruel bondage.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses saynge Goo and bydd Pharaos hyng of Egypte/ p he let the children of Israel goo out of his lande. And Moses spake before the Lorde saynge: beholde/ the children of Israel herke not vnto me/ how than shall Pharaos heare me: saynge that I haue vncircumcised lippes. And the Lorde spake vnto Moses and Aaron

Aaron and gaue them a charge vnto the children of Israel & vnto Pharaos hyng of Egypte lande of Egypte. These be the heedes of their fathers houses. The * childze of Ru-

The childze of Kathath: Amram/ Jeseur/ Herari are these: Mahely and Mushi: these are the kynredes of Leui in their generations.

And Amra toke Jochebed his nece to wyf which bare him Aaron and Moses. And Am-ram lyued an hundred and xxxvi. yere. The children of Jeseur: Kozah/ Nepheg and Shichi. The children of Uziel: Misacl/ Elza-

Kozabites. And Eleazar Aarons sonne toke him one of the daughters of Putuel to wife which bare him Pinehas: these be the princi-pall fathers of p Leuites in their kynredes.

These are that Aaron and Moses to who the Lorde sayde: carie the children of Israel out of the land of Egypte/ with their armes These are that Moses and Aaron whiche spake to Pharaos hyng of Egypte/ that they myghte brynge the children of Israel out of Egypte. And in the daye when the Lorde spake vnto Moses in the lande of Egypte/he spake vnto him sayinge/ I am the Lorde se that thou speake vnto Pharaos the hyng of Egypte all that I saye vnto the. And Moses answered before p Lorde: I am of * vn-

The vii. Chapter.

And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses:
Behold/ I haue made p Pharaos God/ & Aaron thy brother shall be thy prophete. Thou shalt speake all that I commaunde the & Aaron thy brother shall speake vnto Pharaos: that he sende the children of Israel out of his land. But I will harden Pharaos hert/ that I may multi-plye my myracles and my wonders in the lsd of Egypte. And yet Pharaos shall not herken vnto you/ that I maye sett myne hand vpon Egypte and brynge out myne armes/ euen my people the children of Israel out of the lande of Egypte/ with greatch iudgements.

And the Egyptians shall knowe that I am the Lorde when I haue stretched forth my hande vpon Egypte/ and haue brought out the children of Israel from amonge them.

Moses and Aaron dyd as the Lorde commaunded them. And Moses was xxx. yere olde and Aaron xxxiii. whe they spake vnto p Pharaos. And the Lorde spake vnto Moses and Aaron sayinge: when Pharaos speaketh vnto you & sayth: shewe a wonder/ than halt thou saye vnto Aaron/ take the rodde & cast it before Pharaos/ and it shall turne to a serpet. Chan went Moses & Aaron in vnto Pharaos/ and dyd euen as the Lorde had comaunded. And Aaron cast forth his rodde before Pharaos and before his seruantes/ & it turned to a serpete. Chan Pharaos called for the wyse men and * enchaunters of Egypte:
& they dyd in lyke maner with there sojcery.
And they cast doune eueryma his rodde/ and they turned to serpetes: but Aarons rodde ate vp thei rodde: & yet for all that Pharaos herte was hardened/ so that he herkened not vnto them/ euen as the Lorde had sayde.

Chan sayde the Lorde vnto Moses. Pha-raos herte is hardened/ and he refuseth to let the people goo. Get the vnto Pharaos in the mornyng/ for he will come vnto the water/& stonde thou apon the ryuers byrke agest he come/ and the rodde whiche turned to a serpente take in thine hande. And saye vnto him: the Lorde God of the Hebrews hath sente me vnto the sayinge: let my people goo/that they maye serue me in the wilderness: but hither to thou woldest not heare. wherfore thus sayth the Lorde: hereby thou shalt knowe that I am the Lorde. Behold/ I will smyte with p staffe that is in myn hand apd the waters that are in the ryuer/ and they shall turne to bloude. And the fische that is in the ryuer shall dye/ and the ryuer shall stinke so that it shall greue p Egyptians to drinke of the water of the ryuer.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses/ saye vnto Aaron: take thy staffe and stretch out thyne hande ouer the waters of Egypte/ouer their streames/ ryuers/ pondez and all pooles of water/ that they maye be bloude/& that there maye be bloud in all p land of egypte: both in beles of wodde & also of stone.
And Moses & Aarons dyd euen as p Lorde commaunded. And he lyfte vp the staffe
and

none soch in all the londe of Egypte / sence people inhabited it. And the hayle smote in the londe of Egypte all that was in the felde both man and beest. And the hayle smote all the herbes of the felde and broke all the trees of the felde: only in the land of Gosan where the children of Israel were / was there no hayle. And Pharaos sent and called for Moses and Aaron / and sayde vnto them : I haue now synned / the Lorde is rightwys and I & my people are wicked. Praye ye vnto the Lorde / that the thunder of God & hayle maye cease / and I will let you go: and ye shall tarrie no longer. And Moses sayde vnto him: as lone as I am out of the citie / I will praye abrode my handes vnto the Lorde / and the thunder shall cease / nether shall there be any moare hayle: that thou mayst knowe how that the erth is the Lordes. But I knowe þ thou & thy seruantes yet feare not the Lorde God. The flaxe and the barly were smytten / for the barly was thott by and the flaxe was boulled: but the whete and the rye were not smeten / for they were late sowne.

And Moses went out of the citie fro Pharaoh and spake abroad his handes vnto the Lord/ and the thunder and hayle ceased/ neither rayned it any moare vpon the earth/ whē Pharaoh sawe that the rayne and the hayle & thunder were ceased/ he sinned againe and hardened his herte: both he & his seruantes. So was the hert of Pharaoh hardened/ that he wolde not let the childe of Israel goe/ as the Lord had sayd by Moses.

The heart of Pharaoh is hardened of God.
The grasshoppers. The thicke darkness.

The Chapter.

The Lorde sayde vnto Moles: goo vnto Pharao: neuerthelesse * I haue hardened his herte & hert of hys seruauantes / that I myght shewe these my sygnes amongst the / & that thou tell in the audience of thy sonne & of thy sonnes sonne / the pageantes whiche I haue played in Egypte / and the miracles whiche I haue done amonge the: that ye may knowe how that I am the Lorde. Then Moles & Aaron went in vnto Pharao / & sayde vnto hym: Thus sayth the Lorde God of the Hebrews: how long shall it be of thou wilt sub myt thy selfe vnto me : * Let my people goo that they may serue me . If thou wilt not let my people goo: beholde / to morow will I brynge grethoppers in to thy land / and they shall couer the face of the erth that it can not be sene / and they shall eate the resydwes which remaineth vnto you and escaped the hayle : and they shall eate all youre grene trees vpon the selde / and they shall fill thy houses and al thy seruantes houses / and the houses of all the Egyptians after such a maner: as neither thy fathers no: thy fathers fathers haue sene / sence the tyme they were apon the erth vnto thys daye. And he turned him silfe aboute / and went out from Pharao

And Pharaos seruantes sayde vnto him:
How longe shall we be thus euell intreated?
Let the men goo that they maye serue the Lorde their God: wilt thou not yet knowe that Egypt is destroyed? And than Moyses and Aaron were broughte agayn vnto Pha rao and he sayde vnto them: Goo and serue þe Lord youre God/ but who are they þe shall go: And Moyses answered: we will go with ponge & olde: ye & yd oure sonnes and yd oure doughters / & yd oure shepe & oxen must we go. If o: we must holde a feast vnto the Lord.

And he sayde vnto them: let it be so. The Lorde be with you / Guilde I lett you go: / and youre chyliden also: Take heerde / for ye haue some myschefe in hande. May not so: but goo ye that are men and serue the Lorde for that was youre desyre. And they thrust them out of Pharaos presence.

And the Lord sayd vnto Moyses: Stretch out thyne hande ouer the lande of Egypte for grethoppers / that they come vpon the lande of Egypte and eate all the herbes of the lande / and all that the hayle left vntouched.
And Moyses stretched forth his rodd ouer the lande of Egypte / and the Lord brought an east wynde vpon the lande / all that daye and all nyghte. And in the mornynge the east wynde broughte the grethoppers / and the grethoppers went by ouer all the lande of Egypte and lighted in all quatters of Eg-ypte berre greuously: so that besore them were there no such grethoppers / nether after them shall be. And they couered all the face of the earth / so that the lande was darke therwith. And they ate all the herbes of the lande and all the frutes of the trees which the hayle had leste: so þ there was no grene thinge leste in the trees & herbes of the felde thorow all the lande of Egypte.

Then Pharao called for Moyses & Aaron in haste & sayde: I haue synned agaynst the Lorde your God & agaynst you. Forgeue me yet my synne only this once / & pray vnto cast the in to the reed see: so & there was not one greashopper in all the costes of Egypte.

But the Lorde*hardened Pharaos herte/so that he wold not let the chyldre of Israel go.

¶ And the Lorde sayd vnto Moyses: Stretch out thy hand vnto heaue⁹ / & let there be darchnesse vpon the lande of Egypt: euē that they maye feele the darchnesse. And Moyses stretched forth his hande vnto heaue⁹ / & there was a thicke darchnes vpon all the lande of Egypt .iiij. dayes long / so that no man sawe another nether rose vp from the place where he was by the space of .iiij. dayes / but all the chyldre of Israel had Iyaghte where they dwelled.

Then Pharaos called for Moles & sayde: to goo & serue the Lorde/ only let your shepe/a your open abyde/ but let your chyldre go with you. And Moles answered: thou must geue vs also offrynges & burnt offrynges for to sacrifice vnto the Lorde our God: our ca tell therfore shall go with vs/ and there shall not one hooffe be left behynde / for therof must we take to serue the Lorde our God.
Moreouer we can not knowe wherewith we shall serue y Lorde/ vntyll we come thither.
But y Lorde hardened Pharaos herte/ so that he wold not let the go. And Pharaos sayd vnto hym: get the fro me & take heade to thy selfe that thou see my face no more. For whe soever thou comest in my syghte/ thou shalt dye. And Moles sayde: Let it be as thou hast sayde: I will see thy face no moare.

unto you a token vpon the houses wherein ye are/for whē I se the bloude/I will passe ouer you/ & the plage shall not be vpon you to de-stroye you/when I smyte the land of Egypt.

And this daye shall be vnto you a remembrance/ & ye shall kepe it holy vnto the Lorde: euen thozow out youre generacyōs after you shall ye kepe it holy daye/that it be a custome for euer. Seue dayes shall ye eate unleueded bread/so that euen the fyrst daye ye shall put away leue out of youre houses. For who so euer eateth leuened bread fro the fyrst daye vntill the viij. daye/that soule shall be plucked out from Israel. *The fyrst daye shall be a holy feast vnto you/ & the viij. also. There shall be no maner of worke done in them /saue about that only which euerie man must eate that only may ye do. And se that ye kepe you to unleueded bread. For vpon that same daye I will brynge youre armyes out of the lande of Egypte/therfore ye shall obserue this daye & all youre chyldren after you/that it be a custome for euer. The fyrst moneth & the xiiij. daye of the moneth at euē/ye shall eate swete bread vnto the xxi. daye of the moneth at euē agayne. Seue dayes se that there be no leuē-ded bread founde in youre houses. For who so euer eateth leuened bread/that soule shall be roted out fro the multitude of Israel: whether he be a straunger or bozne in the lande.
Therfore se that ye eate not leuened bread/but in all youre habitacions eate swete bread.

And Moses called for the elders of Israel & sayde vnto them:chose out & take to euery houholde a shepe/ & kylle pascheouer. And take a bunch of ylope/ & dyppe it in the bloud that is in the basyn/and strycke it vpon the vpper posse & on the ii. fyde postes / & se that none of you go out at the doze of hys house vntill the morning. For the Lorde will goo aboute & smyte Egypte. And when he seyth the bloud vpon the vpper doozposte & on the two fyde postes/he will passe ouer the dooze/and will not suffice the destroyer to come in to youre house to plage you. Therfore se that thou ob-serue this thyng/that it be an ordynance to moze/ but that the & thy sonnes for euer.

as he dyd here the Egyptians/euen so he wold
when youre chyldren
are you what maner
of smyte he wold make vnto the Egyptians/ as in Exo. xxiij. d.

And when ye be come in to the lande which I Lorde will geue you accordyng as he hath promysed/ se that ye kepe this scrupce. *And euen so he wold when youre chyldren are you what maner of smyte he wold make vnto the Egyptians/ as he smote the Egyptians & sauē oure houses. Chan the people bowed them selues & worshipped. And the chyldre of Israel went/and dyd as the Lorde had commaunded Moses & Aaron.

And at mydnyght the Lorde smote all the fyrstborne in the lande of Egypt: fro the fyrst borne of Pharaos that satt on his seat/ vnto the fyrst borne of the captiue & was in presone/& all the fyrst borne of catell. Can Pharaos arose the same nyght & all hys seruantes & all the Egyptians: & there was a great cryg thozow out Egypte/for there was no house where there was not one dead.

And he called vnto Moses and Aaron by nyghte saying: Ryse vp/ & get you out from amonge my people: both ye & also the chyldre of Israel/ & go & serue the Lorde as ye haue sayde. And take youre shepe & youre oren to you as ye haue sayde/ & departe & a blesse me also. And the Egyptians were ferce vpon the people/ & made haste to send them out of the lande: for they sayde: we be all deed men.

And the people toke the dough before it was sowerd whiche they had in store/ and bounde it in clothes/ & put it vpon their shoulders. And the chyldre of Israel dyd accordyng to the saying of Moses: and they borrowed of the Egyptians iewels of syluer/ & iewels of gold/ & raymet. And the Lorde gat the people faueur in the syghte of the Egyptians: and so they borrowed & robbed the Egyptians.

Thus toke the chyldre of Israel their yow-ney fro Rameses to* Suchoth. vj hundred thousand men of foote/ belyde chyldren. And moch comon people went also with the / and shepe/ & oren/ & catell exceeding moche. And they baked swete cakes of the dough whiche they broughte out of Egypte/ for it was not sowerd: because they were thrust out of Egypte & coude not tarpe/ nether had they prepered any other prouysyon of meate.

And the tyme of the dwellinge of the chyldren of Israel which they dwelled in Egypte/was. iiii. hundred & xxx. yere. And when the iiiij. hundred & xxx. yeres were expyred/ euen the selfe same daye departed all the hostes of the Lorde out of the lande of Egypt. This is a nyght to be obserued to the Lorde/ because he brought them out of the lande of Egypte.
Thys is a nyghte of the Lorde to be kepte of all the chyldren of Israel and of their generacyons after them.

And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses & Aaron:
this is the maner of Pascheouer: ther shall no straunger eate therof/ but all the seruantes that are bought for money shall ye circum-cise/ & then let them eate therof. A straunger & a hyerd seruante shall not eate therof. In one house shall it be eate. Ye shall carie none of the flesh out at the doozes: moze ouer* se ye bryke not a bone therof. All the multitude of the chyldre of Israel shall obserue it.

If a straunger dwell amonge you/ and will holde Pascheouer vnto the Lorde/ let him cir-cise all that he males/ & then let hym come & obserue it/ & he take as one & is bozne in the lande. No vncircumcised persone shall eate therof. One maner of lawe shall be vnto the that are bozne in the lande/ & vnto the strangers & dwell amonge you. And all the chyldre of Israel dyd as the Lorde commaunded. Moses & Aaron. And euē the selfe same daye dyd the Lorde brynge the chyldren of Israel out of the lande of Egypte with their armyes.

The fyrst begotten must be sanctified vnto the Lorde. The memo: of all their deliuerance. Why they were caried thozow the wyldernes. The bones of Joseph. The pyler of the clowde.

The xiiij. Chapter.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses saying: Sanctifye vnto me all the fyrstborne that opē all maner matrices amonge the chyldre of Israel as well of men as of beestes: for they are myne. And Moses sayde vnto the people:
thynke on this daye in which ye came out of Egypte and out of the house of bondage: for with a myghtie hand the Lorde brought you out from thence. Se therfore that ye eate no leuened bread. Thys daye come ye out of Egypt in the moneth of Abib.

When the Lorde hath brought the into the lande of the Cananytes/ Hethites/ Amozites Deuytes & Jebusites/ whiche he swore vnto thy fathers that he wolde geue the a lande where in mylke & hony floweth/ then se that thou kepe this seruice in thys same moneth.
Seue dayes thou shalt eate swete bread: & the viij. daye shall be feastfull vnto the Lorde.
Therfore thou shalt eate swete bread seuen dayes/ & se there be no leuened bread sene no: yet leue amonge you in all your quarters.

And thou shalt shewe thy sonne at that tyme saying: this is done/ because of that which the Lorde dyd vnto me whē I came out of Egypt.
Therfore it shall be a sygne vnto the vpon thyne hande a remembrance betwene thyne eyes/ that the Lordes lawe maye be in thy mouth. For with a stronge hande the Lorde brought the out of Egypte/ se thou kepe therfore this ordynance in his sealon fro yere to yere. Mozeouer when the Lorde hath brought the in to the lande of the Cananytes/ as he hath sworne vnto the & to thy fathers/ & hath geue it the/ then thou shalt apoynte vnto the Lorde all that openeth the matryce/ all the fyrstborne amonge the bestes which thou hast yf they be males. And all the fyrst borne of asses/ thou shalt redeme w a shepe: yf thou redeme hym not/ then bryake his necke. But all the fyrstborne amonge thy chyldren shalt thou brye out.

And when thy sonne axeth the in tyme to come saying: what is thys: thou shalt saye vnto hym: with a myghtie hande the Lorde brought vs out of Egypte/ out of the house of bondage. And when Pharaos was looth to let vs goo/ the Lorde slew all the fyrstborne in the lande of Egypt: as well the fyrst borne of men as of beastes. And therfore I sacrifice vnto the Lorde all the males that opē the ma-trice/ but all the fyrstborne of my chyldren I must redeme. And thys shall be as a token in thyne hand/ & as a thyng hanged vpon betwene thyne eyes: because the Lorde broughte vs out of Egypte with a myghtie hande.

When Pharaos had let the people go/ God caried the not thozow the lande of the Philis-tynes/ though it were a nye waye. For God sayde: the people myght happely repēt when they se warre/ & so turne agayne to Egypte:
therfore God led the aboute thozow the wy-ldernes that bordeth on the red see. The children of Israel wēt harnessed out of the lande of Egypte. And Moses toke the bones of Joseph with him: for he made the chyldre of Israel swete sayinge: * God will surely byset you/ take my bones therfore awaye hence w you. And they toke their iourney from Su-coth: & pitched their tentes in Etham in the edge of the wyldernes. * And the Lorde wēt before them by daye in a pyler of a clowde to leade the waye: & by nyghte in a pyler of fyr to geue them lyght: that they myght goo both by daye & nyghte. * And the pyler of the clowde neuer departed by daye no: the pyler of fyr by nyghte out of the peoples syghte.

Pharaos heart is hardened & foloweth the Israelites with all his host & capytaynes and is drownded.
The Israelites grudge. They go thozow the red see.

The xiiij. Chapter.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses sayig: byd the chyldre of Israel that they turne a pitch their tentes before the entryng of Hithro betwene Mig-dole & the see toward Baalzephon: euen before that shall ye pitch vpon the see. For Pha-raos will saye of the chyldre of Israel: they are tangled in the lande/ the wyldernes hath shut the in. And I will harden his harte/ that he shall folow after the/ that I may gett me honoure vpon Pharaos & vpon all hys hoste/that the Egyptians maye knowe that I am the Lorde. And they dyd euen so.

d. ij. And

And whē it was tolde the kynge of Egypt that the people fled / thā Pharaos harte and all his seruantes turned vnto the people & sayde: why haue we thys done that we haue let Israel go out of oure seruyce? & he made readie his charettes & toke his people w hym and toke. vi. hundred chosen charettes and all the charettes of Egypte & captaynes vpon all his people. for the Lord hardened the harte of Pharaos kynge of Egypt / & he folowed after the chyldre of Israel which for all pmett oute thozow an hye hāde & the Egyptians folowed after the & ouertoke the where they pyched by the see / w all the hostes & charettes of Pharaos & w his hostes & his hoste: euē fast by the entrynge of Pirot hēfore Baal Zephō. And Pharaos drewe nye / & when the chyldren of Israel lēft by their eyes & sawe how the the Egyptians folowed after the / they were toze a frayde & cryed out vnto the Lord.

¶ Chan sayde they vnto Moses: were there no graues for vs in Egypte / but thou must byryge vs awaye for to dye in the wyldernesse: wherfore hast thou serued vs thus / for to carye vs out of Egypte? Wd not we tell the this in Egypte sayunge / let vs be in rest & serue the Egyptians? for it had bene better for vs to haue serued the Egyptians / than for to dye in the wyldernesse. And Moses sayde vnto the people: feare ye not but stonde styll and beholde how the Lord shall saue you this daye: for as ye se the Egyptians thys daye / shall ye se the nomozes for euer tyll the world ende. The Lord shall fyghte for you and ye shall holde poure peace.

¶ To crye vnto the Lord / is to praye vnto him wth full chyldren of Israel may goo on dze grounde hartes feruēt thozow the myddest therof. And beholde I will harden the hertes of the Egyptians that they maye folowe you. And I will gett me a woide. And to honoure vpon Pharaos & vpon all his hoste / both this word cryenge & makinge of noyes signyfye thozow oute all the world. ¶ as in 1. cor. 13. c.

nyghte / & made the see dze lande and the water deuoyd it selfe. And the chyldre of Israel went in thozow the myddest of the see vpon the dze groude. And the water was a walle vnto the / both on their ryght hāde & on their lefte hande. And the Egyptians folowed & wēt in after them to the myddest of the see / wth all Pharaos hostes / & his charettes & his hostes. And in the moynge watch / the Lord looked vnto the hoste of the Egyptians out of the fierp and cloudy pyller / and trowbled their hoste & smote of their charettes w heles and cast them doune to the groude. Chan sayde the Egyptians: Let vs be from Israel / for the Lord fyghteth for the agaynst vs. Chā sayde the Lord vnto Moses: stretch out thine hande ouer the see / that the water maye come agayne vpon the Egyptians vpon their charettes and hostes.

¶ Chan stretched forth Moses his hande ouer the see / & it came agayne to his course in the moynge / & the Egyptians fled agaynst it. Thus the Lord ouerthrewe the Egyptians in the myddest of the see / & the water returned & couered the charettes and the hostes: so that of all the hoste of Pharaos & came in to the see after the / there remaigne not one. But the chyldre of Israel went vpon dze lande in the myddest of the see / and the water was a walle vnto them: both on the ryght hand of them and also on the lefte.

¶ Thus the Lord deliuered Israel the selfe same daye out of the honde of the Egyptians / & Israel sawe the Egyptians deade vpon the see syde. And when Israel sawe that mightie hande which the Lord had shewed vpon the Egyptians / they feared the Lord: & beleued both the Lord / & also his seruante Moses.

¶ Moses and the people wth the women synge. At the prayer of Moses / the wyttier waters were swete. God must be heard. They come to Elim.

¶ When Moses & a chyldre of Israel lānge this songe vnto the Lord & sayd. Let vs synge vnto the Lord / for he is become glorious / & horse & him & rode vpon hym hath he ouerthromne in the see. ¶ The Lord is my strength & my sonne / and is become my saluacion.

¶ He is my God and I will glorifye hym / he is my fathers God & I will lifte him vpon an hye. ¶ The Lord is a man of warre / & he hath cast in to the see. His tolpe captaynes are drownded in the redd see / the depe waters haue couered the: they sonke to the botome as a stone. ¶ Thine hand Lord is glorious in power / thine hand Lord hath all to dashed the enemye. And wth thy grete gloze thou hast destroyed thine aduersaries / thou sentest forth thy wyath & it consumed them / such as Robell. Wth the bzeth of thine anger the water gathered to gether and the floodes stode styll as a rocke / & the depe water congeled to gether in the myddest of the see.

¶ The enemye sayde: I will folowe & ouer take the / & I will deuoyde the spoyles: I will satiffye my lust vpon them: I will drawe my swerde / & myne hande shall destroye them.

¶ Thou bluest wth thy bzeth & the see couered the / & they sancke as leed in the myghty waters. ¶ Who is lyke vnto the o Lord amonge goddes: who is lyke the so glorious in holynes / feerfull / laudable & that shewest wondres? ¶ Thou stretchedest out thy ryght hande / & the erth swallowed the. And thou variedest wth thy merce this people which thou deliueredest / & broughtest them wth thy strength vnto thy holy habitacyō. ¶ The nacyōs heard / & were afrayed / pāges came vpon the Philistines. ¶ Chan the dukes of the Edomptes were amased / & tremblinge came vpon the myghtiest of the Moabites / & all the inhabytors of Canaan wared saynte harted. ¶ Let feare & drede fall vpon them thozow the greatnesse of thine arme / & let them be as styll as a stone: wyle thy people passe thozow o Lord / wyle the people passe thozow / which thou hast gotten. ¶ Byrynge them in / & plante them in the mountayns of thine enherytaunce / the place Lord which thou hast made for to dwell in / the sanctuary Lord / which thy handes haue prepared.

¶ And the chyldren of Israel went on dze land thozow the myddest of the see. And Miriam a Prophetesse the syster of Aaron toke a tymbrell in hyr hand / & all the women came out after her wth tymbrells in a daunse. And Miriam lānge before the: Syng ye vnto the Lord / for he is become glorious in deade: the horse & his ryder hath he ouerthromne in the see. Moses brought Israel fro the redd see / & they went out into the wyldernesse of Sur. And they went thre dayes longe in the wyldernesse / & coulede fynde no water.

¶ At the last they came to Mara: but they coulede not dzyneke of the waters for bitternesse / for they were bitter / therfore the name of the place was called Mara. ¶ Then the people murmured agaynst Moses / sayunge: What shall we dzyneke? ¶ And Moses cryed vnto the Lord / & he shewed hym a tree: & he cast it into the waters / and they wared swete.

¶ There he made the an ordynance & a law / & there he tempted them / & sayde: If ye will herke vnto the voyce of the Lord your God / I will do that which is ryght in his syght & will geue an eare vnto his comaundementes: & kepe all his ordynances: than will I put none of these diseases vpon the whiche I brought vpon the Egyptians / for I am the Lord thy sngton.

¶ ¶ They came to Elim where were 12 welles of water & 12 date trees. ¶ And they pyched there by the water. ¶ And they toke their iourney from Elim / & all the hole cōpany of the chyldren of Israel came to the wyldernesse of Sin / which lyeth betwene Elim & Sinat: the. xv. daye of the. i. moneth after they were come out of the lande of Egypt. ¶ And the hole multitude of the chyldren of Israel murmured agaynst Moses & Aaron in the wyldernesse / & sayde vnto the: wolde to God we had dyed by the had of the Lord in the lande of Egypt / wyle we satt by the fleshpottes / & ate bred oure belyes full / for ye haue brought vs out into this wyldernesse to kyll this hole multitude for hunger.

¶ Chan sayde the Lord vnto Moses: behold I will rayne bred from heauē doune to you / & let the people go out / & gather daye by daye that I maye proue them whether they will walke in my lawe or no. ¶ The. xvi. daye let the people prepare that which they will byrynge in / and of the Lord is & let it be twyle as moche as they gather in the daye. ¶ And Moses & Aaron sayde vnto all the chyldre of Israel: at euen ye shal knowe that was sent in the it is the Lord / whych broughte you out of clowde / & the lande of Egypt / and in the moynge ye shal see the gloze of the Lord: because he hath hearde poure grudgynges agaynst the Lord.

C. Lorde: for what are we þe þe child murmure agaynst vs. And mozeouer spake Moles. At euen the Lorde will geue you flesh to eate/ & in the moynge bzead ynough/ because the Lorde hath hearde your murmure which ye murmur agaynst him: for what are we? your murmuring is not agaynst vs/ but agaynst the Lorde.

And Moles spake vnto Aaron: Say vnto all the cōpāny of the chyldre of Israel/ come forth before þe Lorde: for he hath hearde your grudginges. And as Aaron spake vnto the hole multitude of the chyldre of Israel/ they looked toward the wyldernesse: & beholde/ the glorie of the Lorde appeared in a clowde. And the Lorde spake vnto Moles saying: I haue hearde þe murmuring of þe chyldre of Israel/ tell the therfore & saye that at euē they shall eate flesh/ & in the moynge they shall be fylled wth bzead/ & ye shall knowe þat I am þe Lorde your God. And at euen the quayles came & couered the grounde where they laye. And in the moynge the dewe laye rounde about the chyldre. And when the dewe was falle: beholde it laye vpon the grounde in the wyldernesse/ small & rounde & thyn as the hoze frost on the grounde. When the chyldre of Israel sawe it they sayde one to another: what is this? for they wist not what it was. And Moles sayde: this is the bzead which the Lorde hath geue you to eate. This is the thyng which þe Lorde hath cōmaunded/ that ye gather euery man ynough for hym to eate: a gomer full for a man accordyng to the nombze of you / and and gather euery man for them which are in his tente.

And the chyldre of Israel dyd euen so/ and gathered some moze some lesse/ & dyd mete it with a gomer. And vnto him that had gathered moche remayned no thyng ouer/ & vnto hym þe had gathered lytle was ther no lacke: but euery man had gathered suffycēt for his eating. And Moles sayde vnto the: Se that no man let oughte remayne of it tyll the moynge. Not with stondyng they harkened not vnto Moles: but some of them leste of it vntill the moynge/ & it was full of wormes & stanche/ & Moles was angry with them.

And they gathered it all moynge: euery man as moche as suffyled for his eatyng/ for as soone as the hete of the sonne came it moulte. And the vi. daye they gathered twise so moche bzead. ii. gomers for one man: & rulers of the multitude came & tolde Moles. And he sayde vnto the: this is that which the Lorde hath sayde: to morow is the Saboth of the holpe rest of þe Lorde: bake þe which ye will bake & sethe þe which ye will sethe/ & þe which remayneth lay vp for you/ & kepe it tyll the moynge. And they layde it vp tyll the moynge.

nyng as Moles had/ & it stanche not/ nether was there any wormes therein. And Moles sayde: that eate this daye: for to daye it is the Lorde Saboth: to daye ye shall fynde none in þe feld. Sixe dayes ye shall gather it/ for þe vii. is the Saboth: there shall be none therein.

Notwith stondyng there wēt out of the people in the seuenth daye for to gather: but they founde none. Then the Lorde sayde vnto Moles: how long shall it be per ye will kepe my cōmaundementes & lawes? * Se because þe Lorde hath geue you a Saboth/ therfore he geueth you the sixt daye bzead for two dayes. Wyde therfore euery man at home/ & let no man go out of his place the seuenth daye. And the people rested the seuenth daye. And the house of Israel called it Man. * And it was lyke vnto Coriander seede/ & whyte/ & þe taste of it was lyke vnto wafers made with hony.

And Moles sayde: this is that which the Lorde cōmaundeth: fyll a Gomer of it/ that it may be kept for your chyldre after you: þe they may se the bzead wherwith he fedd you in wyldernesse/ when he had brought you out of the lande of Egypt. And Moles spake vnto Aaron: take a cruise & put a Gomer full of Man therein/ & laye it vp before the Lorde to be kept for your chyldre after you / as the Lorde cōmaunded Moles. And Aaron layde it vp before the testymonye there to be kept. * And the chyldren of Israel ate man. xl. yere vntill they came vnto a lande inhabited. And so they ate Man/ euē vntill they came vnto the borders of the lande of Canaan. And a Gomer is the tenth part of an Ephah.

The Israelites come into Raphidim. They grudge. Water is geue them out of the rocke. Moles holdeth vp his handes & they overcome the Amelechites.

The xviii. Chapter.

And all the company of the chyldre of Israel went on their iourneys from the wyldernesse of Sin at the cōmaundement of the Lorde/ & pitched in Raphidim: where was no water for the people to drynke. And the people chode wyth Moles and sayde: geue vs water to drynke. And Moles sayde vnto them: why chode ye wyth me/ and wherfore do ye tepte the Lorde? There the people thurstyd for water/ and murmured agaynst Moles & sayde: wherfore hast thou broughte vs out of Egypte/ to kyll vs and oure chyldren & oure catell with thyrste?

And Moles cried vnto the Lorde saynge what shall I do vnto this people: they be all most redye to stone me. And the Lorde sayde vnto Moles: goo before the people/ & take with the of the elders of Israel: and thy rodd wherw thou smotest the ryuer take in thyne hande and goo. Beholde/ I will stonde there before the vpon a rocke in Horeb: and thou shalt smyte the rocke/ and there shall come water out therof/ & the people maye drynke.

And Moles dyd euen so before the elders of Israel. And he called the name of the place: Massa and Meriba: because of the chyldyng of the chyldre of Israel/ and because they tempted the Lorde saynge: is the Lorde amonge vs or not?

Then came Amelech & fought with Israel in Raphidim. And Moles sayde vnto Josua: chose out men and goo fighte wth Amelech. Comozow I will stonde on the toppe of the hyll and the rodd of God in myne hande. And Josua dyd as Moles bade him / and foughte with the Amelechites. And Moles/ Aaron and Hur went vp to the toppe of the hyll. And when Moles helde vp his hande/ Israel had the better. And when he late his hande doune/ Amelech had the better.

When Moles handes were weery/ they toke a stone & put it vnder him / and he satt doune there on. And Aaron and Hur stayed by his handes/ the one on the one syde and the other on the other syde. And his handes were stedis vntill þe sonne was doune. * And Josua discomfeted Amelech and his people with the edge of his swerde.

And the Lorde sayde vnto Moles/ write this for a remembraunce in a booke and tell it vnto Josua/ for I will put out the remembraunce of Amelech fro vnder heauen. And Moles made an alter and called the name of it * Jehouah Nissi/ for he sayde: the hande is on the seate of the Lorde/ that the Lorde will haue warre with Amelech thozow out all generations.

Yethros counsell is receaued of Moles.

The xxi. Chapter.

Yethro the prest of Madia Moles father in lawe herde of all þe God had done vnto Moles and to Israel his people/ how that the Lorde had broughte Israel out of Egypte. * And he toke Ziphora Moles wyfe/ after she was sente backe/ and hir. ii. sonnes/ of which the one was called Gerson/ for he sayde: I haue bene an alien in a straunge lande. And the other was called Eliezar: for the God of my father was myn helpe and deliuered me fro the swerde of Pharaon. And Yethro Moles father in lawe came wth his two sonnes and his wyfe vnto Moles in to þe wyldernesse: where he had pitched his tente by þe mount of God. The. xix. Chapter.

He thyrde moneth after the chylde of Israel were gone out of egypt: the same daye they came in to the wyldernesse of Sinai. * For they were departed fro Raphaim / & were come to the desert of Sinay / and had pitched their tentes in the wyldernesse. And there Israel pitched before the mounte. And Moses wet vnto God. And the Lorde called to hym out of the mountayne / saying: thus saye vnto the house of Jacob / & tell the chyldren of Israel: ye haue sene what I dyd vnto the egyptians and how I toke you by vpon egles wynges / & haue brought you vnto my selfe. Now ther fore ye shall heare my voyce & kepe myne appoyntement: ye shall be myne atone aboue all nacions / for all the erth is myne. Ye shall be vnto me a kyngdome of prestes & an holy people: these are the wordes which thou shalt saye vnto the chyldren of Israel.

And Moses came & called for the elders of Israel / & layde before the all these wordes which the Lorde had comaunded hym. And the people answered all to gether and sayde: All that the Lorde hath sayde / we will doo. And Moses brought the wordes of the people vnto the Lorde. And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses: Lo / I will come vnto the in a thicke clowde / that the people maye heare when I talke with the / & also beleue the for euer. And Moses shewed the wordes of the people vnto the Lorde.

And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses: Go vnto the people & sanctifye them to daye & to morow / & let them wash their clothes: that they maye be redy agaynst the thyrde daye. For the thyrde daye I Lorde will come downe in the syght of all the people vpon mounte

There shall not an hande touch it / but that he shall ether be stoned or els shot thorow: whether it be beast or man / it shall not lyue / when the horne bloweth: than let them come by in to the mountayn.

And Moses went downe from the mounte vnto the people and sanctified them / & they washed their clothes: And he sayde vnto the people: be redy agaynst the thyrde daye / & let that ye come not at youre wyues. And the thyrde daye in the moynynge there was thund er / & lyghtenynge & a thicke clowde vnto the mounte / & the voyce of the horne waxed excea dyng lowde / & all the people that was in the hoste was afrayed. And Moses brought the people out of the tentes to mete with God / & they stode vnder the hyll.

And mounte Sinai was all to gether on a smoke: because the Lorde descended downe vnto it in fyre. And the smoke therof ascended vnto the heuene as it had bene the smoke of a kyllle / & all the mount was exceeding fearefull. And the voyce of the horne blew a waxed lowder & lowder. Moses spake / & God answered hym & he with a voyce. And the Lorde came downe vpon mounte Sinai / euē in the toppe of the hyll / & called Moses by into the toppe of the hyll. And Moses went by.

And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses: go downe & charge the people that they preale not by vnto the Lorde for to se hym / & so many of the perishe. And let the prestes also which come to the Lordes presence sanctifye the selues: lest the Lorde smyte the. When Moses sayde vnto the Lorde: the people can not come by in to the mounte Sinai / for thou chargedest by saying: set markes about the hyll / & sanctifie it. And the Lorde sayde vnto hym: awaye / & get the downe: & come by both thou & Aaron with the. But let not the prestes & the peo ple presume for to come by vnto the Lorde: lest he smyte them. Chapter. And the Lorde sayde vnto Moyses: shewe the. iij. tables of stone like vnto the fyrst that I made wyte in the. iij. tables / which thou breste. And be redye agaynst the morninge that thou mayst come by early vnto the mount of Sinai and stande me there vpon the toppe of the mount. But let no man come by with the / nether let any man be sene thozow out all the mount / nether let thepe noz oze fede before the hyll.

And Moyses hewed. iij. tables of stone lyke vnto the fyrst and rose by early in the morninge and went by vnto the mount of Sinai as the Lorde commaunded him: and toke in his hande the. iij. tables of stone. And the Lorde descended in the cloude / and stode with him there: and he called vpon the name of the Lorde. And when the Lorde walked before him / he cryed: Lorde * Lorde God full of compassion and mercy / which art not lyghtly angrye but abundant in mercy and trueth / and kepest mercy in store for thousands / and for gentlest wykednesse / trespass and synne (for there is no man ynnocent before the) and by the first the wykednesse of the fathers vpon the chyldren and vpon chyldrens chyldren / euen vnto the thyrde and fourth generacion. And Moyses bowed him self to the erth quychly & worshipped & sayd: If I haue founde grace in thy syghte o Lorde / then let my Lorde go with vs (for it is a stuburne people) & haue mercy vpon oure wykednesse & oure synne / and let vs be thyne enheritaunce.

And he sayd: beholde / I make an appoyntment before all this people / that I will doo maruells: such as haue not bene done in all the worlde / nether amonge any nacion. And all the people amonge which thou art / shall se the worke of the Lorde: for it is a terrible thinge that I will do with the: kepe all that I commaunde the this daye / and beholde: I will cast out before the: the Amozites / Canaanites / Hethites / Pherezites / Heuites and Jebusites. * Take hede to thy selfe / that thou make no compacte with the inhabitants of the lande / whether thou goest lest it be cause of ruyne amonge you. But ouerthrowe their alters and breste their pylers / and cutt doune their groues / for thou shalt worshippe no straunge God. For the Lorde is called gelous / because he is a gelous God: lest yf thou make any agreement wyth the inhabitants of the lande / when they go a whooringe after their goddes and do sacrifice vnto their goddes / they call the and thou eate of their sacrifice: and thou take of their daughters vnto thy sonnes / and when their daughters goo a whooringe after their goddes / they make thy sonnes goo a whooringe after their goddes also.

Thou shalt make the no goddes of metall. Chyise in a yere shall all your men chyldren appeare before the Lorde Iehouah God of Israel

Israel: for I will cast out the nacyons before the & will enlarge thy costes / so that no man shall despye thy lande / while thou goest by to appeare before the face of the Lorde thy God / thyrse in the yere.

Chapter. Thou shalt not offer the bloude of my sacrifice with leueden bread: nether shall ought of the sacrifice of the feast of Pascheouer / be lesse vnto the morninge. The fyrst of the first frutes of thy lande / thou shalt bryng vnto the house of the Lorde thy God. And se / that thou sette not a kydd in his mothers mylke. And the Lorde sayde vnto Moyses: wyte these wordes / for vpon these wordes I haue made a couenaunt with the and with the chyldren of Israel. * And he was there wyth the Lorde. xl. dayes & xl. nightes / and nether ate bread nor dranke water. And he wrote in the tables the wordes of the couenaunt: euen ten berles.

And Moyses came doune from mount Sinai & the. iij. tables of wytnesse in his hande / & yet the wyte not that the shynne of his face shone wyth beames of his comenynge wyth hym. And when Aaron and all the chyldren of Israel looked vpon Moyses and sawe that the shynne of his face shone wyth beames / they were a frayde to come nye him. And they made the Ephod of golde / iacincte / scarlet / purple / and twyned bylle. And they dyd beate the golde in to thynne plates / & cutte it into wyres: to woziere it in the iacincte / scarlet / purple & the bylle / with bzodred woziere. And they made the sydes come to gether / and closed them by the two edges. And the bzodryng of the gyrdell that was by it / was of the same stuffe & after the same woziere of golde / iacincte / scarlet / purple and twyned bylle / as the Lorde commaunded Moyses.

And they wrought Onix stones closed in ouches of golde / & graued as sygnettes are grauen with the names of the chyldren of Israel / & put the on the shoulders of the Ephod that they shulde be a remembraunce of the chyldren of Israel / as the Lorde commaunded Moyses.

of a swete sauour vnto the Lord.

The order of meatofferings/ of swete cakes/ of fyne flour/ of franchencens/ & c. with out leuen/ & with out honny/ but not with oute salt.

The iiij. Chapter.

Any soule wyll offer a meatoffryng vnto the Lord/ his offeringe shalbe fyne flour/ & he shall poure thereto oyle/ & put franchencens theron/ & shall brynge it vnto Aarons sonnes the priestes. And one of the shall take ther-out his handfull of the flour/ & of the oyle & all the franchencens/ & burne it for a memorial vpon the alter: an offeringe of a swete sauour vnto the Lord. And the remnaunt of the meatoffring shalbe Aarons & his sonnes/as a thyng most holy of the sacrifices of the Lord. If any man brynge a meatoffring & is baken in the ouen/ let hym brynge swete cakes of fyne flour myngled with oyle/ and briueuended wafers anointed with oyle. If thy meatoffring be baken in the fryng pan/then it shalbe of swete flour myngled with oyle. And thou shalt mynce it small/ & poure oyle theron/ & so it is a meatoffringe.

If thy meatoffringe be a thyng broyled vpon the gredder/ or of flour myngled with oyle it shalbe. And thou shalt brynge the meatoffringe that is made of these thynges vnto the Lord/ & shalt deliuer it vnto the priest/and he shall brynge it vnto the alter/ & shall heue by parte of the meatoffringe for a memorial/ & shall burne it vpon the alter: an offryng of a swete sauour vnto the Lord.
And the which is left of the meatoffringe shall be Aarons & his sonnes/ as a thyng that is most holy of the offerings of the Lord.

All the meatofferings which ye shall brynge vnto the Lord/ shalbe made without leuen.
For ye shall nether burne leuen nor honny in any offeringe of the Lord: notwithstanding ye shall brynge the fyrynges of them vnto the Lord: but they shall not come vpon the alter to make a swete sauour.

All thy meatofferings thou shalt salt with salt: whether shalt thou salt the salt of the couenant of thy God to be lackinge from thy meatoffringe: but vpon all thyne offerings thou shalt brynge salt.

If thou offre a meatoffring of the first ripe frutes vnto the Lord/ then take that which is yet grene/ & drye it by the fyre and beat it small/ & so offer the meatoffring of the first rype frutes. And thou shalt poure oyle thereto/ and put franchencens theron/ & so it is a meatoffryng. And the priest shall burne parte of the beate come & parte of that oyle with all the franchencens/ for a remembrance. That is an offeringe vnto the Lord.

The order of peaceofferings/ whiche were offered for the keepinge of peace/ made of oxen/ shepe/ lambes and gootes.

The iiiij. Chapter.

If any man brynge a peaceoffring of the oxen: whether it be male or female/ he shall brynge soche as is without blemyshe/ befoze the Lord: & let hym put his hande vpon the heed of his offeringe/ and kyll it befoze the doze of the tabernacle of witnessse. And Aarons sonnes the priest shall spynckle the blood vpon the alter rounde aboute. And they shall offre of the peaceoffring to be a sacrifice vnto the Lord: the fatt that couereth the inwardes & all the fatt that is vpon the inwardes: & the two hydneys with the fatt that lyeth vpon the loynes: and the hall that is on the lyuer they shall take awaye with the hydneys. And Aarons sonnes shall burne them vpon the alter with the burnt sacrifice which is vpon the wodd on the fyre. That is a sacrifice of a swete sauour vnto the Lord.

If a man brynge a peaceoffring vnto the Lord from the flocke/ whether it be male or female/ it shalbe without blemyshe. If he offre a lambe/ he shall brynge it befoze the Lord/ & put his hande vpon his offerings heede/ & kyll it in the dooze of the tabernacle of witnessse/ & Aarons sonnes shall spynckle the bloude therof rounde about the alter.

And of the peaceoffring they shall brynge a sacrifice vnto the Lord: the fatt therof & the rumpe all together/ which they shall take of harde by the backe bone: & the fatt that uereth the inwardes & all the fatt that is vpon the inwardes & the two hydneys with the fatt that lyeth vpon them and vpon the loynes/ & the hall that is vpon the lyuer he shall take awaye with the hydneys. And the priest shall burne them vpon the alter to fede the Lords offeringe withall.

If the offeringe be a goote/ he shall brynge it befoze the Lord/ & put his hande vpon the head of it/ and kyll it befoze the tabernacle of witnessse/ and the sonnes of Aarons shall spynckle the bloude therof vpon the alter rounde about. And he shall brynge therof his offeringe vnto the Lordes sacrifice: the fatt that coue-reth the inwardes & all the fatt that is vpon the inwardes & the two hydneys & the fatt
that lyeth vpon them and vpon the loynes/ &
the hall that is vpon the lyuer he shall take awaye with the hydneys. And the priest shall burne them vpon the alter to fede the Lordes sacrifice withall/ & to make a swete sauour. And thus shall all the fatt be the Lordes/ and it shalbe a lawe for euer amonge youre generacions after you in poured dwellinge places: that ye eate nether fat nor bloude.

¶ The offering made for synnes done of ignorance.

The.iii.Chapter.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses saying: speake vnto the chyldren of Israel & saye: when a soule synneth thorow ignoraunce/ and hath done any of those thinges which the Lorde hath forbydden in his commaundementes to be done: Yet the Preatst that is anoynted synne & make & people to do amysse / he shall brynge for hys synne which he hath done: an ore without blemyshe vnto the Lorde for a synneoffring. And he shall brynge the ore vnto the doore of the tabernacle of wytnesse before & Lorde/ & shall put hys hande vpon the ore heade/ and kyll hym before the Lorde. And the Preatst that is anoynted shall take of the ore bloude / and brynge it in to the tabernacle of wytnesse / & shall dyppe his finger in the bloud & spynkile therof. thrise tymes before the Lorde: euen before the hanging of & holy place. And he shall put some of the bloude vpon the hornes of & alter of swete cens before the Lorde which is in & tabernacle of wytnesse/ & shall poure all the bloude of the ore vpon the botome of the alter of burntofferings which is by the doore of & tabernacle of wytnesse. And he shall take awaye all the fatt of the ore that is the synneoffring: the fatt that couereth the inwardes and all the fatt that is aboute them/ & the. iij. kyndes with the fatt that lyeth vpon the & vpon the loynes/ and the hall vpon the lyuer let them take awaye also wth the kyndes: as it was taken fro the ore of the peaceoffring/ & let the Preatst burne them vpon the altare of burntofferings. But the skynne of the ore & all his flesh with his heede/ his legges/ hys inwardes with his doge/ shall he carrie altogether out of the holle vnto a cleane place: euere where & althes are poured out/ & burne him on wodd wyth fyre: euen vpon the heape of althes. If the hole comenalte of the chyldren of Israel synne thorow ignoraunce/ & the thing be hyd from their eyes: so that they haue comytted any of these thinges which the Lorde hath forbydden to be done in his commaundementes and haue offended/ & the synne whiche they haue sinned be afterwarde knowne/ then shall they offre an ore for a synneoffring/ & shall brynge him before & tabernacle of wytnesse/ & the elders of the myltitude shall put their handes vpon his heed before the Lorde. * And the Preatst & is anoynted shall brynge of hys bloud into the tabernacle of wytnesse/ & shall dyppe hys synger in the bloude / and spynkile it seuen tymes before the Lorde: euere before the dayle. And shall put of the bloude vpon the hornes of the alter which is before the Lorde in the tabernacle of wytnesse/ and shall poure all the bloude vpon the botome of the alter of burntofferings which is by the doze of þ tabernacle of witnessse / & shall take all hys fatt from hym / & burne it vpon the alter / & shall do with his ore as he dyd with the synneoffryng ore. And the Priest shall make an attonement for them / & so it shall be forgeuen the. And he shall byringe the ore without the holte / & burne him as he burned the fyrst:

so is this þ synneoffryng of the comenalte.
When a Lorde synneth and commytteth thowso ignoraunce any of these thingz which the Lorde his God hath forbydden to be done in his commaundementes / & hath so offended: when his synne is shewed vnto hym / which he hath synned / he shall byringe for hys offrynge an he goote without blemyshe & laye his hande vpon the heed of it / & kyll it in the place where the burntofferings are kylled before þ Lorde: this is a synneoffryng. Then let the Priest take of the bloude of the synne offrynge with hys synger / & put it vpon the hornes of the burntofferings alter / and poure hys bloude vpon the botome of the burntoffryng alter / & burne all hys fatt vpon the alter / as he dothe the fatt of the peaceofferings.
And the Priest shall make an attonement for hym as concerning his synne / and so it shall be forgeuen hym.

¶ If one of þe come people of the lande synne & thorowe ignourance & commytte any of the thynges which the Lorde hath forboden in his commaundementes to be done & so hath trespassed/when hys synne which he hath synned is come to his knowlege/he shall brynge for his offering/a the goote without blemish for his synne which he hath synned/ and laye his hande vpon the heed of the synneoffring/ & see it in the place of burntofferings. * And the Prcast shall take of the bloude with hys fynger/ & put it vpon the hornes of the burnt-offrynge alter/ & poure all the bloude vpon the botome of the alter / & shall take awaye all his fatt as the fatt of the peaceofferings is taken awaye. And the Prcast shall burne it vpon the alter for a sweete sauoure vnto the Lorde/and the Prcast shall make an attonement for hym/ & it shalbe forgiven hym.

If he bringe a lambe & offer it for a synne offryng/ he shall bringe a female without blemish/ & laye his hande vpon the heed of the synneoffryng/ & slea it in the place where the burntoffryngs are slayne. And the Priest shall take of the bloude of the synneoffryng with his synger/ and put it vpon the hornes of the burntoffring alter/ & shall poure all the blood therof vnto the botome of the alter. * And he shall take awaye all the fat therof/ as the fat of the shepe of the peaceoffrynges was take awaye. And the Priest shall burne it vpon the alter for the Lordes sacrifice/ and the Priest

Shall make an attonement for his syne / and it shalbe forgiven hym.

The. v. Chapter.

When a soule hath synned & herde þ boyce of cursynge & is a wytnesse:
 whether he hath sene oz knowne of it yf he haue not vttered it / he shall bere his synne. Either when a man toucheth any vnclene thyng: whether it be the carpon of an vnclene best oz of vnclene castell oz vnclene woyme & is not warre of it he is also vnclene & hath offended. Either when he toucheth any vnclenesse of man (what so euer vnclenesse it be that a man is despyed with all) & is not warre of it and after warde cometh to the knowlege of it, he is a trespa-ser. Either when a soule sweareth: so that he pronosiceth to his tpyes to do euell oz to do good (whatsoeuer it be) & a man pronosiceth wyth an othe / and the thyng be out of hys mynde & after ward cometh to the knowlege of it / then he hath offended in one of these.
 Then when he hath synned in one of these thynges / he shall cōfesse that wherin he hath synned / and shall byrynge hys trespass offeryng vnto the Lorde for his synne which he hath synned. A female from the flocke whether it be a lambe oz a she goote / for a synne-offryng. And the P̄east shall make an attonement for hym for hys synne. * But yf he be not able to byrynge a shepe / then let hym byrynge for his trespass which he hath synned two turtill doues oz two younge pygeons br-to the Lorde / one for a synneoffryng and another for a burntoffryng. And he shall byrynge them vnto the P̄east whych he shall offer the synneoffryng fyrst / & wyrynge þe necke a sun-dze of it / but plucke it not cleue of. And let hym sprynkle of the bloude of the synneof-fryng vpon the syde of the alter / and let the reste of the bloute blede vpon the botome of the alter / & then it is a synneoffryng. And let hym offer the second for a burntoffryng as the maner is: & so shall the P̄east make an attonement for hym for the synne whiche he hath synned / and it shalbe for geue hym. And yet yf he be not able to byrynge two turtill doues oz two younge pygeons / then let hym byrynge his offryng for his synne: * the tenth parte of an Ephah of fyne floure for a synne offryng / but put none oyle thereto neither put any franchencis therō / for it is a synne offryng. And let hym byrynge it to the p̄east / & the P̄east shall take his hand full of it / & burne it vpon the alter for a remembraunce to be a sacrifice for the Lorde: that is a synne-offryng. And let the P̄east make an attonement ment for hym for his synne (whatsoeuer of these he hath synned) and it shalbe forgoeuen. And the remnaunte shalbe the prestes, as it is in the meatoffyringe.

And the Lorde comened to Moyses saying: When a foule trespasseth & synneth thozow ignoraunce in any of the holy thynges of the Lorde/he shall byynge for his trespass vnto the Lorde a ram without blemyshe out of the flocke valued at two shekels after the shekel of the sanctuary/for a trespassoffryng, and he shall make amendes for the harme that he hath done in the holy thyng/& put the fyfte parte more to/& geue it vnto the P'reast. And the P'reast shall make an attournemēt for him with the ram of the trespassoffryng/ and it shalbe forgeuen hym.

When a soule synneth & committeth any of these thynges whych are forbydden to be done by the commaundemētes of the Lorde: though he wyll it not/he hath yet offended & is in synne/& shall brynge a ram without ble-myss out of the flocke that is esteemed to be worthe a synneoffryng/vnto the P̄east. And the P̄east shall make an attonemēt for hym for the ignoraunce which he dyd / & was not ware/and it shalbe forgiven hym. This is a trespaceoffryng / for he trespassed agaynst the Lorde.

The offerings for synnes which are done twylligly. The lawe of the burnt offerings. The fyre must abyde euermore vpon the aulter. The offerings of Aaron and his sonnes.

¶ The. vi. Chapter.

And the Lorde talked with Moses sayinge: when a soule synneth and trespaceth agaynst the Lorde, and denyed vnto hys neyghboure that which was taken hym to kepe / or that was put vnder his hande / or þe which he hath violently take awaye / or that which he hath deceaued his neyghboure of wth fortyite / or hath founde that which was losse and denyeth it / & sweareth falsely / in whatsoeuer thinge it be that a man doth & synneth therein. Then whē he hath synned or trespaced / he shall restore agayne that he toke vyolently awaye / or the wzonge which he dyd / or that which was de-liuered hym to kepe / or the lost thyng which he founde / or whatsoeuer it be aboute which he hath sworne falsely / * he shall restore it agayne in the whole summe / and shall adde the fyfte parte moare thereto / & geue it vnto hym to whome it pertaineth / the same daye þe he offereth for his trespass / & shall bringe for his trespass offeringe vnto the Lorde a ram without blemyshe out of the flocke / that is esteemed worth a trespass offeringe vnto the Prest. And the Prest shall make an attonement for hym befoze the Lorde / & it shall be for:

* As to my ney

be forgiven hym / in whatsover thyng it be that a man doth a trespasseth therein.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses saying: Commande Aaron and his sonnes saying: this is the lawe of the burnt offering. The burnt offering shall be vpon the harty of the alter all nyghte vnto the mornynge / & the fyre of the alter shall burne therein. And the Preatst shall put on hys lynen albe and hys lynen breeches vpon his flesh / & take awaye the ashes which the fyre of the burnt sacrifice in the alter hath made / & put the besyde the alter / & then put of his rayment & put on other / and carpe the ashes out without the host vnto a cleane place.

The fyre that is vpon the alter shall burne therein & not go out. And the Preatst shall put wodd on the fyre euery mornynge / & put the burnt sacrifice vpon it / & he shall burne thereon the fat of the peace offerings. The fyre shall neuer burne vpon the alter / & neuer go out.

This is the lawe of the meat offering. Aarons sonnes shall bynne it before the Lorde vnto the alter: and one of them shall take his hand full of the floure of the meat offering & of the oyle with all the franchencēs which is thereon / & shall burne it vnto a remembrance vpon the alter to be a swete sauoure of the memozpall of it vnto the Lorde. And the rest thereof / Aaron & his sonnes shall eate vnto the court of the tabernacle of witness they shall eate it. Their parte which I haue geue them of my sacrifice shall not be baken with leue / for it is most holpe / as is the synne offering / & trespass offering. All the males amonge the chyldzen of Aaron shall eate of it: and it shall be a dutye for euer vnto your generacions of the sacrifices of the Lorde / nether shall any man touche it / but he is halowed.

a. There shall none touche it / but he that is halowed / that is / but he that is dedicated / or deyned and appointed to my nyght before the Lorde / as it is Agge. ij.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses saying: this is the offering of Aaron & of his sonnes which he shall offer vnto the Lorde in the daye when they are anoynted: the feth parte of an epha of floure / which is a dayly meat offering perpetually: halfe in the mornynge & halfe at nyghte: & in the fryenge pan it shall be made with oyle. And when it is fryed / thou shalt bynne it in as a baken meat offering mynled small / & shalt offer it for a swete sauoure vnto the Lorde. And that preast of his sonnes that is anoynted in his steade shall offer it: & it shall be the Lorde dutye for euer / & it shall be burnt all together. For all the meat offerings of the Preatstes shall be burnt all together / & shall not be eate. And the Lorde talked with Moses saying: speake vnto Aaron & vnto his sonnes as aye: This is the lawe of the synne offering. In the place where the burnt offering is kylled / shall the synne offering be kylled also before the Lorde / for it is most holpe. The Preatst that offereth it shall eate it in the holy place: euē in the court of the tabernacle of witness. None shall touche the flesh thereof / saue he that is halowed. And if any rayment be spynckled therewith / it shall be washed in the holy place / & the erthe pot that it is sodden in shall be broken. If it be sodden in brasse then the pot shall be scoured & ryned in the water. All the males amonge the Preatstes shall eate thereof / for it is most holpe. Notwithstanding no synne offering that hath hys bloude brought in to the tabernacle of witness to reconple with all in the holy place / shall be eaten: but shall be burnt in the fyre.

Trespass offerings. Synne offerings and peace offerings. The fat and the bloude maye not be eaten. The vij. Chapter.

This is the lawe of the trespass offering which is most holpe. In the place where the burnt offering is kylled / the trespass offering shall be kylled also: & hys bloude shall be spynckled rounde aboute vpon the alter. And all the fat thereof shall be offered: the rompe and the fat that couered the inwardes / & the ff. kydneyes with the fatt & lyeth on the & vpon the lynes & the hall on the lyuer shall be take awaye to the kydneyes: & the Preatst shall burne them vpon the altare / to be an offering vnto the Lorde: this is a trespass offering.

All the males amonge the Preatstes shall eate thereof in the holy place / for it is most holpe. As the synne offering is so is the trespass offering / one lawe serueth for both: & it shall be the Preatstes that reconpleth therewith. And the preast that offered a mans burnt offering / shall haue the skynne of the burnt offering which he hath offered. And all the meat offerings that are baken in the oven / and all that is dyled vpon the greddyn and in the fryenge pan / shall be the Preatstes that offereth them. And all the meat offerings that are myngled with oyle or drye / shall pertaine vnto all the sonnes of Aard / & one shall haue as moche as another. This is the lawe of the peace offerings which shall be offered vnto the Lorde. If he offer to geue thanckes / he shall bynne vnto his thanck offering: swete cakes myngled with oyle and swete wafers anoynted with oyle / & cakes myngled with oyle of fyne floure fryed / & he shall bynne his offering vpon cakes made of leuened bred vnto the thanck offering of his peace offerings / & of them all he shall offer one to be an heue offering vnto the Lorde / and it shall be the Preatstes that spynckleth the bloude of the peace offerings. And the flesh of the thanck offering of hys peace offerings shall be eaten the same daye that it is offered / and there shall none of it be layde by vntill the mornynge.

If it be a home or a fre wyloffring that he byngeth / the same daye that he offereth it / it shall be eaten / & that which remaineth may be eaten on the mornynge: but as moche of the offered flesh as remaineth vnto the thyrde daye shall be burnt with fyre. For if any of the flesh of the peace offerings be eaten in the thyrde daye then shall he be offered it optayne no fauour / nether shall it be rekened vnto hym: but shall be an abhominacion / and the soule that eateth of it shall beare the synne thereof. The flesh that toucheth any vncleane thyng shall not be eaten / but burnt with fyre: & all that be cleane in their flesh / maye eate flesh. If any soule eate of the flesh of the peace offerings that pertaine vnto the Lorde / and hys vncleane yet vpon hym / the same soule shall perishe from amonge hys people. Moreover if a soule touche any vncleane thing / whether it be the vncleane of man or of any vncleane beast or any abhominacion that is vncleane: and then eate of the flesh of the peace offerings which pertaine vnto the Lorde / that soule shall perishe from his people.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses saying: speake vnto the chyldzen of Israel and saye: Ye shall eate no manner fatt of oxen / shepe or gootes: neuer the later the fatt of the beast & dyeth alone & the fatt of that which is to the with wyde beastes / maye be occupied in all manner bes: but ye shall in no wise eate of it. For whosoever eateth the fatt of the beast of which men bynne an offering vnto the Lorde / that soule that eateth it shall perishe from his people. Moreover ye shall eate no manner of bloud / whersoever ye dwell / whether it be of foule or of beast. Whatsover soule it be & eateth any manner of bloude the same soule shall perishe from his people.

And the Lorde talked with Moses saying: speake vnto the chyldzen of Israel & saye: he that offereth his peace offering vnto the Lorde / shall bynne his gyfte vnto the Lorde of his peace offerings: hys awne handes shall bynne the offering of the Lorde: euen the fatt vpon the brest he shall bynne with the brest to waue it: & waue offering before the Lorde. And the Preatst shall burne the fatt vpon the alter / & the brest shall be Aarons & his sonnes. And the right shoulder they shall geue vnto the Preatst / to be an heue offering / of their peace offerings. And the same that offereth the bloud of the peace offerings & the fatt / amonge the sonnes of Aard shall haue the right shoulder vnto hys parte / for the waue brest & the heue shoulder I haue taken of the chyldzen of Israel / euen of their peace offerings / & haue geue it vnto Aard the Preatst & vnto hys sonnes: to be a dutye for euer of the chyldzen of Israel.

This is the anoyntynge of Aaron & of the sacrifices of the Lorde / in the daye when they were offered to the Preatstes vnto the Lorde / which the Lorde commaunded to be geue them in the daye when he anoynted the / of the chyldzen of Israel / & to be a dutie for euer amonge their generacions. This is the lawe of burnt offerings / of meat offerings / of synne offerings / of trespass offerings / of felloffings / of peace offerings / which the Lorde commaunded Moses in the mount of Sinai / in the daye when he commaunded the chyldzen of Israel to offer their offerings vnto the Lorde in the wilderness of Sinai.

The vij. Chapter. And the Lorde spake vnto Moses saying: take Aaron & hys sonnes with him / & the vestures & the anoyntynge oyle / & an oxe for a synne offering & two rammes & a basket of swete bred: & gather all the comentye to gather vnto the doze of the tabernacle of witness. And Moses dyd as the Lorde commaunded hym / & the people gathered the selues to gather vnto the doze of the tabernacle of witness. And Moses sayde vnto the people: this is the thing which the Lorde commaunded to do.

And Moses brought Aaron & hys sonnes & washed them with water / & put vpon him the albe & girded hym with a gyrdell / & put vpon him the tuncle / & put the ephod theron / and girded hym with the broderd gyrdell of the ephod / & bounde it vnto hym therewith. And he put the brest lappe theron / and put in the brest lappe / & in and & humim. And he put the myter vpon his heed / & put vpon the myter euen vpon the forefront of the goldden plate of the holy crowne / as the Lorde commaunded Moses.

And Moses toke the anoyntynge oyle and anoynted the habitacyon & all that was therein / and sanctified them / & spynckled therof vpon the alter seue tymes / and anoynted the alter & all hys vessels / & the lauer with hys fote / to sanctifye them. And he poured of the anoyntynge oyle vpon Aarons heed / and anoynted hym to sanctifye hym. And he brought Aarons sonnes & put albes vpon them / & girded them with gyrdels / and put bonettes vpon their heedes as the Lorde commaunded Moses.

And the synne offering was brought. And Aaron & hys sonnes put their handes vpon the heed of the oxe of the synne offering. And when it was slayne / Moses toke of the bloud / & put it vpon the hornes of the alter rounde about his lynger / & purified it / & poured the bloud vnto the botome of the alter & sanctified it & reconpled it. And he toke all the fatt that was vpon the inwardes / & the hall that was on the lyuer and the two kydneyes with with their fatt / & burned it vpon the alter. But the ore / the hyde / hys flesh and hys donge / he burnt wth fyre without the holte / as the Lorde commaunded Moyses.

And he brought the ram of ^{the} burnt offering / & Aaron & his sonnes put their handes vpon the head of the ram / & it was kylled. And Moyses spynkled the blood vpon the alter rounde about / and cut the ram in peces & burnt the head / the peces & the fatte / & washed the inwardes & the legges in water / and burnt the ram euery whyt vpon the alter. That was a burnt sacrifice of a swete sauoure / and an offering vnto the Lorde / as the Lorde commaunded Moyses.

And he brought the other ram that was ^{the} burnt offering / & Aaron & his sonnes put their handes vpon the head of the ram: and when it was slayne / Moyses toke of the bloude of it / & put it vpon the tpype of Aarons ryghte eare / and vpon the thombe of his ryght hand / & vpon the great too of hys ryght fote. Then were Aarons sonnes broughte / and Moyses put of the bloude on the tpype of the ryghte eare of them / and vpon the thombes of their ryghte handes / and vpon the greates tooes of their righte fete / and spynkled the blood vpon the alter rounde aboute.

And he toke the fatt and the rompe and all the fatt that was vpon the inwardes / and the hall of ^{the} luer / & the ⁱⁱ. hydnepes with their fatt and their ryghte shoulder. And out of the basket of swete bread that was before the Lorde / he toke one swete cake of oyled bread & one wafer / & put them on the fatt & vpon ^{the} ryghte shoulder: & put altogether vpon Aarons handes & vpon hys sonnes handes / and waued it a waue offering before the Lorde. And then Moyses toke the f^ro of their handes agayne / & burnt them vpon the alter / euen vpon the burnt offering. These are the fuloffringes of a swete sauoure & a sacrifice vnto the Lorde. And Moyses toke ^{the} bzeaste & waueed it a waue offering before ^{the} Lorde / of the ram of the fuloffringes: and it was Moyses parte / as the Lorde commaunded Moyses.

And Moyses toke of the anoynting oyle & of the bloude which was vpon the alter / and spynkled it vpon Aaron & vpon his bestmētes & vpon his sonnes & on their bestmētes with hym / & sanctified Aaron & his bestmētes & his sonnes & his sonnes bestmētes also. Then Moyses sayde vnto Aaron & his sonnes: boyle the flesh in ^{the} doze of the tabernacle of wytnesse / & there ^{is} eate it with the bread that is in the basket of fuloffring / as the Lorde commaunded / saying: Aaron and his sonnes shall eate it: & that which remaineth of the flesh and of the bread / burne it with fyre.

And se that ye departe not from the dooze of the tabernacle of wytnesse seue dayes lōge vntill the dayes of youre fuloffringes be at an ende. For ^{the} viij. dayes must youre handes be fylled / as they were this daye: eue so ^{the} Lorde hath commaunded to do / to reconcile you with all. Se therfore that ye abyde in the doze of the tabernacle of wytnesse daye & nyght seue dayes longe: & kepe the watche of the Lorde that ye dye not: for so I am commaunded. And Aarō & his sonnes dyd all thinges which the Lorde commaunded^{by} the hande of Moyses.

^{The} fyre offringes of Aaron / for hym selfe and for the people. Aaron blessed the people. The glozpe of the Lorde is shewed. The fyre commynge from above consumeth the sacrifice.

The .ix. Chapter.

And the .viij. daye Moyses called Aa^{ron} & his sonnes / & ^{the} elders of Isra^{el} / & sayde vnto Aarō: take a calfe for a synne offering / & a ram for a burnt offering: both without blemys / & bring them before the Lorde. And vnto the chyldre of Isra^{el} he spake saying: take ye an he goote for a synne offering / & a calfe & a lambe bothe two of a yere olde / & without blemys for a burnt sacrifice / & an ore & a ram for peaceoffringes / to offer before ^{the} Lorde / & a meate offering myngled wth oyle / for to daye ^{the} Lorde wyll appere vnto you. And they brought ^{the} which Moyses commaunded vnto the tabernacle of wytnesse / & all the people came a stode before the Lorde. And Moyses sayde: this is the thyng which the Lorde commaunded that ye shulde do: and then the glozpe of the Lorde shall appere vnto you. And Moyses sayde vnto Aaron: go vnto the alter & offer thy synne offering / & make an attouement for the and for the people: and then offer the offeringe of the people / and reconcile them also / as the Lorde commaunded Moyses.

And Aaron went vnto the alter / and slawe the calfe that was his synne offering. And the sonnes of Aaron broughte the bloude vnto hym / & he dyppe hys fynger in the bloude and put it vpon the hornes of the alter / & poured the bloude vnto the botome of the alter. And the fatt & the two hydnepes with the hall of the luer of the synne offering / he burnt vpon the alter / as the Lorde commaunded Moyses: but the flesh & the hyde / he burnt with fyre without the holte. Afterwarde he slawe the burnt offering / & Aarons sonnes broughte the bloud vnto hym / and he spynkled it rounde about vpon the alter. And they broughte the burnt offering vnto him in peces & the head also / and he burnt it vpon the alter / and dyd waue the inwardes and the legges / & burnt them also vpon the burnt offering in the alter.

And then he broughte the peoples offering & toke the goote that was the peoples synne offering offring / & slawe it & offered it for a synneoffring: as he dyd the fyrt. And then brought the burnt offering / & offered it as the maner was / & brought the meat offering & fylled his hande therof / & burnt it vpon the alter / belyde the burnt sacrifice in the moynge.

Then he slawe the ore & the ram that were the peoples peaceoffringes / & Aarōs sonnes brought the bloud vnto hym / & he spynkled it vpon the alter rounde about / and toke the fatt of the ore & of the ram: the rope and the fatt that couereth the inwardes and the hydnepes & the hall of the luer: & put them vpon the bzeastes & burnt it vpon the alter: but the bzeastes and the ryght shoulders Aarō waued before the Lorde / as the Lorde commaunded Moyses. And Aaron lyfte by hys hande ouer the people & blessed the / & came doune from offering of synneoffringes / burnt offeringes & peaceoffringes. Then Moyses & Aaron went in to the tabernacle of wytnesse & came out agayne and blessed the people / and the glozpe of the Lorde appered vnto all ^{the} people. And there came a fyre out from before the Lorde / and consumed vpon the alter the burnt offering and the fatt. And all the people sawe it / and shewed / and felle on their faces.

Nadab and Abihu are slayne. Isra^{el} mourneth for them. The ⁱⁱ. reastres are forbydden wyne. The rest of the sacrifice the ⁱⁱ. reastres eate.

The .x. Chapter.

And Nadab and Abihu the sonnes of Aaron toke ether of the ⁱⁱ. cens^{es} / & put fyre therein / and put cens^{es} vpon / & broughte straunge fyre before the Lorde: which he commaunded the not / & there went a fyre out from the Lorde / and consumed the / & they dyed before the Lorde. Then Moyses sayde vnto Aaron: this is that the Lorde spake saying: I will be sanctified in the that come nye me / & before all the people I wyll be glorified. And Aaron helde hys peace. And Moyses called Misael and Elisa^{phan} the sonnes of Oziel the vnckle of Aarō / and sayde vnto them: goo to and carpe youre ⁱⁱ. bzehtzen fro the holy place out of the holte. And they went to them / and carped them in their albes out of the holte / as Moyses bad.

And Moyses sayde vnto Aarō & vnto Eleazar & Jthamar his eldest sonnes: vncouer not youre heed nether rent youre clothes / lest ye dye and wth path come vpon all the people / let youre bzehtzen the hole house of Isra^{el} beweepe the burnynge whiche the Lorde hath burnt. But go ye not out fro the doze of the tabernacle of wytnesse / lest ye dye: for the anoynting oyle of the Lorde is vpon you. And they dyd as Moyses bad.

And the Lorde spake vnto Aaron saying: dzyneke no wyne no stronge dzyneke / nether thou no: thy sonnes with the: when ye go in to the tabernacle of wytnesse / lest ye dye. And let it be a lawe for euer vnto youre chyldren after you: that ye may put difference betwene holy & vnholy / & betwene vncleane & cleane / and that ye may teach the chyldren of Isra^{el} all the ordynaunces which the Lorde hath commaunded them by the handes of Moyses.

And Moyses sayde vnto Aaron and vnto Eleazar & Jthamar hys sonnes ^{the} were left: take the meat offering that remaineth of the sacrifices of the Lorde / & eate it without leuen beside the alter / for it is most holy: eate it therfore in the holy place / because it is thy dutye and thy sonnes dutye of the sacrifice of the Lorde: for so I am commaunded. And the wauebzeest & heue shoulder eate in a cleane place: bothe thou & thy sonnes & thy dough^{ters} with the. For it is thy dutye & thy sonnes dutye with the / of the peaceoffringes of the chyldre of Isra^{el}. For the heue shoulder & the wauebzeest whiche they bynge with the sa^ccrifices of the fatt / to waue it before the Lorde / shalbe thine & thy sonnes with the: and be a lawe for euer / as the Lorde hath commaunded.

And Moyses soughte for the goote ^{the} was the synneoffring / and se it was burnt. And he was angrie with Eleazar & Jthamar the sonnes of Aaron / whiche were lefte a lye saying: wherfore haue ye not eate the synneoffring in the holy place / seynge it is most holy: and for as moche as it is geuen you to bere the synne of the people / and make agreement for the before the Lorde? Beholde / the bloude of it was not brought in within the holy place therfore shulde ye haue eaten it in the holy place / as I commaunded. And Aarō sayde vnto Moyses: beholde thys daye haue they offered their synneoffring & their burnt offering before the Lorde / and it is chaunced me after thys maner. If I shulde eate of the synneoffring to daye / wolde the Lorde be content with all: And when Moyses hearde that / he was content.

Of beastes which be cleane / & which vncleane.

The .xi. Chapter.

clij. And

And the Lord spake vnto Moses and Aaron saying: speake vnto the children of Israel & saye: these are the beastes which ye shall eate amonge all the beastes that are on the erth: what soeuer hath hoofe and deuydeth it in to two clawes & cheweth cud amonge the beastes that shall ye eate. Neuerthelesse these shall ye not eate of the that chewe cud & haue hoofes. The camel/for he cheweth cud but he deuydeth not the hoofe in to two clawes/therefore he shall be vnclene vnto you. And the conye for he cheweth the cud but deuydeth not the hoofe in to two clawes/therefore he is vnclene to you. And the hare/for he lyke wyse cheweth the cud/ but deuydeth not the hoofe in to two clawes/ he is therefore vnclene to you. And the swyne/for though he deuyde the hoofe in to .ii. clawes/ yet he cheweth not the cud/ & therefore is vnclene to you. Of their flesh se that ye eate not/ & their carkasses se that ye touche not/for they are vnclene to you.

B These shall ye eate of all that are in the waters: what soeuer hath finnes & scales in the waters/ sees & rpuers/ & shall ye eate. And all that haue not finnes & scales in the sees and rpuers of all that moue & lyue in the waters shall ye abhorre. Se that ye eate not of their flesh/and also that ye abhorre their carkasses: for all that haue no finnes nor scales in the waters/ shall be abominacio vnto you. These are the foules which ye shall abhorre & which shall not be eate/ for they are an abhominacio. The eagle/ the goshauke/ the cozmozaitte/ the hyete/ the bulwar/ & all his kynde & all kynde of rauens/ the estrich/ the night-crowe/ the cocow/ the sparowhaue/ & all the kynde: the lytle oule/ the storche/ the great oule/ the back/ the pellicane/ the pye/ the heron/ the iaye with the kynde/ & lappwyng & the swalowe. And all foules that crepe and goo vpon all foure shall be an abominacyon vnto you.

D Yet these maye ye eate of all the foules that moue and goo apon .iiii. fete: euen those that haue no knees aboue vpon their fete to lepe wyth all vpon the erthe/ euen these of them ye maye eate: the arbe & all his kynde: the Selaam with all his kynde: the Hargol and all the kynde/ the Hagab & all his kynde. All other foules that moue & haue .iiii. fete/ shall be abhominacyon vnto you. In such ye shall be vnclene/ who soeuer touche the carkasse of the that shall be vnclene vnto the euen/ & who so euer beareth the carkasse of the/ shall washe his clothes/ & so shall be vnclene vntill euen.

Amonge all maner beastes/ that haue hoofes & deuyde the not in to two clawes or that chewe not the cud/ shall be vnclene vnto you: & all that toucheth the shall be vnclene.

And all that goeth vpon his handes amonge all maner beastes that goo on all foure fete are vnclene vnto you: & as many as touche their carkasses/ shall be vnclene vntill the euen. And he that beareth the carkasse of the/ shall washe his clothes & be vnclene vntill the euen/ for soche are vnclene vnto you.

And these are also vnclene to you amonge the thynges that crepe vpon the erth: the wefell/ the moule/ the tooode & all his kynde/ the hedgehogge/ the lio/ the licerte/ & mayle & the moule: these are vnclene to you amonge all that moue/ & all that touche them when they be dead/ shall be vnclene vntill the euen. And what soeuer any of the dead carkasses of them fall vpon/ shall be vnclene: what soeuer befall of woodd it be/ or rayment/ or skynne/ or bagge or what soeuer thing it be that any wothe is wroughte withall. And they shall be plunged in the water/ & be vnclene vntill the euen/ & then they shall be cleane agayne.

All maner of erthen vessel wher in to any of the falleth is vnclene with all that therein is: and ye shall breake it. All maner meate that is eaten/ of any soche water come vpon it/ it shall be vnclene. And all maner dynche that is drinke in all maner soche vessels shall be vnclene. And whether it be oue or kettel it shall be broken. For they are vnclene and shall be vnclene vnto you. Neuerthelesse/ yet the fowtayne and welles & poyntes of water/ shall be cleane still. But who soeuer toucheth their carkasses/ shall be vnclene.

If the dead carkasse of any soch fall vpon any seed vnto sowe/ it shall yet be cleane still: but and yf any water be poured vpon the seed and afterward the dead carkasse of them fall thereon/ then it shall be vnclene vnto you.

If any beast of which ye maye eate dye/ he shall toucheth the dead carkasse shall be vnclene vntill the euen. And he that eateth of any soche dead carkasse/ shall washe his clothes & remayne vnclene vntill the euen. And he also that beareth the carkasse of it/ shall washe his clothes/ and be vnclene vntill euen.

All that scrauleth vpon the erth/ is an abhominacyon/ and shall not be eaten. And what soeuer goeth vpon the beast/ and what soeuer goeth vpon .iiii. or moore fete amonge all that scrauleth vpon the erth/ of that se ye eate not: for they are abhominable. Make not your soules abhominable with nothinge that crepeth/ neither make your soules vnclene with them: that ye shoulde be defyled thereby. For I am the Lord your God/ & ye shall be sanctified therfore ye maye be holy/ for I am holy: & defile not your soules with any maner thing that crepeth vpon the erth. For I am the Lord that brought you out of the lande of Egypt to be your God: be holy therfore/ for I am holy.

Chis

This is the lawe of beast & foule & of all maner thyng that lyueth and moueth in the water & of all thynges that crepe vpon the erth/ that ye may put difference betwene vnclene & cleane/ & betwene the beastes that are eate and the beestes that are not eaten.

And the lawe how women shoulde be purged after their deliquaunce.

The .xii. Chapter.

And the Lord spake vnto Moses/ & saye: speake vnto the chyldre of Israel & saye: when a womā hath conceaued/ and hath borne a man chyld/ the shall be vnclene. viij. dayes: euen in lyke maner as whē she is put aparte in tyme of hye/ naturall disease. And in the .viij. daye the flesch of the chyldes foreskynne shall be cut awaye. And she shall contynue in the bloude of hye purgynge. .xxxiii. dayes/ she shall touche no halowed thyng nor come into the sanctuary/ vntill the tyme of hye purgynge be out. If she were a mapdechylde/ then she shall be vnclene two weekes/ as whē she hath hye naturall disease. And she shall contynue in the bloude of hye purgynge. lxxvi. dayes.

And when the dayes of hye purgynge are out: whether it be a sonne or a daughter/ she shall bynge a lambe of one yere olde for a burnt offering and a pouge pigeon or a turtill doue for a synne offering vnto the doore of the tabernacle of witness vnto the Priest: which shall offer them before the Lord/ & make an attonement for her/ and so she shall be purged of hye purgynge of bloude. This is the lawe of her that hath borne a chyld/ whether it be male or female. But and yf she be not able to bynge a shepe/ then let her bynge two turtills or two pouge pygeons: the one for the burnt offering/ and the other for the synne offering. And the Priest shall make an attonement for her/ & she shall be cleane.

The Priestes are appoynted to iudge who are Lepers.

The .xiii. Chapter.

And the Lord spake vnto Moses & vnto Aaron saying: when there appeareth a rising in any mans flesh/ either a scabbe or a glistering white: as though the plague of leprosy were in the skynne of his flesh/ then let hym be brought vnto Aaron the Priest or vnto one of his sonnes the Priestes/ & let the Priest loke on the soze & is in the skynne of his flesh. If the hayre in the soze be turned vnto whyte/ & the soze also seme to be lower then the skynne of his flesh/ then it is surely a leprosy/ & let the Priest loke on hym/ & iudge hym vnclene.

If there be but a whyte plecke in the skynne of his flesh/ and seme not to be lower then the other skynne nor the hayre thereof is turned vnto whyte: then let the Priest shut hym by seuen dayes. And let the Priest loke vpon hym the .viij. daye: yf the soze seme to hym to abyde still & to go no further in the skynne/ then let the Priest shut hym by .viij. dayes moore. And let the Priest loke on hym agayne the .viij. daye. Then yf the soze be waxed blackish/ & is not growen abrode in the skynne/ let the Priest make hym cleane/ for it is but a scabbe. And let hym washe his clothes/ & then he is cleane. But yf the scabbe growe in the skynne after that he is sene of the Priest agayne. If the Priest se the scabbe be growen abrode in the skynne/ let hym make hym vnclene: for it is surely a leprosy.

If the plague of leprosy be in a mā/ let hym be brought vnto the Priest/ & let the Priest se hym. If the whyte appeare whyte in the skynne/ & haue also made the hayre whyte/ & there be rawe flesh in the soze also: then it is an olde leprosy in the skynne of his flesh. And the Priest shall iudge hym vnclene/ and shall not shut hym by for he is vnclene.

If a leprosy breake out in the skynne and couer all the skynne fro the heed to the soote ouer all whersoer the Priest lokeith/ then let the Priest loke vpon hym. If the leprosy haue couered all his flesh/ let hym iudge the disease cleane: for in as moche as he is altogether whyte he is herfore cleane. But and yf there be rawe flesh on hym whē he is sene/ then let hym be vnclene. Therefore when the Priest seeth the rawe flesh/ let hym iudge hym vnclene. For in as moche as his flesh is rawe/ he is vnclene & it is surely a true leprosy. But yf the rawe flesh departe agayne & chasge vnto whyte/ then let hym come to the Priest/ & let the Priest se hym: If the soze be chaunged vnto whyte/ let the Priest iudge the disease cleane/ and then he is cleane.

When there is a byle in the skynne of any mans flesh & is healed & after in the place of the byle there appeare a whyte rising ether a chynnyng whyte somewhat redy/ let hym be sene of the Priest. If when the Priest seyth hym it appeare lower then the other skynne & the hayre thereof be chaunged vnto white/ let the Priest iudge hym vnclene: for it is a bery leprosy/ that is broken out in the place of the byle. But yf when the Priest lokeith on it there be no whyte hayres therein neither the scabbe lower then the other skynne & be somewhat blackish/ then the Priest shall shut hym aparte. .viij. dayes. If it sprede abrode in the meane ceason/ then let the Priest iudge hym vnclene: for it is a leprosy. But yf the gylt whyte abyde still in one place & go no further/ then it is but the printe of the byle/ & the Priest shall iudge hym cleane. When the skynne of any mans flesh is burne with a. Arbe/ Selaam Hargol/ Hagab are kyndes of beastes that crepe or scrawl on the grounde which the he- bryes them sel- nics do not now a dayes know.

The leprosy is a rising proper to mannes doctine/ whyche spreadeth a- rounde lyke a cancer: & to be kept all infecti- on of vngod- lynes/ therefore it is called a curse. As gene dyly- ent hebe ther- fore: for a lytell leuen soureth the whole loun- of dough.

b. Couered all his flesh. & c. Here is that cal- led a leper which yet is none in dede but semyth to be one: where as the rottenesse of humours belyng forth into the better partes all the body power/ is cal- led a leper/ and yet must it be iudged to be cleane.

with fyre that it be rawe & there appere in it burnyng a glysterng whyte that is somewhat redyly or altogether whyte / let the Preatt loke vpon it. If the hayre in that byghnesse be chaunged to whyte / and it also appeare lower then the other skynne / then it is a leprosy that is broken out of the place of the burnyng. And the Preatt shall iudge him bncleane / for it is a leprosy. But and yf (when the Preatt loketh on it) he se that there is no whyte hayre in the byghnesse / & it is no lower then the other skynne / & that it is also blackesh / then let the Preatt shut him vp seuen dayes. And yf (when the Preatt loketh on him the seuenth daye) it be growen abrode in the skynne / let hym iudge hym bncleane: for it is a leprosy. But & yf that byghnesse abyde still in one place & go no further in the skynne & be blackesh / then it is but a rpyng in the place of the burnyng / and the Preatt shall make hym cleane: for it is but the prynte of the burnyng only.

¶ When ether man or woman hath a breakyng out vpon the heed or the berde / let the Preatt se it. And yf it appeare lower than the other skynne / & ther be therin golden hayres & thyn / let the Preatt iudge hym bncleane: for it is a breakyng out of leprosy vpon the heed or berde. If (when the Preatt loketh on the breakyng out) he se that it is no lower then the other skynne & there are blacke hayres therin / let hym shut hym vp. viij. dayes. And let the Preatt loke on the dyscase the. viij. dayes: & yf the breakyng out be gone no further ne-ther be any golden hayres therin ne-ther the scabbe be lower then the other skynne / then let him be shauen / but lett him not shau the scabbe: & let the Preatt shut him vp. viij. dayes moo. And let the Preatt loke on the breakyng out the. viij. daye agayne: If the breakyng out be gone no further in the skynne noz moare lower then the other skynne / then let the Preatt iudge hym cleane / and let hym washe his clothes / & then he is cleane. If the breakyng out growe in the skynne after that he is once iudged cleane / let the Preatt see him. If it be growne abrode in dede in the skynne / let the Preatt seke no further for any golde hayres / for he is bncleane. But and yf he se that the scabbe stande still / & there is blacke hayre growne by therin / then the scabbe is healed & he is cleane: & the Preatt shall iudge hym cleane. If there be founde in the skynne of the flesh of man or woman a glysterng whyte / let the Preatt se it. If there appeare in their flesh a glysterng whyte somewhat blackesh / then it is but freckels growe by in the skynne: and he is cleane.

in his foreheede / then he is foreheebalde & cleane. If there be in the baulde heed or baulde foreheede a redyly white scabbe / then there is leprosy spronge by in the baulde heed or baulde foreheede. And let the Preatt se it: and yf the rpyng of the fore be redyly whyte in his baulde heed or foreheede after the maner of a leprosy in the skynne of the flesh / then he is a leper & bncleane: & the Preatt shall iudge him bncleane / for the plage of his heed. And the leper in whome the plage is / shall haue his clothes ret & his heede bare & his mouth moffeld / & shall be called bncleane. And as long as the dyscase lasteth vpon him / he shall be bncleane: for he is bncleane / and shall therfoze dwell alone / & euē without the hoste shall his habitacon be.

¶ When the plage of leprosy is in a cloth: whether it be lynn or wollen / ye & whether it be in the warpe or wolfe of the lynn or of the wollen: ether in a skynne or any thing made of skynne / yf the dyscase be pale or somewhat redyly in the cloth or skynne: whether it be in the warpe or wolfe or any thyng & is made of skynne / then it is a very leprosy / & must be shewed vnto the Preatt. And when the Preatt seyth the plage / let him shut it vp. viij. dayes: & let hym loke on the plage the. viij. dayes. If it be increased in the cloth: whether it be in the warpe or wolfe or in a skynne or in any thinge that is made of skynne / then the plage is a creating leprosy / & it is bncleane: & that cloth shall be burnt / ether warpe or wolfe / whether it be wollen or lynn or any thyng that is made of skynne where in the plage is / for it is a creating leprosy / & shall be burnt in the fyre.

¶ If the Preatt se the plage hath creat no further in the cloth: ether in the warpe or wolfe or in whatsoeuer thyng of skynne it be / then let the Preatt comaunde the to washe the thyng wherein the plage is / & let hym shut it vp. viij. dayes moo. And let the Preatt loke on it agayne after the plage is washed. If the plage haue not chaunged his facion though it be lynn or further abrode / it is yet bncleane. And se the byrne it in the fyre / for it is creat inward: whether in parte or in all together. But & yf the Preatt se it is somewhat blackysh after that it is washed / let him ret it out of the cloth / or out of the skynne or out of the warpe or wolfe. But & yf it appeare any moare in the cloth ether in the warpe or in the wolfe or in any thyng made of skynne / then it is a waringe plage. And se the byrne that it fyre / wherein the plage is. Mozeouer the cloth ether warpe or wolfe or whatsoeuer thing of skynne it be which thou hast washed & the plage be departed fro it / shall be washed once agayne: & then it is cleane. This is the lawe of the plage of leprosy in a cloth whether it be wollen or lynn: ether whether whether it be in the warpe or wolfe / or in any thyng made of skynnes / to iudge it cleane or bncleane.

naam which I geue you to possesse: yf I put the plague of leprosy in any house of plande of youre possession / let hym that oweth the house go & tell the preast saying: methynke that there is as it were a leprosy in y^e house. And the preast shall comaunde them to ryd all thyng out of the house/before the preast goo in to se the plague: that he make not all that is in the house vnclene / and then the preast shall go in & se the house.

b. The leprosy of the howles is any thyng ther to pertaynyng/whereby the dweller might take harme in helth of bodye in hurtyng of hys goodes or otherwyse as yf it stode an an euil appt.

If the preast se that the plague is in y^e walles of the house/ & that there be holowe strakes pale or redde which seme to be lower then y^e other partes of the wall/ then let the preast go out at the house doores/ & shut by y^e house for viij. dayes. And let y^e preast come agayne the seuenth daye & se it: yf the plague be increased in the walles of the house/let the preast comaunde them to take awaye the stones in which the plague is/ and let them cast them in a foule place without the cite/ & scrape the house within rounde about: & poure out the dust without the ctyte in a foule place. And let them take other stones/ & put them in the places of those stones/ and other morter/ and plaster the house with all. If now the plague come agayne & breake out in y^e house/ after that they haue take awaye the stones & scraped the house/ & after that the house is plastered anewe: let the preast come & se it. And yf then he perceaue that the plague hath eat further in the house/ then it is a fretyng leprosy that is in the house/ & it is vnclene. Then they shall breake doune y^e house: both stones/ tymber & all the morter of the house/ & carpe it out of the cite vnto a foule place. Whereouer he that goeth in to the house all the whyle that it is shut by/ shall be vnclene vntill nyght. And he that slepeth in the house shall washe his clothes/ & he also that eateth in the house shall washe his clothes.

But and yf the preast come & se that the plague hath spreade no further in the house after y^e it is new plastered/ then let him make it cleane/ for the plague is healed. And let hym take to clense the house with all: two byrdes cedar wodd/ & purple clothe & ylope. And let hym kyll one of the byrdes in an erthe vessel with runnyng water: & take the cedar wodd/ the ylope/ the purple & the luyng byrde/ and dyppe them in the bloude of the slayne byrde & in the runnyng water/ & spynkle vpon the house seven tymes/ & clense the house with the bloud of the byrde & with y^e runnyng water/ & with the luyng byrd/ & with the cedar wodd/ and the ylope/ and the purple clothe. And he shall lett the luyng byrde flee oute of the towne in to the wyldesfelds/ & so make an attonement for the house/ and it shall be cleane. This is the lawe of all maner plague

And he that toucheth hys flesch shall wash his clothes/ and bathe hym selfe in water/ & be vnclene vnto the euen. If any soche syt vpon hym that is cleane/ he must wash his clothes/ and bathe hym selfe in water/ and be vnclene vntill euen. And what soeuer shall that he rydeth vpon/ shall be vnclene. And whosoever toucheth any thyng y^e vnder hym/ shall be vnclene vnto the euen. And he that beareth any soche thynges shall wash his clothes/ and bathe hym selfe in water & be vnclene vnto the euen/ and whosoever he toucheth/ yf he haue not fyrst washed his handes in water/ must wash his clothes & bathe hym selfe in water/ and be vnclene vnto the euenyng. * And yf he touche a vessel of erth it shall be broken: and all vessels of wodd shall be ryned in water.

And the viij. daye let hym take two turtill doves or two yonge pygeons/ & come before the Lorde vnto the doze of the tabernacle of wytnesse/ & geue them vnto the preast. And yf a woman lye wyth soche a one/ they shall wash them selues wyth water & be vnclene vntill euen.

When a womans naturall course of bloud runneth/ she shall be put aparte. viij. dayes: & whosoever toucheth her shall be vnclene vnto the euen. And all y^e she lyeth or sytteth vpon as longe as she is put a parte shall be vnclene. And whosoever toucheth her couche shall wash his clothes & bathe hym selfe in water & be vnclene vnto the eue. And whosoever toucheth any thyng that she sat vpon/ shall wash his clothes/ & washe hym selfe also in water/ & be vnclene vnto the eue: so that whether he touch her couche or any thyng wheron she hath syt/ he shall be vnclene vnto the euen/ and yf a man lye with her in the meane tyme/ he shall be put aparte was well as she & shall be vnclene. viij. dayes/ & all his couche wherin he slepeth shall be vnclene.

When a womans bloude runneth longe tyme: out of the tyme of her naturall courie: as longe as her vnclennesse runneth/ she shall be vnclene after the maner as when she is put a parte. All her couches wher she lyeth as longe as her yssue lasteth/ shall be vnto her as her couche when she is put a parte. And whatsoever she sytteth vpon/ shall be vnclene as is her vnclennesse wher she is put a parte. And whosoever toucheth them/ shall be vnclene/ & shall wash his clothes and bathe hym selfe in water & be vnclene vnto euen. But yf she be cleane of hir yssue/ lett her cosse her seven dayes/ after y^e she is cleane. And the viij. daye let her take two turtills or two yonge pigeons & bryng them vnto the preast vnto the doze of y^e tabernacle of wytnesse. And the preast shall offer the one for a synne offryng/ and the other for a burnt offryng: and so make an attonement for her before the Lorde/ as concernyng her vnclene yssue. * Make the chyldre of y^e israel to kepe them selues from their vnclennesse/ that they dye not in their vnclennesse: when they haue defiled my habytacion that is amonge them.

This is the lawe of hym y^e hath a runnyng soze/ & of hym whose seed runneth fro him in his slepe & is defyled therwith/ and of her that hath an yssue of bloude as longe as she is put a parte/ and of whosoever hath a runnyng soze whether it be ma or woman/ and of hym that slepeth wyth her that is vnclene.

What Aaron must do or he enter into the holy place the cleansyng of the sanctuary or holy place. Of the feaste of cleansyng. Aaron cosseth the synnes of the chyldren of y^e israel ouer the lye gootes & putteth the vpon hys heed.

The xvi. Chapter.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses after y^e deeth of y^e two sonnes of Aaron/ when they had offered before the Lorde & dyed: And he sayd vnto Moyses: speake vnto Aaron thy brother y^e he go not at all tymes in to the holy place/ that is within the bayle that hangeth before the mercyseate which is vpon y^e arche y^e he dye not. For I wyll appeare in a clowde vpon the mercyseate.

By the clowd vnderstode the smoke of the cense.

But of this maner shall Aaron goo in to the holy place: with a bullock for a synne offryng/ & a ram for a burnt offryng. And he shall put the holy linnen albe vpon hym/ and shall haue a linnen byche vpon his flesch/ and shall gyrd him wyth a lynn gyrdell/ and put the linnen mytre vpon his heede: for they are holy raymentes. And he shall washe his flesch with water/ and put them on. And he shall take of the multitude of the chyldre of y^e israel two he gootes for a synne offryng and a ram for a burnt offryng.

And Aaron shall offer the bullock for hys synne offryng & make an attonement for hym and for his house. And he shall take the two gootes & present the before the Lorde in the doze of the tabernacle of wytnesse. And Aaron shall cast lottys ouer the. iij. gootes: one lotte for the Lorde/ & another for a scapegoote. And Aaron shall bryng the goote vpon which the Lorde lott fell/ & offer him for a synne offryng. But the goote on which the lotte fell to scape/ he shall lett alyue before y^e Lorde to reconcyle with & to lett him goo fre in to the wyldernesse. And Aaron shall bryng the bullock of his synne offryng/ & recocyle for hym selfe and for his house/ and kyll him.

And then he shall take a censer full of burning coles out of the alter that is before the Lorde/ and his handfull of swete cense beten small & bryng them within the bayle & put the cense vpon the fire before the Lorde: that the clowde of the cense maye couer the mercyseate that is vpon the wytnesse/ that he dye not. * And he shall take of the bloude of the bullock & spynkle it with his synger before the mercyseate eastwarde: euen. viij. tymes.

Then shall he kyll the goote that is the peoples synne offryng/ & bryng his bloude within the bayle/ and doo wyth hys bloude as he dyd with the bloude of the bullock/ and lett him spynkle it toward the mercyseate/ and before the mercyseate: and reconcyle the holy place from the vnclennesse of the chyldren of y^e israel/ and from their trespasses & all their synnes. And so let hym doo also vnto the tabernacle of wytnesse that dwelleth in them/ euen amonge their vnclenneses.

atonement in the holy place / vntill he come out agayn. And he shall make an atonement for him selfe and for his household / & for all the multitude of Israel. Then he shall go out vnto the altar that standeth before the Lozde / and reconyle it / and shall take of the bloude of the bullock & of the bloude of the goote / & put it vpon the hornes of the altare rounde aboute / and sprynkle of the bloude vpon it with his synger seven tymes / and clesse it / & halowe it from the vncleenneses of the chyldren of Israel.

¶ And when he hath made an ende of reconylyng the holy place & the tabernacle of witness & the altar / let him brynge & lyeue goote and let Aaron put both his handes vpon the heede of the lyeue goote / & confesse ouer hym all the mysdoes of the chyldren of Israel / and their trespasses / and all their synnes: and let him put them vpon the heede of the goote & sende him awaye by the handes of one that is acounted in the wilderness. And the goote shall bere vpon hym all their mysdoes vnto the wilderness / and he shall let the goote goo fre in the wilderness.

And let Aaron goo into the tabernacle of witness & put of the linnen clothes which he put on when he went in into the holy place / & leaue them there. And lett hym washe his flesch with water in the holy place / & put on his owne rayment / & then come out and offer his burnt offeringe and the burnt offeringe of the people / and make an atonement for him selfe and for the people / & the fatt of the syn-offeringe let him burne vpon the altar. And let him & carpe forth & scapegoote / washe his clothes and bathe his flesch in water / & then come in to the holte agayne.

And the bullock of the synofferinge & the goote of the synofferinge / whose bloude was brought in to make an atonement in the holy place / let one carpe out without the holte & burne wyth fyre: both their skynnes / their flesch and their donge. And let him & burneth them / washe his clothes and bathe his flesch in water / & then come in to the holte agayne. And this shall be an ordynance for euer vnto you. And euē in the tenth daye of the seventh moneth / ye shall * humble youre soules and shall do no worke at all: whether it be one of youre selues or a straunger that sojourneth amonge you / for & daye shall an atonement be made for you to clesse you from all youre synnes before the Lozde / & ye shall be cleane. ¶ It shall be a Sabbath of rest vnto you / and ye shall humble youre soules / and it shall be an ordynance for euer.

And the preast that is anoynted & whose hande was fylled to mynstre in his fathers steade / shall make the atonement & shall put on the holy linnen clothes & holy bestimētes / and reconyle the holy sanctuary and the tabernacle of witness & the altar / & shall make an atonement also for the preastes & for all the people of the congregaciō. And this shall be an * euerlastinge ordynance vnto you to make an atonement for the chyldren of Israel for all their synnes once a yere: & it was done euen as the Lozde commaunded Moyses.

¶ All sacrifice must be brought to the doze of the tabernacle. To deuils may they not offer. Bloude and all haren is forbydden them.

The .xvii. Chapter.

¶ And the Lozde talked with Moyses sayinge: speake vnto Aaron & vnto his sonnes and vnto all the chyldren of Israel and saye vnto them / this is the thyng which & Lozde charged sayinge: whatsoeuer he be of the house of Israel that killeth an oxe / lābe or goote in the holte or out of the holte and bryngeth them not vnto the doze of the tabernacle of witness / to offer an offeringe vnto the Lozde before the dwellinge place of the Lozde / bloude shall be imputed vnto that man / as though he had shed bloude / and that man shall perishe from amonge his people.

Wherfore let the chyldren of Israel brynge their offeringes & they offer in the wyde feld / vnto the Lozde: euen vnto the doze of the tabernacle of witness and vnto the preast / & offer them for the peaceofferinges vnto the Lozde. And the preast shall sprynkle & bloude vpon the altar of the Lozde in the doze of the tabernacle of witness / and burne the fatt to be a swete sauoure vnto the Lozde. And lett them no moare * offer their offeringes vnto deuils / after whom they go an whoorynge. And this shall be an ordynance for euer vnto you thorow out youre generacions.

And thou shalt saye vnto them: whatsoeuer man it be of the house of Israel or of the straungers that sojourn amonge you / that offereth a burnt offeringe or any other offeringe and bryngeth it not vnto the doze of the tabernacle of witness to offer vnto the Lozde / that felow shall perishe fro amonge his people. And whatsoeuer man it be of the house of Israel or of the straungers that sojourn amonge you that * eateth any maner of bloude / I will sett my face agaynst that soule that eateth bloude / & I will destroye him from amonge his people / for the lyfe of the flesch is in the bloude / and I haue geue it vnto you vpon the altar / to make an atonement for youre soules / for bloude shall make an atonement for the soule. And therfore I saye vnto the chyldren of Israel: se that no soule of you eate bloude / nor yet any straunger that sojourneth amonge you.

whatsoeuer man it be of the chyldren of Israel or of the straungers that sojourn amonge you & hunteth & catcheth any beast or foule & maye be eatē / he shall poure out the bloude & couer it with erthe / for the lyfe of all flesch is in the bloude / therfore I saye vnto the chyldren of Israel: ye shall eate the bloude of no maner of flesch / for the lyfe of all flesch is in his bloude / and whosoever therfore eateth it shall perishe. And whatsoeuer soule it be & eateth that which dyed alone or & whych was tozue with wyld beasts: whether it be one of youre selues or a straunger / he shall washe his clothes & bathe him selfe in water / & shall be vncleane vnto the euen / & then is he cleane. But and yf he washe them not nor washe his flesch he shall beare his synne.

The .xviii. Chapter.

¶ And the Lozde talked with Moyses sayinge: speake vnto the chyldren of Israel / & saye vnto them / I am the Lozde youre God. Wherfore after the doynges of the lande of Egypte wherin yedwelt / se that yedob not: neither after the doynges of the lande of Canaan / whether I will brynge you / neither walke ye in their ordynances: but do after my iudgements / & kepe myne ordynances / to walke therein: for I am the Lozde youre God. Kepe therfore myne ordynances / and my iudgements whiche yf a man doo he shall lyeue therby: for I am the Lozde.

¶ Se that ye go to none of youre nyghest kynred for to vncouer their secrettes / for I am the Lozde. The secrettes of thy father & thy mother / se thou vnhyll not: he is thy mother / therfore shalt thou not discouer her secrettes. The secrettes of thy fathers wyfe shalt thou not discouer / for they are thy fathers secrettes. Thou shalt not discouer & pryuite of thy syster / & daughter of thy father or of thy mother: whether she be bozne at home or without. Thou shalt not vncouer the secrettes of thy sonnes daughter or thy daughters daughter / for & is thine awne pryuite: Thou shalt not vncouer the secrettes of thy fathers wyues daughter / which she bare to thy father / for she is thy syster: thou shalt therfore not discouer her secrettes. Thou shalt not vncouer the secrettes of thy fathers syster / for she is thy fathers nexte kynswoman. Thou shalt not discouer the secrettes of thy mothers syster / for she is thy mothers nexte kynswoman.

ter in lawe she is thy sonnes wyfe: therfore vncouer nother secrettes. Thou shalt not vnhyll the secrettes of thy brothers wyfe / for that is thy brothers pryuite. Thou shalt not discouer the pryuites of the wyfe & her daughter also / neither shalt thou take her sonnes daughter or her daughters daughter to vncouer their secrettes / they are her nexte kyn / it were therfore wikkednesse. Thou shalt not take a wyfe & her syster thereto / to bere her & thou woldest open her secrettes as lōge as she lyueth. Thou shalt not go vnto a woman to vncouer her pryuitie as lōge as she is put a parte for her vncleennesse. ¶ Thou shalt not lye wth thy neyghbours wyfe / to defyle thy selfe wth her. Thou shalt not geue of thy seed to offer it vnto Moloch / & thou shalt not & name of thy god / for I am & Lozde. ¶ Thou shalt not lye wth maynde as wth womankynde / for & is abominacion. Thou shalt lye wth no maner of beste to defyle thy selfe therwith / neither shall any woman stode before a beste to lye doune thereto / for that is abhominacion.

¶ Defile not youre selues in any of these thinges / for wth all these thinges are these nations defiled whiche I cast out before you: & the lāde is defiled / & I will visett the wikkednesse therof vpon it / & the lande shall spewe out her inhabitants. * Kepe ye therfore myne ordynances & iudgements / & se that ye comytt none of these abominacions: neither any of you nor any straunger that sojourneth amonge you / for all these abhominacions haue the men of the lande done whiche were there before you / & the land is defyled / lest that the lande spewe you out whē ye haue defiled it / as it spewed out the naciōs that were there before you. For whosoever shall comytt any of these abhominacions / the same soules that comytt the shall perishe from amonge their people. Therfore se that ye kepe myne ordynances / that ye comytt none of these abhominable customes whiche were comytted before you: that ye defile not youre selues therwith for I am the Lozde youre God.

¶ A repetycion of certayne lawes pertaining to the 7. commandmentes. A consyderacion for the poore how we ought to iudge ryghteously how we ought not to be auenged. Whychcraft is forbydden.

Kepe myne ordinaunces. *Let none of thy catell gebyre in a contrary kinde/ nether sowe put on any garment of linnen and wollen.

If a man haue to doo with a woman that is bonde and hath bene medled with all of it: but they shall not dye/ because he was not made fre. And he shall bynne for his tresdoze of the tabernacle of witness. A ram for a trespass offerynge. And & preast shall make an attonement for hym in the ram of the tres-passe offerynge before the Lord/ for his synne which he hath done: & it shall be for geue him/as concerninge the synne which he hath done.

And when ye come to the lande and haue plated al maner of trees where of men eat/the fourth yere all & frute of the shall be holy & acceptable to the Lord. And the fifth yere maye ye eat of the frute of the/ & gether in the increase of them: I am the Lord your God. *Ye shall eat no wythcraste/ nor obserue dis-your heedes/ nether shalt thou marre the tust of thy beerde. *Ye shall not ree: your markes vpon you: I am the Lord. Thou shalt not pollute thy daughter/ that thou woldest mayntene her to be an whoore: lest the lande fall to whooredome/ and ware full of wickednesse. Se & ye kepe my Sabbothes & feare to them that worke with spytes/ nether re-garde the that obserue dysmall dayes: that ye be not defyled by them/ for I am the Lord your God.

Thou shalt rype by before the whooredome/lande of Egypt. I am the Lord your God.

Ye shall doo no vnryghteousnes in iudge-ment nether in meteure/ weyght or mea-weyght/ & true epha & a true hin. I am the Lord your God which broughte you out of the land of Egypt/ that ye shulde obserue all myne ordinaunces and iudgements and that ye shulde kepe them: I am the Lord.

They that geue of their seede to Moloch shall dye

The xx. Chapter.
And the Lord talked with Moyses sayinge: tell the chyldre of Israel/whosoever he be of the chyldre of Israel/ that geueth of his seed vnto a wholoche he shall dye for it: the people of the land shall stone him with stones. And I will sett my face vpon that felowe/ and will destroye him fro amonge his people: because he hath geuen of his seed vnto Moloch/ for to defyle my sanctuary and to polute my holy name.
And though that the people of the land hyde their eyes from that felowe/ whē he geueth of his seed vnto Moloch/ so that they kyll him not: yet I will put my face vpon & man and vpon his generation/ and will destroye him

him and all that goo a whooryng with hym and commytt whooredome with Moloch from amonge their people.
If any soule turne him to enchafters or expounders of tokens and goo a whoorynge after the/ I will put my face vpon that soule & will destroye him fro amonge hys people.
Sanctifye youre selues therfore & be holye for I am the Lord your God. And se that ye kepe myne ordinaunces and doo them. For I am the Lord which sanctifye you.
Whosoever curseth his father or mother/shall dye for it his bloud on his head/ because he hath curseth his father or mother. *He that breaketh wedlocke with another mans wyfe shall dye for it/ because he hath broke wedlocke with his neyghbours wyfe/ and so shall the lyke wise. *If a man lye with his fathers wyfe & vncouer his fathers secrette/they shall both dye for it/ their bloude be vpon their heedes. *If a mā lye with his daughter in lawe they shall dye both of the: they haue brought abhominacion/ their bloud vpon their heedes. *If a man lye with mannynde after & maner as a woman kynde/ they haue both commytted an abhominacion & shall dye for it. Their bloude be vpon their heedes.
*If a mā take a wyfe & her mother ther-to/ it is wickednesse. When shall burne with fyre both him and them/ that there be no wickednesse amonge you. *If a man lye with a beast he shall dye/ and ye shall slea the beast.
*If a woman go vnto a beast & lye doune thereto: thou shalt kyll the woman and the beast also/ they shall dye/ and their bloude be vpon their heedes. *If a man take his syt-ter his fathers daughter or his mothers daughter/ & se her secrettes/ and she se his secrettes also: it is a wicked thyng. Therfore lett the peryth in the syghte of their people/ he hath sene his sytters secrettes/ he shall therfore beare his synne. *If a man lye with a woman in tyme of her naturall dyscase and vncouer her secrettes and open her fountayne/ & she also open the fountayne of her bloude/ they shall both perishe from amonge the people.
*Thou shalt not vncouer the secrettes of thy mothers sytter nor of thy fathers sytter/for he & doth so/ vncouereh hys netre kyn:
and they shall beare their myddorynge.
*If a mā lye with his vnclis wyfe/ he hath vncouered his vnclis secrettes: they shall beare their synne/ and shall dye chyldelesse.
*If a mā take his brothers wyfe/ it is an vnclane thyng/ he hath vncouered his brothers secrette/ they shall be chyldelesse therfore.
*Se that ye kepe therfore all myne or-dinaunces and all my iudgements/ and that ye doo them: that the land whether I bringe you to dwell therein/ spewe you not out. And se that ye walke not in the maners of the na-cyos whiche I cast oute before you: for they commytted all these thynges/ & I abhorred the.

But I haue sayde vnto you that ye shall enioye their lande/ & that I will geue it vnto you to possesse it: eue a lande that floweth with mylke and honye. I am the Lord your God/ whiche haue separated you from other nacions: *that ye shulde put difference be-twene cleane bestes and vncleane/ and be-twene vncleane soules and them that are cleane. Make not youre soules therfore abhominable with bestes and soules/ & with all maner thynges & creepeth vpon the grounde/whiche I haue separated vnto you to holde them vncleane. Be holy vnto me/ for I the Lord am holy and haue seuered you from other nacions: that ye shulde be myne.
*If there be a mā or womā that woorthely with a spyte or & expoundeth tokens they shall dye for it. When shall stone them with stones/ & their bloude shall be vpon them.
The preast is for byddē to be at the death of any of his people/ a fewe of his kynne except. Preastes may not be shauē nether on the head nor yet of the bearde.
The preastes wyfe must be a mayde. The preastes daughter may not be an harlott.
The xxi. Chapter.
And the Lord sayde vnto Moyses: speake vnto the preastes & sonnes of Aaron and saye vnto them. A preast shall defile him selfe at the death of none of his people/ but vpon his kyn is nye vnto him: as his mother/ father/ sonne daughter & brother: & on his sytter as longe as he is a mayde & dwelleth nye him & was neuer geuen to man: on her he maye defyle him selfe. But he shall not make hym selfe vnclane vpon a ruelar of his people to polute him selfe with all.
They shall make them no baldnesse vpon their heedes or shawe of the lockes of their beardes/ nor make any markes in their flesh they shall be holy vnto their God/ and not polute the name of their God/ for the sacrifices of the Lord and the bread of their they do offer: therfore they must be holy.
They shall take no wyfe & is an whoore or poluted/ or put from her husbāde: for a preast is holy vnto his God. Sanctifie him therfore/ for he offereth by the bread of God:
he shall therfore/ be holy vnto the/ for I the Lord whiche sanctifye you/ am holy.
*If a preastes daughter fail to playe the whoore/ she poluteth her father: therfore she shall be burnt with fyre.
He & is the hye preast amōge his brethren vpon whose head the anoyntynge oyle was poured & whose hande was fylled to put on the vestimentes/ shall not vncouer his head no: rent his clothes / nether shall goo to any deed body no: make hym selfe vnclane: no not on his father o: mother / nether shall go out of the sanctuarie / that he polute not the holy place of his God / for the croune of the anoyntinge oyle of God is vpon him. I am the Lorde. * He shall take a mayde vnto his wyfe: but no wedowe no: deuoried no: polluted whoor. But he shall take a mayde of his awne people to wyfe / that he desyle not his seed vpon his people: for I am the Lorde which sanctifye him.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses sayinge / speke vnto Aaron and saye: No man of thy seed in their generacions that hath any deformyte vpon hym / shall p:ace for to offer the b:ed of his God: for none that hath any blemish shall come nere: whether he be blinde / lame / stot nosed / o: that hath any myshapē mēbze / o: b:oken foted / o: b:oken handed / o: croke backed / o: perleyed / o: gogeleped / o: masige / o: skaulde / o: hath hys stonē b:oken.

No man þ is deformed of the seed of Aarō the p:est / shall come nye to offer the sacrificies of the Lorde. If he haue a deformyte / he shall not p:ace to offer the b:ed of his God. Notwithstandynge he shall eate of the b:ed of his God: euen as well of the most holy / as of the holy: but shall not goo in vnto þ bayle no: come nye the alter / because he is deformed that he polute not my sanctuary / for I am the Lorde that sanctifie them. And Moyses tolde it vnto Aaron and to his sonnes / & vnto all the Chyldren of Israel.

What maner persones ought to abstayne from eatynge the thynges that were offered. How / what / & when they shulde be offered.

The .xxij. Chapter.

And the Lorde comened with Moyses sayinge: byd Aarō & his sonnes that they absteyne from the halowed thynges of the chylde of Israel which they haue halowed vnto me / that they polute not my holy name: for I am the Lorde. Saye vnto them: whosoever he be of all youre seed amōge youre generacio after you / þ goeth vnto the halowed thynges which the chylde of Israel shall haue halowed vnto the Lorde / hys vnclennes shall be vpon hym: and that soule shall peryshe from out of my syght. I am the Lorde.

None of the seed of Aarō that is a leper o: that hath a runnyng soze / shall eate of the halowed thynges vntill he be cleane. And whosoever toucheth any vnclane soule o: man whose seed runneth from him by nyghte / o: whosoever toucheth any woyme that is vnclane to hym / o: man þ is vnclane to hym / whatsoeuer vnclennesse he hath: the same soule that hath any soch thyng / shall be vncleane vntill euen / and shall not eate of the halowed thynges vntill he haue washed his flesh with water. And then when the sonne is downe he shall be cleane & shall afterward eate of the halowed thynges: for they are hys fode. * Of a beest þ dieth alone o: is rent w wyld beasts / he shall not eate / to desyle hym selfe therewith: I am the Lorde. But let them kepe therfore myne ordynauce / lest they lade synne vpon them & dpe therein whē they haue desyled them selues: for I am the Lorde which sanctifye them.

There shall no straunger eate of the halowed thynges / nether a gest of the p:restes / o: an hyred seruaunte. But yf the p:est bpe any soule with money he maye eate of it / & he also that is bozne in his house maye eate of his b:ed. If the p:restes daughter be married vnto a straunger / she maye not eate of the halowed heueroffrynges. Notwithstandynge yf the p:restes daughter be a wedowe o: deuoried & haue no childe but is returned vnto her fathers house agayne / she shall eate of her fathers b:ed as well as she dyd in her youth. But there shall no straunger eate therof. If a man eate of the halowed thynges vntwittingly / he shall put þ fyfte parte ther vnto / & make good vnto the p:est the halowed thyng. And let the p:restes se / þ they desyle not the halowed thynges of the chyl- dzen of Israel which they haue offered vnto the Lorde / lest they lade the selues with mys- doyng & trespace in eatynge their halowed thynges / for I am the Lorde which halowe the.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses sayinge: speake vnto Aarō & hys sonnes & vnto all the chyliden of Israel & saye vnto the / what- soeuer he be of the house of Israel o: stran- ger in Israel that wyll offer his offerynge: whatsoeuer bowe o: frewyllofferynge it be which they wyll offer vnto the Lorde for a burnt offerynge to reconyle them selues / it must be a male without blemish of þ oren / shepe o: gootes / let the offer nothyng that is deformed for they shall gett no sauoure therwith.

If a mā will offer a peaceoffring vnto the Lorde and separate a bowe o: a frewyllofferynge of the oren o: the flocke / it must be without deformyte / þ it maye be accepted. There maye be no blemish therein: whether it be blinde / b:oken / wounded o: haue a wen / o: be maunge o: scabbed / se that ye offre no soch vnto the Lorde / no: put an offerynge of any soch vpon the alter vnto the Lorde.

An ore o: a shepe that hath any membre out of p:oporciō / mayst thou offer for a fre- wyllofferynge: but in a bowe it shall not be accepted. Thou shalt not offer vnto þ Lorde that which is b:rooked broken / plucked out o: cutt

For they marre all in þ they haue deformed in them / & therfore can not be accepted for you. And þ Lorde spake vnto Moyses sayinge: when an ore / a shepe o: a goote is brought forth / it shall be seuen dayes vnder þ dame. And fro the viij. daye forth / it shall be accepted vnto a gyfte in the sacrificy of the Lorde. And whether it be ore o: shepe / ye shall not kyll it & her yōge both in one daye. When ye wyll offre a thankofferyng vnto the Lorde / ye shall so offre it that ye maye be accepted. And the same daye it must be eaten bp / so þ ye leaue none of it vntill the morow. For I am the Lorde / kepe now my commandementes & do the / for I am the Lorde. And polute not my holy name / that I maye be halowed amonge the chyliden of Israel. For I am the Lorde which halowe you / and brought you out of the lande of Egypt / to be youre God: for I am the Lorde.

Accordyng vnto the multitude of yeres / thou shalt encrease the pryce therof and acordyng to the fewnesse of yeres / thou shalt mynysh the pryce: for the nombze of frute he shall sell vnto the. And se that no man oppresse his neyghboure / but feare the the chosen that be admytted in to lybertye fro all wretchednes / pouertye / oppression / when all shalbe fully restored agayne in Christ / that synne of the fyfth man was taken awaye.

God. For I am the Lord your God. Whē the chosen shalwe do after myne ordinaunces and kepe my lawes and do them / that ye maye dwell in the land in safetie. And the lade shall geue her frute / and ye shall eate your fille and dwell therein in safetie.

If ye shal saye / what shall we eate the seventh yere in as moche as we shall not sowe / nor gether in oure encrease. I wyll sende my blessinge vpon you in the fyfthe yere / and it shall brynge forth frute for thre yeres: and ye shall sowe the eynchte yere and eate of olde frute vntill the .ix. yere / and euen vntill her frute come / ye shall eate of old store / whē the lande shall not be solde for euer / because that the lande is myne / & ye but strangers and sojourners with me: and ye shall thorowe oute all the land of your possession / let the lande go home fre agayne.

When thy brother is waxed pooze and hath solde awaye of his possession: yf any of his kyn come to redeme it / he shall bye out of whiche his brother sold. And though he haue no man to redeme it for him / yet yf hys hand can get sufficent to bye it oute agayne / then let hym counte how longe it hath be solde / and deliuer the rest vnto hym to whome he solde it / & so he shall retourne vnto hys possession agayne. But an yf his hande can not gett sufficent to restore it to hym agayne / then the whiche is solde shall remayne in the hand of him that hath boughte it / vntill the iudicelie: and in the yere of iudicelie it shall come out / & he shall retourne vnto his possession agayne.

If a mā sell a dwelling house in a walled cite / he maye bye it out agayne any tyme within a hole yere after it is solde: and that shall be the space in which he maye redeme it agayne. But yf it be not bought out agayne within the space of a full yere / then the house in the walled cite shall be stablished for euer vnto him that boughte it and to his successors after him and shall not go out in the yere of iudicelie. But the houses in byllages which haue no walles rounde aboute them / shall be counted lyke vnto the felde of the countre / & maye be boughte out agayne at any ceason / and shall go out fre in the yere of iudicelie.

Notwithstandyng the cyties of the leuytes and the houses in the cyties of their possession the leuytes maye redeme at all ceasons. And yf a mā purchase ought of the Leuites: whether it be house or cytye & they possesse the baryne shall go out in the yere of iudicelie for the houses of the cyties of the leuytes / are their possessions amonge the chyldre of Israel. But the felde that lye rounde aboute the cyties / shall not be bought: for they they are their possessions for ever.

If thy brother be waxed poore and falle in decaye to the / receaue him as a stranger or a sojourner / & let him lyue by the. * And thou shalt take none vsurye of hym / nor yet banage. But shalt feare thy God / that thy brother maye lyue by the. Thou shalt not lende him thy money vpon vsurye / nor lende hym of thy fode to haue auantage by it: for I am the Lorde your God which broughte you out of the lande of Egypte / to geue you the lande of Canaan and to be your God.

If thy brother that dwelleth by the waie poore and sell him selfe vnto the / thou shalt not let him labour as a bondseruaute doeth: but as an hyred seruaute and as a sojourner he shall be with the / and shall serue the vnto the pere of tubelpe / & then shall he departe from the: both he and his chyldren with him / and shall retourne vnto hys awne kynred agayne & vnto the possessions of his fathers: for they are my seruautes which I brought out of the lande of Egypte / and shall not be solde as bondmen. Se therfore that thou raygne not ouer hym cruelly / but feare thy God. If thou wilt haue bondseruautes and maydens / thou shalt bye them of the heathen that are rounde aboute you / & of the chyldre of the straungers that are sojournes amoge you / & of their generacions that are to you / which they begate in your lande. And ye shall possesse them & geue them vnto your chyldren after you / to possesse them for ever: and they shall be your bondmen. * But ouer your brethren the chyldre of Israel / ye shall not raygne one ouer another cruelly.

When a stranger and a sojourner waxeth ryche by the & thy brother that dwelleth by him waxeth poore and sell him selfe vnto the stranger that dwelleth by the: or to any of the straungers kyn: after that he is solde he maye be redeemed agayne: one of hys brethren maye bye hym out: whether it be hys vnckle or his vnckles sonne / or any that is nye of hym vnto him of his kynred: ether yf his hāde can get so moch he maye be loosed. And he shall reken with him that boughte hym / from the pere that he was solde in vnto the pere / of tubelpe / and the pryce of his byenge shall be accordyng vnto the nombze of yeres / & he shall be with hym as a hyred seruaute. If there be yet many yeres behynde / accordyng vnto the he shall geue agayne for hys despyeraunce / of the money that he was solde for. Yf there remaine but few yeres vnto the pere of tubelpe / he shall so counte with him / & accordyng vnto his yeres geue him agayne for his redempcion / & shall be with him yere by yere as an hyred seruaute & the other shall not raygne cruelly ouer him in thy syghte.

If he be not bought fre in the meane tyme / then he shall goo out in the pere of tubelpe & his chyldren with him: for the chyldren of Israel are my seruautes which I broughte out of the lande of Egypte.

The xxvi. Chapter.

In the Lorde your God. Ye shall make you no ydolles nor grauen ymage / nether reare you vpon any pyler / nether ye shall sett vpon any ymage of stone in your land to bowe your selues thereto: for I am the Lorde your God: kepe my Sabbothes & feare my sanctury: for I am the Lorde.

If ye shall walke in myne ordinaunces & kepe my comaundementes & do them / then I will sende you rayne in the ryght season & your lande shall yelde her encrease and the trees of the felde shall geue their frute. And the threshyng shall reach vnto wyne harvest / & the wyneharuest shall reach vnto sowyng tyme / and ye shall eate your bread in plenteousnes / & shall dwell in your lande peacefully. And I will sende peace in your land / that ye shall slepe / and no man shall make you a frayde.

And I will rydd euell beastes out of your lande / and there shall no swerde goo thorowe out your lande. And ye shall chase your enemyes / & they shall fall before you vpon the swerde. And syue of you shall chase an hundred / & an hundred of you shall put. x. thousande to flyghte / & your enemyes shall fall before you vpon the swerde. And I will tourne vnto you and encrease you & multiplye you / and sett vpon my testament with you. And ye shall eate olde store / and cast out the olde for plenteousnes of the newe. * I will make my dwellinge place amonge you / and my soule shall not lothe you. And I will walke amonge you and wyll be your God / and ye shall be my people. For I am the Lorde your God / which broughte you out of the land of the Egyptians / that ye shulde not be their bondmen / and I brake the bowes of your pokes / and made you go by ryghte.

But and ye will not hearken vnto me / nor will do all these my comaundementes / or ye will despyse myne ordinaunces ether yf your soules refuse my lawes / so that ye will not do all my comaundementes / but shall breake myne appoyntment: then I will do this agayne vnto you: I will byset you with vexacions / dwelling & feuers / & shall make your eyes dasell / & id sorowes of herte. And ye shall sowe your seed in bayne / for your enemyes shall eate it / And I will set my face face agensie you & ye shall fall before your enemyes / & they that hate you shall raigne ouer you / and ye shall see when no man followeth you.

And ye will not yet for all this hearken vnto me / then will I punish you seuen tymes more for your synnes / and will breake the pryde of your strength. For I will make the heauen ouer you as harde as yron / & your lande as hard as brasse. And so your labour shall be spent in bayne. For your land shall not geue her encrease / nether the trees of the lande shall geue their frutes.

And ye will walke contrary vnto me and will not hearken vnto me / I will bringe seuen tymes moo plagues vpon you accordinge to your synnes. I will sende in wilde beastes vpon you / which shall robbe you of your chyldren and destroye your catell / & make you so fewe in nombze & your hye wayes shall growe vnto a wyldernesse.

And ye will not be lerned yet for all this but shall walke contrary vnto me / then will I also walke contrary vnto you and will punish you yet: seuen tymes for your synnes. I will sende a swerde vpon you / that shall auenge my testament with you. And when ye are fled vnto your cyties / I will sende the pestilence amonge you / ye shall be deliuered in to the hādes of your enemyes. And when I haue broke the staffe of your bread: that. x. wyues shall bake your bread / and men shall deliuer you your bread agayne by weyghte / then shall ye eate and shall not be satisfied.

And ye will not yet for all this hearken vnto me / but shall walke contrary vnto me / then I will walke contrary vnto you also wrathfully and will also chastise you seuen tymes for your synnes: so that ye shall eate the flesh of your sonnes & the flesh of your daughters. And I will destroye your alters vnto hye hylls / and ouerthrowe your ymages / and cast your carnelles vpon the bodies of your ydolles / and my soule shall abhorre you. And I will make your cyties desolate / and bringe your sanctuaries vnto nought / and will not smell the sauours of your swete odours.

And I will bringe the lande vnto a wyldernesse: so that your enemyes which dwell therein shall wondre at it. And I will strawe you amoge the heathen / and will drawe out a swerde after you / and your lande shall be wast / and your cyties desolate. Then the lande shall reioyce in her Sabbothes / as longe as it lyeth boyde and ye in your enemyes lande: euen then shall the lande kepe holpe daye and reioyce in her Sabbothes. And as longe as it lyeth boyde it shall rest / for that it coulde not reste in your Sabbothes / when ye dwelt therein.

And vpon them that are left alque of you I will sende a sayntnesse in to their hertes in the land of their enemyes: so that the sounde of a leet that falleth / shall chase them & they shall flee as though they fled a swerde / and shall fall no man followinge them. And they shall fall one vpon another / as it were before a swerde euen no man followinge them / and ye shall haue no power to stāde before your enemyes: And ye shall perishe amonge the heathen / and the land of your enemyes shall eate you vpon.

And they that are left of you / shall pyne awaye in their bmyghteousnes / eue in their enemyes lande / and also in the myldeades of their fathers shall they consume. And they shall confesse their misdeades and the myldeades of their fathers in their trespasses which they haue trespassed agaynst me / & for that also they haue walked contrary vnto me. Therfore I also will walke contrary vnto them / and will bringe them in to the lande of their enemyes. And then at the leest waye their vncircumcysed hertes shall be tamed / and then they shall make an attonement for their myldeades.

And I will remembre my bonde with Jacob and my testament with Isaac / and my testament with Abraham / and will thynke on the lande. For the lande shall be leste of the and shall haue pleasure in her Sabbothes / whyle the lyeth wast without them / & they shall make an attonement for their misdeades / because they despyed my lawes and their soules refused myne ordinaunces. And yet for all that when they be in the lande of their enemye / I will not so cast the awaye / nor my soule shall not so abhorre them / that I will utterly destroye them and breake myne appoyntment with them: for I am the Lorde their God. I will therfore remembre vnto them the fyrst couenaunt made when I broughte them out of the lande of Egypte in the syghte of the heathen to be their God: for I am the Lorde.

If it be of the beastes of which men bringe an offering vnto the Lorde: all that any man geueth of such vnto the Lorde / shalbe holy. As löge as he absteyneth vnto the Lorde he shall come at no dead bode: he shall not make himselfe vncleane at the death of his father / mother / brother or sister: for the abstinence of hys God is vpon hys head. And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses saye: this shalbe the maner of the Leuites: from xix. yere bywarde they shall go in to wayte vpon yseruyce in the tabernacle of witness: & at fyfthe they shall cease waytyng vpon yseruyce therof / and shall laboure no moare: but shall minstre vnto their bzetheren in the tabernacle of witness / and there wayte / but shall do no moare seruyce. And se that thou do after this maner vnto the Leuites in their waytyng tymes.

The offer of passeouer offryng of the cleane and vn cleane. A cloude couerynge the tabernacle leadeth the hoste.

The ix. Chapter.

Ad the Lorde spake vnto Moyses in the wilderness of Sinai / in the fyfthe moneth of the seconde yere after they were come out of the lande of Egypte sayeng: let the chyldren of Israel offre Passeouer in his season: euen the xiiij. daye of this moneth at euen they shall kepe it in his season / accordeyng to all the ordinaunces & maners therof. And Moyses had the chyldren of Israel that they shulde offer Passeouer / & they offered Passeouer the xiiij. daye of the fyfthe moneth at euen in the wilderness of Sinai: and byd accordeyng to all that the Lorde commaunded Moyses.

And it chaunced the certayne men whyche were defyled with a deed corse the they myght not offer Passeouer the same daye / came before Moyses and Aaron the same tyme / and sayde: we are defyled vpon a dead corse / wherfore are we kepte backe that we maye not offer an offerynge vnto the Lorde in the due season / amonge the chyldren of Israel? And Moyses sayde vnto them: tary / that I maye heare what the Lorde wille commaunde you. And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses sayenge: speake vnto the chyldren of Israel and saye. If any man amonge you or youre chyldren after you be vncleane by the reason of a corse or is in the waye ferre of / then lett hym offer Passeouer vnto the Lorde: the xiiij. daye of the seconde moneth at euen / and eate it with swete bread & soure herbes / & let them leaue none of it vnto the moynge nor breake any boone of it. And accordeyng to all the ordinaunce of the Passeouer let them offer it.

But yf a man be cleane & not let in a four. n. In the ma. ney / & yet was negliget to offer a Passeouer ner is it with the same soule shall perishe from his people / because he brought not an offerynge vnto the Lorde in his due season: and he shall bere his synne. And when a strainger dwelleth amonge you and wyll offer Passeouer vnto the Lorde accordeyng to the ordinaunce of Passeouer and maner therof shall he offre it. And ye shall haue one lawe both for the strainger & for him that was borne at home in the lande. And the same daye that the habitacio was reered by / a cloude couered it an hye vpon the tabernacle of witness: and at euen there was vpon the habitacyon / as it were the synnitude of fyre vntill the moynge. And so it was allwaye / that the cloude couered it by daye / and the synnitude of fyre by nyghte. And when the cloude was taken vp from of the tabernacle / then the chyldren of Israel turned: and where the cloude abode there the chyldren of Israel pitched they tentes. At shall be giv the mouth of the Lorde the chyldren of Israel: and at the mouth of the Lorde they pitched. And as long as the cloude abode vpon the habitacyon / they laye still / & when the cloude tarped still vpon the habitacyon the long tyme / the chyldren of Israel wayted vpon the Lorde and iourneyed not.

If it chaunced that the cloude abode any space of tyme vpon the habitacyon / then they kepte their tentes at the mouth of the Lorde: & they iourneyed also at the commaundement of the Lorde. And yf it happened the cloude was vpon the habitacyon from euen vnto moynge and was taken vp in the moynge then they iourneyed. Whether it was by daye or by nyghte that the cloude was taken vp / they iourneyed. But when the cloude tarped the habitacyon / as long as it tarped ther on / the chyldren of Israel kepte they tentes and iourneyed not. And as soone as the cloude was taken vp / they iourneyed. At the mouth of the Lorde they reasted / & at the commaundement of the Lorde they iourneyed. And thus they kepte the watche of the Lorde / at the commaundement of the Lorde by the hande of Moyses.

The x. Chapter.

If but a one trumpet blowe only / then the princes which are heedes ouer the thousandes of Israel shall come vnto the. And when ye trompe the fyfthe tyme / the hostes that lye on the east partes shall go forwarde. And when ye trompe the seconde tyme / then the hostes that lye on the south syde shall take their iourney: for they shall trope when they take their iourneyes. And in getherynge the congregacion together / ye shall blowe and not trompe. And the sonnes of Aaron the prest

And the chyldren of Israel toke their iourney out of the deserte of Sinai / and the cloude rested in the wilderness of Phara. And ouer the hoste of the trybe of the chyldren of Iachar / was Nathanael the sonne of Iuar. And ouer the hoste of the trybe of the chyldren of Zabulon / was Eliah the sonne of Helon. And Moyses sayde vnto Hobab the sonne of Raguel the Madianyte / Moyses father lawe which be in lawe: we goo vnto the place of which the Lorde sayde I will geue it you. So with vs & we will doo the good / for the Lorde hath promysed good vnto Israel. And he sayd vnto Moyses: I wyll not: but wyll go to myne awne lande and to my hymred. And Moyses sayde oh nay / leaue vs not / for thou knowest where is best for vs to pitche in the wilderness: & thou shalt be oure eyes. And yf thou go with vs / toke what goodnesse the Lorde sheweth vnto vs / the same we will shewe vpon the.

And they departed from the mount of the Lorde iii. dayes iourney / & the arche of the testamēt of the Lorde went before the in the iiij. dayes iourney to serche out a resting place for the. And the cloude of the Lorde was ouer the by daye / when they went out of the tentes. And when the arche wet forth / Moyses sayde vnto the people: let theyne enemies be scaured / & let the that hate the flee before the. And when the arche rested / he sayde retourne vnto the many thousandes of Israel.

The people murmureth & is punnyshed with fyre. They despyze fleshe. They loothe mana. The murmuring and waneryng sayth of Moyses. The Lorde bypbyth the burden of Moyses to teuentye of the auncpentes / and they prophesye. Eldad and Medad do also prophesye in the hoste. It rayneth quaples. The fleshtauers are punnyshed.

The xi. Chapter.

Ad the people complayned and it displeased the eares of the Lorde. And when the Lorde herde it he was wroth / and the fyre of the Lorde tyme byd wroth / and the people cried vnto Moyses / and he made intercession vnto the Lorde & the fyre quēched. And they called the name of the place Chaberah because the fyre of the Lorde burnt amonge them.

And the rascall people that was amonge them fell a lustynge / And the chyldren of Israel also went to and wepte and sayde: who shall geue vs fleshe to eate? we remebre the fysh which we shulde eate in Egypte for noughte and of the Cucumbers and melouns / lekes / onyouns and garleke. But now oure soules ar dyed a waye / for oure eyes loke on no thyng els / saue vpon Hanna.

The Hanna was as it had bene coriander seed / and to se to lyke Bedellion. And the people went aboute and gathered it / & groinde it in milles or bett it in morters and baked it in pannes and made cakes of it. And the tast of it was lyke vnto the tast of an oyle hake. And when the dewe fell aboute the hoste in the nyghte / the Hanna fell ther with.

And when Moyses herde the people wepe in their howldes euery man in the doze of his tent / then the wrath of the Lorde waxed whost exceeding: it greued Moyses also. And Moyses sayde vnto the Lorde: wherfore dealest thou so cruelly with thy seruante? wherfore dost thou not fynde fauoure in thy syght seynge that thou putttest the weyght of this people vpon me? haue I concealed all this people / or haue I begotte them / that thou shuldest saye vnto me / carpe them in thy bosome (as a nurse beareth & suchynge childe) vnto the lande which thou swarest vnto their fathers? where shulde I haue flesh to geue vnto all this people? for they wepe vnto me sayenge: geue vs flesh that we maye eat. I am not able to bere all this people alone / for it is to heuy for me. wherfore wylthou deale thus with me / kill me / I praye & yet I haue founde fauoure in thy syght and let me not be my wretchednesse.

And the Lorde sayde vnto Moyses: gether vnto me .lxv. of elders of Israel / which thou knowest & they are the elders of the people and officers ouer them / & brynge them vnto the tabernacle of witness / and let the stande there with the. And I will come doune and talke w the there / & take of the spirite which is vpon the and put apon the and apon them and they shall bere with the in the burthen of the people / & so shalt thou not beare alone.

And saye vnto the people: halowe youre selues agent to morow that ye maye eat flesh for ye haue whyned in the eares of the Lorde saynge: who shal geue vs flesh to eat / for we were happye when we were in egypte: therfore the Lorde will geue you flesh / and ye shall eat: Ye shall not eat one daye only ether .ij. or .iij. dayes / ether .x. or .xx. dayes: but euen a moneth longe / & vntill it come out at the noyses of you / & ye be ready to parbake: because that ye haue cast the Lorde a syde which is amonge you / and haue wepte before him saynge: why came we out of egypte.

And Moyses sayde: fire hundred thousande fotemen are there of the people / amonge which I am. And thou hast sayde: I will geue them flesh & they shall eat a moneth longe. Shall the shepe the ox be slayne for the to fynde the ether shall all the ffly of the see be gethered together to serue them? And the Lorde sayde vnto Moyses: is the Lorde had wared wozte Thou shalt se whether my woide shall come.

And Moyses went out and tolde the people the sayenge of the Lorde / and gethered the .lxv. elders of the people / and set them rounde aboute the tabernacle. And the Lorde came doune in a cloude & spake vnto him / & toke of the spete that was vpon him / and put it vpon the .lxv. elders. And as the spirite rested vpon them / they prophesied & did nought eye is other to els. But there remayned .ij. of the men in the hoste: the one called Eldad / & the other Medad / & they were of them that were witten / but they went not out vnto the tabernacle: and they prophesied in the hoste.

And there ran a younge man & tolde Moyses and sayde: Eldad & Medad do prophesie in the hoste. And Josua the sonne of Nun the seruaute of Moyses which he had chosen out answered and sayde: master Moyses / forbyd them. And Moyses sayde vnto him: enuyest thou for my sake? wolde God & all the Lorde des people coulde prophesie / & the Lorde wolde put his spirite vpon them. And then uerne they both Moyses and the elders of Israel / gat they in to the hoste.

And there went forth a wynde fro the Lorde and brought quayles from the see and let the fall aboute the hoste / euen a dayes tourney rounde aboute on euery syde of the hoste and .ij. cubites hye vpon the erth. And the people stode by all that daye & all that nyghte and on the morowe / & gethered quayles. And And he that gethered the lest / gethered .x. homers full. And they fylled them rounde aboute the hoste.

And whyle the flesh was yet be twene their teeth / yet it was chewed by the wyath of the Lorde wared whost vpon the people / and the Lorde slewe of the people an exceeding myghtie slaughter. And they called the name of the place * kibzath hathauah: because they buried the people that lusted there.

And the people toke theyr tourney fro kibzath hathauah vnto hazeroth / and bode at hazeroth.

And Aaron and Miriam grudge agaynst Moyses. Miriam was trychen with the leper and healed at the prayer of Moyses.

The .xii. Chapter.

And Miriam & Aaron spake agest Moyses because of his wife of Zende which he had taken: for he had taken to wife one of Zende. And they sayde doth the Lorde speake only thozow Moyses? doth he not speake also by vs? And the Lorde herde it. But Moyses was a very meke man aboute all the men of the erthe. And the Lorde spake attonce vnto Moyses vnto Aaron and Miriam: come out ye .iii. vnto the tabernacle of witness: and they came out all thre.

And the Lorde came doune in the piler of the cloude and stode in the doze of the tabernacle & called Aaron & Miriam. And they went out both of them. And he sayde heare my wordes: if there be a prophet of the Lorde amonge you / I will shewe my selfe vnto him in a visio & wil speake vnto him in a dreame. But my seruante Moyses is not so / which is saythfull saythfull in all myne house. vnto hym I speake mouth to mouth & he seith the syght and the facyon of the Lorde / and not thozow rydels. wherfore the were penot astrayed to speake agest my seruante Moyses?

And the Lorde was angrye with the and went his waye / and the cloude departed fro the tabernacle. And beholde / Miriam was become leprous / as it were snowe. And when Aaron looked vpon Miriam and sawe that she was leprous / he sayde vnto Moyses: Oh I beseeche the my Lorde / put not the synne vpon vs which we haue folishly committed and synned. Oh let her not be as one that came dead oute of his mothers wombe: for halfe her fleshe is eaten awaye.

And Moyses cryed vnto the Lorde sayng: Oh God / heale her. And the Lorde sayde vnto Moyses: If her father had spitte in her face / shulde she not be ashamed .vij. dayes / lether be shutte out of the hoste .vij. dayes / and after that let her be receaued in agayne. And Miriam was shutt out of the hoste .vij. dayes and the people remoued not / tyll she was broughte in agayne. And afterwaide they remoued from hazeroth / and pitched in the wilderness of Pharan.

Certen are send to searche the lande of Canaan: which brynge with the a clouster of grapes for a signe of fertilitye and frutesfulness.

The .xiii. Chapter.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses sayng: Send men out to serche the lande of Canaan / whyche I geue vnto the chyldre of Israel: of euery trybe of their fathers a man & let the all be soche as are ruelars amonge the. And Moyses at the commaundment of the Lorde sent forth out of the wilderness of Pharan: soche men as were all heades amonge the chyldren of Israel / whose names are these.

In the trybe of Ruben / Sammua & sonne of Zacur: In the trybe of Symeon / Saphat the sonne of Hozai. In the trybe of Iuda Caleph the sonne of Iephune. In the trybe of Issachar / Igeal the sonne of Joseph. In the trybe of Ephraim / Hosa the sonne of Nun. In the trybe of Ben Iamin / Palti & sonne of Raphu. These are the names of the men whiche Moyses sent to spye out the lande. And Moyses called the name of the sonne of Nun / Josua.

And Moyses sent them forth to spye out the lande of Canaan / & sayde vnto the: gett you southwarde & go by in to the hye cōtre / & se the lande what maner thyng it is & the people & dwelleth therein: whether they be stronge or weake / ether fewe or many / and what the lade is that they dwell in whether it be good or bad / & what maner of cities they dwell in whether they dwell in tentes or walled townes / & what maner of lande it is: whether it be fatt or leane / and whether there be trees therein or not. And be of a good courage / and brynge of the frutes of the lande. And it was aboute the tyme that grapes are fyrst ripe.

And they wet by & searched out the lande from the wilderness of Sin vnto Achob / as men go to Hemath / & they ascended vnto the south & came vnto Hebron / where Abinai was & Selai and Chalmari the sonnes of Enache. Hebron was bylt .vij. yere before the * Josai in egypte. And they came vnto ryuer of Escol & they cutt doune there a bzaunch of one clouster of grapes & bare it vpon a staffe betwene twayne / and also of the pomgrates and of the fygges of the place. The ryuer was called * Nehel Escol / because the clouster of grapes whiche the chyldren of Israel cutt doune there.

And they turned backe agayne fro searching the lande / at .x. dayes ende. And they went and came to Moyses and Aaron & vnto all the multitude of the chyldren of Israel / vnto the wilderness of Pharan: euen vnto Cades / and broughte them woide and also vnto all the congregacion / and shewed them the frute of the lande. And they tolde hym sayng: we came vnto the lande wether thou sendest vs / and surely it is a lande that floweth with milke and honye & here is of the frute of it. Neuerthelesse the people be stronge that dwell in the lande / and the cytyes are walled and exceedinge grete / and mozeouer / we sawe the chyldren of Enach there.

The Amaleches dwel in the south contre / & so that vnder the Hethites / Jebusites and the Amozites dwell in the mostaynes / & the Cananites dwell by the see & a longe by the coste of Jordan. And Caleb stilled the murmur of the people agent Moyses sayng: let vs go by the people and conquere it / for we be able to ouercome it. But the men that went by with him / sayde: we be not able to go by agest the people / for they are stronger then we. And they broughte by an euil reporte of the lade which they had serched / vnto the chyldren of Israel sayng: The lande whiche we haue gone thozowe to serche it out / is a lande that eateth by the inhabytors therof / and the people there we sawe also geantes / the chyldren of Enach which are of the geantes. And we meth them.

All the multitude cryed out / & the people wepte thozow out that nyght / & all the chyldren of Israel murmured agaynst Moyses & Aaron And the whole congregacion sayde vnto the:
wolde God that we had dyed in the land of Egypte / ether we wolde that we had dyed in thys wilderness. Wherfore hath the Lorde broughte vs vnto this lande to fall vpon the swerde / th at both oure wyues / & also oure chyldren shulde be a praye: is it not better & we retourne vnto Egypte agayne? And they sayde one to another: let vs make a captayne and retourne vnto Egypte agayne.

¶ And Moyses and Aaron fell on their faces before all the congregacion of the multitude of the chyldre of Israel. And Josua the sonne of Nun / & Caleb the sonne of Jephune which were of them that serched the lande rent their clothes and spake vnto all the compaigne of the chyldren of Israel sayinge: The lande which we walked thozowe to serche it / is a bery good land. If the Lorde haue lust to vs he will brynge vs in to this lande and geue it vs / which is a land that floweth with mylke and honny. But in any wise rebell not agaynst the Lorde. Whoreouer feare ye not the people of the lade / for they are but bread for vs. Their wyldbe is departed from them / and the Lorde is with vs: feare them not therfore.

¶ And all the whole multitude bade stone them with stones. But the glorie of the Lorde appeared in the tabernacle of witness / vnto all the chyldren of Israel. And the Lorde sayde vnto Moyses: Howe longe shall thys people rayle vnto me / & howe longe will it be vnto the Lorde: I haue shewed amonge them / & I will make the in the pestilence & destroye the / & I will make of a greater naciō a mightier then they.

¶ And Moyses sayde vnto the Lorde: then the Egyptians shall heare it / for thou broughtest this people with thy myghte from amonge them. And it wilbe tolde to the inhabitants of this lande also / for they haue herd the like / that thou the Lorde art amonge this people / and that thou art sene face to face / and the clouds standeth ouer them / & that thou goest before the by daye tyme in a pillar of a cloude and in a pillar of fyre by nyght. If thou wilt kill all this people as they were but one man then the naciōs which haue herde the same of the / will speake sayinge: because the Lorde was not able to brynge in thys people in to the lande which he swaue vnto the / therfore he slewe them in the wilderness.

¶ So now let the power of my Lorde be greate / accordinge as thou hast spokē sayinge: the Lorde is longe yere he be angrie / and full and leaueth no man innocent / and visiteth neraciō / be mercifull I beseeche the therfore vnto the synne of this people accordinge vnto thy greate mercy / and accordinge as thou hast forgeuen this people from Egypte euē vnto this place.

¶ And the Lorde sayde: I haue forgeuen it / accordinge to thy request. But as trulpe as I lye / al the erth shalbe fylled with my glorye. For of all those men whiche haue sene my glorie & my myracles which I dyd in Egypte & in the wilderness / & yet haue tēpted me now this / x. tymes & haue not herkened vnto my voyce / there shal not one of them abyde in the lande which I swaue vnto their fathers / neither shall any of the that rayled vpon me / se it.
But my ser-uant Caleb: because there is another maner spirite with him / and because he hath folowed me vnto the vtmost: him I will brynge into the lande which he hath walked in / and his seed shal conquere it / and also the Ama-lehtes and Cananites whiche dwell in the lowe contres. To morowe turne you & gett you in to the wilderness: euē the waye to-warde the redd see.

¶ And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses & Aaron sayinge: howe longe shall this euell multitude murmur agaynst me? I haue herde the murmuringes of the chyldre of Israel whiche they murmur agaynst me. Tell them / the Lorde sayeth. As trulpe as I lye / I will do vnto you euē as ye haue spoken in myne ea-res. Your carnelles shal lye in this wildernesse / neither shall any of these nōbz which were nombred from .xx. yere and aboue of you which haue murmured agaynst me come in to the lande ouer which I sware vnto Caleb the sonne of Jephune / and Josua the sonne of Nun.

¶ And your chyldre whiche ye sayde shulde be a praye / them I will brynge in / and they shal knowe the lande which ye haue refused / and your carnelles shal lye in this wilderness.
And your chyldren shal wandze in this wil-dernes. .xl. yeres and suffre for your whor-redome vntill your carnelles be wasted in the wildernes / after the nombze of the dayes in whiche ye serched out the lande. .xl. dayes / & euē geance. The Lorde haue sayed that I will do it vnto all this euell congregacion that are gethered together agaynst me: euē in this wildernes ye shalbe consumed / and here ye shall dye.

¶ And the men whiche Moyses sent to serche the lande / & whiche (when they came agayne) made all the people to murmur agaynst it in that they broughte by a sclander vpon the lande: dyed for their brynginge by that euell sclander vpon it / & were plagued before the Lorde. But Josua the sonne of Nun and Caleb the sonne of Jephune whiche were of the men that went to serche the lande / luyed still. And Moyses tolde these sayenges vnto all the chyldren of Israel / and the people toke great sorowe.

¶ And they rose by perly in the moynyng & gatt them by in to the toppes of the mountayne sayenge: lo we be here / & will go by vnto the place of which the Lorde sayed / for we haue synned. And Moyses sayed: wherfore wyl ye go on this maner beyonde the worde of the Lorde? it wyl not come well to passe go not by for the Lorde is not amonge you that ye be not slayne before your enemyes. For the Amalehtes and the Cananites are there before you / and ye wyl fall vpon the swerde because ye are tourned a waye fro the Lorde.
The Lorde sayeth: wherfore wyl ye go on this not come well to passe go not by for the Lorde is not amonge you that ye be not slayne before your enemyes. For the Amalehtes and the Cananites are there before you / and ye wyl fall vpon the swerde because ye are tourned a

¶ But they were blynded to go by in to the hyll toppes: Neuer the latter / the arche of the testament of the Lorde and Moyses departed not out of the hoste. When the Amalehtes & the Cananites whiche dwelt in that hill / came downe and smote them and hewed the: euē

¶ The xv. Chapter.

All the Lorde spake vnto Moyses sayenge: speake vnto the chyldren of Israel & saye vnto the: when ye be come in to the lade of your ha-bitacion whiche I geue vnto you / & I will offe whether it be a burnt offeringe or a specyall bowe or frewill offeringe or yf it be in your pryncypall feastes to make a swete sauoure

¶ Then let him that offereth his offeringe thou shalt offer the fourth parte of an hū of ¶ When thou offerest an oxe to a burnt offe-

And thou shalt brynge for a dymch offeringe the meat offeringes & the dymch offeringes.

¶ All that are of your selues shal do these

And yf there be a straunger with you or be one maner shal serue / both for you and for the straunger that dwelleth with you.

¶ And the Lorde spake vnto Moyses sayenge: speake vnto the chyldren of Israel and saye the

And it shalbe forgeuen vnto all multitude of the chyldren of Israel / & vnto the stranger that dwelleth amonge you: for the ignoraunce pertayneth vnto all the people.

D If any one soule synne thowto ignoraunce he shall bynne a he goote of a yere olde for a synofferynge. And the preast shall make an atonement for the soule that synned ignorauntly with the synofferynge before the Lorde and reconyle him / and it shalbe forgeuen him. And both thou that art borne one of the chyldren of Israel and the stranger that dwelleth amonge you shall haue both one lawe. yf ye synne thowto ignoraunce.

And the soule that doth ought presumptuously / whether he be an Israelite or a stranger / the same hath despyled the Lorde. And that soule shalbe destroyed from amonge his people / because he hath despyled the worde of the Lorde and hath broken his commaundementes / that soule therefore shall peryshe & his synne shalbe vpon him.

And the sonne of Rehebar & sonne of Cabath the sonne of Leui and Dathan & Abiram the sonne of Eliab / and On the sonne of Pe-

For all the multitude are holy euery one of them & the Lorde is amonge the. Why therefore heue ye oure selues by aboute the congregacion of the Lorde.

When Moses hearde it / he fell vpon his face and spake vnto Chorah and vnto all his compaignes sayenge: to morowe the Lorde will shewe who is his and who is holy / and wyll take them vnto hym / and whom so euer he hath chosen / he wyll cause to come to him. This do: take fyrepannes / thou Chorah and all thy compaignes / and do fyre therein & put cens therto before the Lorde to morowe. And then whosoever the Lorde doth chose / the same is holy. Ye make ynough to do ye chyldren of Leui.

And Moses sayed vnto Chorah: heare ye chyldren of Leui / Semeth it but a small thyngge vnto you / that the God of Israel hath separated you from the multitude of Israel to bynne you to him / to do the seruyce of the dwellinge place of the Lorde / and to stande before the people to minystre vnto them: he hath taken the to him and all thy brethren & sonnes of Leui with the / & ye seke the office of the preast also. For which cause both thou and all thy compaignes are gathered together agens the Lorde: for what is Aaron / that ye shulde murmure agens him.

And Moses sent to call Dathan & Abiram the sonnes of Eliab / and they answered we will not come. Semeth it a small thyngge vnto the that thou hast broughte vs out of a lande that floweth with mylke and honye / to kyl vs in the wilderness. But that thou shuldest raygne ouer vs also? More ouer thou hast broughte vs vnto no lande that floweth with mylke and honye / nether hast geuen vs possessions of felde or of bynes. Euer wilst thou pull out the eyes of these men: we wyll not come.

And Moses waxed very angrie and sayed vnto the Lorde: Turne not vnto their offeringes. I haue not taken so moch as an asse from them / nether haue berey any of them. Then Moses sayed vnto Chorah: Be thou & all thy compaignes before the Lorde: both thou they and Aaron to morowe. And take euery man his censer and put cens in them / and come before the Lorde euery man with his censer: two hundred and fyftie censers / and Aaron with his censer. And they toke euery man his censer and put fyre in them & layed cens thereon / and stode in the doze of the tabernacle

And the glorie of the Lorde, apered vnto all the congregacion. And the Lorde spake vnto Moses and Aaron sayenge: separate youre selues from this congregacion / that I maye consume the atonce. And they fell vpon theyr faces & sayed: * O most myghtie God of the spirites of all flesh / one man hath synned / and wilt thou be wroth with all the multitude? And the Lorde spake vnto Moses sayenge: speake vnto the congregacion and saye: Gett you awaye from aboute the dwellinge of Chorah / Dathan and Abiram. And Moses rose by and went vnto Dathan and Abiram / & the elders of Israel folowed him. And he spake vnto the congregacion sayenge departe from the tentes of these wicked men & touche nothinge of theires: lest ye peryshe in all their synnes. And they gate them fro the dwellinge of Chorah / Dathan and Abiram on euery syde. And Dathan & Abiram came out and stode in the doze of their tentes with their wyues / their sonnes & their chyldren.

And Moses sayed: Hereby ye shal knowe that the Lorde hath sent me to do all these wythes / & that I haue not done the of myne owne mynde. If these men dye & comen deth of all men or yf they be * bispyed after the blyssacyon of all men / then the Lorde hath not sent me. But and yf the Lorde make a newe thyngge / and the erth open hir mouthe & swallowe them and all that pertayne vnto them / so that they go doune a quicke in to hel: then ye shal vnderstand / that these men haue rayled vpon the Lorde.

And as sone as he had made an ende of speakinge al these wordes / the grounde cloued a sonder that was vnder them / and the erth opened her mouthe and swallowed them and their houses and all the men that were with Chorah and all theyr goodes. And they and all that pertayned vnto them / went doune alyue vnto hell / and the erth closed vpon them / and they perysed from amonge the congregacion. And all Israel that were aboute the fledde at the crye of them. For they sayed: The erth myghte hapelye swallowe vs also. And there came oute a fyre from the Lorde and consumed the two hundred & fyftie men that offred cens.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses sayenge: Speake vnto Eleazar the sonne of Aaron the preaste and let him take by the censers oute of the burninge & shatter the fyre here and there / for the censers of these synners are halowed in theyr deathes: and let them be beaten in to thyn plates and fastened by

And Eleazar the preast toke the brassen censers which they that were burnt had offred / & beat them and fastened the bypon the altare / to be a remembraunce vnto the chyldren of Israel / that no stranger which is not of the seed of Aaron / come nere to offer cens before the Lorde / that he be not made lyke vnto Chorah and his compaignes: as the Lorde sayed vnto him by the hande of Moses.

And on the morowe all the multitude of the chyldren of Israel murmured agens Moses and Aaron sayenge: ye haue kyled the people of the Lorde. And when the multitude was gathered agens Moses & Aaron they looked towarde the tabernacle of witness. And beholde / the cloude had couered it and the glorie of the Lorde appeared. And Moses & Aaron went before the tabernacle of witness. And the Lorde spake vnto Moses & Aaron sayenge: Gett you from this congregacion / that I maye consume them quychlye. And they fell vpon theyr faces.

And Moses sayde vnto Aaron: take a censer and put fyre therein out of the alter / and poure on cens / & go quychlye vnto the congregacion and make an attonement for them. For there is wroth gone out from the Lorde and there is a plage begone. And Aaron toke as Moses commaunded him / and ran vnto the congregacion: & beholde / the plage was begonne amonge the people / and he put on cens / & made an attonement for the people. And he stode betwene the deed / and the that were alpye / and the plage ceased. And the nombre of them that dyed in the plage / were xliiij. thousande and seue hundred: besyde the that dyed aboute the bysynes of Chorah. And Aaron went agayne vnto Moses vnto the doze off the tabernacle of witness / and the plage ceased.

And the Lozde sayed vnto Aaron. Thou & thy sonnes and thy fathers house with the / shall bere 8 faute of that whiche is done amysse in the holy place. The. xxi. Chapter.

And the whole multitude of the chyldren of Israel came in to the de- sert of Sin in the first moneth/ & the people dwelt at Cades. And there dyed Miriam/ and was buried there. Moze ouer there was no water for the multitude/ wherfore they gathered the selues together agens Moses & agens Aard. And the people chode w Moses & spake sayenge: wold God that we had perished w the oure brethren pe- rished before the Lord. Why haue ye brought the congregacio of the Lord vnto this wil- derneffe/ & both we & oure catell shulde dye here? wherfore brought ye vs out of Egipte to bynge vs in to this vngacious place/ which is no place of seed nor of fygges nor bynes nor of pomgranates/ nether is there any water to drynke?

And Moses & Aaron went fro the congre- gacio vnto the doze of the tabernacle of wit- nesse/ & fell vpon theyr faces. And the gloze of the Lord appered vnto the. And the Lord spake vnto Moses sayenge: take the staffe/ & gather thou & thy brother Aard the congrega- cio together/ & saye vnto the rocke before their eyes/ that he geue forth his water. And thou shalt bynge the water out of the rocke & shalt geue the company drynke/ and their beasts also.

And Moses toke the staffe fro before the Lord/ as he commaunded him. And Moses and Aaron gathered the congregacion toge- ther before the rocke/ and he sayed vnto them heare ye rebellions/ must we sett you water out of this rocke? And Moses lifte vp his ha- de with his staffe and smote the rocke. & ty- mes/ and the water came out abundantly/ & the multitude dranche and their beasts also.

¶ The Lord spake vnto Moses & Aa- ron: because ye beueled me not/ to sanctifye me in the eyes of the chyldren of Israel/ ther- fore ye shall not bynge this congregacion in to the lande which I haue geuen them.

This is the water of stryfe/ because the chyldren of Israel stroue with the Lord/ & he was sanctified vpon them.

And Moses sent messengers from Cades vnto the kyng of Edom. Thus sayeth thy brother Israel: Thou knowest all the trauell I hath happened vs/ how oure fathers went doune in to Egipte/ & how we haue dwelt in Egipte a longe tyme/ and how the Egip- tians hated bothe vs and oure fathers. When we cryed vnto the Lord and he herde oure voyces/ and sent an angell & hath sett vs out of Egipte. And beholde/ we are in Cades a- citie harde by the borders of thy countre let vs go a good felowshipe thozow thy countre/ we wyl not go thozow the felde nor thozow the bynepardes/ nether wyl we drynke of the water of the fountaynes/ but we wyl go by the hye waye and nether turne vnto the ryghte hāde nor to the lefte/ vntill we be past thy coun- tre. And Edom answered him: Se thou come not by me/ lest I come out agens the with the swerde. And the chyldren of Israel sayed vnto him: we will go by the beaten waye: and yf ether we or oure catell drynke of thy wa- ter/ we will paye for it/ we wyl do no moare but passe thozow by fote only. And he sayed: ye shall not go thozow. And Edom came out agens hym with moche people and with a myghtie power. And thus Edom denyed to geue Israel passage thozow his countre. And Israel turned a waye from him.

And the chyldren of Israel remoued from Cades and went vnto mount Moze with all the congregacion. And the Lord spake vnto Moses and Aaron in mount Moze/ harde vnto the colles of the lande of Edom sayenge: let Aaron be put vnto his people/ for he shall not come in to the lande which I haue geuen vnto the chyldren of Israel: because ye diso- beied my mouth at the water of stryfe. Take Aaron and Eleazar his sonne/ and bynge them vp in to mount Moze/ and streppe Aard out of his bestimentes and put them vpon Eleazar his sonne/ and let Aaron be put vnto his people and dye there.

And Moses dyd as the Lord commaun- ded: and they went vp in to mount Moze in the syghte of all the multitude. And Moses toke off Aarons clothes and put them vpon Elea- zar his sonne/ & Aaron dyed there in the toppe of the mount. And Moses and Eleazar came doune out of the mount. And all the house of Israel mourned for Aaron xxx. dayes.

¶ Israel vanqueth the kyng Arad. The fyre ser- pents bynge them: but when they loke at the byasen serpent which the Lord commaunded Moses to lyft vp/ they are healed. The kynges/ Sehon and Og are ouercome in batell.

The. xxi. Chapter.

And when kyng Arad the cananite which dwelt in the south partyes/ harde tell that Israel came by the waye that the spies had soude out he came & foughte with Israel & toke some of them prisoners. Then Israel bowed a bowe vnto the Lord and sayed: If thou wilt geue this people in to oure handes/ we wyl destroye theyr cyties. And the Lord herde the voyce of Israel/ and deliuered them the Cananites. And they destroyed both them & theyr cyties/ and called the place Horma.

Then

¶ Then they departed from mount Moze to- ward the redd see: to cōpasse the land of Edom. And the soules of the people faynted by the waye. And the people spake agens God and agens Moses: wherfore hast thou brought vs out of Egipte/ for to dye in the wylder- nesse for here is nether bread nor water/ and oure soules lotheth this dryghte bread.

¶ That is to saye/ that the Lord sent fyre serpentes amonge the people/ which stonge them: so that moche people dyed in Israel. And the people came to Moses and sayed: we haue synned/ for we haue spoken agens the Lord and agens the Lord sayde vnto Moses: make the a serpent and hange it vp for a sygne/ and lett as many as are bytten loke vpon it and they shall lyue.

¶ And Moses made a serpent of brasse & set it vp for a sygne. And when the serpentes had bytten any man/ he went and behelde the ser- pent of brasse and recovered.

And the chyldren of Israel remoued and pitched in Moab. And they departed from Moab and laye at Egebarim in the wylder- nesse which is before Moab on the east syde. And they remoued thence/ and pitched vpon the ryuer of zarad. And they departed thence and pitched on the other syde of Arad/ which ryuer is in the wylderneffe/ and cometh out of the colles of the Amozites: for Arad is the border of Moab/ betwene Moab & the Amo- rites. wherfore it is spoken in the booke of the warre of the Lord: goo with a byolence/ both on the ryuer of Arad and on the ryuers heed/ whiche shoteth doune to dwell at Ar/ & leaneth vpon the colles of Moab.

And fro thence they came to Bear/ whiche is the well wherof the Lord spake vnto Mo- ses: gather the people together/ that I maye geue them water. Then Israel sange this songe: Arype by well/ syng theerto: The well wyche the rulers dygged and the captaynes of the people in the helpe of the lawe geuer and with their stauers.

¶ And from this wylderneffe they went to Matania/ and from Matania to Mahalael/ & from Mahalael to Bamoth/ & from Bamoth to the balay that is in the felde of Moab in the toppe of Phalgah which boweth toward the south. And Israel sent messengers vnto Sehon/ kyng of the Amozites saying: let vs go thozow thy lande: we wyl not tourne in to thy felde nor in to thy bynepardes/ ne- ther drynke of the water of the welles: but we will go alonge by the comen waye/ vntill we be past thy countre. And Sehon wolde geue Israel no licence to passe thozow his countre/ but gathered all his people together & went out agens Israel in to the wylderneffe. And he came to Iabaza and foughte with Israel.

¶ And Israel smote him with the edge of the swerde & conquered his lande/ from Arnon vnto Iabock: eue vnto the chyldre of Ammon. For the borders of the chyldren of Ammon/ are stroge. And Israel toke all these cyties & dwelt in all the cyties of the Amozites: in Hesbon & in all the townes longe therto. For Hesbon was the citie of Sehon the kyng of the Amozites which Sehon had foughte before with the kyng of the Moabites/ and had take all his lande out of his hande/ eue vnto Arnon. wherfore it is a prouerbe/ go to Hesbon & lett the cytie of Sehon be bylt & made readye for there is a fyre gone out of Hesbon & a flame from the citie of Sehon & hath consumed Ar of the Moabites and the men of the hylls of Arad. Who be to the Moab: o people of Chamos ye are vndone. His sonnes are put to syghte and his daughters brought captiue vnto Sehon kyng of the Amozites. Their syghte is out from Hesbon vnto Dibon and we made a wylderneffe eue vnto Hophah whiche reacheth vnto Mediba.

¶ And thus Israel dwelt in the land of the Amo- rites. And Moses sent to serche oute Iazer/ & they toke the townes belongynge therto & conquered the Amozites that were there.

¶ And then they tourned & went by toward Balam. And Og the kyng of Balam came out agens them/ both he and all his people/ to warre at Iabzi. And the Lord sayde vnto Moses: feare hym not/ for I haue deliuered him in to thy handes with all his people & his lande. And thou shalt do to him as thou dydest to Sehon the kyng of the Amozites which dwelt at Hesbon. And they smote him & his sonnes and all his people/ vntill ther was nothyng left him. And they conquered his lande and the chyldre of Israel remoued and pitched in the felde of Moab/ on the other syde of Iordane/ by Jericho.

¶ Kyng Balam sendeth for Balam/ to the intent that he shuld curse Israel: but Balam can do nothyng agens the wyll of the Lord. Balam alle speaketh to him in the waye.

The. xxi. Chapter.

And Balam the sonne of Ziphor saue. ¶ All that Israel had done to the Amo- rites/ and the Moabites were toze were many/ and abhorred the chyldren of Is- rael: And Moab sayde vnto the elders of Moabian/ now shall this companye lyche by all that are rounde aboute vs/ as an oye lycketh by the grasse of the felde. And Balam the sonne of Ziphor was kyng of the Moa- bites at that tyme.

¶ b. And

*Deut. xxxii.

And he sent messengers vnto *Balam the sonne of Beor/ the interpreter whiche dwelt vpon the ryuer of the lande of the chyldren of his folke/ to call him sayinge: beholde/ there is a people come out of Egypte which couereth the face of the erthe and lyeth euē harde by me. Come nowe a felohippe and curse me this people. For they are to myghtie for me/ so perauenture I mighte be able to smyte them & to dryue them oute of the lande. For I wote þ whome thou blestest shalbe blest/ and whome thou curstest shalbe cursed.

And the elders of Moab went wth the elders of Midia/ & the rewarde of the sothe sayinge in their handes. And they came vnto Balam and tolde him the wordes of Balac. And he sayde vnto the/ tary here all night and I will byngge you worde/ euen as the Lorde shall saye vnto me. And the lordes of Moab abode with Balam.

And God came vnto Balam & sayd: what men are these which are with the? And Bala sayde vnto god: Balac the sonne of Ziphor kynge of Moab hath sent vnto me sayinge: beholde/ there is a people come out of Egypt and couereth the face of the erthe: come now therfore and curse me the/ that so perauenture I maye be able to ouercome the in battle/ & to dryue the out. And God sayde vnto Bala: thou shalt not go wth the/ nether curse the people/ for they are blessed.

And Balam rose by in the moynynge and sayde vnto the lordes of Balac: get you vnto your lande/ for the Lorde will not suffre me to go with you. And the lordes of Moab rose by & went vnto Balac and sayd: Bala wolde not come with vs. And Balac sent agayne a greater cōpanye of lordes & moze honora- ble then they. And they came to Balam and tolde him: Thus sayeth Balac the sonne of Ziphor: oh/ let nothyngge let the to come vnto me/ for I will greatly promote the vnto great honoure/ and will do whatsoeuer thou sayest vnto me/ come therfore I praye the/ curse me this people.

And Balam answered and sayde vnto þ seruantes of Balac. * If Balac wolde geue me his housfull of siluer and golde/ I can go no further then the worde of the Lorde my God/ to do lesse or moare. Neuerthelesse tarie ye here all nyghte: that I maye wete/ what the Lorde will saye vnto me once moare. And God came vnto Balam by nyghte and sayde vnto him: If the men come to sett the/ ryle by and go with them/ but what I saye vnto the/ that onye thou shalt do.

And Balam rose by early and sadde lye hys asse and went with the lordes of Moab. But God was angrie because he went. And the angell of the Lorde stode in the waye agenshim. And he ryd by þ his asse & two seruantes with him. And when the asse sawe the angell of the Lorde stande in the waye & his swerde drawen in his hand/ he turned a syde oute of the waye & went out in to the felde. And Balam smote þ asse/ to turne her in to þ waye.

And the angell of the Lorde went & stode in a path betwene þ vineyardes/ where was a wall on the one syde & another on þ other. When the asse sawe the angell of the Lorde/ he wrenched vnto the walle and thrust Balam's fote vnto the wall/ and he smote her agayn. And þ angel of the Lorde wēt forther and stode in a narowe place/ where was no waye to tourne/ ether to the ryght hande or to the lyfte. And when the asse sawe þ angell of the Lorde/ he fell downe vnder Balam: & Balam was wryth and smote the asse with a staffe. And the Lorde opened the mouthe of the asse/ & the asse sayde vnto Balam: what haue I done vnto the/ þ thou smyttest me thus. iij. tymes? And Balam sayde vnto the asse: be- cause thou hast mocked me? I wolde that I had a swerde in myne hande/ that I myghte now kyll the. And the asse sayd vnto Balam: am not I thyne asse whiche thou hast rydden vpon sence thou wast boine vnto this daye? Was I euer wont to do so vnto the? And he sayde/ nay.

And the Lorde opened the eyes of Balam þ he sawe the angell of the Lorde standinge in the waye/ with his swerde drawen in hys hande. And he bowed him selfe & fell flat on his face. And the angell of the Lorde sayde vnto him: wherfore smyttest thou thyne asse thus. iij. tymes? beholde I came oute to respyt the/ for the waye is contrary vnto me/ & the asse sawe me and auoyded me thre tymes: or else (had the not turned fro me) I had suerly slayne the and saued her alyue. And Balam sayde vnto the angell of the Lorde: I haue synned: for I wist not that thou stodest in the waye agest me. Now therfore yf it displease thyne eyes/ I will turne agayne. And þ angell sayd vnto Balam/ go with the men: but in any wyse/ what I saye vnto the/ þ saye. And Balam went with the lordes of Balac.

And when Balac herde that Balam was come he went out agens him vnto a cytie of Moab þ stode in þ border of Arad/ whiche was the vtmost parte of hys countre. And Balac sayd vnto Balam: dyd I not sende for the/ to call the? wherfore camest thou not vnto me? thinkest thou þ I am not able to promote þ vnto honoure? And Bala sayd vnto Balac: Loo I am come vnto the. But I can saye nothyng at all saue what God putteth in my mouthe that must I speake. And Balam went with Balac/ & they came vnto the *large cytie. And Balac offered oxen & shepe/and sent for Balam and for the lordes that were with him.

The. xxiij. Chapter.

And on the moynynge Balac toke Balam and brought hym by in to the hye place of Baal/ and thence he sawe vnto the vtmost parte of the people. And Balam sayde vnto Balac: bylde me here seuē alters & prouide here seuē bullockes and seuē rammes. And Balac dyd as Balam sayde. And Balac and Balam offered on euery alter a bullock and a ram. And Balam sayde vnto Balac: stande by the sacrifice/ whyle I goo to wete whether the Lorde will come & mete me/ & whatsoeuer he sheweth me/ I will tell the/ & he wēt forth with. And God came vnto Bala/ and Bala sayde vnto him: I haue prepared. vij. alters/ & haue offered vpon euery alter/ a bullock and a ram. And the Lorde put a sayinge in Balacs mouth and sayde: go agayn to Balac & saye on this wyse. And he went agayne vnto him and loo/ he stode by hys sacrifice/ both he and all the lordes of Moab. And he began his parable & sayde: Balac the kynge of Moab hath sett me fro Mesopotamia out of the mountaynes of the east sayinge: come and curse me Jacob/ come & despye me Israel. How shall I curse who God curseth not and how shall I despye whom the Lorde despyeth not? from the toppe of the rockes I se him & from the hylls I beholde hym: loo/ the people/ a shall dwell by him selfe & shall not be* rehened amōge other nacions. Who can tell the dust of Jacob and the nombze of the fourth parte of Israel. I praye God that my soule/ maye dye þ deeth of þ ryghteous/ and that my last ende maye be lyke his. And Balac sayde vnto Balam/ what hast thou done vnto me? I sett the to curse myne enemies: and beholde/ thou blestest the. And he answered and sayde: must I not kepe that & speake it/ which the Lorde hath put in my mouthe? And Balac sayde vnto him: Come I praye the/ to me vnto another place wher thou shalt se them/ & shalt se but the vtmostte parte of them/ and shalt not se them all and curse me them there. And he brought hym in to a playne felde where men myght se farre/ euen to the toppe of Phasgah/ & bylt. vij. alters and offered a bullock & a ram on euery alter. And he sayd vnto Balac: stande here by thy sacrifice whyle I goo yonder. And the Lorde mett Balam and put wordes in hys mouth and sayd: go agayne vnto Balac and thus saye. And whē he came to him: beholde/ he stode by hys sacrifice. and the Lordes of Moab with him. And Balac sayd vnto him: what sayeth the Lorde?

And he toke by his parable and sayde: ryle by Balac and heare/ & herken vnto me thou sonne of Ziphor. The Lorde is not a man/ that he can lye/ nether the sonne of a man þ he can repent: shulde he saye and not doo/ or shulde he speake and not make it good? beholde/ I haue begon to blese and haue blest/ and can not goo backe therfro. He be- helde no wickednesse in Jacob nor sawe I do- latrye in Israel: The Lorde his God is wth him/ and the *trumphe of a kynge amonge them. God that brought the out of Egypte/ is as the strength of an byrcozne vnto them/ for there is no sorcerer/ in Jacob/ nor soth- sayer in Israel. When the tyme cometh/ it will be sayde of Jacob and of Israel/ what God hath wrought. Beholde/ þ people shall ryle by as a lyoness and heue by hym selfe as a lyon/ and shall not lye downe agayne/ vntill he haue eaten of the praye and dzorhe of the bloude of them that are slayne.

And Balac sayde vnto Bala: nether curse them nor blese them. And Balam answered & sayde vnto Balac: tolde not I the sayinge: all that the Lorde byddeth me/ that I must doo? And Balac sayde vnto Balam: come I praye the/ I will byngge þ yet vnto another place: so perauenture it shall please God/ þ thou mayst curse them there. And Balac broughte Balam vnto the toppe of Peor/ that boweth towarde the wyldernes. And Balam sayde vnto Balac: make me here. vij. alters/ and prapare me here. vij. bullockes and. vij. rammes. And Balac dyd as Balam had sayde/ and offered a bullocke and a ram on euery alter.

Balam prophesieth of the kynghome of Israel and of the coming of Christ. Balac is angrie with Balam. The destruction of the Amelchites and of the Kemites.

The. xxiij. Chapter.

When Balam sawe that it pleased the Lorde that he shulde blese Israel/ he went not as he dyd twyse before to sett soth saying/ but sett his face towarde the wyldernes/ and lyfte by his eyes & loked vpon Israel as he laye with his trybes/ and the spire of God came vpon hym. And he toke by hys parable and sayde: Balam the sonne of Beor hath sayd/ & the man whose eye is open hath sayde: he hath sayd which heareth the wordes of God & seeth the visions of the almyghtie/ which falleth doune and his eyes are opened.

Of bowes when they shalbe kept and when not.

The .xxx. Chapter.

And Moyses spake vnto the heades of the trybes of the chyldzen of Israel saying: this is a thyng which the Lorde commaundeth. * If a man bowe a bowe vnto the Lorde or swere an othe and bynde his soule / he shall not goe backe with his worde: but shall fulfill all that proceadeth out of his mouth.

If a damsell bowe a bowe vnto the Lorde and bynde her selfe beyng in her fathers house and vnmarrid. If her father heare her bowe & bonde which she hath made vpon her soule / & holde his peace therto: then all her bowes & bondes which she hath made vpon her soule shall stande in effecte. But if her father forbyd her the same daye & he heareth it/ none of her bowes nor bondes whych she hath made vpon her soule shalbe of value / & the Lorde shall forgeue her / because her father forbad her.

If she had an husband when she bowed or pronounced oughte out of her lippes wherwith she bonde her soule / and her husbāde hearde it & helde his peace there at the same daye he hearde it: Then her bowes and her bondes wherwith she bonde her soule / shal stande in effecte. But if her husbāde forbade her the same daye that he heard it/ then hath he made her bowe which she had vpon her of none effecte / & that also which she pronounced in her lippes wherwith she bonde her soule / & the Lorde shall forgeue her.

The bowe of a wedowe and of her that is deuorced / & all that they haue bounde their soules with all / shall stande in effecte to the.

If she bowed in her husbādes house or bounde her soule with an oth / & her husbāde hearde it and helde his peace and forbade her not: then all her bowes & bondes wherwith she bound her soule / shall stande. But if her husbāde disauiled them the same daye that he heard them/ then nothyng & proceeded out of her lippes in bowes & bound / wherwith she bounde her soule shall stande in effecte: for her husbāde hath loused them. And the Lorde shall forgeue her.

All bowes & othes that bynde to humble the soule / maye her husbāde stablysh or bryake. But if her husbāde holde hys peace for one daye vnto another then he stablysheth all her bowes & bondes which she had vpon her/ because he helde his peace the same daye & he heard the. And if he afterwarde bryake them/ he shall beare her synne him selfe.

These are the ordynaunces whych the Lorde commaunded Moyses / betwene a mā and hys wyfe / and betwene the father & hys daughter/ beyng a damsell in her fathers

And Moses sayd vnto the chyldren of Gad & of Ruben: Shall poure brethren go to warre & ye tarye here? wherfoze discourage ye the hertes of the chyldren of Israel for to go ouer in to the lande whych the Lord hath geuen them. ¶ They dyd poure fathers / when I sent them from Cades barne to see the lande. And they went by euen vnto the ryuer of Escol and sawe the lande / and discouraged the hertes of the chyldren of Israel: & they wylde not go in to the lande whych the Lord had geuen them.

And the Lord was wroth the same tyme and sware sayinge. ¶ None of the men that came out of Egypte from twenty yere olde and aboue / shall see the lande whych I swore vnto Abraham / Isaac and Jacob / because they haue not continually folowed me: saue Caleb the sonne of Jephune the Benesite /

For yf ye tourne awaye from after him / he wyllyet agayn leaue y people in the wyldernesse / so shall ye destroye all this folke. And they went nere him and sayde: we wyllye the shepfoldes here for oure shepe & for oure catell / and cyties for oure chyldren: But we oure selues wyllye go ready armed before the chyldren of Israel / vntyll we haue brought the vnto their place. And oure chyldren shall dwell in the fenced cyties / because of the inhabitants of the lande. And we wyllye not retourne vnto oure houses / vntyll the chyldren of Israel haue enhereted: euery man his enheritaunce. For we wyllye not enheret with them on yonder syde Jordan forwarde / because oure enheritaunce is failed to vs on this syde Jordan eastwarde.

And Moses sayde vnto them: ¶ If ye wyllye do this thyng / that ye wyllye go all harnessed before the Lord to warre / and will go all of you in harnesse ouer Jordan before the Lord / vntyll he haue cast out his enemyes before him / & vntyll the lande be subdued before the Lord / then ye shall retourne & be wythout synne agest the Lord & agest Israel / and this lande shall be poure possession before the Lord. But & yf ye wyllye not do so / beholde / ye synne agest the Lord: & be sure poure synne wyllye fynde you out. Wylde poure cyties for poure chyldren & fouldes for poure shepe / & se ye do that ye haue spoken. And the Chyldren of Gad and of Ruben spake vnto Moses sayinge: thy seruantes wyllye do as my lord commaundeth. Oure chyldren oure wyues substaice & all oure catell shall remayne here in the cyties of Galaad. But we thy seruantes wyllye go all harnessed for y warre vnto battell before the Lord / as my lord hath sayde.

And the chyldren of Gad & Ruben answered sayinge: that which the Lord hath sayd vnto thy seruantes we wyllye

And Moses gaue vnto the chyldren of Gad and of Ruben & vnto halfe the trybe of Manasse the sonne of Joseph / the kyngdome of Sehon / kyng of the Amozites / and the kyngdome of Og kyng of Basan / the land that longed vnto the cyties therof in y costes of the countre rounde aboute. And the chyldren of Gad bylte Dibon / ataroth / Aroer / Atroth / Sophan / Jaaser / Jegabea / Bethnira and Betharan fencend cyties / & they bylte fouldes for the shepe. And the chyldren of Ruben bylte Heshbon / Eleale / Kirathaim / Bebo / Baal / Meon & turned their names / and Sibama also: and gaue names vnto the cyties which they bylt.

And Jashir the sonne of Manasse wet and toke the small townes therof / and called them the townes of Jashir. And Nobah went and toke kenath with the townes longynge therto / & called it Nobah after his awne name.

I When we tourned & toke oure iourney into the wyldernesse / euen the waye to the read see as the Lorde cōmaunded me. And we cōpassed the mountayns of Seir a longe tyme. Then the Lorde spake vnto me sayinge: Ye haue cōpassed these moztayns lōge ynough / tourneye you northward. And warne þ people sayinge: Ye shall gothow the costes of youre bze / thē þ chyldre of Esau which dwell in Seir / & they shalbe afrayed of you: But take good heade vnto youre selues that ye pzoouke the not / for I will not geue you of their lande / no not so moch as a fote bzeade: because I haue geue mozt Seir vnto Esau to possesse. Ye shall bye meate of the for money to eate / and ye shall bye water of them for money to

And when we were departed frō oure bze / thē the chyldre of Esau which dwell in Seir by the felde waye frō Elath & Ezion Gaber / we turned and went the waye to the wyldernesse of Moab. Then the Lorde sayd vnto me se þ thou beere not the Moabites / nether pzoouke the to battell for I will not geue þ of their lande to possesse: because I haue geuen Ar vnto the chyldren of Loth to possesse. The Emims dwell therein in times past / a people greute / many & tall / as the Enakims: which also were take for geauntes as the Enakims: And the Moabites called the Emims in lyke maner þ Mozims dwell in Seir before tyme which the chyldre of Esau cast out / & destroyed the before them & dwell there in their stede: as Israel byd in the lande of hys possession which the Lorde gaue them. Now ryse vp (sayd I) & get you ouer the ryuer Jareb: & we wēt ouer þ ryuer Jareb. The space in which we came frō Cades barne vntill we were come ouer þ ryuer Jareb was xxxiiij. peres: vntill all the generacion of the men of warre were wasted out of the host as the Lorde sware vnto the. For in dede the hande of the Lorde was agens the to destroye the out of the host / till they were consumed.

And as soone as all the men of warre were cōsumed & deed frō amonge the people / then the Lorde spake vnto me sayinge. Thou shalt gothow Ar the coste of Moab this daye / & shalt come nye vnto the chyldre of Ammon: se þ thou beere the not / nor yet pzoouke the. For I will not geue the of the lade of the chyldren of Ammon to possesse / because I haue geue it vnto the chyldren of Loth to possesse. That also was take for a lande of geauntes & geauntes dwell therein in olde tyme / & the Ammonites called the Zazumims. A people that was great / many & tall / as the Enakims. Then I sent messengers out of the wildernesse of the easte vnto Sehon kyng of Heshon / w wothes of peace sayinge: * Let me go thow to thy lande. I will go al wayes alonge by the hye waye & will nether turne vnto the righte hande nor to the left. Sell me meate for money for to eate / & geue me drinke for money for to drinke. And the Lorde sayde vnto me: beholde I haue begonne to let Sehon & his lande be: foze the go to & conquere / þ thou mayst possesse his lande. Then both Sehon and all his people came out agens vs vnto battell at Jazaza. And the Lorde set him before vs / & we smote hym and his sonnes & all hys people.

And we toke al his cities the same ceason and destroyed all the cities with men / wemē and chyldren & let nothinge remayne / saue þ catell only we caught vnto oure selues & the spoyles of the cities which we toke / frō Aror vpon the bynke of the ryuer of Arnon / and the cite in the ryuer vnto Galaad: there was not one cite to stronge for vs. The Lorde oure God delpyuered all vnto vs: only vnto þ lande of the chyldren of Ammon ye came not nor vnto all the coste of þ ryuer Jabbok nor vnto þ cities in þ moztaynes / nor vnto what soeuer the Lorde oure God forbade vs.

I When we turned & wēt by the waye to Balan. * And Og þ kyng of Balan came out agens vs: bothe he & all his people to battell at Edrai. And the Lorde sayde vnto me: feare him not for I haue deliuered him & al his people & his land in to thy hand & thou shalt deale w him as thou dealedst w Sehon kyng of þ Amozites which dwell at Heshon. And so þ Lorde oure God delpyuered in to oure handes / Og also the kyng of Balan & al his folcke. And we smote him vntill noughte was left him.

And we toke all his cities the same ceason (for there was not a cite which we toke not frō them) euen. iij. scoze cities / al the regio of Argob / the kyngdome of Og in Balan. All these cities were made stronge w hye wallis gates & barres / besyde * vnto walled townes & greute meanye. And we utterly destroyed the / as we played with Sehon kyng of Heshon bringing to nought al þ cities w men / wemē and chyldren. But all the catell & the spoyles of the cities / we caught for oure selues.

And thus we toke þ same ceason / þ lande out of þ hande of two kynges of þ Amozites on the other syde Jordan / from the ryuer of Arnon vnto mozt Hermon (which Hermon & Sidons call Sirion / but the Amozites call it Seny) al þ cities in þ playne & al Galaad & al Balan vnto Salecha & Edrai / cities of the kyngdome of Og in Balan. For only Og kyng of Balan remayned of the remnaūt of þ geauntes: beholde / his pzo bed is yet at Rabah amonge the chyldre of Ammon. ix. cubytes longe & iij. cubytes bzyde / of þ cubites of a mā. And when we had conquered this lade the same tyme / I gaue from Aror which is vpon the ryuer of Arnon / & halfe mozt Galad & the cities therof vnto the Rubenites / & Gadites. And the rest of Galaad & all Balan the kyngdome of Og / I gaue vnto þ halfe trybe of Manasse: all the region of Argob with al / Balan was called þ lande of geauntes. Jaire þ sonne of Manasse toke al þ regio of Argob vnto þ costes of Geshuri & Maachati (called C) them after his owne name: Balan * Hauoth Jaire vnto this daye. And I gaue halfe Galaad vnto Machir. But the Lorde was angrie with me for your sake & wolde not heare me / but layed vnto me / be content / and speake henceforth no moare vnto me of this matter. * Get the by in to the toppe of Phalgah & lifte by thine eyes west / north / south and east / and beholde it with thine eyes for thou shalt not go ouer this Jordan. The. iii. Chapter.

And now herken I Israel vnto the ordinaunces & lawes which I teache you / for to do them / that ye maye lyue & go and conquire the lande which the Lorde God of your fathers geueth you. Ye shall put nothinge vnto the worde which I commaunde you neither do ought therfrom / that ye maye kepe the commaundmentes of the Lorde your God which I commaunde you. Your eyes haue sene what the Lorde dyd vnto Baal Peor: for all the men that folowed Baal Peor / the Lorde your God hath destroyed fro amonge you. But ye that claue vnto the Lorde your God are alwey euery one of you this daye. Beholde / I haue taught you ordinaunces & lawes soche as the Lorde my God commaunded me that ye shulde do euē so in the lande whether ye go to possesse it.

a. To put to the word and to take awaye therfro is to Judge thynck otherwyl of the wyl of god then is shewed vs in the scrip ture / as in Deu. xii. b. Power xxx. a.

Isal. xlv. b.

Kepe them therfore and do them * for that is your wisdom and vnderstandynge in the sighte of the nacjons: which when they haue herde all these ordinaunces / shall saye: What a wylde and vnderstandynge people is this greates nacion. For what nacion is so greates that hath Goddes so nye vnto hym: as the Lorde our God is nye vnto vs in all thinges / when we call vnto him: Ye / & what nacion is so greates that hath ordinaunces and lawes so ryghteouse / as all this lawe which I sett before you this daye.

Take hede to thy selfe therfore only & kepe thy soule diligently / that thou forget not the thinges which thine eyes haue sene / & that they departe not out of thine harte / all the dayes of thy lyfe: but teach them thy sonnes & teach and thy sonnes sonnes. The daye that I stode your chylde before the Lorde your God in Horeb / when he sayde vnto me / gether me the people together / that I may make the heare my wordes that they maye lerne to feare me as longe as they lyue vnto the erth and that they maye teache their chyliden: ye came and stode also vnder the hyll / and the hyll burnt with fire: euen vnto the myddes of heauen / and there was darcknesse / clowdes and myst. And the Lorde spake vnto you out of the fyre and ye herde the voyce of the wordes: but sawe no ymage / saue herde a voyce only.

And he declared vnto you his couenaunt / which he commaunded you to do / euen x. verses & wrote the in two tables of stone. And the Lorde commaunded me the same ceas to teache you ordinaunces & lawes / for to do them in the lande whether ye go to possesse it.

Take hede vnto your selues diligently as pertaynyng vnto your soules / for ye sawe no maner of ymage the daye when the Lorde spake vnto you in Horeb out of the fyre lest ye marre your selues & make you graue ymages after what soeuer likenesse it be: whether after the likenesse of man or woman or any maner beast that is on the erth or of any maner feathered foule that flyeth in the ayre / or of any maner worme that crepeth on the erth or of any maner fyth that is in the water beneth the erth: Ye and lest thou lyfte by thine eyes vnto heuen / & when thou seyst the sonne and the mone and the starres and what soeuer is contayned in heauē / shuldest be deceyued and shuldest bowe thy selfe vnto them and serue the thinges which the Lorde thy God hath distributed vnto all nacjons that are vnder all quarters of heauen.

For the Lorde toke you and broughte you out of the yron forname of Egypte / to be vnto him a people of enheritaunce / as it is come to passe this daye. Forthermoare / the Lorde was angrie w me for your sake & sware / that I shulde not go ouer Jordan and that I shulde not go vnto that good lande / which the Lorde thy God geueth & to enheritaunce. For I must dye in this lande / & shall not go ouer Jordan. But ye shall go ouer and conquire that good lande.

Take hede vnto your selues therfore / & ye forgett not the appoyntment of the Lorde your God which he made with you / & that ye make you no grauen ymage of what soeuer it be that the Lorde thy God hath forbidden the. For the Lorde thy God is a consuming fyre / and a gelouse God.

After thou hast gotten chyliden and chyliden chyliden and hast dwelt longe in the lande / ye shall marre your selues and make grauen grauen ymages after the liknesse of what soeuer it be / and shall worke wickednesse in the sighte of the Lorde thy God / to prouoke him to anger. And I call heauen and erth to recorde vnto you this daye / that ye shall shortly perishe fro of the lande whether ye go ouer Jordan to possesse it: ye shall not prolonge your dayes therein but shall shortly be destroyed. And the Lorde shall shater you amonge nacjons / & ye shall be lesse fewe in nobre amonge people whether the Lorde shall byynge you: and there ye shall serue goddes which are the workes of mans hande / wood & stone which nether se nor heare nor eate nor smell.

Neuerthelater ye shall seke the Lorde your God euen there / and shall fynde him yf thou seke him w all thine herte and with all thy soule. In thy trybulacion and when all these thinges are come vpon the / euen in the later dayes / thou shalt turne vnto the Lorde thy God / and shalt herken vnto his voyce. For the Lorde thy God is a pitiefull God: he wyl not forsake & nether destroye & nor forget & apoyntemet made w thy fathers which he sware vnto the.

For aske I praye the of the dayes that are past which were before the / sence the daye the God created man vpon the erth and from the one fynde of heauen vnto the other whether any thinge hath bene lyke vnto this greates thinge or whether any soche thinge hath bene herde as it is / & a nacjon hath heard & voyce of God speakinge out of fyre as thou hast herde and yet lyued: ether whether God assayed to go and take him a people from amonge nacjons / thoze temptacions and sygnes and wondres & thoze warre & with a myghtye hande and a stretched out arme and wpyth myghtye terrible fyghtes / acorpyng vnto all that the Lorde your God dyd vnto you in Egypte before your eyes.

Vnto the it was shewed / & thou myghtest knowe / how that the Lorde he is God and there is none but he. * Out of heauen he made the heare his voyce to nourter the / and vpon erth he shewed the his greates fyre / and thou heardest his wordes out of the fyre. And because he loued thy fathers / therfore he chose their seed after them and broughte the out with his presence and with his myghtye power of Egypte: to thrust out nacjons greater & myghtier then thou before & to bynge the in & to geue & their lande to enheritaunce: as it is come to passe this daye.

Vnderstande therfore this daye and turne it to thine herte / that the Lorde he is God in heauen aboue and vpon the erth beneth there is no moore: kepe therfore his ordinaunces / & his commaundmentes which I commaunde the this daye / that it maye go well with the & w thy chyliden after the & that thou mayst pzo-

* Then Moses leuered. iii. cities on the other syde Jordan towards the sonne ryfynge / & he shuld flee thither which had kyled his neyghbour vnto mares and hated hym not in tyme past & therfore shulde flee vnto one of these cities & lyue: Bezer in the wilderness eue in the playne contre amonge the Rubenites: & Ramoth in Galaad amonge the Gadites: & Solan in Basan amonge the Manassites.

This is the lawe which Moses set before the chyliden of Israel / and these are the witnessnes / ordinaunces & statutes which Moses tolde the chyliden of Israel after they came out of Egypte / on the other syde Jordan in the baleye helyde Beth Phoez in the lande of Sehon kinge of the Amorites which dwelt at Heshbon / who Moses & the chyliden of Israel smote after they were come out of Egypte / & conquered his lande and the lande of Og kinge of Basan. ii. kynges of the Amorites on the other syde Jordan towards the sonne ryfynge: from Aroer vpon the banche of the ryuer Arnon vnto Mount Syon which is called Hermō and all the felde on the other syde Jordan eastwarde: euen vnto the see in the felde vnder the springes of Phalgah.

And Moses called vnto all Israel & layed vnto them: Heare I Israel the ordinaunces and lawes which I speke in thine eares this daye / and lerne them and take hede that ye do the. The Lorde our God made an appoyntmet with vs in Horeb. The Lorde made not this boode with our fathers / but with vs: we are they / which are all here a lyue this daye. The Lorde talked with you face to face in the mount out of the fyre. And I stode betwene the Lorde and you the same tyme / to shewe you the sayinge of the Lorde. For ye were laye / with the afraied of the fyre and therfore went not by manifest woordes and sygnes that it cannot be denyed but Egypte & house of bondage. The ix. Chapter. Care Israel / thou goest ouer Jordan this daye / to go & conquere naciōs greater and mightier then thy selfe and cities grete and walled vp to heauen / and people grete and tall / euen the chyldzen of the Enakims / which thou knowest and of whom thou hast herde saye who is able to stand before the chyldze of Enak.

But vnderstande this daye that the Lozde thy God which goeth ouer before p a consuming fire / he fire / he shall destroye them and he shall subdue them before the. And thou shalt cast the out / and bynge them out / and bynge them to noughte quychely as the Lozde hath sayed vnto the.

Speake not in thynne herte / after that the Lozde thy God hath cast them out before p sayinge: for my righteounes the Lozde hath brought me in to possesse thys lande.

But for the wickednesse of these naciōs the Lozde doth cast the out before p. It is not for thy righteounes sake & right hert that thou goest to possesse the lande: But partly for the wickednesse of these naciōs / & partly to perforce that whych the Lozde thy God swaue vnto thy fathers / Abraham / Isaac & Jacob.

Vnderstand therfore that it is not for thy righteounes sake / p the Lozde thy God doth geue the this good land to possesse it / for thou art a stiffnecked people. Remember & forget not how thou prouokedest the Lozde thy God in the wilderness: for since the daye that thou camest out of the land of Egypte vntyl ye came vnto this place / ye haue rebelled agens the Lozde.

Also in Horeb ye angred the Lozde so that the Lozde was wroth with you / euen to haue destroyed you / after that I was gone vp in to the mount / to sett the tables of stone the tables of appoyntment which the Lozde made with you.

And I abode in the hyll. x. dayes and x. nightes & nether ate bread noz dranke water. And the Lozde deliuered me two tables of stone wrytten with the synger of God / and in them was accordyng to all the wordes which the Lozde sayed vnto you in the mount out of the fyre in the daye when the people were gathered together.

And when the. x. dayes & x. nightes were ended / the Lozde gaue me the two tables of stone / the tables of the testament / and sayde vnto me. * Wyp / and get the doune quychely from hence / for thy people whych thou hast broughte out of Egypte / haue marred them selues. They are turned attonce out of the waye / whych I commaunded them / & haue made them a God of metall.

Furthermoze the Lozde spake vnto me sayinge: I se thys people how that it is a stiffnecked people / let me alone that I maye destroye them and put out the name of them from vnder heauen / and I will make of the a naciō both greater and mo than they.

And I turned awaye and came doune fro the hyll (and the hyll burnt with fyre) & had p two tables of the appoyntment in my handes. And when I looked & sawe that ye had synned agens the Lozde your God & had made you a calfe of metall and had turned attonce out of the waye whiche the Lozde had commaunded you * whē I toke the two tables & cast them out of my two handes / & brake thei before your eyes. For I was afrayed of the wrath & fearnesse wherewith the Lozde was angrie w you / euen for to haue destroyed you. But the Lozde herde my petycyon at that tyme also.

The Lozde was very angrie with Aaron also / euen for to haue destroyed him: But I made intercession for Aaron also p same tyme. And I toke your synne / the calfe whych ye had made & burnt him w fyre & staped him & grounde him a good / eue vnto smal dust. And I cast the dust therof in to the broke that descended out of the mount. Also at Chabarah & at Dalah & at the sepulchres of lust ye angred the Lozde / yee and when the Lozde sent you from Cades Barne sayinge: go by & cōquere the land whiche I haue geuen you / ye disobeyed the mouth of the Lozde your God & nether beleued him noz herkened vnto his voyce. And I fell before the Lozde. x. dayes and x. nightes whiche I laye there / for the Lozde praye. was mynded to haue destroyed you. But I made intercession vnto the Lozde & sayed. * Lozde God / destroye not thy people & thynne enheritaunce whych thou hast deliuered thowow thy greatnesse and whych thou hast brought out of Egypte with a mightie hand. Remember thy seruantes Abraham / Isaac & Jacob & loke not vnto the stubbornnesse of this people noz vnto their wickednesse & synne: lest the lande whence thou broughtest the saye: Because the Lozde was not able to bynge them in to the lande whiche he prometed them and because he hated the / therfore he carped them out to destroye them in the wilderness. Wherouer they are thy people and thynne enheritaunce / whych thou broughtest out with thy myghtye power and with thy stretched out arme.

For the Lord thy God hath chosen him out of all the trybes to stande and to minister in the name of the Lord: bothe hym & his sonnes for ever. If a Leuite come out of any of thy cyties or any place of Israel / wher he is a sojourner / & come wyth all the lust of his herte unto the place which the Lord hath chosen: he shall there minister in the name of the Lord his God as all his brethren the Leuites do which stande there before the Lord. And they shall haue lyke porcyons to eate / besyde that which cometh to hym of the patrimonye of his elders.

When thou art come in to the lande which the Lord thy God geueth thee / se that thou lerne not to do after the abhominacions of these nacions. Let ther not be founde among you that maketh his sonne or daughter to go thowow the fyre / or that bleseth with crasse / or choseth oute of dayes or that regardeth the syde of souer / or a sojourn / or a charmar / or that consocieth wyth sprites / or a propheticar / or that asketh the aduise of the deed. The xix. Chapter.

When the Lord thy God hath destroyed the nacions whose lande the Lord thy God geueth thee / & thou hast conquered the & dwellest in their cities and in their houses: thou shalt appoynte cities in the lande which the Lord thy God geueth thee to possesse it: thou shalt prepare waye & deuyde the costes of the lande which the Lord thy God geueth thee to enheret / in to iii. partes & whosoever comytteth murder may flee thither. And this is the cause of the slayer that shall flee thither and be saued: If he smyte his neyghboure ignorantly & hated him not in tyme passed: As wher a man goeth vnto the wood wyth his neyghboure to hew wood / & as his hande fetcheth a stroke with the axe / the head slippeth fro the helue & smyteth his neyghboure that he dyes: the same shall flee vnto one of these cities and be saued. Let the executer of bloude folowe after the slayer while he is hert is whole and ouertake him / because the waye is longe / and flee hym / & yet there is no cause worthy of death in hym / in as moche as he hated not his neyghbour in tyme passed. Wherfore I commaunde sayinge se that thou appoynte out iii. cyties.

And if the Lord thy God enlarge thy costes as he hath sworne vnto thy fathers and geue the all the lande which he sayde he wold geue vnto thy fathers / so that thou kepe all these commaundmentes to do them / which I commaunde the this daye / that thou loue the Lord thy God & walke in his wayes euer / thou shalt adde iii. cities mo vnto those. If innocent bloude be not shed in the lande which the Lord thy God geueth thee to enheret / & so bloude come vnto the. But and if there be any man that hateth his neyghboure and layeth awayte for hym & riseth agaynst him & smyteth him & he dyes / & fleeth vnto any of these cyties. Then let the elders of his cytye sende & fetch him thence & deliuer him in to the handes of the iustice of bloude / & he shall dye / Let thine eye haue no pitie on him / & so thou shalt put away innocent bloude from Israel / & happye arte thou. Thou shalt not remoue thy neyghbours marke which they of olde tyme haue sett in thine inheritance & thou enherettest in the lande which the Lord thy God geueth thee to enfore it.

And if any man haue planted a vine yarde & haue not made it comen / let him go & returne agayne vnto his house / lest he dye in the battell and another make it comen. And if any man be betraued vnto a wyfe and haue not taken her / let him go & returne agayne vnto his house / lest he dye in the battell and another take her.

And let the officers speake further vnto the people and saye: If any man feare & be faynte / herted / let him go and returne vnto his house lest his brothers herte be made faynte as well as his. And when the officers haue made an ende of speakinge vnto the people / let them make captaynes of warre ouer them.

When thou comest nye vnto a citie to fight agest it / offre the peace. And if they answer the agayne peasably / and open vnto the / then let all the people that is founde therein be tributaries vnto the and serue the. But if they will make no peace with the / then make warre agest the citie and besege it. And when the Lord thy God hath deliuered it in to thyne handes / smyte al males therof with the egde of the swerde / saue the women and the chyldren and the catell & all that is in the cytye and all the spoyle therof take vnto thy selfe & eate the spoyle of thyne enemyes which the Lord thy God geueth thee. Thus thou shalt do vnto al the cyties which are a greute waye of from the and not of the cities of these nacions.

But in the cities of these nacions which the Lord thy God geueth thee to enheret / thou shalt saue alpye nothinge & brethren. But thou shalt destroy the with out redemption / both the Hethites / the Amorites / the Canaanites / the Pherezites / the Heuites & the Jebusites / as the Lord thy God hath comaunded the / & they teach you not to do after al their abhominacions which they do vnto their goddes / & so shude synne agest the Lord your God.

Wher thou hast beseged a citie longe tyme in makinge warre agest it to take it / destroye not the trees therof / & thou woldest thrust an are vnto the. For thou mayst eate of the / and therfore destroy the not. For the trees of the felde are no men / & they myght come agest the to besege the. Whereafter those trees which thou knowest that men eate not of the / thou mayst destroye & cutte them downe and make bolwerkes agest the citie that maketh warre with the / vntill it be ouerthrowne.

And Moses with 8 elders of Israel comanded 8 people saying: kepe all the comaundermentes whych I comaunde you this daye. * And whē ye be come ouer Jordan vnto 8 lande whych the Lorde thy God geueth the / set by greates stones and playster them wyth playster / and wyte vpon the all the wordes of this lawe / whē thou arte come ouer: 8 thou mayst come in to 8 lande whych the Lorde thy God geueth the: a land that floweth with mylke & honye as the Lorde God of thy fathers hath promysed the. whē ye be come ouer Jordan / se that ye set by these stones whych I comaunde you this daye in mount Ebal / & playster the wyth playster. And there bylde vnto the Lorde thy God / * an altare of stones and se thou yfte by no yron vpon them: But thou shalt make the altare of 8 Lorde thy God of rough stones and offer burntofferings thereon vnto the Lorde thy God. And thou shalt offer peace-offerings and shalt eate there and reioyse before the Lorde thy God. And thou shalt wyte vpon the stones all the wordes of this lawe / manifestly and well.

And Moses with 8 preastes the Leuites spake vnto all Israel saying: take hede and heare Israel / this daye thou art become the people of the Lorde thy God. Herke therefore vnto the voyce of the Lorde thy God & do his comaundermentes & his ordinaunces whych I comaunde you this daye. And Moses charged the people the same daye saying. These shall stande vpon mount Garizim to blesse the people / when ye are come ouer Jordan: Symeon / Leui / Juda / Issachar / Joseph and Benjamin. And these shall stande vpon mount Ebal to curse: Ruben / Gad / Aser / Zabulon / Dan & Nephthali. And 8 Leuites shall be gynnē & saye vnto all the men of Israel with a loude voyce.

* Cursed be he that maketh any carved ymage or ymage of metall (an abhominacyō vnto the Lorde / the worke of the handes of 8 craftesman) and putteth it in a secret place: and all 8 people shall answere & saye Amen.

* Cursed be he 8 curseth his father or his mother / and all the people shall saye Amen. Cursed be he 8 remoueth his neyghbours marke and all the people shall saye Amen.

Cursed be he that maketh 8 blynde go out of his waye / & all the people shall saye Amē.

* Cursed be he that hyndreth the ryght of 8 stranger / fatherlesse and wedowe / and all the people shall saye Amen.

Cursed be he that lyeth wyth his fathers wyfe because he hath opened his fathers couerynge / and all the people shall saye Amen.

Cursed be he that lyeth wyth any maner beast / and all the people shall saye Amen.

Cursed be he 8 lyeth w his sytler whether he be the daughter of his father or of his mother / and all the people shall saye Amen.

Cursed be he that lyeth wyth his mother in lawe / and all the people shall saye Amen.

Cursed be that smyteth his neyghboure secretly / and all the people shall saye Amen.

The promys of the blessynges vnto them that regard the comaundermentes: and the curses to the contrarye.

The xxviii. Chapter.

If thou shalt herke diligently vnto the voyce of the Lorde thy God / to obserue & to do all his comaundermentes whych I comaunde the this daye. The Lorde wyll set 8 on hye aboue all naciōs of the erth. And all these blessynges shall come on the and ouer take the / yf thou shalt herken vnto the voyce of the Lorde thy God. Blessed shalt thou be in the towne and blessed in the felde / blessed shalt be the frute of thy body / the frute of thy grounde and the frute of thy catell / the frute of thyne oren / & thy flockes of shepe / blessed shalt thyne aulmery be and thy store. Blessed shalt thou be / both when thou goest out / and blessed when thou comest in. * The Lorde shall smyte thine enemies that ryle agens the before thy face they shall come out agens the one waye / & flee before the seven wayes. The Lorde shall comaunde the blessyng to be with the in thy store houses & in all that thou settest thyne hande to / & wyll blesse the in the lande whych the Lorde thy God geueth the.

The Lorde shall make 8 an holpe people vnto him selfe / as he hath swore vnto the: yf thou shalt kepe the comaundermentes of the Lorde thy God and walke in his wayes.

And all naciōs of the erth shall se 8 thou arte called after the name of the Lorde / and they shall be aserue of the. And the Lorde shall make the plētuous in goodes / in the frute of thy body / in the frute of thy catell and in the frute of thy grounde / in the lande whych the Lorde sware vnto thy fathers to geue the.

* The Lorde shall open vnto the his good treasure / euen the heauen / to geue rayne vnto thy lande in due reason and to blesse all the laboures of thyne hāde. And thou shalt lende vnto many naciōs / but shalt not nede to borrowe thy selfe. And the Lorde shall set the before and not behynde / & thou shalt be aboue only and not beneath: yf that thou herke vnto the comaundermentes of the Lorde thy God whych I comaunde the this daye to kepe and to do to do them. And se that thou bome not from any of these wordes whych I comaunde the this daye: ether to the ryght hande or to the left / that thou woldest go after straunge goddes to serue them.

But and yf thou wilt not herken vnto the voyce of the Lorde thy God to kepe and to do all his comaundermentes and ordinaunces whych I comaunde the this daye: then * all these curses shall come vpon the & ouertake 8: Cursed shalt thou be in 8 towne / & cursed in the felde / cursed shalt thyne aulmery be & thy store. Cursed shall the frute of thy body & the frute of thy lande be & the frute of thyne oren & the flockes of thy shepe. And cursed shalt thou be when thou goest in / & whē thou goest out. And the Lorde shall sende vpon the cursyng / goyng to nought & cōplaynyng in all that thou settest thyne hande to whatsoeuer thou doest: vntyll thou be destroyed & brought to nought quychely / because of the wickednesse of thyne inuenciōs in that thou hast forsaken the Lorde. And the Lorde shall make the pestilence cleaue vnto the / vntyll he haue consumed the from the lande whether thou goest to enioye it. * And the Lorde shall smyte the with swellynge / with feuers / beet / burnynge / wetherynge / with smytynge and blastynge. And they shall folowe the vntyll thou perishe.

* And the heauē that is ouer thy head shall be brass / & the erthe that is vnder the yerd. And 8 Lorde shall turne the rayne of 8 land vnto powder & dust: euen from heauen they shall come doune vpon the / vntyll thou be brought to nought. And 8 Lorde shall plage the before thyne enemies: thou shalt come out one waye agens them / and flee seven wayes before the / & shalt be scattered amonge all 8 kingdomes of 8 erthe. And thy carthelle shall be meate vnto all maner foules of the ayre and vnto the beast of the erthe / and no man shall fraye them awaye.

* And the Lorde wyll smyte the with the botches of Egypte and the emozodes / scalle & magynesse / that thou shalt not be healed therof. And the Lorde shall smyte the with madnesse / blyndnesse & darynge of herte. And thou shalt grope at none dayes as the blynd gropeth in darkenesse / and shalt not come to 8 ryght awaye. And thou shalt suffer wōge only & be polled euermore / and no mā shall soke the / thou shalt be betrawthed vnto a wyfe / and another shall lye with her. * Thou shalt byde an house and another shall dwell therein. Thou shalt plante a vyneyard / and shalt not make it comen. Thyne oren shall be slayne before thyne eyes / and thou shalt not eate therof. Thyne ass shall be violently takē awaye eue before thy face / and shalt not be restored the agayne. Thy shepe shall be geuen vnto thyne enemies / and no mā shall helpe the. Thy sonnes and thy daughters shall be geuen vnto another nacyon / and thyne eyes shall se and dale vpon them all daye lenge / but shalt haue no myghte in thyne hāde. The frute of thy lande and all thy laboures shall a nacyon whith thou knowest not / eate / and thou shalt but suffice byolence only & be oppressed alwaye: that thou shalt be cleane besyde thy selfe for the syghte of thyne eyes whith thou shalt se.

The Lorde shall smyte the with a myscheuous botche in the knees & legges / so 8 thou canst not be healed: euen from the sole of the fote vnto the toppe of the head.

* The Lorde shall byryng both the and thy kynge whith thou hast sett ouer the / vnto a nacyon whith nether thou nor thy fathers haue knowne / and there thou shalt serue strange goddes: eue wodd & stone. And thou shalt go to waste & be made an ensample / & a testynge stocke vnto all naciōs whether 8 Lorde shall carpe the. Thou shalt carie moch seed out in to the felde & shalt gether but lyle in: for 8 grethoppers shall destroye it. Thou shalt plante a vyneyard & dresse it / but shalt nether dypnck of the wyne nether gether of the grapes / for 8 wormes shall eate it. Thou shalt haue olyue trees in all thy costes / but shalt not be anoynted with 8 oyle / for thyne olyue trees shall be roted out. Thou shalt gett sonnes and daughters / but shalt not haue them: for they shall be carped awaye captiue. All thy trees and frute of thy lande shall be marred with blastynge.

The straungers 8 are amonge you shall clyme aboue the by on hye / and thou shalt come doune beneath alowe. He shall lende the & thou shalt not lende him / he shall be before and thou behynde.

Howeuer all these curses shall come vpon the & shall folowe the and ouertake the / tyll thou be destroyed: because thou herkenedest not vnto the voyce of the Lorde thy God / to kepe his comaundermentes and ordinaunces whych he comaunde the / and they shall be vpon the as * miracles and wonders & vpon thy seed for euer. And because thou seruedest not the Lorde thy God with ioyfulnesse and with a good herte for the abundaunce of all thynges / therefore thou shalt serue thine enemye whych 8 Lorde shall sende vpon the: in hunger and thirst / in nakednesse and in nede of all thynges: & he shall putt a poche of peryon vpon thyne necke / vntyll he haue broughte the to nought.

And the Lorde shall byryng a nacyon vpon the from a farre / euen from the ende of the worlde / as swyfte as an eagle flyeth: a nacyon whose

And he shall kepe the in/ in all thy cities/ vntill thy hye & stronge walles be come downe wherein thou trustedest/ thorow all the lande. * And thou shalt eat the frute of thyne atone bode: the flesh of thy sonnes and of thy daughters whych the Lord thy God hath geuen the/ in that strytenesse & sege wherewith thyne enemye shall belege the: so that it shall greue the mā that is tender and excedyng delicate amonge you / to loke on his brother and vpon his wyfe that lyeth in his bosome/ & on the remnaunte of his chyldren which he hath yet lefte/ for feare of geuynge vnto any of them of the flesh of his chyldren/ which he eateth/ because he hath noughte lefte hym in that strytenesse & sege wherewith thyne enemyes shall belege the in all thy cities.

Yee and the woman that is so tender & delicate amonge you & she dare not aduerture to sett the sole of her fote vpon the grounde for softnesse and tendernesse / shall be greued to loke on the husbande that lyeth in her bosome and on her sonne & on her daughter: euē because of the afterbirth / that is come out from betwene her legges / & because of her chyldren which she hath borne / because she wolde eat them for nede of all thynges secretly/ in the strytenesse & sege wherewith thyne enemye shall belege the in thy cyties.

If thou wilt not be diligent to do all the wordes of this lawe that are wrytten in this booke/ for to feare this glorious and fearfull name of the Lord thy God: the Lord will smyte both the and thy seed with wonderfull plagues and with greates plagues and of longe continuance/ and with euell sekennes and of longe durasce. Moreouer he will bypunge vnto the all the diseases of Egypt which thou wast afrayed of/ and they shall cleaue vnto the. Wherto all maner sekennes and all maner plagues which are not wrytten in the booke of this lawe/ will the Lord bypunge vnto the vntill thou be come to nought. And ye shall leste fewe in nombere/ where before ye were as the * starres of heauen in multitude: because thou woldest not hearken vnto the voyce of the Lord thy God.

* And as the Lord reioysed ouer you to do you good & to multiplye you: euē so he will reioyse ouer you/ to destroye you & to bypunge you to nought. And ye shall be wasted from of the land whether thou goest to enioye hit. And the Lord shall scatter the amonge all nacions from the one ende of the worlde vnto the other and there thou shalt serue straunge goddes/ whych nether thou nor thy fathers haue knowne: euē woodd and stone.

And amonge these nacions thou shalt be no small ceason/ and yet shalt haue no reste to the sole of thy fote. For the Lord shall geue the there a trembyng herte & dalyng eyes & sorowe of mynde. And thy lyfe shall hāge before the/ & thou shalt feare both daye and nyghte & shalt haue no trust in thy lyfe. In the mornyng thou shalt saye/ wolde God it were nyght. And at nyght thou shalt saye/ wolde God it were mornyng: for feare of thyne herte which thou shalt feare/ and for the syghte of thyne eyes which thou shalt se.

And the Lord shall bypunge the in to Egypt agayne with shypes/ by the waye which I bade the that thou shouldest * se it no moare. And there ye shall be solde vnto youre enemyes/ for bondmen and bondwomen: and yet no man shall bye you.

The people are exhorted to obserue the commaundementes/ for the conseruation of benefytes receaued: whych if they breake they are threathned to be plaged.

The. xxi. Chapter.
These are the wordes of the appoyntment which the Lord commaunded Moyses to make with the chyldren of Israel in the lande of Moab/ besyde the appoyntment which he made with the in Horeb. And Moyses called vnto all Israel and sayde vnto them: Ye haue sene all the Lord dyd before youre eyes in the lande of Egypt vnto Pharaos & vnto all his seruantes/ & vnto all his lande/ and the greates temptacions whych thyne eyes haue sene and those greates myracles & wonders: & yet the Lord hath not geue you an herte to perceaue/ nor eyes to se/ nor eares to heare vnto this daye.

* And I haue led you. xl. yere in the wilderness: & youre clothes are not waxed olde vnto you/ nor are thy shoues waxed olde vnto thy fete. Ye haue eaten no bread nor droncke wyne or stroung drynke: that ye myghte knowe/ howe the Lord your God.

* And at the last ye came vnto this place/ & Sehon the kyng of Desbon and Og kyng of Basan came out agest you vnto battell/ and we smote them and toke their lande and gaue it an heritaunce vnto the Rubenites and Gadites & to the halfe tribe of Manasse. that ye ought to do. Ye stande here this daye euery one of you before the Lord your God: both the heades of youre trybes/ youre elders/ youre officers & all the men of Israel: youre chyldren/ youre wyues and the straunger that are in thyne hoste/ from the hewer of thy woodd vnto the drayer of thy water: & thou shouldest come vnder the appoyntment of the Lord thy God/ & vnder his othe which the Lord thy God maketh with the this daye. For to make the a people vnto him selfe/ & that he maye be vnto the a God/ as he hath sayde vnto the & as he hath swoyne vnto thy fathers Abraham/ Isaac and Jacob.

Also I make not this bonde and this othe with you only: but both with him & standeth here with vs this daye before the Lord our God/ and also with him that is not here with vs this daye. For ye knowe how we haue dwelt in the lande of Egypt/ and how we came thorow the myddes of the nacions which we passed by. And ye haue sene their abominacions and their ydolles: woodd/ stone/ syluer and golde which they had.

Let there be amonge you mā or womā kynred or trybe & turneth awaye in his herte this daye from the Lord our God/ to goo & serue the goddes of these nacions: & lest there be amonge you some roote that beareth gall and wormwood/ so that when he heareth the wordes of this curse/ he blesse him selfe in his herte sayinge. I shall haue peace. I will therfore worke after the luste of myne atone herte/ that the droncke maye perishe with the trybste. And so the Lord will not be mercifull vnto hym/ but then the wrath of the Lord & his gelousye/ smoke agest that mā/ & all the curses that are wrytten in this booke light vpon hym/ and the Lord do out his name from vnder heauen/ and separate hym vnto euell out of all the trybes of Israel accordinge vnto all the curses of the appoyntment that is wrytten in the booke of this lawe.

So that the generacion to come of youre chyldren that shall ryle by after you and the straunger that shall come from a ferre lāde/ saye when they se the plagues of that lande/ & the diseases wherewith the Lord hath smytte it how all the lande is burnt by wyth byemstone & salt/ & it is nether sowne nor beareth/ nor any grasse groweth therein/ after the ouerthrowing of Sodome/ Gomor/ Adama and Zeboim: which the Lord ouerthrewe in his wrath and angre.

And then shall all nacions also saye: wherfore hath the Lord done of this faction vnto this lāde? How fearte is this great wrath? And men shall saye: because they leste the testament of the Lord God of their fathers which he made with them/ when he brought the out of the lande of Egypt. And they went & serued straunge goddes & worshipped the: goddes which they knewe not and which had geue the nought. And therfore the wrath of the Lord waxed whote vpon that lande to bypunge vpon it all the curses that are wrytten in this booke. And the Lord cast them out of their lande in angre/ wrath and greates fury/ and cast the in to a straunge lāde/ as it is come to passe this daye. The secrettes of the Lord our God * are opened vnto vs and our chyldren for euer/ that we do all the wordes of this lawe.

That is the Lord hath opened vnto vs his myll before all other people.

The. xxi. Chapter.

When all these wordes are come vnto the whether it be the blessinge or the curse which I haue set before the/ yet if thou turne vnto thyne herte amonge all the nacions whether the Lord thy God hath thrust the/ & come agayne vnto the Lord thy God & herke vnto his voyce accordinge to all that I commaunde the this daye: both thou & thy chyldren in all thyne herte & all thy soule: Then the Lord thy God will turne thy captiuite & haue cōpassion vnto the & goo & fet the agayne from all the nacions/ amonge which the Lord thy God shall haue scattered the. Though thou wast cast vnto the extreme partes of heauen: euē from thence will the Lord thy God gather the and from thence sett the and bypunge the in to the lande which thy fathers possessed/ & thou shalt enioye it. And he will the we the kynred and multiplye the aboue thy fathers. * And the Lord thy God will circumsyle thyne herte & the herte of thy seed for to loue the Lord thy God with all thyne herte & all thy soule/ that thou mayst lyue. * And the Lord thy God will put all these curses vpon thyne enemyes & on them that hate the and persecute the.

And Josua he shall go ouer before the / as the Lorde hath sayde. And the Lorde shall go vnto them/as he dyd to Sehon & Og kynge of the Amozites & vnto their landes which kynge he destroyed And when the Lorde hath deliuered them to the/so that ye do vnto them accordynge vnto all the commaundementes whych I haue commaunded you. And the Lorde he shall go before the and he shall be with the / and will not let the go noz forsake the/feare not therfore noz be discomforted. And Moses wrote this lawe and deliuered it vnto þe preastes the sonnes of Leui which bare the arcke of the testamēt of the Lorde and vnto all the elders of Israel / and commaunded them sayinge. At the ende of. vij. C. yere/in the tyme of the fre yere/in þe feast of the tabernacles/when all Israel is come to appeare before the Lorde thy God/in þe place which he hath chosen: se that thou reade this lawe before all Israel in their eares. Gather the people together: both men / women and childre & the straungers that are in thy cities that they maye heare/lerne & feare the Lorde poure God/& be diligēt to kepe all þe wordes of this lawe / and that their chyldren whych knowe nothinge maye heare & lerne to feare þe Lorde poure God/as longe as ye lyue in þe lande whether ye go ouer Iordan to possesse it.

And þe Lorde sayde vnto Moses. Beholde thy dayes are come/that thou must dye. Call Josua and come and stande in the tabernacle of witnesse/that I maye geue hym a charge. And Moses and Josua went and stode in the tabernacle of witnesse. And þe Lorde appeared in the tabernacle: euē in the pyler of þe cloude And the pyler of the cloude stode ouer þe doze of the tabernacle. And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses: beholde / thou must slepe with thy fathers/and this people will go a whoyrnge after straunge Goddes of the lande whether they go and will forsake me and breake the appoyntement which I haue made with the. And then my wrath will waxe whote agens them/and I will forsake them and wil hyde my face from the/and they shall be consumed. And when moche aduersyte and tribulacyon is come vpon them/then they will saye: because oure God is not amonge vs/these tribulacions are come vpon vs. But I will hyde my face that same tyme for al the euels sake whych they shall haue wrought/in that they are turned vnto straunge Goddes.

Now therfore write þe this songe/a teache it the chyldren of Israel and put it in their mouthes þe this songe maye be my witnesse vnto the chyldren of Israel. And Moses wrote this songe the same ceason/and taught it the chyldren of Israel. And the Lorde gaue Josua þe sonne of Nun a charge & sayde: be bolde & stronge for thou shalt brynge the chyldren of Israel in to the lande which I swaue vnto them / & I will be with the.

When Moses had made an ende of wytyng out of the wordes of this lawe in a booke vnto the ende of them/ he commaunded the Leuites which bare the arcke of þe testamēt of the Lorde sayinge: take the booke of this lawe and put it by the syde of the arcke of þe testamēt of the Lord poure God / & lett it be there for a wytnesse vnto the. For I knowe thy stuburnesse and thy styffe necke: beholde whyle I am yet a lyue with you this daye/pehaue bene disobedient vnto þe Lorde: and how moche moare after my death.

Weather vnto me all the elders of poure trybes/a poure officers/that I maye speake these wordes in their eares & call heauē and erth to recozde agens the. For I am sure þe after my death / they will utterly marre the selues and turne from the waye which I commaunded you / & tribulacion will come vpon you in þe later dayes/when pehaue wrought wickednesse in the syght of the Lorde to prouoke him with the workes of poure handes. And Moses spake in the eares of all the congregacion of Israel the wordes of this songe/ vnto the ende of them.

The xxxij. Chapter.

Care & heauē/what I shall spake and hear. Werth the wordes of my mouth. My doctryne droppe as doeth the rayne/a my sprach flowe as dothe the dewe / as the mysellynge vpon the herbes/a as the droppe vpon the grasse. For I will call on the name of the Lorde: Magnifye the myght of oure God.

He is a roche and perfecte are his deades/ for all his wayes are with discrecion. God is faythfull & without wickednesse/both righteous and iuste is he.

The frowarde and ouerthwart generacion hath marred them selues to him ward/ & are not his sonnes for their defozmities sake. Doest thou so rewarde the Lord? O foolish nacion and brutyshe. Is not he thy father and thyne owner: hath he not made the & ordeyned the? Remembze the dayes that are past: consyde the yeres from tyme to tyme. Alke to thy father and he will shewe the / thy elders and they will tell the. When þe most hygher be his wytnesse/ gaue the nacyns an enheritaunce/ & diuided the sonnes of Adam he put the borders of the nacyns/ fast by the multitude of the chyldren of Israel.

For the Lordes parte is his folke/ and he hath chose the porcion of his enherytaunce.

He founde him in a deserte land/in a boyde ground & a royrnge wyldernesse. He led him aboute & gaue him vnderstandinge/a kepte him as the apile of his eye.

As an egle that sterceth by her nest and stretcheth ouer her pounge/ he stretched oute his wynges and toke him by & bare him on his shoulders. The Lorde alone was his guyde/ and there was no straunge God with him.

He sett him by vpon an hye lande / and he ate the encrease of the felde. And he gaue him honye to sucke oute of the roche / & oyle out of the harde stone. With butter of kyne & mylke of the shepe / with fatt of the lambes and fat rammies and he gootes with fat kyndes and with whete. And of the bloude grapes thou dronchest wyne.

And Israel waxed fat and kyched. Thou wast fat/thyche and smothe. And he let God goo that made him and despyed the roche þe saued him. They angred him with straunge Goddes and with abhominacions prouoked him. They offered vnto felde deuels and not to God / & to Goddes which they knewe not & to newe Goddes that came newly by which their fathers feared not. Of the roche that begat the thou arte vnnyndefull & hast forgotte God that made the. And when the Lord sawe it/ he was angre because of þe prouocation of his sonnes and daughters.

And he sayde: I will hyde my face from them & will se what their ende shall be. For they are a froward generacio and chyldre in whom is no fayth. They haue angred me w that which is no God / & prouoked me with their bannties. And I agayne will angre them with them whych are no people / and will prouoke them with a folye nacyn. For thyre is kyndled in my wrath / and shall burne vnto the botome of hell. And shall consume the erth with her encrease/a sett a fire the botoms of the mountaynes. I will heape mylcheues vpon the & will spende all myne arrowes at them.

Burnt with hungre & consumed with heate and with bitter pestilence. I will also sende the teeth of beastes vpon them and popylon serpentes. Without forth / the swerde shall robbe them of their chyldren: and wythin in the chamber/ feare: both pounge men and pounge women and the suchelynges with men of gray heades. make a waye the remembrance of the from amonge men. Where it not that I feared the rapynge of their enemyes / lest their aduersaries wolde be proude & saye: oure hye hande hath done all these workes & not the Lorde. For it is a nacyon that hath an unhappye forcast / and hath no vnderstanding in them: I wolde they were wyle and vnderstode this & wolde consider their later ende.

Howe it cometh & one shall chace a thousande / and two put ten thousande of them to flight: excepte their rocke had to lye the / and because the Lorde had deliuered them.

For oure rocke is not as their rocke / no though oure enemyes be iudge. But their bynes are of the bynes of Sodom / and of the felde of Gomorra. Their grapes are grapes of gall / and their clusters be bytter.

Their wyne is the popson of dragons / and the cruell gall of aspes. Are not such thyngs layde in store with me / and sealed by amonge my creatures: *vengeaunce is myne and I wyll rewarde: their fete shall slide / when I tyme cometh. For the tyme of their destruction is at hande / & the tyme that shall come vpon them maketh haste.

For the Lorde wyll do iustyce vnto hys people / & haue compassion on his seruantes. For it shall be sene & their power shall faile / & at the last they shall be proude & forsaken. And it shall be sayd: where are their Godds / and their rocke wherein they trusted?

The fete of whole sacrifices they ate and branched the wyne of their dynke offerings / let them ryle vp and helpe you and be your protection.

See now howe that I / I am he / and that there is no God but I. I can kill and make alpye / and what I haue smyten that I can heale: nether is there & can deliuer any man oute of my hande.

For I wyll lyfte by myne hand to heauē / and wyll saye: I lyue euer.

I wyll whett the edge of my swerde / & myne hande take in hande to do iustyce / I wyll shewe vengeaunce on myne enemyes and wyll rewarde them that hate me.

I wyll make myne arrowes bronckē with bloude / and my swerde shall eate flesh of the bloude of the slayne and of the captiue and of the bare head of the enemye.

Prayse ye hethen his people / for he wyll auenge the bloude of his seruantes / & wyll auenge him of his aduersaries / and wyll be mercyfull vnto the lande of his people.

And Moses went & spake all the wordes of this songe in the eares of the people / both he and Josua the sonne of Nun. And when Moses had spoken all these wordes vnto the ende to all Israel / then he sayde vnto them.

Sett your hertes vnto all the wordes which I testifie vnto you this daye: that ye comaunde the vnto your chyldren / to obserue and do all the wordes of this lawe. For it is not a bayne worde vnto you: but it is your lyfe / & thow this worde ye shall prolonge your dayes in the lande whether ye go ouer Jordan to conquire it.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses the selfe same daye saying: get the vp in to thys mountayne Abarim vnto mount Pebo / which is in the lande of Moab ouer agens Jericho. And beholde the lande of Canaan whych I geue vnto the chyldren of Israel to possesse. And dye in the mount which thou goest vpon / and be gathered vnto thy people: As Aaron thy brother dyed in mount Hor & was gathered vnto his people. For ye trespassed agaynst me amonge the chyldren of Israel at the waters of stryffe / at Cades in the wilderness of Sin: because ye sanctified me not amonge the chyldren of Israel. Thou shalt see the land before the / but shalt not goo thither vnto the lande which I geue the chyldren of Israel.

Moses dying blesteth all the trybes of Israel.

The xxxiii. Chapter.

This is the blessing wherewith Moses Gods man blessed the chyldren of Israel before hys death saying: The Lorde came fro Sinai & shewed his beames from Seir vnto them / & appeared gloriously from mount Pharan / and he came with thousandes of sayntes and in his ryght hande a lawe of fyre for the. Now therfore sweare vnto me by the Lozde because I haue shewed you mercye / that ye shall also shewe mercye vnto my fathers house and geue me a true token. And that ye shall saue a lyue / bothe my father / & my mother / my bꝛethꝛe / and my systers / and all that pertaine vnto the. And that ye shall deliuer oure soules from death.

And the men answered her / oure lyues for you to dye / yf ye better not this oure communication. And so when the Lozde hath geue vs the land / we wyll deale mercifully and truly with the. And then the lett them downe with a coorde thorow a wyndowe. For her house stode in the towne wall. And she dwelt in the towne wall. Jordan. lxxxiii.

The water of Jordan dryeth vp / and Josue with the people passe ouer.

The iii. Chapter.

And Josua rose erlye: and they remoued from Settim / and came to Jordan / bothe he and all the chyldre of Israel / and sojourned there before they went ouer. And after thre dayes the officers went thorow oute the hoste / and commaunded the people sayinge: when ye se the arche of the testament of the Lozde youre God / and the pꝛeastes that are Leuites bearyng it: then departe ye from youre places & folowe after it. So yet there be a space betwene you & it / aboute a two thousande cubytes by measure. And come not nye vnto it: that ye maye knowe the waye by which ye must go: for ye haue not gone by it in tymes past. And Josua sayde vnto the people / rise ye youre selues / for to morowe the Lozde shall shewe wonders amonge you.

Then Josua spake vnto the pꝛeastes sayinge Take vp the arche of the testament / and go before the people. And they toke vp the arche of the testament / and went before the people. And the Lozde sayd vnto Josua: this daye wyll I begynne to magnifie the / in the syght of all Israel / that they maye knowe how I was with Moyses / so wyll I be with the. And commaunde thou the pꝛeastes that beare the arche of the testamēt / saying: when ye are entered a lytle into the water of Jordan then stande styll in it.

Then spake Josua to the chyldre of Israel sayinge: come hyther and heare the wordes of the Lozde youre God. And Josua sayde: Herbye ye shall knowe / that the luyng God is amonge you / and that he wyll wythout fayle cast oute before you / the Cananites / the Hethites / the Heuites / the Pherezites / the Gergesites / the Amozites / and the Jebusites. Beholde / the arche of the appoyntemēt of the Lozde of all the worlde shall go before you into Jordan. And now take you twelue men of the chyldren of Israel / of euery trybe a man. And as sone as the fooles of the fete of the pꝛeastes that beare the arche of Jehouah (the Lozde of all the worlde) treade in the water of Jordan / the water of Jordan shall drye it selfe: and the waters that cometh from aboue shall stande styll vpon an heape. And when the people were departed from their tentes to goo ouer Jordan (the pꝛeastes bearyng the arche of the appoyntement before the people) as sone as they that bare the arche came vnto Jordan / the fete of the pꝛeastes that bare the arche were dryed in the bym of the water. * Jordan beyng full ouer all his banckes all the tyme of the harvest.

¶ You the cypre. But the cypre shalbe excommunicate/bothe it and all that is therein/ vnto þ Lorde: onye Rahab the harlot shall lyue/bothe she & all that is with her in the house/because she hydde the messengers that we sent. And in anywise beware of the excommunicate thynges/leaste ye make youre selues excommunicate. For yf you take of the excommunicate thynges/ to shall you make þ hoste of Israel excommunicate and shall trouble it.
But of the syluer/ golde/ beselles of brasse/and yron shalbe holy vnto the Lorde & shall go in to his treasure.

¶ And the people cryed/ and blew with hornes: for when the people hearde þ sounde of the hornes/they showed a great shoute:
and the walles fell downe/ and the people went by into the cypre/ euery man streight before him/ & toke the cite. And they utterly destroyed all þ was in the cypre/bothe man & woman/younge and olde/ore/shepe/ & alle/with the edge of the swerde.

¶ Then Josua sayde vnto the two men that went to spye oute the contrey: goo into the harlottes house/ & brynge oute thence/bothe the woman & all that pertaineth to her/ as ye sware to her. And the younge men þ were spyes went in and broughte oute Rahab/ & her father/and mother/ and all her brythren and all that she had. And they broughte out all her household and put them without the hoste of Israel.

¶ And they burnt the cypre with fyre/ and all that was therein. Only the syluer & golde/and the thynges of brasse and yron they put vnto the treasure of the house of the Lorde.
¶ And Josua laued Rahab the harlott/ & her fathers household and all that pertained vnto her/ & she dwelte in Israel/ euen vnto this daye/ because she hydde þ messengers which Josua sent to spye oute Jericho.

¶ And Josua cursed at that tyme/ sayinge/cursed be the man before the Lorde/ þ ryleth by and byldeth this cypre Jericho: so that he laye the foundation wyth the death of hys eldest sonne/and yde deach/of hys pougeit sett by the gates. And the Lorde was wyth Josua/and his same was hearde / thozowe out all landes.

¶ At is spied oute. Acan is stoned because he toke of the excommunicate thynges.

The. lviij. Chapter.

¶ But yet the chyldren of Israel tres-pased in þ excommunicate thynges: for Acan the sonne of Carmi/ the sonne of Zabdi/ the sonne of Zareh of the tribe of Iuda/toke of the excommunicate thynges. And the wrath of the Lorde waxed whote agaynst the chyldre of Israel.
¶ Then Josua sent men from Jericho to Ai which is besyde Bethauen/ on the east syde of Bethel/ and spake vnto them sayinge/gett you by and besyde the countrey. And the men went by and spied oute Ai. And returned vnto Josua and sayde vnto him/ lett not all the people go by/ but let as it were a two or thre thousande men goo by and destroye Ai/ and make not all the people to labour thether/ for they are but fewe.

¶ And so there went by thether aboute a thre thousande men/ which fledde before the men of Ai. And the men of Ai smote of them by a thretye and fyre men/ and chaled them before the gates euen vnto Gabarim/ and smote them in the goyng downe. And the herthes of þ people were discouraged & meal-ted lyke water. And Josua rent hys clothes and fell to the erth by hys face before the arche of the Lorde vntill the eue tyme/ bothe he and the elders of Israel/ and put erth by their heddes.

¶ And Josua sayde/ Ah/ Lorde Jehouah/wherfore hast thou broughed this people ouer Jordan to deliuer vs into the handes of the Amozites to destroye vs: wold to God we had aduentured and dwelt on the other syde Jo-dan. Oh Lorde what shall I saye/ when Israel turneth their backs before their ene-myes: whereouer the Cananites/ and all the enhabiters of the lande shall heare of it/ and shall come aboute vs and destroye the name of vs oute of the worlde. And then what wilt thou do vnto thy myghtie name.

¶ And the Lorde sayde vnto Josua/ gett the Israel hath synned & also transgressed myne and haue take of the excommunicate thynges/fore their enemyes/ because they be excommunicate. Nether will I be yd you any moare/excepte ye destroye the excommunicate fro

¶ And Josua sanctified the people & bydd them to sanctifye the selues agaynst the morowe: for so sayth the Lorde God of Israel/ the excommunication is amonge you Israel/ and therfore ye cannot stande before youre ene-myes/ vntill ye haue put the excommunicacion fro amonge you. To morowe moynyng ye shall come by youre trybes. And the crye which þ Lorde shall synde gyltie/ shall come by kynredes. And þ kynrede which the Lorde shall synde gyltye/ shall come by householdes.
And the household which the Lorde shall synde faultye/ shall come man by man. And taineth vnto him/ because he hath trasgres-hath wrought folye in Israel.

¶ And so Josua rose by erly in þ moynyng and broughed Israel by their tribes: and the tribe of Iuda was caught. Then he broughed the kynredes of Iuda/ and founde the kynred of the Zarehites gyltie. And he broughed the Zabdi was caught. And he broughed hys householde man by man/ and Acan the sonne of Carmi/ the sonne of Zabdi/ the sonne of Zareh in the tribe of Iuda was caught.

¶ And Josua sayde vnto Acan: my sonne/geue glorie to the Lorde God of Israel/ & geue him praise/ & shewe me what thou hast done/ and hyde it not from me. And Acan answered Josua and sayde: of a truthe I haue synned agaynst the Lorde God of Israel/ & so and so haue I done. I sawe amonge the spoyles a goodly Babilonische garment/ and two hundred sicles of syluer/ and a tonge of golde of fyfte sicles weyghte: and I coueted them/ and I toke them. And beholde they lye hyde in the erthe in my tente and the syl-

¶ And then Josua sent messengers whych rane vnto the tent. And beholde/ it was hidde in hys tent/ and the syluer there bynder. And they toke them out of the myddest of hys tent and broughed them vnto Josua and vnto all the chyldren of Israel/ and powred the oute before the Lorde.

¶ And Josua toke Acan the sonne of Zareh/ and the syluer/ and the garment/ and the tonge of golde/ and hys sonnes and hys daughters/ hys oxen/ asses/ shepe/ his tent and all that he had/ and all Israel wyth hym/ and broughed them vnto the baleye of Acor.

¶ And Josua sayde: In as moche as thou hast troubled vs: þ Lorde shall trouble the this daye. And all Israel stoned hym with stones/ and burnt them wyth fyre/ and ouerwhelmed them wyth stones. And they cast bypon hym a great heape of stones that remayneth vnto this daye. And so þ Lorde turname of the place is called þ baleye of Acor written the boke of Deuteronomy. He blesteth the

The. lviij. Chapter.

¶ And the Lorde sayde vnto Josua: feare not/ ner dreade: but take all uen into thy hande/ the kyng of Ai/ and his

¶ And then Josua arose and all the men of

¶ And when they come out agaynst vs/ as at the fyrst tyme/ then will we flee before them.
And they wyll come oute after vs/ vntill we haue plucked them awayte from the cypre.
¶ For they wyll saye/ they flee before vs/ as at the fyrst tyme: for we wyll flee before them.
¶ Then shall ye ryle by fro lyeing awayte & de-stroye the cypre: for the Lorde youre God wyll deliuer it into youre handes. As sone therfore as ye haue taken the cypre/ se that ye set it on fyre. Accorpyng to the commaun-dement of the Lorde se that ye do/ beholde/ I

¶ And Josua sent them forth/ and they wete to lye awayte/ and laye betwene Bethel and Ai/ on the west syde of Ai. But Josua lodged that nyght amonge the people. And he rose by erly in the moynyng and nombred the people and went by/ bothe he and the elders of Israel before the people/ vnto Ai. And all the men of warre that were wyth hym/ went by and due nye/ and came before the cypre/and pitched on the north syde of Ai/ a baleye being betwene the and Ai. And he toke bypon a fyue thousande men and put them to lye a wayte/ betwene Bethel & Ai/ on the west syde of the cypre. And he put the people euen all the hoste/ on the northsyde of the cite/ and the lyeys awayte on the west. And Josua went the same nyght into the myddes of the baleye.

¶ And when the kyng of Ai sawe that they hasted and rose by erly/ then the people of the cypre went oute agaynst Israel/ to battell/ bothe the kyng and all hys people/ at a tyme apoynted/ euen before the playne/ and wyll not that there were lyeys awayte on the backsyde of the cypre.

¶ And Josua and Israel were put to the

And they layed vpon them / so that they left none ether remayne or scape. And the King of Ai they toke a liue and brought him to Josua. And when Israel had made an ende of slaying all the inhabitants of Ai in the felde and in the wilderness by which they chased them / and when they were all fallen on the edge of the swerde / vntill they were wasted. Then Josua byit an altare vnto the Lorde God of Israel / in mount Ebal / as Moses the seruaut of the Lorde commaunded the chyldren of Israel / accordyng as it is wrytten in the booke of the lawe of Moses: an altare of rough stone / ouer which no tooke of yron was sette. And after that he readd all the wordes of the lawe / bothe the blessinge and cursynge / accordyng to all that is wrytten in the booke of the lawe: so there was not one worde of all that Moses commaunded / which Josua readde not / before all the congregacion of Israel / with women and chyldren / and the straungers that were amonge them.

For the chyldren of Israel toke their Iourneye and came vnto their cities the thirde daye: & their cities were Gabaon / Gathra / Beeroth & Harath Jarim. And the chyldren of Israel slewe them not / because the Lordes of the congregacion had sworne vnto them by the Lorde God of Israel. And therfore all the multitude murmured agaynst the Lordes. Wherfore Adonizedec King of Jerusalem sent vnto Hoham King of Hebron / and vnto Pharam King of Jericho / & vnto Gathra King of Lachis / & vnto Dabir King of Egion saying. Come by vnto me and heape me / & we maye smyte Gabaon: for they haue made peace with Josua & the chyldren of Israel. And when Iabim kynge of Hazor Aclaph. And vnto the kynge that are by see / and vnto the Cananites bothe by East

Pheresites / and Jebusites in the mountaynes: and vnto the Heuites vnder Hermon in the lande of Hazphah: which came oute and all their hostes wyth them a multitude of folke euē as the sandes of the see in nombre wyth hostes and charettes exceding manye.
And all these kynge mett to geather / and came and pitched to geather vpon the water of Merom/ for to fight with Israell.

And the Lorde sayde vnto Josua: be not afraide of them: for to morowe aboute this tyme I wyll deliuer them all slayne/ before all Israell: & thou shalt houghe their hostes/& burne their charettes with fire. And Josua came & all the men of warre w him agaynst them/ vnto the water of Merom/ sodenlye/ & felle vpon them. And the Lorde deliuered the whott waters / & vnto the valeye of Haz-phah Eastwarde: & smote the vntill they had none remaynyng of them. And Josua serued them as the Lorde hadde him/ houghe their hostes and burnt their charettes with fyre.

Then Josua at that tyme turned backe & toke Hazor and smote her kynge wyth the swerde. For Hazor before tyme was the head of all those kyngdomes. And they smote all the soules that were therein wyth the edge of the swerde / utterly destroying the / that no breathe was lett remayne. And burnt Hazor with fyre and all the cyties of those kynge/with all the kynge of them/ Josua toke and smote them wyth the edge of the swerde/ and utterly destroyed them * as Moyses the ser-uaunt of the Lorde commaunded.

But Israell burnt none of the cyties that stode vpon hilles/ saue Hazor onely/ that Jo-and the catell/ the chyldren of Israell caught vnto them selues: But the men onely they smote with the edge of the swerde vntill they had destroyed the / and had leaffe no breathe

Josua / and euen so dyd Josua * and mynys-tere no worde of all that the Lorde commaunded Moyses.

And so Josua toke all the lande/ the hilles and all the southe contrey / and all the lande

Josua made warre longe tyme with those toke wyth battell: for it came of the Lorde to harden their hartes / that they shulde come agaynst Israell in battell: euen to destroye the utterly/ that they shulde haue no mercy/but to byng them to nought. As the Lorde commaunded Moyses.

And that same reason/ Josua went & destroyed the * Enakites oute of the mountaynes/ & oute of Hebron/ Dabir / & Anab/ & oute of all the mountaynes of Juda/ & oute of all the mountaynes of Israell. And Josua destroyed them utterly wyth their cyties. So there was not one Enakite leaffe in the lande of the chyldren of Israell: only in Alah / Beth/ and

And Josua toke the hole lande according where the altar of the Lord dwelleth / and be possessed amonge vs. But rebell not agaynst the Lord: nor agaynst vs / to buyde you anye other altar. And the answer pleased the chyl- dren of Israel well / and they prayled God / and dyd not entende to go agaynst them in batelle / to destroye the lande which the chyl- dren of Ruben & Gad dwelt in. And the chyl- dren of Ruben & the chyl- dren of Gad called the altar *Ed / because it is a witnesse be- twene vs / that the Lord is God.

Then the chyl- dren of Ruben and of Gad / and halfe the trybe of Manasses answered and sayde vnto the heades ouer the thou- sandes of Israel: The myghty God Jehouah he knoweth / and Israel shall knowe if it be to rebelle or transgresse agaynst the Lord / then the Lord saue vs not this daye. Or elles if we haue bylt vs an altar to turne from folowing the Lord / or to offer theron burnt offrynges / or meat offrynges / or to offer peace offrynges theron: let the Lord requyre it: And haue not rather done it for feare of this: least in tyme to come your chyl- dren shulde saye vnto oures: what haue ye to do with the Lord God of Israel / saying: that the Lord hath made Jordan a border betwene vs and your chyl- dren of Ruben & of Gad: ye haue no parte therfore in the Lord: and so shall your chyl- dren make oure chyl- dren cease from feareinge the Lord.

And therfore we sayde: Let vs cause an altar to be made / not for burnt offrynges / nor sacrificys / but it shalbe a witnesse be- twene vs and you and oure generacions af- ter vs / that we shulde serue the Lord / with our offrynges / sacrificys and peace off- rynges: and that your chyl- dren shulde not saye to oures in tyme to come / ye haue no parte in the Lord.

And we thought if they shuld so saye to vs or to oure generacions in tyme to come / that we wolde saye agayne: Beholde the sacri- ce the altar which oure fathers made / ne- ther for burnt offrynges nor sacrificys / but that it shulde be a witnesse betwene vs and you. God forbydde þe we shuld rebell agaynst the Lord and that we shulde turne this daye fro after him / and bylde an altar for burnt- offrynges or sacrificys / saue the altare of the Lord / oure God that is before vs by ta- bernacle.

And when Phinehes the Prieste and the Lordes of the congregacyon and heades ouer the thousandes of Israel which were with him / heard the wordes that the chyl- dren of Ruben / the chyl- dren of Gad and the chyl- dren of Manasses spake / they were well content. And Phinehes the sonne of Eleazar the Prieste sayde vnto the chyl- dren of Ruben / of Gad and of Manasses this daye we perceaue that the Lord is amonge vs / because ye haue not done thys trespass agaynst the Lord. And now ye haue rydde the chyl- dren of Israel out of the handes of the Lord.

And Phinehes the sonne of Eleazar the Prieste and the Lordes returned fro the chyl- dren of Ruben and of Gad oute of the lande of Galaad vnto the lande of Canaan / to the chyl- dren of Israel / and brought them worde agayne. And the answer pleased the chyl- dren of Israel well / and they prayled God / and dyd not entende to go agaynst them in batelle / to destroye the lande which the chyl- dren of Ruben & Gad dwelt in. And the chyl- dren of Ruben & the chyl- dren of Gad called the altar *Ed / because it is a witnesse be- twene vs / that the Lord is God.

Beholde I haue ap- poynted these nacyns that remayne / to be an enheritaunce of your trybes: euen from Jordan / and all the nacyns that I haue de- stroyed / euen vnto the great See. And the Lord your God he shall expell and cast the out before you / and ye shall conquere their landes / as the Lord your God hath sayde vnto you.

Be therfore excedyng stronge that ye take hede to do all that is writte in the boke of the lawe of Moses / that ye bowe not a syde ther from / to the ryght hande or to the left: and that ye go not vnto these nacyns that remayne with you / and that ye neither make mencyon or sweare by the names of their Goddes: and that ye neither serue them nor bowe your selues vnto them. But that ye sticke fast vnto the Lord your God / as ye haue done vnto this daye. So shall the Lord cast out before you great nacyns & myghtye / as ye se how no man hath stande before you hitherto. One of you shall chase a thousande: for the Lord your God he fighteth for you / as he hath sayde vnto you. Take good good hede therfore vnto your soules / that ye loue the Lord your God.

But and ye shall go backe and cleaue vnto the rest of these nacyns that remayne with you and shall make Mariages with them / and shall go to them and they come to you: be sure that the Lord your God wyll not cast out all these nacyns fro before you. But they shalbe snares and trappes vnto you / and scourges for your sydes / & priches in your eyes / vntill ye perishe from of thys good lande which the Lord your God hath geuen you.

Beholde I walke this daye / by the waye of all þe wordes: call ye to mynde in all your hertes and in all your soules / that nothyng hath sayled of all the good thynges which the Lord your God promesed you. All are come to passe / and nothyng hath sayled therof. And as all good thynges are come vnto you / which the Lord your God promesed you: so shall the Lord byrnyng vpon you all euell vntill he haue destroyed you from of thys good lande / which the Lord your God hath geuen you when ye haue transgressed the apoyntment of the Lord your God / which he comma- unded you: and haue gone & serued straunge Goddes / and bowed your selues to them. Then shall the wrath of the Lord waxe whote vpon you / and ye shall perishe quickely / fro of the good lande which he hath geuen you.

And I gaue Esau a litle mount Seir to possede it. But Jacob and his chyl- dren went downe into Egypt.

Then I sent Moses and Aaron. And I plagued Egypt / after the maner as I dyd among them / and after that I brought you out / I brought your fathers out of Egypt. And ye came vnto the See: and the Egyptians folowed after your fathers with charrettes and horsme / vnto the redd See. And they cried vnto the Lord. And he put darcknesse betwene you and the Egyptians and brought the See vpon them and couered the. And your eyes haue sene what I haue done in Egypt. And ye dwelt in the wildeerne a long season. And I brought you into the lande of the Amo- rites which dwelt on the other syde Jordan. And they fought with you: and I gaue them into your handes. And ye conquered them contre. And I destroyed them in your syght.

Then Balak the sonne of Ziphor / King of Moab arose and warred agaynst Israel / and sent & called Balam the sonne of Beor for to curse you. But I wolde not agre to herken vnto Balam / and therfore he blessed you: And so I deliuered you out of his hande. And when ye went ouer Jordan / and came vnto Jericho / the cetyens of Jericho foughte agaynst you: the Amozites / Perestites / Canaanites / Hethites / Girgashites / He- uites / Jebusites which I deliuered in to your handes.

And I sent hornettes before you and ye cast out before you: euen the two kynges of the Amozites: but not by your owne swerde / or with your owne bowe. And I gaue you a lande in which ye dyd no labour / & ctyes which you bylt not / and ye dwelt in them. And bynes / and Olive trees which ye plant- ed / and ye ate of them.

And now feare the Lord and serue hym in purenesse and truthe: And put awaye the Goddes which your fathers serued on the other syde of the floude / and in Egypt / & serue the Lord. But if it seme euell vnto you to serue the Lord / then chole you this daye whom you wyll serue whether the Goddes which your fathers serued that were on the other syde of the floude / ether the Goddes of the Amozites in whose lande / ye dwelt / and I and my howse will serue the Lord.

And the people answered and sayde / God forbidd that we shuld forsake the Lord and serue straunge Goddes. For the Lord our God he it is that brought vs & oure fathers out of the lande of Egypt / the howse of bon- dage / and which dyd those myracles in oure syght / and preserved vs in all the waye we went and amonge all the nacyns which we came thozome. And the Lord dyd cast out be- fore vs all the nacyns with the Amozites which dwelt in the lande / wherfore we will serue the Lord for he is oure God.

But Josua sayde vnto the people / ye can not serue the Lord: for he is an holye God & cannot beare your transgression and synne. But when ye haue forsaken the Lord and haue serued straunge Goddes / he wyll tur- ne and do you euell and consume you / after that he hath done you good. And the people answered

answered Iosua: naye / but we will serue
the Lorde.

Then Iosua sayde vnto the folke / ye are wyttnesses vnto youre selues / & ye haue chosen you the Lorde / to serue hym: & they sayde we are wyttnesses. Then put awaye / sayde he / the straunge Goddes whych are amonge voyce we wyll obeye. And so Iosua made a covenant with the people the same daye / and set ordynaunces and lawes befoze them in Sichem.

And Josua wrote these wordes in the booke of the lawe of God / and toke a great stone & pitched it on ende in y^e sayde place euē vnder an oke that stode in the sanctuarie of the Lorde. And Josua sayde vnto all the people: beholde, this stone shalbe a witness vnto vs / for it hath hearde all the wordes of the Lorde whiche he spake with vs. It shalbe therfore a wytnesse vnto you / as I leste yelpe vnto your God. And so Josua let the people departe every man vnto hys inheritance.

Judges,
The booke of the Judges,

¶ After Josiah was dead, Iuda was constitute Lord ouer the armye when Ierusalem was besieged. The people that were not destroyed became tributaries.

■ The first Chapter.

After the death of Josua the chyldren of Israel asked the Lorde sayinge: Who shall go by first vnto the Cananites to fight agaynst them? And the Lorde sayde: * Juda shall go by: beholde I haue deliuered the lande by in to his handes. Then Iuda sayde vnto * Simeon his brother: come w me into my lotte: & let vs fight agaynst the Cananites: And I yphewse wll go w the into thy lotte. And so Simeon went with him.

And Iuda went by / & the Lorde deliuered the Cananites & Pheresites into their hands.
And they slewe of the in Bezek ten thousand men. And they founde ^a Adonibezek in Bezek.
And they fought agaynst him / & slewe the Ca nanites & Pheresites. But Adonibezek fled / and they folowed after him / & caught hym / & cut of his thombes and his great toes. Then Adonibezek sayde: thye kioze and ten kinges haupnge their thombes & great toes cut of / geathered their meate vnder my table: wher foze as I haue done so God hath done to me agayne. And they brought hym to Ierusalem / and there he dyed.

The chyldren of Iuda fought agaynst Ie-rusalem & toke it / & smote it with the edge of the swerde / and set the citie on fyre. And after that the chyldren of Iuda went euen to fyght agaynst the Cananites & dwelt in the mountayne / in the southe / & in the lowe contreye.
And Iuda went vnto the Cananites & dwelt in Hebron / which befoze tyme was called KariathArbe. And slew Sefai / Abiman and Chalmat. And from thence they went to the inhabiters of Dabir / whose name in olde tyme was called Kariathsepher.

And Caleb sayde: he that smyteth Kariathsepher/ & taketh it/ to him will I geue Achah my daughter to wyfe. And Othoniel & some of Kenez/ Calebs yonger brother toke it: to whom he gaue Achah his daughter to wyfe/and as they went he counceled hym to aske of her father a felde. And then she* lyghted of her asse: and Caleb sayde vnto her: what arieth the? She sayde vnto hym: geue me a blessinge: for thou hast geuen me a souewarde & drye land / geue me also sprynges of water. And Caleb gaue her spryngs both aboue & benethe. And the chyldre of the Benite Moses father in lawe met by out of y citie of paulme trees / whith the chyldre of Iuda in to the wyldernesse of Iuda that lyeth in the Southe of Arab / and dwelt amonge the people.

And Iuda went & Simeon wth him / & they flew the Cananites that enhabited Zephath / & utterly destroyed it / & called the name of the citie Hormah. And Iuda toke Azah wth the costes therof / and Ashalon wth the costes therof / and Tharon wth the costes therof.
And the Lorde was wth Iuda that he conquered the mountaynes / but they coulde not drieue out the enhabiters of the valeyes / because they had charettes of yron. And they gaue Hebron vnto Caleb as Moses sayde.
And he expelled thence the thre sonnes of Enach.

And the chyldren of Benjamin dyd not cast out the Jebusites that inhabited Jerusalem / but the Jebusites dwell in the chylde of Benjamin in Jerusalem vnto this daye.

And in lyke maner the house of Joseph went vp to Bethel and the Lorde wyth the / and the house of Joseph serched out Bethel which befoze tyme was called Lus. And the spyes sawe a man come out of the cytte and they sayde vnto hym shewe vs the waye into the cytte. And we wyl shewe the mercy. And he shewed them the waye into the cytte / and they smote it wyth the edge of the swerde / but let the man and all hys household goe free. And the man went into the lande of the Bethites / and bylt a cytte and called the name therof Lus which is the name therof vnto this daye.

In lyke maner Ephraim expelled not the Cananites that dwelt in Gazer / but the Cananites dwelt styll in Gazer among them. Nether dyd Zabulon expelle the enhabytoures of Betron / nether þe enhabytoures of Pahalol: But the Cananites dwelt amonge them and be came trybutaries.

G Neither dyd Aler cast out þe enhabytours of Acho/nether þe enhabytours of Sidon/of diale them not out.

Neither dyd Meptholim dryue out the enhabytoures of Bethlames/ nor ꝑ enhabytoures of Bethanath/ but dwelle amōgest ꝑ Cananites the inhabytoures of ꝑ lande. Ne-uerthelesse the inhabytoures of Bethlames and of Bethanath be came trybutaryes vnto them.

And the Amorites kepte & chylde of Dan in the mountaynes / and suffered them not to come down to the valeyes. And so the Amorites wēt to and dwelled in mount Herts in Hailon and in Salabim. Neuerthelater the hand of Ioseph waxed heuie vpo them / so & they be came tributaries. And the costes of & Amorites was frō the goying vp to Acrabim / and from the rocke bywarde.

The Angell rebuketh the people because they had made peace with the Cananites. Idolaters are punished, but yet leave not their inuencions. God sendeth them iudges to deliuer them.

The.ii.Chapter.

And the angell of the Lord came by from Galgail to Bocim / & sayde/I brought you out of Egypte and haue brought you vnto the lande which I swaie vnto poure fathers. And I sayde that I wolde neuer breake myne appointement wyth you / but ye shulde haue made no couenāt with the enhabytours of this land/ye shuld haue broken doune their altars: But ye haue not obeyed my voice/why haue ye this done? wherfoze I haue ly-ke wyse determyned þ I wyll not cast them out befoze you: but they shalbe in the spydes of you / and their Goddes shalbe snares vnto you. And when the angell of the Lord had spoken these wordes vnto all the chyldren of Israel / the people cryed out and wepte. And called the name of the sayde place / Bocim & offered there vnto the Lorde.

And when Josua had sent þe people awayne/the chyldren of Israel went euery man into his inheritaunce to possesse the lande. And þe people serued the Lorde all the dayes of Josua/and all the dayes of the elders that outlived Josua/and had sene all the great woꝝ-kes of the Lorde that he dyd to Israel. And Josua the sonne of Nun the seruaunt of the Lorde dyed when he was an hundred an ten yeres olde:whom they buryed in the costes of his inheritaunce: euen in Chamnath hares in mount Ephraim on the north syde of þe hyl Gaas. And euen so all that generacion were put vnto their fathers/and there arose another generacyon after them whych nether knewe þe Lorde/noꝝ yet þe woꝝkes which he dyd vnto Israel.

an. b. And

b. To forsake the Lord God of their fathers / which brought them out of the land of Egypt / and followed strange Goddesses / round about them / and bowed them selves unto them / and angered the Lord. And so they forsake the Lord and served Baal & Ashtaroth. Wherefore the Lord wared angrie wth Israel / & deliuered them into the handes of their enemies round aboute the / & they had no power any longer to stande before their enemies. But vnto whatsoeuer thing they went / the hand of the Lord was vpon them with euell lucke / euen as he had promised them / and as he swore vnto them. And they were sore vexed. Nevertheless the Lord rayled by Judges / which deliuered them out of the handes of their oppressors / & yet for all that they would not harken vnto their Judges: But went a whoring after strange Goddesses and bowed them selves vnto the / and turned quicklie out of the waye which their fathers walked in obeying the commaundementes of the Lord / and dyd not so.

And then the chyldren of Israel dyd w^{ch}kedye in the syght of the Lord / and serued Baalim / & forsoke the Lord God of their fathers / which brought them out of the land of Egypt / and followed strange Goddesses / round aboute them / and bowed them selves vnto them / and angered the Lord. And so they forsake the Lord and serued Baal & Ashtaroth. Wherefore the Lord wared angrie wth Israel / & deliuered them into the handes of their enemies round aboute the / & they had no power any longer to stande before their enemies. But vnto whatsoeuer thing they went / the hand of the Lord was vpon them with euell lucke / euen as he had promised them / and as he swore vnto them. And they were sore vexed. Nevertheless the Lord rayled by Judges / which deliuered them out of the handes of their oppressors / & yet for all that they would not harken vnto their Judges: But went a whoring after strange Goddesses and bowed them selves vnto the / and turned quicklie out of the waye which their fathers walked in obeying the commaundementes of the Lord / and dyd not so.

And when the Lord rayled them by Judges / he was with the Judge / and deliuered them out of the handes of their enemies all the dayes of the Judge: for the Lord had compassioun ouer their sorowinges which they had by the reason of them that oppressed the / and vexed them: yet for all that as lone as the Judge was dead they turned and dyd w^{ch}kedye then their fathers in folowinge strange Goddesses / and in seruyng the / and ceased not from their inuencions nor from their manye p^{er}uouse wayes.

Wherefore the Lord was angrie with Israel and sayde: be cause thys people hath transgressed myne appoyntement which I commaunded their fathers and haue not obeyed my voyce / therefore henceforth I will not cast out one ma befoze the of the nacyns which I sware least when he dyed / and that to proue Israel throughe the whether they will kepe the waye of the Lord to walke therein as their fathers dyd or not. And so the Lord leaste those nacyns alone / and droue the oute ymmedyately / nether deliuered them in to the handes of Iosua.

¶ Eerten nacyns are leaste amonge the Israelites to the pntent to bere & afflict the. Othoniell deliuered Israel. Ahud byllyeth Eglon. Samgar byllyeth the Philistines.

The.iii. Chapter.

These are the nations which the Lord left to tempt Israel: eue as manye of Israel as had not knowen all the warres of Canaan: Onlye for the lernyng of the generacyon of the chyldren of Israel: which befoze knew nothing of warre he left the syue Lordes of the Philistines / & all the Cananites / the Sidonites / the Heuites that dwelt in mount Libanon: euen from mount Baal Hermon vnto Demath. Chose remayned to proue Israel by / to wete whether they would hearken vnto the commaundementes of the Lord / which he commaunded their fathers by the hand of Moses.

And as the chyldre of Israel dwelt amonge the Cananites / hehtites / Amozites / Phereites / Heuites / and Jebusites / they toke the daughters of them to be their wyues / & gaue their owne daughters to their sonnes / & serued their Goddesses. And so the chyldren of Israel dyd w^{ch}kedye in the syght of the Lord and forgate the Lord their God and serued Baalim & Ashtaroth. Therefore the Lord was angrie with Israel and deliuered them into the handes of Chusan Rasathaim kynge of Mesopotamia. So that the chyldre of Israel serued Chusan Rasathaim viij. yeres.

And then the chyldren of Israel cryed vnto the Lord. And the Lord stered them by a sauer & saued them: one Othoniel the sonne of Kenes / Calebs younger brother. And the sprete of the Lord came vpon him. And he iudged Israel / and went out to warre. And the Lord sold Chusan Rasathaim kynge of Mesopotamia into his hade. So the hys hade was mightie ouer Chusan Rasathaim. And the lande had rest fourty yeres. And then Othoniel the sonne of Kenes died. And then the chyldren of Israel went to agayne / & committed w^{ch}kednesse in the syght of the Lord. And then the Lord hardened Eglon the kynge of the Moabites / agaynst the chyldren of Israel / because they had committed w^{ch}kednesse befoze the Lord. And thys Eglon geathered vnto hym the chyldren of Ammon / and the Amalehtes / and went and smote the chyldre of Israel / and coquered the cite of Paulme trees. And the chyldren of Israel serued Eglon the kynge of the Moabites xliij. yeres. And then they cryed vnto the Lord. And the Lord stered the by a sauer / Ahud the sonne of Gera the sonne of Jemini / a man that coude do nothing handsonlye with hys ryght hande.

By whome the chyldren of Israel sent a present vnto Eglon the kynge of the Moabites whych Ahud made hym a dagger with two edges / of a cubyte length / & he dyd gyde vt vnder his cote vpon his right thyghe and carried the present vnto Eglon the kynge of the Moabites / which Eglon was a very fatte man Galgal / the place where the people were circumcised / where they had remyned with god. And so this was the first tyme that the Lord appeared vnto the people of Israel / & he had a message to hym from god. Eglon was fatte and stronge / & had his garde at hande. Ahud was a doting of his easement in hys somer chamber. And when they had taried tyll they were a shamed / for no man dyd the dozes of the parler open: then they toke a keye & opened them. And beholde their Lord was fallen downe dead / vnto the erthe. But Ahud escaped while they taried and was gone beyonde the Idolles & escaped into Seirath.

And when he was come he blew a trompette in mount Ephraim. And the chyldren of Israel went doune with hym of the hyll & he befoze them. And he sayd vnto them / folowe me: for the Lord hath deliuered poure enemies / the Moabites into poure handes. And they descended after hym and toke the passages of Jordan from the Moabites / & suffered not a man to passe ouer. And they slew of the Moabites / the same tyme vpon a ten thousande men / all fatte / and men of might: that there shapen not a man / and so the Moabites were subdued that daye / vnder the handes of Israel: and the land had rest lxxx. yeres.

And after hym came Samgar the sonne of Anath / which slewe of the Philistines. vi. hundred men with an oxe gode / and deliuered Israel also.

¶ Israel is commytted into the handes of Jabin / because they were returned to Idolatrye. Deboza and Barak deliuer them: Silara is kyled of Jael.

The.iii. Chapter.

ma. And when he had presented the present / he sent the people that bare it a waye / but he him selfe turned agayne from the Idolles by Galgal / and sayde: I haue a secret vnto the kynge: and the kynge commaunded him to holde his peace vntyll all that stode aboute him / were gone out from him.

And Ahud came in vnto him into a somer parler / which he had seuerall vnto hym selfe alone / and sayde: I haue a message vnto the frst God. And he arose out of his seate. And Ahud put forth hys left hande and toke the dagger from hys ryght thyghe and thrust it into hys belye / so that the harte went in after the blade. And the harte stopped in the fatte / for he droue not the dagger out of hys belye. And the dyt cam out. But Ahud gat hym oute at a posterne doze / and shutte the dozes of the parler vpon hym and locked them.

When he was gone out / hys seruantes came and looked. And beholde / the dozes of the parler were locked. And they sayde / Alas / he is a doting of his easement in hys somer chamber. And when they had taried tyll they were a shamed / for no man dyd the dozes of the parler open: then they toke a keye & opened them. And beholde their Lord was fallen downe dead / vnto the erthe. And after hym came Samgar the sonne of Anath / which slewe of the Philistines. vi. hundred men with an oxe gode / and deliuered Israel also.

And the chyldren of Israel beganne agayne to do w^{ch}kedly in the syght of the Lord / when Ahud was dead. And the Lord sold them into the handes of Jabin kynge of Canaan / that raygned in Hazor / whose captayne of warre was Silara / which dwelt in Haroseth of gentyles. And the chyldren of Israel cryed vnto the Lord: for he had nyne hundred charettes of yron. he oppressed the chyldren of Israel with power xx. yeres.

And Deboza a prophete / the wyfe of Lapidoth iudged Israel the same tyme / and dwelt vnder the paulme tre of Deboza / betwene Ramath and Bethell / in mounte Ephraim.

And the chyldren of Israel came to her for iudgement. And she sent and called Barak the sonne of Abinoam / out of Kedesh Nephthalim / and sayde vnto hym.

The Lord God of Israel commaundeth the / that thou go and drowe to mounte Chaboz / and take with the ten thousande men / of the chyldren of Nephthalim & of the chyldren of Zabulon. And I will byynge vnto the ryuer Kison Silara / the Captayne of warre vnto Jabin / with hys charettes / and his people / and will deliuer them into thyne handes. And Barak sayde vnto her / yf thou wilt go with me / I will go: But and yf thou wilt not go with me / then I will not go. And she answered / I will surely go with the / but then the prayse shall not be thynne / in the waye which thou goest / for the Lord shall deliuer Silara into the handes of a woma. And she arose and went with Barak to Kedesh. And Barak called Zabulon and Nephthalim to Kedesh. And he went by a foote with ten thousande men: and Deboza went with hym.

But Haber the Kenite was remoued out of him / whych was of the chyldren of Moab the father in lawe of Moses / and pitched his tente vntill he was come to the Oche of Zaanaim / by Kedesh.

And then it was shewed vnto Silara how that Barak the sonne of Abinoam was gone by to mount Chaboz. And Silara called for all his charettes / euen ix. hundred charettes of yron / and for all the people that he had / from Haroseth of the gentyles vnto the ryuer of Kison. Then sayde Deboza vnto Barak: by / for thys is the daye in whych the Lord hath deliuered Silara in to thyne handes: for the Lord is gone oute befoze the. And so Barak went doune from mount Chaboz / and ten thousande men after hym.

But the Lord trounsed Silara and all hys charettes and all hys hoste with the edge of the swerde / befoze Barak. And Silara lyghted doune of hys charett and fled a fote. But Barak folowed after the charettes. and after the hoste / euen vnto Haroseth of the gentyles. And all the hoste of Silara fell vpon the edge of the swerde / that there was not not a man leaste. How be it Sifara fled a fote to the tent of Jael the wyfe of Haber the kente: for their was peace betwene Jabin the kynge of Hazor/ and the housholde of Haber the kente.

And Jael went out agaynst Sifara and sayde vnto hym: turne in my Lorde / turne into me & feare not. And he turned into her into her tent: & she couered hym with a mantell. And he sayde vnto her / geue me a lyttel water to dyncke / for I am thyrstye. And she opened a bottell of mylke & gaue him dync- he and couered him. And he sayde vnto her / stande in the dore of thy tente / & yf any man come & aske the / or enquire of the whether there be any man here / saye naye.

Then Jael Habers wyfe toke a nape of the tente / and an hamer in her hand / & wēt soflye vnto him / and smote h nape thozow the tēples of his head in to the ground / as he slombered beyng wery: And so he dyed.

And beholde as Barak folowed after Sifara / Jael came out agaynst him / and sayde vnto him: come and I will shew the the mā whō thou sekest. And when he came into her tente: Beholde / Sifara laye dead & h nape thozow his tēples. And so God brought Jabin the kynge of Canaan into subreccyon that daye / befoze the chyldzen of Israel. And the hande of the chyldzen of Israel prospered & was soze vpon Jabin the kynge of Canaan / vntyll they had brought him to naught.

Up by Deboza / up by and synge a songe / by Barak / & take thy praye / thou sonne of Abinoam. Then they h had escaped / rayg- ned ouer h proudest of h people. The Lorde rayneth ouer the stronge.

Ephraim was h fyrst agaynst Amalek / And after the Beniamin / amōge h people. Of Machir came lerned men in the law / and of Zabulon that well coude drawe in the penne of a scribe.

The Lorde of Jakar were with Debo- ra. And as Barak / euen so was Jakar sent into the baleye a fote. But in h deuply on- of Rubē / were great ymagynaciōs of herte.

Wherfoze abodest thou amonge the shepe fold / to heare the bleatynge of the flockes. In the deuplyons of Ruben / great were the ymagynaciōs of herte. Galaad abode on the other syde Jordan / and why tarped dan in hyppes. And Alcer sate in the hauens of the see / and abode styll in his awne costes. But Zabulon is a people that put their lyues in teopardye of death / and Nephtalim in lyhe maner / euen vnto the toppes of the felde. Kynges came and fought. Then fought the kynge of Canaan at Chanach / vnto the wa- ter of Magedo. But the syluer h they coue- ted / they carped not awaye.

From heauē came battell: for the sterres being in their course / fought agaynst Sifara. The ryuer of Kison caught them awaye: that attinent ryuer the ryuer Kison.

My soule: treade thou the myghtye vnder- fote. Then they mailed the hōzles legges / h their myghtie coursers leste prauynge.

Curse Meroz had the angell of the Lorde / Curse / Curse the enhabytours therof be- cause they came not forth to helpe h Lorde / to helpe the Lorde amōge the myghtie.

Blesed be Jael the wyfe of Haber the kentye / aboute other women: aboute other women blesed be she in the tente.

He asked water / but she gaue him mylke / and brought butter in a goodlye dyshe. She caught a nape in her leaste hand / and a woz- kynge hamer in her right / and naped Sifara and wounded his head and pearced a wēt thozow his temples. Betwene her fete he bowed him self / felle downe and laye styll: Betwene her fete he bowed hym self & felle. And whether he bowed him selfe / thyrther he felle brought to nought.

Chozou

Chozou a windowe looked Sifaras mother and howled thozow a lattise / why abyde thy charet so lōge / h it cometh not / why tarpe h wheles of his waggans. The wyf of her ladyes answered her: yee & she answered her awne word / her self haplye they haue soade / & deuyde the spoyle: I mayde / ye two mayds for a pece: a spoyle of dyuerse coloures for Sifara / a spoyle of dyuerse coloures wpyth hzodered wozkes / dyuerse coloured bzowde- red wozkes for h necke for a praye. So pe- rishe all thine enemyes Lorde: but they h loue h / let the be as h summe rpyng in his myghte.

And the lande had rest fourtye yerres.

Israel is oppressed of the Madianites / because he re- turned agayn into Idolatrie. Gedeon is sent of God to be their deliuerer. The altar of Baal is ouerthrowe.

The vi. Chapter.

And the chyldzen of Israel compted wpychednes in the syght of h Lorde. And the Lorde deliuered them into the handes of the Madianites seue- yerres. And when the hāde of h Madianites was soze vpon Israel / the chyldzen of Israel made the demnes in h mountaynes & caues & stronge holdes. For when Israel had sown then came the Madianites the Amalechites & they of the East cōtrepe vpon the & pitched their tentes agaynst them & destroyed h en- crease of the erthe euen vnto Azah / and leste no sustynance in Israel / neether shepe / ore oz asse / for they came wpyth their cattell and householdes eue as greshopers in multitude: so h both they and also their camelles were with out nombze. And they entrede h lāde to destroye it. And so was Israel excedyngly impouered by h Madianites & cryed vnto the Lorde. And when the chyldze of Israel cryed vnto the Lorde because of the Madia- nites / the Lorde sent a prophete vnto them / & sayd vnto the: Thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel: I sette you fro Egypt & brought you out of the house of bondage and I rydde you out of h hande of the Egyptians & out of h hand / of all h oppressed you / & cast the out befoze you / & gaue you their land. And I sayd vnto you / I am h Lorde poure God / & ther- foze feare not the Goddes of the Amozites in whose lande you dwell. But you haue not obeyed my voyce. And the Angell of h Lorde came & sate vnder an Oke in Ephrah / h per- tayned vnto Joas h father of h Gieriz. And his sonne Gedeon pzelled out whete out of h eares in a pzele / for to flee fro h Madianites. And h angell of the Lorde appeared vnto him / & sayde: h Lorde is with the / thou mā of myght / And Gedeon answered him: Oh my Lorde / yf the Lorde be with vs / why is all this come vpon vs: ye & where be hys myracles which oure fathers tolde vs of and sayde / the Lorde brought vs out of Egypt. But now h Lorde hath forsake vs / & deliuered vs into h hād of the Madianites. And the Lorde toke hōd vpon him & sayd: So hence in this thy myght & de- liuer Israel out of h hādes of h Madianites. Beholde I haue sent the: And he answered hym. Oh Lorde wher shuld I saue Israel? Beholde my kynred is h poozest in Manas- ses / & I am h least in my fathers house. But then h Lorde sayd vnto him: I will be with the: & thou shalt smyte h Madianites / as they were but one mā. And he answered hym / yf I haue founde grace in thy syght / then shewe me a sygne / & thou art h Lorde h talketh to me. De- parte not hence / vntill I come agayn vnto h & bzynge myne offryng / & haue sett it befoze h.

And he sayde I will tarpe vntyll thou come agayne. And Gedeon went & made re- dye a hydde / and swete hakes of an Ephra of flowze / & put the fleshe in a basket & h bzoth in a potte / & brought it out vnto hym vnder h Oke & presented it. And h angell of God sayde vnto him: take the fleshe & the swete hakes & put the bzō this roche / & powze out the bzoth. And he dyd so. Then the angell of h Lorde put forth h ende of the staffe h was in his hande & touched the fleshe & h haks. And there arose by fyre out of h roche & consumed h fleshe and the hakes. And the angell of the Lorde banished out of his syght. And whē Ge- deon perceaued h it was an Angell / he sayd Alas my Lorde Jehouah / that I haue sene an angell of h Lorde face to face. And h Lorde sayde vnto him: peace be to h & feare not / for thou shalt not dye. Then Gedeon made an ail- tare there vnto h Lorde & called it* Jehouah Salom / which vnto this daye is yet in C- * That is / the phzath h pertayneth vnto h father of h Ele- Lord of peace.

And h same nyght the Lorde sayde vnto hym / take an ore of thy fathers & another of hix. perz olde / & destroye h aultar of Baal h belongeth vnto thy father / & cutte dōune the groue h is about it / & make an aultar vnto the Lorde thy god vnto h toppes of this roche & furnethe it. And take the seconde ore & offer burnt sacrifice to h wodd of h groue which thou shalt haue cut dōune. Then Gedeon toke ten men of his seruants & dyd as h Lorde bad hym. But because he durst not do it by daye for feare of his fathers housholde and of the men of the cytie / he dyd it by nyght.

When h men of the citie were by erlye in the mornyng: Beholde h aultare of Baal was bzōke / & the groue h stode about it cut & dōune. And h secōde ore offered vnto h aultar h was made. And they sayde one to another / who hath done this thyng / & they enquired & asked. And it was tolde them that Gedeon the sonne of Joas had done it. Then the men of the cytie sayde vnto Joas / bzynge out thy sonne h he maye dye / because he hath bzōke h aultar.

altier of Baal / & cut doune þe groue þe was about it. And Joas sayde vnto all that stode by him / will ye fyght for Baal / or will ye be his defenders: he that stryeth for hym shall dye this moynynge. If he be a God let hym stryue with hym that cast doune his altier. And he called Gedeon Jerobaal the same tyme saying: let Baal stryue with him because he hath broken doune his altier.

When all the Madianites / the Amalekites and they of the East / were gathered to geather & had gone and pitched in the valeye of Ferael: the spere of the Lord entered into to Gedeon. And he blew a trompette and called Abiezer to folow him / & sent messengers thozou oute all Manasses & called the by to folowe hym also. And he sent messengers vnto Aser / Zabulon and Nephtholim / which came also to mete him.

And Gedeon sayde vnto God: yf thou wilt saue Israel by my hande as thou hast sayde. Beholde I will put a flece of wolfe in the threallhyng place. And yf the dewe be on þe flece on lye / and drye vpon all the erthe beynde: then I shall be sure þe thou wilt saue Israel by my hande / as thou saydest. And it came so to passe. And he rose by crye on þe moztowe / and he thrust þe flece to geather and wzone the dewe therout & fylled a boole of water. And Gedeon sayde vnto God / he not angrey wpyth me / that I speake once moare / let me proue only once agayne with the flece. Let it be drye on lye vpon the flece / & dew vpon all the grounde aboute. And God byd so þe same nyght: so þe it was drye vpon the flece on lye / & on all the grounde aboute / dewe.

The. viij. Chapter.

When Jerobaal othertwyle called Gedeon rose crye & all the people that were with him / & pitched beynde the well of Farad / so that the holte of the Madianites were in a valeye on þe northsyde of þe hyl Hamozeh. And þe Lord sayde vnto Gedeon / the people that are with the are to many for me to geue the Madianites into their handes / lest Israel make their bawnte to my dishonoure & saye / oure atone hande hath saued vs. Now therfore make a proclamacion in the Eares of the people and saye: yf any mā drede or be aserde / let hym retorne and get hym some from mounte Galaad. And there departed and returned of the people. xxiij. thousande / and there abode ten thousande.

And þe Lord sayde vnto Gedeon: the people are yet to many / byrnyng them doune vnto the water / and I will trye them vnto the there. And of whom I saye vnto the / they shall go to the / the same shall go with the. And whosoever I saye vnto the / this shall not go with the / the same shall not go. And when he had brought doune þe people vnto þe water. The Lord sayd vnto Gedeon: as many as lappe the water with their tonges / as dogges do / them put by them selues / and so do the that knele doune vpon their knees to dryncke. And the nombre of the that put there handes to their mouthes and lapped / were. iij. hundred men. And all the remnant of the people kneled doune vpon their knees to dryncke water. And the Lord sayde vnto Gedeon / wpyth the thre hundred men that lapped wpyth I saue you / and deliuer the Madianites into thyne hande. And all þe other people shall go euery man vnto his atone whome.

And they toke bytassles with them for the folke / & their trompettes. And he sent all the rest of Israel / euery man vnto his tente / and kepte the thre hundred with him. And þe host of Madia was benethe him in a valeye. And the same nyght the Lord sayde vnto him / by þe go doune vnto the holte / for I haue deliuered it into thyne hande. But & yf thou feare to go doune / then go thou doune vnto þe host / & Pharah thy ladde / & herke what they saye / and so shall thyne handes be strong / and then thou shalt go doune vnto the holte.

Then he went doune to Pharah his ladde / euen harde vnto the men of armes that were in the holte. And the Madianites / the Amalekites / and all they of the East / laye a longe in the valeye / lyke vnto grethoppers in multtude / and their camelles were without nombre / euen as the sande by the see syde in multtitude. And whē Gedeon was come: Beholde / there was a mā that tolde a dreame vnto his felowe & sayde: Behold I dreamede a dreame and me thought þe a bryplede looffe of barley bzead tumbled in to the holte of Madian / & came vnto a tente & smote it that it felle / & ouerturned it / þe tente laye a longe. And his felowe answered & sayde / this is nothing elles saue the swerde of Gedeon the sonne of Joas a man of Israel / into whose hande the Lord hath deliuered Madian & all þe holte.

When Gedeon hearde the tellynge of the dreame & the interpretation of the same / he bowed hym selfe to the erthe & returned vnto the holte of Israel / and sayde: by þe Lord hath deliuered into poure handes the holte of the Madianites. And he deuyled the thre hundred men into thre companies / and gaue euery mā a tropet in his hand / to an emptye pitcher & lampes therin / and sayde vnto the loke on me & do lykewyle: and beholde / whē I come to the syde of the holte / eue as I do /

And so Gedeon & the thre hundred men þe were to hym / came vnto the syde of þe host in the begynnyng of the myddell watche / and reysed by þe watche men. And they blew to their trompettes & brake the pychers þe were in their handes. And all thre companies blew to their troppes & brake þe pitchers / & helde þe lapes in their lefte handes / & the trompettes in their right / to blowe wpyth all. And they cryed the swerde of þe Lord & of Gedeon. And they stode stille / euery mā in his place rounde about þe holte. And all þe hoste ranne & cryed & fled. And as the thre hundred blew with trompettes / þe Lord sett euery mānes swerde vpon his neyghboure / thozou out all þe hoste. And þe hoste fled vntyl they came to Bethsitah / to Zererath / & to þe edge of Abelmeholah beynde Tabath. And the men of Ephraim sayde vnto hym. Why hast thou serued vs thus / þe thou calledst vs not / when thou wertest to fyght wth þe Madianites. And they chode to hym a good. And he sayd vnto the: what deade haue I done lyke vnto poures: are not þe clusters of Ephraim better then þe wyne heruest of Abiezer? And Gedeon sayde / therfore when the Lord hath deliuered Zebath and Salmona in to myne hande / I will teare the fleshe of you with the thornes of the wilderness & with bzeers. And he went thence to Phanael / and spake vnto the lykewyle. And the men of Phanael answered him / as byd the men of Socoth. And he sayd also vnto the men of Phanael / whē I come agayne in peace / I will breake doune this towre. And he toke the elders of the cytie / and thornes of the wilderness and bzeers / & all to fare the thertwyl. And he brake doune the towre of Phanael and slew the men of the cytie.

And then sayde vnto Zebath and Salmona / what maner men were they which ye slew at Chaboz: and they answered / þe lykenesse of the & the is all one / euen after the facyon of the chyldren of a kyng. Then þe men of Israel sayde vnto Gedeon Raygne ouer vs / bothe thou thy sonne & thy sonnes sonne / for thou hast deliuered vs out of þe handes of þe Madianites. And Gedeon sayd vnto the / I will not raigine ouer you / neether shall thou so despysedest. So out now a feloushype the cytezens of Sichem / & fought w Abime-lech. And Abimelech chased him that he fledd before him & many were ouer thowen and slayne / euen vntill they came vnto the ente-ryng of the gate. And then Abimelech wet & dwelt at Arumah. And then Zebul thrust out Gaal & his brethre / & wolde not suffer them to dwelle in Sichem. And on the morowe a people wet out into a felde. And it was tolde Abimelech. And he toke his people & deuided

And Abimelech & the companyes that were w that was therein / & destroyed the cytie and a schew towre of Sichem harde that / they entered in to a stronge holde of the house of their God Baal Berith. And whe it was tolde Abime-euery man a bowgh / & folowed Abimelech / and put them into a holde / and sett the holde a fyxe vnto the: so that all the men of a towre of Sichem were slayne / vpon a thousande personnes what of men & women to gether.

Then went Abimelech to Thebez & beleged it / & toke it. But there was a strong towre in the myddes of the cytie / a thither ranne all the men & women / & all a cytezens of the cytie & shut it to them / and gott them by vpon the toppe of a towre. Then came Abimelech vnto the towre & fought agaynst it / & wet harde

But a woman cast a pece of a mylstone vnto hys hedde & all to brake hys brayne panne.

Then Abimelech called hys selfe vnto the younge man that bare his harnes / and sayde vnto him: dawe thy swerde and slee me / that men saye not of me / a womā slewe hym. And his ladde thrust him thowre & he dyed.

 in the lande of the Amozites in Galaad. Mo-reouer the chyldre of Ammon wēt ouer Jordan to fyght agaynst Juda / Benjamin / & the house of Ephraim: so & Israel was sore combyed. Then the chyldren of Israel cryed vnto the Lord saying: we haue synned agaynst the: for we haue forsaken owre awne God / & haue serued Baalim. And & Lord sayde vnto & chyldre of Israel: dyd not the Egypciās / & Amozites / the chyldre of Ammon / the Philistines / the Sidonites / the Amalechites / & the Moabites / oppresse you? And ye cryed to me / and I deliuered you out of their hādes. And for all that ye haue forsaken me / and serue strange Goddesses / wherfore I will helpe you no more. But go and crye vnto the Goddess which ye haue chosen / and lett the saue you in the tyme of youre tribulacyon.

But the chyldren of Israel sayde vnto the Lord we haue synned: do thou vnto vs whatsoeuer please the / & deliuer vs onye at thys tyme. And they put away the strange Goddesses from the / and serued the Lord. And the myserye of Israel greued his soule.

¶ Then the chyldre of Ammon geathered to geather & pitched in Galaad. And the chyldre of Israel geathered the to geather & pyched in Hazpah. And & cōpanye of & Lordes of Galaad sayde eche to other / whosoever will beginne & battell agaynst the chyldre of Am-

¶ Jephthah the sonne of a Harlot deliuereth Israel fro the Ammonites after they asked for geuenes.

¶ The. xi. Chapter.

No there was one Jephthah a Galaadite / a stronge man / which was the sonne of an harlott: Now be it Galaad begat Jephthah. But Ga-laades wyfe bare hym sonnes / which when they were come to age / thrust out of Jephthah / & sayde vnto him: thou shalt not enheret in oure fathers house / for thou art the sonne of a strange womā. Then Jephthah fledde fro hys byethē and dwelt in the lande of Tob. And there geathered Idole people to Jephthah / & went out to him. But it chaun-ced in processe of tyme / & the chyldre of Ammon made warre agaynst Israel / then & elders of Galaad wēt & sett Jephthah out of & lāde of Tob / & sayd vnto him: come & be oure captayne / & let vs fyght w & chyldre of Ammon. And Jephthah sayde vnto the elders of Galaad: Dyd not ye hate me & expelle me out of my fathers house? how happeneth it then & you come vnto me now in tyme of youre tribulacyō? And & elders of Galaad answered Jephthah. Therefore we turne agayne to the now / that thou go w vs / & fight agaynst & chyldre of Ammon / & be owre heerd ouer all & inhabitors of Galaad. And Jephthah sayd vnto the elders of Galaad: If ye bynge me home agayn / to fyght w & chyldre of Ammon / then yf & Lord deliuer the before me / I shal-be youre heerd. And & elders of Galaad sayde to Jephthah / & Lord be witnesse betwene vs yf we do not accordyng to thy wordes. Then Jephthah wēt w & elders of Galaad. And & people made him heerd & ruler ouer the. And Jephthah reherled all his word in Hazpah.

¶ Then Jephthah sent messengers vnto the kyng of & chyldre of Ammon / saying: what ayleth & to me & thou comest vnto me to fight agaynst my lāde? And & kyng of & chyldre of Ammon answered vnto & messengers of Jephthah / because Israel toke awaye my lād / whē they came out of Egypt: euē fro Arnon vnto Jabbok / & fro thence vnto Jordan. Now therfore restore those lād agayne w saye mean. And Jephthah sent messengers agayne vnto & chil-dre of Ammon / & sayde vnto hym: thus sayth Jephthah. Israel toke not awaye & lande of Moab / nor & lād of & chyldre of Ammon. But whē Israel came out of Egypt / they walked thowre & wyldernesse / euē vnto & redd see / & came to Cad / & sent messengers vnto & kyng of Edom saying: let vs praye & go thowre thy lande. But & kyng of Edom wolde not agre therto. And in lyke maner they sent vnto the kyng of Moab / but he wold not consent. And so Israel

so Israel abode styll in Cad. And then they went a long thowre the wyldernesse / & compased the lāde of Edom / & & lande of Moab / and came a long by the east syde of the lande of Moab / & pitched on the other syde & ryuer of Arnon / & came not within the coostes of the Moabites: for Arnon was their vtmost border. And then Israel sent messengers vnto Schon / kyng of the Amozites / & kyng of Heshbon / & sayde vnto hym: Let vs passe thowre thy lande vnto owre awne contreye.
 But Schon trusted not Israel / to go thowre hys coostes: but gathered all hys people to geather & pyched in Jazah / & fought wth Israel. But the Lord God of Israel deliue-red Schon & all his folcke into the hādes of Israel. And so Israel smote them & conquered all the lande of the Amozites / the enhabiters of the sayde cōtreie. And they cōquered all the coostes of the Amozites / from Ar-non vnto Jabbok / & from the wyldernesse vnto Jordan. So now seing the Lord God of Israel hath cast out & Amozites before his people shuldest thou possesse the lāde? Maye / but what people Camos thy God byrueth out / & lande possesse thou. But whatsoeuer nacyons the Lord oure God expelleth / that lande ought we to enioye. And therto art thou better then Balack & sonne of Jephthah kyng of Moab: dyd he stryue wth Israel o? fyght agaynst the? all & whyle Israel dwelt in Heshbon & her townes / & in Aroer & her townes / & in all the cyties & be a longe by the coostes of Arnon. iij. hundred yeres? why dydest thou not recouer the in all that space / wherfore I haue not synned agaynst
 the. But thou doest me wronge / to warre agaynst me. The Lord therfore be iudge this daye / betwene the chyldre of Israel / and the chyldre of Ammon. Now be it the kyng of & chyldre of Ammon harkned not vnto & wordes of Jephthah which he sent him.

¶ Then the spyte of the Lord came vpon Jephthah. And he passed ouer Galaad & Ma-nasses / & came to Hazpah & lyeth in Galaad / & fro thence vnto & chyldre of Ammon.
 And Jephthah bowed a bowe vnto & Lord & sayde: If thou shalt deliuer & chyldren of Ammon into my handes / then that thyng & cometh out of the doores of my house agaynst me / whē I come home in peace / fro the chy-dren of Ammon / shalbe the Lordes / & I will offer it by a burnt offering. And so Jephthah wēt vnto the chyldren of Ammon to fyght w
 the. And & Lord deliuered the into his hand And he smote the from Aroer vnto Menith / xx. cyties. And so forth to & playne of the byneyards / & made an exceeding great slaughter. And thus the chyldren of Ammon were brought vnder / before the chyldre of Israel.

¶ Then Jephthah came to Hazpah vnto his house. And se his daughter came out agaynst hym / w tymberelles & daunces / which was his onely childe: so & deliue her. he had nether sonne nor daughter. And when he sawe her / he rent his clothes & sayde: Alas my daughter / thou hast made me troupe & art one of the that trouble me. For I haue opened my mouth vnto the Lord / & cannot go backe. etc.
 And she sayde vnto hym: my father / yf thou haue opened thy mouth vnto the Lord / then do with me accordyng to that proceeded out of thy mouth / for as moche as the Lord hath aduenged the of thyne enemyes & children of Ammon. And she sayde vnto her father / do this moche for me: lett me alone two monethes & I maye go downe to the moun-taines & bewaile my virginite with my felowes. And he sayde: go / and so he sent her awaye two monethes. And she wēt with her cōpanyons & lamed her maydenhead vnto the mountaynes. And after & two monethes / she turned agayne vnto her father which dyd w her accordyng to hys bowe which he had bowed / and so she knewe no man. And it became an ordynance in Israel yere by yere / that the daughters of Israel shulde go & lamente the daughter of Jephthah the Galaaddite / foure dayes in a yere.

¶ The. xij. Chapter.

And the men of Ephraim geathered the selues to gether / & went north-warde / and sayde vnto Jephthah: wherfore wentest thou to fight w the chyldre of Ammon / & dydest thou not call vs to go w the? we will therfore burne thine house vnto the / with fyre. And Jephthah sayde vnto the: I & my people were at great stryfe w the chyldre of Ammon. And I called you. But ye deliuered me not out of their hād. And whē I sawe that ye deliuered me not / I put my put my selfe in lyfe in my handes & went vpon the chyldren of Ammon. And the Lord deliuered the into my handes. wherfore then are ye come vpon me to fyght with me.

¶ And Jephthah geathered to geather all & men of Galaad / & fought w & Ephraim. And the men of Galaad smote the Ephraimites / because they sayde: Ye Galaadites are but rū-neagates of Ephraim amonge & Ephraimites & & Manassites. Moreouer & men of Galaad toke & passag of Jordan fro & Ephraites. And when those Ephraimites & were escaped / sayde lett vs go ouer. Then the men of Galaad sayde vnto the: Ye are Ephraimites / & they sayde naye. Then the other answered: then saye Siboleth. And they sayde Siboleth.

The. xiii. Chapter.

And the chyldren of Israel begynne agayne to comytte wyckednesse in þe sight of þe Lorde. And þe Lorde belyuered the into þe hand of þe Egyptians fourtye yere. And there was a man in Zarash of þe kynred of þe Danites / named Hanoah / whose wife was barre & bare not.
And the Angell of þe Lorde appeared vnto his wyfe & sayd vnto her: Behold / thou art barre & bearest not: But thou shalt conceiue & beare a sonne. And now beware / and dynche no wyne / ner strong dyncche / neithr eate any beare a sonne. And there may no man goe with thee / for thou shalt be a chaste abstayner vnto God / euen till þy yere of birth. And he shall begynne to set his foot out of the handes of the Philistines.

Then þe wyfe went & tolde þe schulf man saying: a man of God came vnto me / and the facyon of him was lyke the facyon of an Angell of God excedyngre fearful. But I asked him not whence he was / neþer wolde he me his name. And he sayd vnto me: *b- holde thou now drynche no wyne noz stronge dryncke / neþer eate any vnclene thyng: for the ladd

Then Manoah made intercession to the Lord/and sayde: I praye the my Lord lett þ man of God which thou sendest come once moare vnto vs & teache vs what we shall do vnto þ ladd wh̄ he is borne. And God hearde þ voyce of Manoah/ & an angell of God came agayne vnto the wyfe as she satt in the feld:

But Manoah her husbände was not wth her.
Then þ^e wife made haste & rāne & shewed her husbād & sayde to him: Beholde þ^e mā apear ed vnto me þ^e came þ^e other daye vnto me.

And M^oanoah arose & w^el after hys wyfe and came to the m^a and sayde vnto hym: art thou the man & spakest vnto my wyfe? And he sayde yee. Then M^oanoah sayde / now wh^e thy saying is come to passe: what shalbe the maner of the chyldre / & what shal he do? And the Angell of the L^ord sayde vnto M^oanoah: thy wyfe must abstayne fr^o all that I sayde vnto her: she maye eate of nothyng & cometh of the byne tree / ner dryncke wyne o^r strong must obserue all that I bad her. Then sayde M^oanoah vnto the Angell of & L^ord / graunte vs to tarye vntill we haue made redge a kydd & haue set it befoze &. And & angell of & L^ord sayde vnto M^oanoah: though thou make me abyde / I wyl not eate of thy meate. And mo-reouer yf thou wylt prepare a burnt offryng / & thou must offer vnto & L^ord. foz M^oanoah

M^oanoah sayd vnto & angell of & L^ord: what gell of & L^ord sayde vnto hym: why askest thou after my name? when it is maruelouse.

And Manoah toke a kydde to a meate offering/ & offered it bys a tocke vnto þe Lord. And þe angell did wonderfyllye/ Manoah & his wyfe tokyng bys. for whē þe flame came by out of þe aultare/ þe angell of þe Lord ascended by in þe flame of þe aultare. And Manoah & hys wyfe loked bys & fell flat on their faces vnto the ground: But þe angell of þe Lord dide nomore apere vnto Manoah & hys wyfe.
And then Manoah knew þe it was an angell of the Lord: & sayde vnto his wyfe: we shall surely dye/ because we haue sene God. But his wyfe sayde vnto hym: If þe Lord wolde kill vs/ he wolde not haue receaued a burntoffring & a meate offering of oure hand/ ne ther woe he haue shewed vs all these thinges/ nor woe he haue tolde vs as he hath of thynges to

Of the xiii. Chapter.

Sanson wēt doune to Chamnath/ & sawe a womā in Chamnath of the the daughters of the Philistines/ & came by and tolde hys father & hys mother/ and sayde: I haue fene a woman in Chamnath

Hamnath of 7 daughters of 7 Philistines.
And now geue her me to wyfe. Then his father and mother sayde vnto him / is there neuer a womā of the daughters of thy byethē / amonge all my people : but that thou must go & sette a wyfe of the vncircumcyled Philistines? And Samson sayd vnto his father / geue me this womā for she pleaseeth me well But his father and mother wist not that it was the Lordes doing / and that he sought an occasyon of the Philistines / which at that tyme raygned ouer Israel.

Then went Samson and hys father and his mother downe to Thamnath. And when they came to the byneyardes of Thamnath: beholde a young Lyon rozed vpon hym. And the sprete of the Lorde came vpon hym. And he tare him / as a man wolde rent a Kydde / and yet had nothing in his hande. Neuerthe- later he tolde not his father & mother what he had done. And he went downe and talked with the woman / which semed well fauored in the syght of Samson.

And within a short space after/as he wēt thither agayne to take her to wyfe / he turned out of þ̄ waye/to se þ̄ carkasse of þ̄ Lȝō.
And beholde there was a swarme of bees in the carkasse of the Lȝon and honye. And he toke of the honye in hys handes and went eatyng / and came to hys father and mother and gaue them also. And they dyd eate. But he tolde not them / that he had takē the honye out of the carkasse of the Lȝon.

C And when is father was come vnto the woman, Samson made there a feast / for to bled the younge men to do. And when her frendes sawe him, they brought xxx. companions to beare felowshippe. And Samson sayde vnto them: I wyll put forth a ryddle vnto you. And yf you can declare it within viij. dayes of the feast and fynde it out, I wyll geue you thyrtye shertes and thirtye chaunge of garmentes: But & yf you cannot declare it me / then shall ye geue me thirtye shertes & thirtie chaunge of garmentes. And they answered him / put forth thy rydle and lett vs heare it. And he sayde vnto them. Out of the easter came meate: and out of the strong came swetnesse. And they coude not in thze dayes expounde the rydle. And whē the seuēth daye was come, they sayde vnto Samsons wyfe. flatter with thyne husbande / that he maye declare vs thy rydle / or elles we wyll burne the and thy fathers house with fyre: Hauē ye called vs to make vs beggers of? Then Samsons wyfe wepte vnto him and sayde / it cannot be but that thou hatest me & louest me not: for thou hast put forth a rydle vnto the children of my folke and wylt not tell me what it meaneth. And he sayde: Beholde / I haue not tolde it my father nor my mother/and wulde I tell it the?

And he wepte vnto him. viij. dayes / while the feaste lasted. And the seuēth daye he tolde her / because shelaye so sore vpon him. And she tolde it the chyldren of her folke. And 5 men of the cytie sayde vnto him the seuēth daye before the sonne wēt downe. What is sweeter then honye / and what is stronger then a Lyon ¶ Then sayde he vnto thē : If ye had not * plowed with my coulfe / ye had not founde out my rydle. ¶ Then the spyte of the Lozē came vpon hym. And he went downe to Askalon / ¶ Betwē thyrtye men of them / and spoyled thē / and gaue their garmentes vnto them which expounded the rydle. And he was wroth and wēt by to his fathers house. But Samsons wyfe was geuen to one of his companyons that bare him companye.

The 10th Chapter:

But it chauced within a whyle after / euen in the tyme of whete heruest / Samson visited hys wyfe with a kide. And when he supposed to haue gone in vnto hys wyfe into the chamber / her father wolde not suffre hym to go in: But sayde: I thought that thou haddest hated her / & therfore gaue I her vnto one of thy companyons. Now be it / her younger sister is fayrer then she. Take her in steade of the other. Then sayde Samson vnto them: Now I am blamelesse concerning the Philistines / though I do them euell.

And Samson went out and caught thye hundred fores/and toke fyzebrandes/ & fastened taye to taye/ and put a fyze bzade in þ myrdes/ betwene two tayles. And he sett þ fyze bzandes on fyze/and put them into the corne of the Philistines/and burnt bp bothe the reped corne and also the standynge/ with bynes & olives. Then the Philistines asked/who had done that: And it was tolde the that Samson þ sonne in lawe of the Thannite/because he had taken his wyfe and geue her to one of his cōpanyons. And þ Philistines came & burnt her and her father with fyze.

And Samson sayde vnto them: shulde ye do so? I wyll surely be aduenged of you / & then I wyll cease. And he smote them* legge & theyghe with a myghtye plage. And then he wēt & dwelt in the caue of the roche Etani.
¶ Then the Philistines came by & pytted men and fore

men,

And they answered to hynde Samson are we come/euen to do him as he hath done to vs. Then thre thousand men of Iuda went downe to the caue of the rocke Etam/a sayde to Samson:wottest thou not that þe Philistines are rulers ouer vs? wherfore then hast thou serued vs thus? And he answered the/as they serued me/to haue I serued the.

And they sayde vnto him/we are come to hynde the & to delpyer þe into the hādes of þe Philistines. And Samson sayde vnto them: swere vnto me/þe shall not hurte me poure selues. And they sayde we will not hurte þe/ saue onlpe hynde þe and delpyer þe vnto their handes: But we will not kille the. And so they bounde him with two newe cordes and brought him by from the rocke. And when he come to Lehi/ the Philistines shotted agaynst him. And the spyete of þe Lord came vpon hym/and the cordes that were vpon his armes became as flaxe that was burnt with fire/and the bandes louted fro of his handes. And he founde a Jaw bone of a ratten Ass/ and put forth his hande and caught it/ & slue a thousande men therewith.

And Samson sayde: wyth the Jawe of an asse/haue I made heapes:wyth the Jawe of an asse haue I slayne a thousande men. And whē he had left speakeyng/ he cast awaye the Jawe out of his hande & called the place Ramath Lehi. And he was toze a thyrst/ & called on the Lorde and sayde. Thou Lorde hast geuen this great victorie/ thorothe the hande of thy seruauant. And now I must dye for thyrst and falle into the handes of the vncircumcysed. But God brake a great tothe that was in the Jawe/and there came water therout. And when he had droncke his spyete came agayne/ & he was refreshed/ wherfore the name therof was called/ the welle of the caller on/ whych is in Lehi vnto this daye. And he iudged Israel in the dayes of the Philistines twentye yeres.

Samson lyfeth by the Gates of Gaza and carpyeth the by in to the mountayne. He was decaued by Dalilah & made blynde. He pulleth downe the house vpon the Philistines and dyeth with them.

The. xxi. Chapter.

Then went Samson to Gaza/ and saw there an whoze/ & went in vnto her. And it was tolde the Gazites/ that Samson was come thither. And they met aboute and layde awaite for him all nyght in the gate of the cite/ but were styll all the nyght sayyng: Carpe tyll þe moornyng þe it be daye/ & then lett vs kyll him. And Samson toke his rest tyll midnyght/ and arose at midnyght and toke the dozes of the gate of the cite/ & the two lyde postes/ & rent them of/ barres and all/ & put them vpon his shoulders/ and carped the by to the toppe of an hyll that lyeth befoze Hebron.

And after that he loued a woman/ vpon the ryuer of Sozek/ called Dalilah vnto whom came the Lordes of the Philistines/ & sayde vnto her: Flatter with hym & se wherin his great strenght lyeth/ and by what meane we maye haue power ouer hym/ that we maye hynde him/ to bryng him vnder/ and we will geue euerye mā a leue hūdzd syluerlynges.

And Dalilah sayde to Samson. Oh/ tell me where thy great strenght lyeth/ & yt thou were bounde wherwith men might cōstrayne the. And Samson sayde vnto her. If men bounde me with. viij. grene withthes þe were neuer dyped/ I shulde be weakē & as another man. And then the Lordes of the Philistines brought her. viij. withthes þe were yet grene & neuer dyped/ and she bounde him therewith. Notwith standyng he had men lyinge in wayte with her in the chābre. And she sayde vnto him/ the Philistines be vpon the Samson. And he brake the cordes as a stryng of towe breaketh/ when hit fealeth fire. And so his strenght was not knowne.

Then sayde Dalilah to Samson: Se thou hast mocked me and tolde me lyes. Now yet tell me I praye þe/ wherwith thou myghtest be bounde. And he sayde: If I were bounde with newe ropes that neuer were occupied/ then shulde I be weakē/ and as another mā. And Dalilah toke new ropes & bounde hym therewith/ & sayde vnto him/ the Philistines be vpon the Samson. And there were lyes of wayte in the chamber/ and he brake them from of his armes/ as they had bene but a threde. And Dalilah sayd vnto Samson/ hitherto thou hast begyled me & tolde me lyes: I praye the yet telle me wherwith men maye hynde þe. And he sayde vnto her. If thou platdest the seuen lockes of my heed wyth an hearre lace and fastnedest the wyth a napele. And she sayde vnto hym/ the Philistines be vpon the Samson. And he awaked out of his slepe/ & plucked & went awaye w the napele þe was in the platting & with þe hearre lace. Then she sayde vnto him: How canst thou say þe thou louest me/ when thine hert is not w me: for thou hast mocked me this. iij. tymes/ & hast not tolde wherin thy great strenght lyeth. And as she laye vpon hym w her wordz cōtinually beryng of him/ his soule was encombred euē vnto the death. And he tolde her all his herte/ and sayde vnto her: there neuer came raler nor theres vpon myne heed/ for I haue bene an abstayner to God euē fro my mothers wombe. If myne hearre were cut of/ my strenght wold go fro me/ & I shuld ware a be lyke all other men. And when Dalilah sawe þe he had tolde her all his hert/ she sent for for the Philistines sayyng/ come by yet this once/ for he hath shewed me all his herte.

Then the Lordes of the Philistines came and brought the money in their handes. And she made him slepe vpon her lappe/ and sent for a man/ and cut of the seue lockes of his heed & begāne to bere him. But his strenght was gone from him. And she sayde the Philistines be vpon the Samson. And he awooke out of his slepe and thought to go out as at other tymes befoze & shake him selfe/ & wist not that the Lorde was departed from hym. But þe Philistines toke him and put out his eyes/ and brought hym downe to Gaza/ and bounde him with fetters. And he was made to grinde in the prison house/ how be it the hearre of his heed beganne to growe agayne after that he was thorne.

Then þe Lord of þe Philistines gathered the to gather for to offer a solempne offring vnto Dagōn their God/ & to reioyse: for they sayde/ oure God hath delpyered Samson oure enemye into oure handes. And whē the people sawe him/ they prayled their God: for they sayd oure God hath delpyered into oure handes oure enemye/ þe destroyed oure contraye and slue manye of vs. And when their hert were merue they sayd: sende for Samson & lett him playe befoze vs. And they sette Samson out of þe prisonhouse/ & he played befoze the/ & they set him betwene þe pillars. And Samson sayde vnto the ladd that led him by the hāde: sett me that I maye touche the pillars that the house stande vpon/ & that I maye leane to the. And the house was full of men & women. And there was all þe lordz of the Philistines. And there were vpon the rouse a thre thousand men & women/ that be helde how Samson played.

And Samson called vnto the Lorde/ and sayde: my Lorde Iehouah thynke vpon me/ & strengthen me/ at this tyme onlpe O God/ that I maye be aduenged of the Philistines for my two eyes. And Samson caught the two myddell pylers on which þe house stode and on which it was bozne by/ the one in his ryght hande/ & the other in his left/ & sayde: my soule dye with the Philistines/ & bowed them with might. And the house fell vpon þe lordes and vpon all the people þe were therin. And so the deed which he slewe at bys deeth/ were moo then they which he slewe in his lyfe. And then his brydzen and all the house of his father came downe and toke hym by/ and brought hym and buryed hym betwene Sarah and Eschaol/ in the burying place of Manoah his father. And he iudged Israel twentye yere.

Of Micah whose mother made him an Idoll of syluer. Of the young preast of the lpyage of Leui of Bethlehem.

The. xxiij. Chapter.

Here was a mā in mount Ephraim/ named Micah whych sayde vnto his mother: the leue hūdzd syluerlynges þe were take fro the/ aboute which thou cursedst & saydest in myne eares: Beholde the syluer is wyth me for I toke it awaye. Then sayd his mother: blessed be thou my sonne/ in the Lorde. And so he restored the leuen hūdzd syluerlynges to his mother agayne. And his mother sayde: I bowed the syluer vnto the Lorde of myne hande for my sonne: to make a graue ymage & an ymage of metall. Now therfore geue it þe agayne. And he restored the moneye agayne vnto his mother. Then his mother toke two hundred syluerlynges & put them to a goldsmith/ to make therof a graue ymage and a ymage of metall/ which remayned in the house of Micah. And þe mā Micah had a chapell of Gods/ and made an Ephod and ymages/ & fylled the hand of one of his sonnes which became his preast. For in those dayes there was no kyng in Israel/ but eueryman dyd what thought hym best.

And there was a younge mā out of Bethlehem Iuda/ & out of the kynredes of Iuda: which young man was a Leuite and sojournd there. And the mā departed out of þe cite of Bethlehem Iuda/ to go dwell where he coulde fynde a place. And he came to mount Ephraim/ & to þe house of Micah as he sought where he myght get comest thou? and the Leuite answered him: I am of Bethlehem Iuda/ & go to dwell whete I maye fynde a place. And Micah sayde vnto him: dwell with me/ and be vnto me a father and a preast. And I will geue þe ten syluerlynges by yere and raymet of all sortez/ and thy meate and drynke.

And the Leuite went & beganne to dwell with the man/ and was vnto hym as dere as one of his awne sonnes. And Micah fylled þe hande of the Leuite/ and the young man became his preast/ and cōtynued in the house of Micah. Then sayde Micah/ now I am surer þe Lorde will be good vnto me/ seing I haue a Leuite to my preast.

The child of Dan take the Goddess the priest of Michah away. They destroy Laish after by day at agayne.

The xliii. Chapter.

In those dayes there was no kyng in Israel. And in those dayes the tribe of Dan sought the an inheritance to dwell in / for vnto that tyme there fell none inheritance vnto the amogge the tribe of Israel. And the child of Dan sent of their kynred fyue men of actiuite / out of their coostes / euē out of Zarahah & Eshaiol / to bewe the lade & searche it out / & sayde vnto the go & searche out & lade. And they came to mount Ephraim / euē to & house of Michah & lodged there. And whē they were come vnto the house of Michah / they knew & voice of the young mā & Leuite / & turned in thither / and sayde vnto him : who brought & hither : & what makest thou in this place : & what hast thou here. And he sayd vnto the / thus and thus dealeth Michah wyth me and hath hired me to be his preast. And they sayd vnto him : Alke of God I praye the / that we maye knowe whether & waye which we go / shalbe prosperous or no. And the preast sayd vnto them : go in peace / for the waye whych ye go is befor the Lorde.

Then the fyue men departed and came to Laish / & sawe the people & were therein / how they dwelt carelesse / & after the maner of Sidons / & without castyng of parell / & that no mā made any trouble in the lande or blurped any dominion / & how they were farre fro the Sidons & had no bulines with any nacyon. And they came vnto their bryethē / to Zarahah & Eshaiol. And their bryethē sayde vnto them : what thynges byng you :

And they sayd by and lett vs go vnto the / for we haue sene & lade / & it is verpe good. Haste therfore & be not slouthfull to departe & to go & coquere the lade. Whē ye be come / ye shall come vnto a people that casteth no parell / and vnto a large contrey : for God hath geue into poure hādes a place wherein is no lacke of any thyng & is in the woilde.

And there departed thence of the kynred of the Danites / out of Zarahah and Eshaiol fyue hundred men apoynted with instrumētes of warre. And they wēt & pytched in Kariatih Jarim in Juda. wherfore the place is called Mahanah Dan vnto this day / which is on the backsyde of Kariatih Jarim. And they wēt thence vnto mount Ephraim / & came to the house of Michah. Then answered the fyue men & went to spyre out the cōtrepe of Laish / & sayde vnto their bryethen : wot ye not that there is in these houses an Ephod & Images / & a graue Image / and an Image of metall : Now therfore consyde what ye haue to do.

And they turned thitherwarde & came to the house of the young man the Leuite in the house of Michah / & saluted him pealably. And & fyue hundred men pytched weapons of warre which were of & child of Dan stode in the enterpyng of the gate. And & fyue men & that went to spyre out the lande / went in thither and toke the herued Image / & & Ephod the herued Image / & the Image of metall. And the preast stode in the enterpyng of the gate with the fyue hundred men that were armed vnto battell / while & other wēt to Michah house / and felt the herued Image / the Ephod / the herued Image and & Image of metall. Then sayde the preast vnto the : what do ye : & they answered hym / holde thy peace / & put thyne hande vpo thy mouth / and come with vs / and be vnto vs a father and a preast / whether is it better for the to be a preast vnto the house of one man / or to be preast vnto a tribe or a kindred in Israel : And the preast was glad and toke the Ephod and the Images / and the graue Image / & went with the people. And they turned & departed / and put the child / the catell & their collype & thynges befor them.

When they were a good waye fro & house of Michah / the men that were in the houses & were by Michahs house made an out crye / and folowed after the child of Dan and called vnto the. And they turned their faces / and sayde vnto Michah / what ayleth the / that thou makest an out crye : And he sayde / ye haue take awaye my Goddess which I made & also the preast / and go poure wayes wyth the : And what haue I moare / how then saye ye vnto me / what ayleth the : And the child of Dan sayde vnto him / let not thy voyce be heard amogge vs / lest angrye felowes runne vpon the / and thou loose thy lyfe / wyth the lyues of all thyne houtholde to. And so the child of Dan went their wayes. And whē Michah sawe that they were to stronge for him / he turned & went backe vnto hys house agayne.

And they toke the thynges which Michah had made / and the preast which he had / and went vnto Laish / euē vnto a people & were at rest and without mistrust / and smote the wyth the edge of the swerde and burnt the cytpe wyth fyre. And there was no man to helpe / because it was farre from Sidon / and they had no medelnyng wyth any other nacyon. And the cytpe stode in & balepe that lyeth by Bethrehob. And they byt the cytpe and dwelt therein. * And called it Dan / after the name of Dan their father whych was bozne vnto Israel. Now be it in very deade the name of the cytpe was Laish at the begynnyng.

And

And the child of Dan set them by the graue Image. And Jonathan the sonne of Gerson / the sonne of Manasses & his somes were the preastes vnto & trybe of the Danites / vntill they were caried awaye out of the lande captiue. And they sett them by the herued Image which Michah made / all & while that the house of God was in Siloh.

Of the Leuite whose wyfe was villanously kyled in Gabaah. She is decyded in to. xli. partes & of her sent to euerye trybe of Israel a peace.

The xli. Chapter.

In chaunced in those dayes / when there was no kyng in Israel / that a certē Leuite dwelling on & syde of mount Ephraim / toke to wyfe & concubine out of Bethlehem Juda : whych concubine played the whoze in hys house / & went awaye fro him / vnto her fathers house to Bethlehem Juda / & there continued some monethes. And her husband arose and went after her / to speake frendelye / vnto her / & to bring her home agayne / & his ladd with him a couple of asses. And he brought him vnto her fathers house / & when the father of & damosell sawe him / he reioyled of his comyng. And his father in lawe the damoselles father kept him that he abode with him thre dayes and so they ate and dranke and lodged there.

The fourth daye they arose eue in the moornyng / & the man stode by to departe. But the damoselles father sayde vnto his sonne in lawe / cofozt thyne harte w a morsell of bzeed & then go poure waye. And they late doune & did eate and drynk bothe of them to geather. Then sayde the damoselles father vnto the man / go to & praye the and tarpe all nyght & lett thyne hart be mery. How be it & mā stode by to departe : but his father in lawe copeled him to turne agayne & to tarie all night there. And he rose by eue & fyfth daye to departe. The sayde & damoselles father cofozte thyne herte : & so made hī tarpe vntill after middaye. And they did eate bothe of them to geather.

And then the man arose to departe wyth his concubine and his ladd. But hys father in lawe the damoselles father sayde vnto him beholde the daye gothe fast awaye & dratweth towarde euē / tarpe all night : at the least waye tarpe this daye here and lett thyne hert be mery. And to morowe get you eue by poure waye and get the to thy tent. Neuerthelater the mā wolde not tary / but arose & departed and came as ferre as Jebus / whych is Ierusalem / & hys two asses laden / and hys concubine and his ladd with him. And whē they were fast by Jebus / the daye was soze spent and the young man sayde vnto hys master / come I praye the & let vs turne in / into thys cite of the Jebusites & lodge all night there.

But his master sayde vnto him / we wyll not maryed wyfe turne in to a straunge cytpe that are not of the child of Israel : we wyll go forth to Gabaah. And he sayde vnto his ladd / go forwarde / & we shall come to one place or other vnto as in Laish. & shall lodge all nyght in Gabaah or in Laish.

And they went forwarde vpon their waye / and the sonne went doune vpon them when they were fast by Gabaah whych is in Beniamin. And they turned thitherwarde to go and lodge all nyght in Gabaah. And whē they came in / they sat the doune in a street of the cite / for there was no man toke them in to lodge. But beholde there came an olde man from his worke / out of the felde at eue whych was also of mount Ephraim / and but a stranger in Gabaah for the men of & place were of the child of Jemini. And when he had lyfte by his eyes / and sawe a wayefaring mā in the streetes of & cite he sayde : whether goest thou : And whence comest thou : And & other answered hym / we come from Bethlehem Juda towarde the syde of mount Ephraim : from thence am I / and went to Bethlehem Juda / and go now to the house of the Lorde. But there is no man that receaucth me to the house of house : and yet I haue strawe & prauender for my selfe / and bzead and wyne for me and my handmayde / & thy ladd that are with thy seruaut / and lacke nothyng.

The olde man sayde / peace be with the / all that thou lackest wait thou fynde with me : onlye abyde not in the streetes all nyght / and he brought him into his house / and gaue fodder vnto his asses. And they washed their feet / & and dyd eate and drynk. And as they were making their herttes mery / the men of the cite which were wyched / set the house round about / and thrust at the doze / & spake to the man of the house / the olde man saying : byng for the the man that came into thyne house / that we maye knowe him.

But the man of the house went out to the and sayde vnto them / Oh / naye my bryethen / do not so wickedlye seing & this man is come into myne house : do not this folpe. Beholde my daughter a mayden and this mannes concubine / them I will bring out vnto you / and you good : but vnto this mā / do not this folpe. But the men woold not herken to him. Neuerthelasse the man toke hys concubine and brought her out vnto them / and they had to do with her / & entreated her shamefullye / all the nyght euē vnto the moornyng. And when the daye beganne to spryng / they lett her go.

And then came the woman in the daynyng of the daye and fell doune at the dooze of the mannes house / where her Lorde was / & there she laye till daye. And her Lorde arose by in the moornyng.

morning and opened the doores of the house/ and went out to go his waye. And beholde/ hys concubine laye alonge befoze the doze of the house/ and her hand vpon the thershold. And he sayde vnto her: bp & let vs be going. But she answered not. Then he toke her vp vpon an Asse and rode bp/ and gat him vnto his a wne home. And when he was come vnto his house/ he toke a dresyng knyfe/ & caught his concubine & deuided her thorow the bones into twelue peces / & sent her into all quarters of Israell. And all that sawe it sayde: there was no soche deade done oꝝ sene sence the chyldzen of Israell cam out of Egypt vnto this daye/ consyder the matter/ geue counsell and save poure myndes.

In all the chyldzen of Israell wēt out: and there geathered a congregacyon to geather* as it had bene but one mā, euē frō Bā to Bersēba & out of the lande of Galaad/ vnto the lande to Harphah and there stode folke out of all quarters of all the trybes of Israell / in the congregacyon of the people of God / foure hundred thousande fote men that dꝛewe swerdes. And the chyldzen of Benjamin hearde that the chyldzen of Israell were gone bp to Harphah.

Then sayde the chyldzen of Israell/ tell vs how this wickednesse happened. And the leuite the womans husbāde that was slayne/ answered and sayde: I came into Gabaah & is in Benjamin with my concubynne to lodge all nyght. And the cytezens of Gabaah rose agaynst me/ and set the house rounde about vpon me by nyght / and thought to haue slayne me: and caught my concubynne and forced her/ that she dyed. And I toke my concubynne and cutt her in peces and sent her thorow out all the landes of the enherytaunce of Israell. For they haue comitted abhominacyon and folly in Israell. Beholde ye are all chyldzen of Israell. Se therfoze and geue poure aduysē in the case.

Then all the people arose / as it had ben one man sayng: there shall not a man of vs go to his tent/ nether turne in to hys house. And now this is it that we wil do to Gabaah/ And cast lottes agaynst it. And we wyll take ten men of the hundred thorow out all the trybes of Israell/ & an hundred of the thousande / and a thousande out of the ten thousande/ to sett bitayle for the people to make that they maye go agaynst Gabaah/ Benjamin/ accordyng to all the folke / & they haue brought in Israell. And so all the men of Israell geathered to geather / vnto Gabaah/knytte to geather as it had ben but one man. And the trybes of Israell sent men thorow all the trybe of Benjamin sayng: what wickednesse is this that is happened amōge you. Now therfoze deliuer vs the mē/ those wycked wretches of Gabaah that we maye slep them/ and put awaye euell from Israell.

Neuerthelater the chyldzen of Benjamin wolde not herken vnto the voyce of their brethren the chyldzen of Israell: but geathered them selues to geather out of the cyties vnto Gabaah/ to come out in batayle agaynst the chyldzen of Israell. And the chyldzen of Benjamin were nombꝛed at that tyme/ out of & cities. xxi. thousande mē that dꝛewe swerdes beside the enhabiters of Gabaah which were nombꝛed seven hundred chosen mē. And amōge al these folke were seven hundred lefte handed men/ which euery one coulde slyng stones at an hear bꝛeadeth/ & not myss. And the chyldꝛen of Israell besyde the chyldꝛen of Benjamin/ were nombꝛed foure hundred thousand men that dꝛewe swerdes/ and all men of warre.

And the chyldzen of Israell arose & went bp to Bethel/ and asked of God/ who shulde begynne the battell agaynst the chyldꝛen of Benjamin/ and the Lorde sayde Juda shal begynne. And the chyldzen of Israell stode by erye and beseged Gabaah. And the mē of Israell went out to battell agaynst Benjamin/ and put them selues in araye agaynst them/ to fyght agaynst Gabaah. And the chyldzen of Benjamin came out of Gabaah and destroyed in Israell that daye. xxi. thousande men/ and brought them to the erth.

And the folke of the chyldzen of Israell plucked by their hertes/ and went to agayne & made battell in the same place where they dꝛyd the fyrst daye: but they wēt fyrst bp and wept befoze the Lorde vnto euen/ and asked of the Lorde sayng: shall we go agayne to battell agaynst the chyldꝛen of Benjamin oure brethren. And the Lorde sayde: go bp vnto the / and when the chyldzen of Israell were come to the chyldzen of Benjamin & seconde daye/ the chyldzen of Benjamin went agaynst the out of Gabaah/ the seconde daye/ & destroyed to the erth of the chyldzen of Israell once agayne. xxi. thousande men & dꝛewe swerdes euerye man of them.

Then the chyldzen of Israell and all the people went bp and cam vnto Bethel/ and wepte and sat there befoze & fasted the same daye vnto euen/ and offered burnt offerynges and peaceofferynges befoze the Lorde. And they asked the Lorde: for there was the arche of the apoyntment of God/ in those dayes. And phinehas & sonne of Eleazar/ the sonne of Aaron waytyng vpon it at that tyme: and they sayde shall we go out any moare moare to battell agaynst the chyldzen of Benjamin oꝝ we bꝛethꝛen/ oꝝ shall we cease? And the Lorde sayde go: for to morowe I will deliuer them into poure handes. And Israell sett layes awaye agaynst Gabaah rounde about. And the chyldꝛen of Israell wēt agaynst the chyldꝛen of Benjamin & thirde tyme/ & put the selues in araye agaynst Gabaah/ as twyse befoze. Then came the chyldꝛen of Benjamin agaynst the people/ tyll they were drawē a great waye from the citie. And they beganne to smyte of the people deed/ as twyse befoze/ by two hye wayes of whych one gothe bp to Bethel & the other to Gabaah thorow the felde / vpon a thyrtye men of Israell. For the chyldꝛen of Benjamin thought the other had ben beate befoze them/ as at the fyrst tyme. But the chyldzen of Israell sayde/ let vs flee & plucke the awaye frō the cytye/ vnto the hye wayes.

And then all the men of Israell rose bp out of their standing/ & put them selues in araye at Baal Thamar. And likewise the layes in waye of Israell came forth out of their places/ euen out of the medowes of Gabaah / & came befoze Gabaah: ten thousande chosen men out of all Israell/ & there was soze battell. But the other wist not the euill was so nye the. And the Lorde plagued Benjamin befoze Israell/ so that the chyldzen of Israell destroyed in Benjamin the same daye. xxi. thousande & a hundred mē/ & dꝛewe swerdes euerye one of the. It semed the chyldꝛen of Benjamin / that the other had ben put to the woꝛde. For the men of Israell gaue Rome to Benjamin/ because they trusted vnto the layes in waye which they had layde agaynst Gabaah. And the layes in waye halted and ranne vpon Gabaah/ and went & smote al the citie with the edge of the swerde. And the apoyntment of the mē of Israell with the layes in waye to runne vpon Benjamin with the swerde/ was when they shulde make the smoke ryse bp out of the citie. And the men of Israell fled in the battell. And Benjamin began to smyte deed of the chyldꝛen of Israell/ aboute a thyrtye parsonnes / for they supposed that the other had bene put to the woꝛde befoze them / as in the fyrst battell. Then began to aryse out of the citie/ a pillar of smoke. And the Beniamites looked backe: and beholde the wastynge of the hole citie began to ascende bp to heuē. When the men of Israell turned agayne/ the men of Benjamin were abashed: for they saw the euell appoynted the. And they turned befoze the men of Israell vnto the waye that leadeth to the wilderness/ & other folowynge the at the harde heles. ¶ Chapter. xxi.

In the daye that the men of Israell were in Harphah sayng: there shall none of vs geue his daughter vnto any of Benjamin to wife. And the people cā to Bethel & abode there till eue/ befoze God & lifte by their voyces & wept soze & said: O Lorde God of Israell/ why is this chaunced in Israell/ that there shulde be this daye one tribe lacking in Israell? And on the morow the people rose bp by tyme & made there an altare & offered burntofferynge & peaceofferynge.

And the chyldzen of Israell asked/ who are they amonge all the trybes of Israell & came not with the congregacyon vnto the Lorde: for they had made a great othe concerning the & came not bp to the Lorde to Harphah sayng & they shulde suerlye dye. And the chyldꝛen of Israell had pytie on Benjamin their brethren/ and sayde: there is one tribe cut of frō Israell this daye: what shall we do vnto the remaunt of the/ for to gett the wyues/ for as moche as we haue sworne by the Lorde & we will not geue the of oure daughters to wyues. no man by lying with any male. And they brought them vnto the host to Siloh which is in the lande of Canaan.

That is, had killed a trybe of Israel.

This curse properly was the same that we call excommunication/as in the Gal. i. a.

And the hole congregacion sent and spake with the chyldren of Benjamin that were in the Roche of pomigarnettes/and called peaceably vnto the/ & Benjamin came agayne at that tyme/and they gaue them the women which they had sau'd a lyue of the women of Iabes Galaad. But they so susteyned them not. And the people had compassion on Benjamin/ because the Lord had made a gappe in the trybes of Israel. And then the elders of the congregacion sayde: what shall we do to the remnaunt of them/ to get them wiues seing al the wiues of Benjamin are destroyed? And they sayde there must be an inheritaunce for them that be escaped of Benjamin: that a trybe be not destroyed out of Israel: how be it we maye not geue them wyues of oure daughters. For the chyldren of Israel had made an adiuration saying: a cursed be he that geueth a wyffe to Benjamin.

Then they sayde: beholde/ there is a feast of the Lord yeiue in Siloh which is on the north syde of Bethel/ & on the east syde of the waye that gothe from Bethel to Sichem and south from Libanon. And they commaunded the chyldren of Benjamin saying: go and lye in waye in the bynepardes. And when ye see that the daughters of Siloh come out to daunce in a rowe/ then come ye out of the bynepardes/ and cathe you euery man a wyffe of the daughters of Siloh/ & gett you vnto the lande of Benjamin. And if their fathers or brethren come vnto vs to complayne/ we will saye vnto them/ haue pytie on them/ because we referued not to eche man his wyffe in tyme of warre/ and therto because that ye gaue the none in due tyme/ ye were to blame.

And the chyldren of Benjamin dyd euen so: and toke them wyues accordyng to the nombze of them of the dauncers which they caught. And then they went and returned vnto their inheritaunce/ & bylt there cytyes and dwelt in them.

And the chyldren of Israel departed thence at that tyme & went euery man to his trybe/ and to his kynred/ and went out from thence euery man to his inheritaunce. In those dayes there was no kynge in Israel: but euery man dyd what semed hym ryght.

The ende of the booke of Judges.

The booke of Ruth

Elimelec gothe with his wyffe and chyldren in to the lande of Moab. After his death his wyffe Noemi returneth agayne in to her contrye with her Ruth her daughter in lawe.

The fyrst Chapter.

In the tyme when the Judges iudged/ there selle a darchy in the lande. Wherefore a certain man of Bethleh Juda went for to sojourne in the countrey of Moab with his wyffe and two sonnes. The name of the man was Elimelec/ and his wyffe Noemi/ and the names of his two sonnes were/ Mahalon and Chilion/ & they were Ephraites/ out of Bethleh Juda. And when they came into the lande of Moab/ they continued there. And Elimelec Noemies husband dyed/ and she remayned with her two sonnes which toke the wyues of the nations of the Moabites: the ones name Dypah and the others Ruth. And when they had dwelled there aboute a ten yere/ Mahalon & Chilion dyed also euen both two of them/ so that the wyffe was left desolate of her two sonnes & of her husbunde therto. Then she stode by with her daughters in lawe and returned from the contrye of Moab: for she had hearde saye/ being in the countrey of Moab: how that the Lord had bysytte his people and geuen them fode. Wherefore she departed out of the place where she was & her two daughters with her. And as they went by the waye returnyng vnto the lande of Juda/ Noemi sayde vnto her two daughters in lawe: go & returne eche of you vnto youre mothers house: the Lord deale as kynde with you/ as ye haue dealt with the deed & with me. And the Lord geue you that you maye fynde rest ether of you in the house of her husbunde: and so she kysed the.

Then they cryed and wepte & sayde vnto her we will go with the vnto thy folke. But Noemi sayde/ turne agayne my daughters: for what cause wolde you go with me? thynke you that ther be any moare chyldren in my bowelles/ to be youre husbandes? Turne agayne my daughters & go: for I am to olde to haue an husband. If I sayde I haue hope/ also if I toke a ma this nyght: ye and though I had all readye borne sonnes: wolde ye tarye after the/ tyll they were of age? or wolde ye for them so long refrayne from takyng of husbandes? Not so my daughters: for it greueth me moche for youre sakes/ & the hande of the Lord is gone out agaynst me.

Therwith they cryed and wepte agayne how be how be it Dypah kysed her mother in lawe but Ruth abode still by her/ then she sayde: se/ thy syster law is gone backe agayne vnto her people & vnto her God: returne thou after her. But Ruth sayde: entreate me not to leaue the/ and to returne from after the/ for whether thou goest/ I will go/ & where thou dwellest/ there I will dwelle: thy people are my people/ and thy God is my God. Where thou diest/ I will dye/ and there wilbe buried

The Lord do so and so to me/ except that death onlye departe the and me a sondre.

When she saw that she wolde readeys go with her/ she leste speakyng vnto her. And so they went bothe together vntill they came to Bethlehem. And when they were come to Bethlehem/ it was noyed thow all the cite and the women sayde: is not this Noemi?

But she sayde vnto them/ calle me not Noemi: call me Mara/ for the all mightye hath made me berye bitter. I went out full: but the Lord hath brought me home emptye. Why shulde ye then calle me Noemi: seing the Lord hath habbled me/ & almightie hath brought me vnto aduersyte? And the tyme when Noemi with Ruth the Moabitess her daughter in lawe returned out of the countrey of Moab and came to Bethlehem/ was in the begynnyng of barley harueste.

Ruth leaseth corne in the felde of Booz & fyndeth fauour in his syght.

The seconde Chapter.

Noemi had a kynsmā of her husbandes/ a man of myght/ of the kynred of Elimelec/ named Booz. And Ruth the Moabitess sayde vnto Noemi/ let me go to the felde and lease & geather eares/ after whosoeuer I fynde grace in his syght. And she sayde vnto her: go my daughter. And she went and came and geathered after the harvest men/ and her chaunce was that parte of the felde pertayned vnto Booz whych was of the kynred of Elimelec. And beholde/ Booz came from Bethlehem & sayde vnto the harvest men/ the Lord be with you. And they answered him/ the Lord belesse the. Then sayde Booz vnto the young man that had the ouersyght of the heruest men. Whose damosell is this? And the young man that was sett to ouer se the heruest men answered and sayde: it is the Moabitish damosell that came with Noemi out of the countrey of Moab/ and she sayde/ let me praye & lease & geather after the heruest men/ the eares that remayne. & so she came and hath continued euen from the morning vnto now/ and dyed not long in the house.

Then sayde Booz vnto Ruth: hearest thou my daughter? go so no nother felde to geather/ nether go hence: but abyde by my maydens. Thyne eyes are on a felde & shalbe repayed: go after the maydens therfore/ for I haue charged the young men/ that they touch the not. Moreover when thou art a thrist/ go vnto the bellers and dryncke of that which the laddes haue drawe. Then she fell on her face & bowed her selfe to the grounde & sayde vnto him: how is it that I haue founde grace in thine eyes/ to knowe me/ seing I am an alpaunt?

And Booz answered & sayde vnto her: all is tolde me & thou hast done vnto thy mother in lawe sence the death of thine husbunde/ how thou hast leste thy father & thy mother/ & the lade where thou wast borne/ & art come vnto a nacio which thou knewest not in tyme past. The Lord quyte thy worche/ and a full rewarde be geue the of the Lord God of Israel vnto whom thou art come/ to trust vnder his winges. The she sayde vnto him/ let me finde fauoure in thy sighte my Lord: for thou hast comforted me & hast spoken hartelye vnto thy mayde/ whych yet cannot be lyke vnto one of thy maydes. And Booz whē the tyme of refection was come/ laide vnto her: come hither & eate of the bread/ & dippe thy soppe in the vinagre. And she sat doune by the repers/ & he raught her & parched corne. And so she did eate & was sufficed & leste parte. And when she was ryfen by to geather/ Booz laide to the young man saying let her geather the eares & remayne & do her no despite. And therto pull out of the sheues for her & let it lye/ & she maye geather it by/ & re-buke her not. And so she geathered vntill eue & then she shed the she had gathered/ & it was aboute an epha of barleye. And she toke it by & went to the cite/ & shewed her mother in lawe what she had gathered. And therto she plucked out & gaue to her & she had reserved whē she had eate ynough. Then sayde her mother in lawe vnto her/ where gatheredst thou to daye? and where wroughtest thou? blessed be he that knowe the. And she shewed her mother in lawe id whō she had wrought & sayde: the mannes name id whō I wrought to daye is Booz. Then sayde Noemi vnto her daughter in lawe: blessed be he for he ceaseth not to do the same goodnesse to the deed/ & he did to the lyuing. And Noemi laide vnto her: & ma is nye vnto vs/ eue of our next kynne. And Ruth the Moabitess laide: he had me also/ & I shuld continue id his young men/ vntill they had ended all the heruest he hath. The laide Noemi vnto Ruth her daughter in lawe/ it is best my daughter & thou go out with his maydens/ and that no man mete the in any other felde. And so she kept her by the maydens of Booz/ to geather vnto the ende of barley harvest and of whete heruest also: & dwelt with her mother in lawe.

Some saye that Ruth sleaseth at Booz: sece/ is knowe his kintwoman ned to.

And

The ii. Chapter.

And Hannah prayed & sayde: myne herte reioyseth in the Lorde: myne herte is hie in the Lorde / and my mouth is wyde open ouer mine enemies / for I reioyce in thy sauyng. There is none so holpe as þe Lorde: no there is none saue thou. Nether is there any strength lyke vnto oure God. Take not to moche proude-lye: let olde thynges depart out of poure mouthes / for the Lorde is a God of knowledge / & iudgeth the thoughtes. The boowes of the strong are broke: and the weake are endued with strenght. They that were full / haue hired out the selues for bred / and they that were hongry cease to be: in so moche that the baren hath bozne leuen / & she that had many chyldren is waxed feeble.

a. Of these boowes is spoken Isa. l. x. a.

But the Lorde hylleth and maketh a lyue / he byngeth doune to hell a fetcheth by agayne the Lorde maketh poze / and maketh ryche byngeth lowe / and heueth by on hie. He reyleth by the poore out of the dust / and lyfteth by the begger from the dong hill: to sett them among princes / and to enherett them with seate of glorie. For the pillars of the erth are the Lordes / & he hath sett the rounde worlde vpon the. He will kepe þe fete of his sayntes but the wykked shall kepe sylence in darchnesse. For in his awne myght shall no man be stronge. The Lordes aduerfaries shall be made to feare hym: and out of heauen he shall thunder vpon them. The Lorde shall iudge the endes of the worlde / and shall gyue myght vnto his kynge / and exalte the hoyme of his anoynted. And Elkanah went to Ramath to hys house / and the ladd dyd mynistrer vnto the Lorde before Eli the preaste.

C But the sonnes of Eli were wythpste chyldren and knewe not the Lorde. For the maner of the preastes wyth the people was / whenfoeuer any man offered any offeringes the preastes ladd came / whyle the flethe was in sekyng / and a fleshoke wyth thre tethe in his hand / and thrust it into the panne / kette / caldzen / or potte. And all that the flethe boke brought by the preaste toke awaye. And so they did vnto all Israel that came thither to Siloh. Yee: & therto before they had offered the fatte / the preastes ladd came and sayde to the man that offered: geue flesh to roste for þe preaste / for he wyll not haue sodden flethe of the / but rawe. And yf any mā sayde vnto him let the fatt be offered accordyng to the dawe / & then take as moche as thine herte desireth. The ladd wold answere him / thou shalt geue it me now / or els I will take it with violence. And the synne of þe youngme was very great before the Lorde. For they dispised the people and also the offering of the Lorde.

But the ladd Samuel mynistrer before the Lorde girded about with a linnen Ephod. Mozeouer hys mother made hym a lytle coote / and brought it to him fro feast to feast when she came by with her husbunde to offer the offering of the sayde feast. And Eli blessed Elkanah and hys wyfe / and sayde: the Lorde geue the seede of thys woman / for that she hath lent þe Lorde. And they went vnto their awne whome. And þe Lorde visited Hannah so that she conceaued and bare thre sonnes & two daughters. But þe boye Samuel grewe dwelling still with the Lorde.

Eli was very olde and herde all that hys sonnes did vnto all Israel / & how they slepte with the women that wayted in the doze of the tabernacle of wytnesse / & sayde vnto the: why do ye loche thynges? For I heare poure wikked deades of all these people. Oh / naye my sonnes: for it is no good repozte that I heare how that ye make the Lordes people to trespasse. If one man synne agaynst another * dayemen maye make his peace: but yf a man synne agaynst the Lorde * who can be his dayleman? Notwithstandyng they herkened not vnto the boye of their father / because the Lorde wolde slaye the. The chyld Samuel profited and grewe / and was in fauoure both with the Lorde and also with me.

And there cam a man of God vnto Eli and sayde vnto him: thus saith the Lorde. I appeared vnto the house of thy father / when they were in Egypte in Pharaos house. And I chose thy father out of all þe trybes of Israel to be my preaste for to offer vpon myne autare & to burne incense / & to were an Ephod before me. And I gaue vnto the house of thy father all the offeringes of the chyldren of Israel. Wherfore kepe ye agaynst my sacrifice and agaynst myne offering which I comaunde in the tabernacle / and honorest the chyldren aboue me / and make poure selues fatt of the first frutes of all the offeringes of Israel my people: wherfore the Lorde God of Israel sayth: I sayde that thine house and the house of thy father shulde haue walked before me for euer. But now the Lorde sayth that be farre from me: for the that worshype me I will worshype / & they that despyle me / shalbe despyled. Beholde þe dayes will come that I will cut of thine arme and the arme of thy fathers house / that there shall not be an elder in thine house. And thou shalt se thine ennemie in the tabernacle / in all that shall please Israel / and there shall not be an elder in thine house while the worlde standeth. Neuerthelesse I will not destroye all thy males from my autare / to dale thy synge with all & to make thine hert melle. And all the multitude of thine house shall dye pounge.

And

And thys shalbe a sygne vnto the / þe shall come vpon thy two sonnes / Hophni & Phinehes: euē in one dawe they shall dye both of the. And I will stee me by a faithfull preaste. And I will byde him a sure house. And he shall walke before myne anoynted for euer. And they that are leste in thine house / shall come & crouch to him for a lytle pece of syluer & a cake of bred / & shall saye: put me I praye the in one offyce or other among the preastes / þe I maye eate a morsell of bred.

After the Lorde had leste to appere by open vision in Siloh for a long ceason: he yet calleth Samuel thre tymes / & sheweth hym what shulde be fall on Eli.

The iii. Chapter.

And þe child Samuel ministred vnto the Lorde before Eli: & the worde of the Lorde was precious in those dayes for there was none ope byld And it chaused at that tyme / þe Eli laye in his place / & his eyes began to waxe dimme þe he coude not se. And yf þe sape of God wet out Samuel layde him doune to slepe / in þe temple of þe Lorde / where the arcke of God was. And the Lorde called Samuel: & he sayde / here am I / and he ran vnto Eli & sayde here am I for thou calledst me. And he sayde I called the not: go agayne & slepe. And he went and layde him doune to slepe. And þe Lorde called once agayne: Samuel / and Samuel arole & went to Eli & sayde: I am here / thou dydest calle me. And he answered: I called þe not my sonne. Go agayne & take thy rest: but it was yf Samuel knewe the Lorde & yf þe worde of the Lorde was opened vnto hym. And the Lorde wet to & called Samuel þe thrid tyme. And he arole & wet to Eli & sayde: I am here / for thou hast called me. Then Eli perceaued þe the Lorde had called the ladd. And sayd vnto hym / go & lye downe: & yf he call the agayne then laye / speake on Lorde / for thy seruant heareth. And Samuel wet & layed him doune in his place. And the Lorde cam & stode & called as before / Samuel Samuel. And Samuel saide: speake on / for thy seruāt heareth the. And þe Lorde sayde to Samuel: beholde I will do a thyng in Israel / þe the eares of as many as heareth it / shall tingle. In þe dawe I will performe to Eli / all þe I haue spokē concerning hys house: I will begynne it & ende it. For I haue tolde hym þe I will iudge hys house for euer. For the wickednesse whych he knoweth / how his sonnes are vnglacious / & he was not wroth therwith. And therfore I haue woyn vnto the house of Eli / þe wickednesse of Elies house / shall not be purged by sacrifice nor offering / while the worlde standeth. And Samuel laye till the moynyng & then opened the dozes of the house of þe Lorde.

But Samuel feared / to shewe Eli the vision. Then Eli called Samuel & sayde: Samuel my sonne. And he answered here I am. And he sayde what is þe he sayde vnto þe? Se thou hide it not fro me. The Lorde do so & so to þe / yf thou hide anything from me / of all þe he saide vnto þe. And Samuel tolde him euery whit & hidde it not fro him. And he answered: it is þe Lorde / let him do what semeth him best.

And Samuel grewe / and the Lorde was with him / and left none of his wordes vnperformed. And all Israel fro Dan to Bersabe wist þe Samuel was truly made the Lordes prophete. And the Lorde apered agayne in Siloh: for þe Lorde opened hym selfe to Samuel in Siloh / thowow the worde of þe Lorde.

The battell of the Philistines. Israel speth. The Arcke of the Lorde is taken. Elies chyldren dye / and he hym selfe also.

The iii. Chapter.

And Samuel spake vnto all Israel And Israel went out agaynst the Philistines to battell / & pitched beside the helpe stone. And þe Philistines pitched in Aphek. And put the selues in araye agaynst Israel. And in þe end of þe battell Israel was put to the woorde before þe Philistines. And þe Philistines slue in araye along by the felde / about a fowze thousand men.

And when the people were come into their tetes / þe elders of Israel sayde: wherfore hath þe Lorde beate vs this dawe before þe Philistines: let vs fetche þe arcke of þe apoyntmet of þe Lorde / out of Siloh vnto vs / & let it come among vs & saue vs out of þe handes of oure enemies. And þe people sent to Siloh / & fett fro thence þe arcke of þe apoyntmet of þe Lorde of hostes whych dwelleth betwene þe Cherubyns. And ther were þe two sonnes of Eli / Hophni & Phinehes w þe arcke of þe apoyntmet of God. And whē þe arcke of þe apoyntmet of þe Lorde cam into the host / all Israel shouted a myghtie howte / so þe erth rang agayne.

When the Philistines herde þe noyse of the howte they sayde: what meaneth þe sound of this myghtie howt in þe host of the Ebzues? And they vnderstode how that the arcke of þe Lorde was come into the host. And the Philistines were afrayed / whē it was tolde how þe God was come into the host & saide. Woe vnto vs / for it was neuer so before this. Woe vnto vs / who shall deliuer vs out of þe hand of this myghtie God? this is the God that smote the Egipcians in all maner of plages in the wilderness. Be strong & quite poure selues if the men / ye Philistines / that ye be not seruantes vnto the Ebzues / as they haue bene to you. Be men therfore & fight. And the Philistines fought / and Israel was put to the woode and fledde / euery mā into hys tente. And ther was a myghtye a myghte great slaughter/so that ther were ouer thowse of Israel/thirty thousand souldiers. And the arke of God was taken/and the two sonnes of Eli/ Hophni & Phinehes were ded. And there ran a man of Benjamin out of the araye & came to Siloh the same daye/with his clothes rent & erthe vpon his heed. And when the man cam in/eli late vpon a stole by the waye syde lokyng: for his hert feared for the arke of God. And the man cam in & tolde it in the cite. And all the cite cried when eli hearde the noyse of the cryng/ he asked what noyse of rumoz ment. And the man halted & cam in & tolde eli. Eli was foure thowse & eighteen yere olde / & his syght fayled him so he could not se. And the man tolde vnto eli: I am he & cam out of the araye and fled out of the host this daye. And he sayde how is it fortunyd my sonne? And he messenger answered & sayde: Israel is fled before the Philistines/ & there is a great slaughter chaunted amonge the people/ & thy two sonnes/ Hophni & Phinehes are ded/ & the arke of God is taken. And whē he made mencio of the arke of God/eli fell from of his stoole backwarde toward the gate/and his necke brake/ & he died: for he was olde & vnweldy/ and he had iudged Israel fourtie yeres.

And his daughter in law Phinehes wyfe was in childe & hye the byrthe. And whē she hearde the tidnynges of the taking of the arke of God/ & her father in law/ & her husbunde were ded/ she bowed her selfe & traueled/ for her paynes & vpon her. And aboute the tyme of her deeth/ she twemēd stode about her/ sayde vnto her: feare not for thou hast borne a sonne. But she answered not noz regarded it. And she named the childe Ichabod sayng: honoure is departed fro Israel. Because the arke of God was takē/and her father in law and her husband were ded. And therfore she sayde/ honoure is gone fro Israel/ because the arke of God was taken.

Dagon the God of the Philistines is cast dar be- fore the arke. The Philistines are plagued in these crite places. The inhabitants of Aharon refuse to receive the arke.

The b. Chapter. And the Philistines toke the arke of God & caried it fro the helpe stone/ vnto Ahdod/ & brought it into the house of Dagon/ & sett it by Dagon. And whē they of Ahdod were by in the mornig beholde/ Dagon laye grouelng vpon the erth before the arke of the Lorde. And they toke Dagon & set him in his place agayne. And when they were by erlye in the next mornig beholde/ Dagon laye grouelng vpon the ground before the arke of the Lorde/ & his heed and his two handes cut of vpon the thersholde/ & the bodye onely was lefte on him. Wherfore nether the prestes of Dagon/ nether any mā cometh into Dagon's house might treade on the thersholde of Dagon vnto this daye. But the hand of the Lorde was heuie vpon the Emmerodes/ both Ahdod & all the coostes therof. And whē the men of Ahdod sawe it was so/ they sayde: the arke of the God of Israel shal not abyde here wth vs/ for his hand is soze vpon vs & vpon Dagon oure God. And so they sent & geathered all the Lordes of the Philistines vnto the arch of the God of Israel. Then sayde they of Beth let the arch of the God of Israel be caried about. And they caried the arke of the God of Israel about. And whē they had caried it about/ the hand of the Lorde was in the cite wth a myghtie great plage/ and he smote the men of the cite both smalle and great: and they were smyren in their secrete places/ wth the Emmerodes. Then they sent the arch of God to Aharon. And as sone as the arke of God cam to Aharon/ the Aharonites cryed out sayng: they haue brought the Arke of the God of Israel to vs: to see vs and oure people.

Then they sent and sette all the Lordes of the Philistines vnto them and sayde: send away the arke of the God of Israel/ and let it go home agayne vnto his awne place/ that it see vs not wth oure people. For ther was a plage of deeth thowse out all the cite/ and the hand of God was excedyng soze there/ in so moche that they which died not/ were smiten wth the Emmerodes: so that the crye of the cite went vnto heauen.

The hefters byng home the arke with the re- wardes. The Bethsamites were plagued after they had sene the arke.

The b. Chapter. And so when the arke of the Lorde had bene in the contreye of the Philistines seuen monethes/ the Philistines called for the prestes and the soth- sayers sayng: what shall we do wth the arke of the Lorde? tell vs wherwith we shall sende it home agayne. They answered yf you sende the arke of the God of Israel home agayne send it not emptye: But rewarde it wth a trespasse offering: and then ye shal be whole/ and it shal be knowne to you / why his hand departeth not from you.

Then sayde they/ what shal be the trespasse- offering whych we shall rewarde him wth? And they answered: syue golden artles wth Emmerodes and syue golden myce/ accordyng to the nobze of the Lordes of the Philistines. For it was one maner of plage that was on you all/ & on poure Lordes to. Wherfore ye shall make images like to poure artles wth Emmerodes and and images like to poure micethat destroyed poure lande/ & shall geue gloze vnto the God of Israel: that he maye take his hand from of you/ and from of poure Goddes/ and from of poure lande. Wherfore shulde ye hardē poure hertes as the Egipcians & Pharaon hardened their hertes / which for all that (when he had played his pageauntes wth the) were sayne to lett the people go and depart.

Now therfore make a new carre and take two mealche kyne / on whose neck neuer ca poche. And tye the kyne in the carre/ & byng the calues whome from them. Then take the arke of the Lorde & put it in the carre/ & put the quelles of golde (whych ye rewarde hym wth for a trespasse offering) in a forcer by the syde therof and send it away & let it go. And make yf he go by the waye & leadeth vnto his awne cooste/ to Bethsames/ the it is he & wth vs this great euell. But and yf he do not/ then it is not his hand that smote vs / but it was a chaunce that hapened vs. And the men did euē so: they toke two kyne & gaue mylch & tye the in the carre/ and kept the calues at home/ & they layde the arke of the Lorde vpon the carre & the forcer wth the myce of golde & the images of their artles wth Emmerodes. And the kyne toke the straght waye to Bethsames/ both one waye/ & as they wēt/ lomed/ turnyng nether to the ryght hande ner to the le- afte. And the Lordes of the Philistines wēt after the vntill they cam to the borders of Bethsames. And they of Bethsames were repyng their whete herueit in the valeye. And they list by their eyes & spied the arke. And reioysed whē they saw it. And the carre came into the groue of one Jehosua a Bethsamite/ and stode styll there. Ther was there also a great stone. And they claue the wodde of the carre & offered the kyne a burnt offering vnto the Lorde. And the Leuites toke downe the arke of the Lorde & the forcer & was therby/ wherin the quelles of golde were & put the on the great stone. And the men of Bethsames sacryficed burnt sacrifice & offered offering the same daye vnto the Lorde. And whē the syue Lordes of the Philistines had sene it / they returned to Aharon the same daye. These are the golden artles wth Emmerodes which the Philistines gaue to amendes for a trespasse offering/ to the Lorde: for Ahdod one: for Gaza one: for Ashalon one: for Beth one: & for Aharon one. And the golden myce were accordyng to the nobze of all the cities of the Philistines thowse & fine lordshipes: both of walled townes & of tow- nes vnwalled/ euē vnto the great stone/ wherō they set downe the arke of the Lorde: which stone remaineth vnto this daye in the felde of Jeho- sua the Bethsamite. And he plagued the men of Bethsames/ because they had sene the arke of the Lorde. And he slue of the people fiftie thousand & thye thowse & ten persones. And the people la- mented/ because the Lorde had layne so great a slaughter of the. And the men of Bethsames saide who is able to stande before the Lorde so holy a God & to whom shal he go from vs? And they sent messengers to the inhabitants of Cariath Farim sayng: The Philistines haue brought home agayne the Arcke of the Lorde: come downe and sett it by to you.

The arke is brought to Cariathiarim. The people wepe/ for which Samuel maketh intercession to the Lorde. The Philistines are smyten.

The b. Chapter. And the men of Cariathiarim cam & set vpon the arke of the Lorde/ & brought it into the house of Abinadab in Gabaah & sanctified Eleazar his sonne to waite vpon the arke of the Lorde. And whyle the arke abode in Cariathiarim/ the dayes multiplied/ that it was twentye yeres/ & all Israel lamented after the Lorde. And Samuel spake vnto all Israel sayng yf ye become agayne vnto the Lorde shall poure hertes/ then put away the strange Goddes yow. yf yf. fro among you/ & Asharothe/ & prepare poure hertes vnto the Lorde & serue hym alone/ & so shall he rydde you out of the handes of the Philistines. And then the chyldren of Israel did put away Baalim & Asharothe/ & serued the Lorde onlye. Then saide Samuel: geather all Israel to Nazareth/ & I maye praye for you vnto the Lorde. And they geathered to gether to Nazareth/ & drew water & powred it out before the Lorde & fasted the same daye & sayde there: we haue synned agaynst the Lorde. And Samuel iudged the causes of the chyldren of Israel in Nazareth. When the Philistines heard/ & the chyldre of Israel were geathered to gether to Nazareth/ the Lordes of the Philistines went by agaynst Israel. And whē the chyldre of Israel heard that they were astryde of the Philistines & saide to Samuel: cease not to crye vnto the Lorde oure God for vs/ & he maye saue vs out of the handes of the Philistines. And Samuel toke a suckyng lambe & offered it all to geather for a burnt offering vnto the Lorde/ & a Co crye here cryed vnto the Lorde for Israel: & the Lorde heard hym. And as Samuel offered the burnt offering/ the Philistines came to fyght agaynst Israel. But the Lorde thundered a great thundre the same daye vpon the Philistines/ & turnyng led the/ & they were beate before Israel. And the men of Israel issued out of Nazareth & put- lued the Philistines & slue the/ vntill they came vnder Bethcar. And the Samuel toke a stone & pitched it betwene Nazareth & Sen/ & cal- led the name therof the stone of helpe/ sayng: thus farre hath the Lorde holpe vs. And so the Philistines were brought vnder & they cam no more into the cootes of Israel: for þ hand of the Lord was vpon the Philistines all the dayes of Samuel. Therto þ cities which þ Philistines had take fro Israel/ came againe to Israel/ euē fro Acard to Geth/ wch cootes of the same/ which Israel plucked out of the handes of þ Philistines. For ther was peace betwene Israel & þ Amorites. And Samuel iudged Israel all the dayes of hys lyfe/ and went about yere by yere / to Bethel Galgal and Masphah/ and iudged Israel in all those places/ & came agayne to Ramath: for ther was his house/ and there he iudged Israel/ & there he bylt an auttare vnto the Lorde.

¶ Because Samuels sonnes did mynstre euell/ the people requere a kyng: & to the is described the fact of a kyng.

The viij. Chapter.

When Samuel was olde / he made hys sonnes iudges ouer Israel.

The name of his eldest sonne was Joel / & þ name of þ secōde Abiath / which were iudges in Bersabe. Neuerthelesse his sonnes folowed not his steppes: but turned a side after lucre: & toke rewardes / & peruerterd þ right. Then al þ elders of Israel gathered the to gether & came to Samuel vnto Ramath & sayde vnto him: beholde / thou art olde & thy sonnes folowe not thy wayes. Now therfore make vs a kyng to iudge vs / as all other naciōs haue. But the thyng displeased Samuel / whē they sayde / geue vs a kyng to iudge vs. And Samuel prayed vnto þ Lord

And þ Lorde sayde vnto Samuel / heare the voyce of þ people in all þ they saye vnto the. For they haue not cast the awaye / but me: þ I shuld not raigne ouer the. And as they haue cuer done / sence I brought the out of Egypt vnto this daye / & haue forsaken me & serued other Goddes / euē so do they vnto the. Now therfore herke vnto their voyce / howbeit yet testifie vnto the & shew the þ dutie of þ kyng þ shall raygne ouer the. And Samuel tolde all þ wordes of þ Lord vnto þ people þ asked a kyng of him / & he sayde: this shal be þ dutie of þ kyng þ shall raigne ouer you: he wil take poure sonnes & put the to his charettes & make his horsen of the & they must rāne before his charet / & will make him capitaines of the ouer thousandes & ouer fifties / & will set the to eare his grounde / & to geather in hys heruest / & to make instrumentes of warre & apparell for hys charettes. And he wyll take poure daughters & make the þ dyers of his oymntes / & hys cookes & bakers. And he shall take þ best of poure felbes / & of poure bynepardes & of poure olue trees / & geue the to his seruantes. And he shall take þ tenth of poure seed & of poure vines / & geue it to hys lordes / & to his seruantes. And he shall take the best of poure menseruantes and maydeseruantes & young men / and of poure asses / and do his worke with the. And he shall take þ tenth of poure shepe / & þe shal be his seruantes. And when ye crye out at that tyme vpon poure kyng / which ye shall haue chosen you / the Lorde will not heare you at that daye.

Neuerthelesse the people wolde not heare þ voyce of Samuel / but did saye: naye not so: But ther shal be a kyng ouer vs / & we wil be like al other naciōs. And oure kyng shal iudge vs / & go out before vs & fight oure battelles. And Samuel hearde all þ wordes of the people & rehered the in þ eares of þ Lord. And þ Lorde saide to Samuel: herken vnto their voyce & make the a kyng. The saide Samuel vnto þ me of Israel go euery mā vnto his cite / & Saul the sonne of Cis shal be his fathers Asses and is chosen kyng.

The ix. Chapter.

Now there was a mā of Benjamin named Cis the sonne of Abiel / the sonne of Zeror / þ sonne of Bechorath / the sonne of Aphiah / þ sonne of a man þ was a Feminite / a man of myght the same had a sonne called Saul / a goodly yōng mā / to þ amōge þ chyldre of Israel / ther was none goodlyer then he / & was therto fro the shoulders bywarde byer then all þ other people. And it chaūced þ the Asses of this Cis Sauls father were lost. Then saide Cis to Saul his sonne: take one of þ laddes w the & by go seke þ Asses. And they went thozow moūt Ephraim & thozow þ land of Salisa / & founde the not. Then they went thozow the lande of Salim / & there they were not. Then they wēt alſo thozow the land of Jemini / and they founde the not. Then whē they were come to the land of Zuph / Saul sayde to þ young mā þ was w him: come let vs retorne / lest my father leue caring for þ Asses / & take thought for vs. And he answered him: beholde / ther is in this cite a woꝝhipfull mā of God / & all þ he sayth / cometh to passe. Now then let vs go thither: peradventure he shall shew vs what waye we may go. Then saide Saul to his lad þ yf we go: what shall we bring the man? For oure byed is all spent out of oure hāpers & there is no nother present to byng the mā of God / what haue we? And the young man answered Saul agayne & sayde: I haue found about me þ fourth part of a Sicke / & will we geue the man of God to tell vs owre waye.

Before tyme in Israel when a man wēt to seke an answer of God / thus wyse he spake come & let vs go to the Sear. For he that is now called a prophet / was in the olde tyme called a Sear. Then sayde Saul to his yōng man: well sayd of the: come let vs go. And so they wēt vnto the cite where the man of God was. And as they were going by into þ cite / they mett wth damoselles that came out to draw

¶ The byll of into the cite / so shall you finde him / yf he go by to the hill to eate: for the people will not eate vntill he come / because he must blesse & offering. And then eate they þ he bidden to þ feast. Now therfore get you by for euē now shall ye fynde him. And they went by into the cite. And whē they were come into þ middes of þ cite: beholde / Samuel came out agast the / for to go by to the hill. But þ Lorde had tolde Samuel a daye before Saul came / saying: to morow thys tyme I will lende þ a man out of the lande of Benjamin / him shalt thou anoynte to be captaine ouer my people Israel / that he maye saue my people out of the hand of the Philistines / for I haue looked vpon my people / and their crye is come vnto me. When Samuel saw Saul / þ Lorde answered him: se / this is the mā whō I spake to þ of. This same shall raygne ouer my people.

Then went Saul to Samuel in þ middle of the gate / & sayde: tell me I praye þ / where about the sears house is / and Samuel answered Saul & sayde: I am the sear / go by before me vnto the hill / for ye shall eate with me to daye. And to morow I will let the go & ye will tell the all that is in thine hert / and as for thine asses that were lost this daye thye dayes / care not for the / for they are found. And mozeouer whose shall þ bewtifull thinges of Israel be? belōg they not to þ / & vnto all thy fathers house? But Saul answered & sayde: am not I the sonne of a Feminite of þ smallest trybe of Israel / and my kynred the least of all the kindredes of the trybe of Benjamin / wherfore then speakest thou so to me?

And Samuel toke Saul and his ladd & brought them into the parler and made them lye in the cheffest place amonge the þ were bidden: which were vpon a thirtye persones. Then sayde Samuel vnto the cooke: byng forth þ porcion which I gaue the / & of which I sayde kepe it with the. And the cooke toke by the shoulder and brought it / & set it before Saul. And Samuel saide: beholde / þ which is left: put it before the & eate / for I kept it for the of purpose / when I called the people. And so Saul did eate with Samuel þ daye. And when they were come downe fro the hill into þ cite / Samuel comuned with Saul by þ toppe of þ house: & they arose & crye. And about the spryng of the daye Samuel called Saul by þ toppe of the house saying: by þ I maye send þ awaye. And Saul arose. And they wēt out at þ dozes both of the / both he & Samuel. And when they were come almost out of the towne / Samuel sayde to Saul: bid the lad go before vs / and he went / but stande thou still a while euē now / that I maye shew the what God sayeth.

¶ Saul is anoynted kyng / & prophesied. Samuel declareth the people their faute / in that they asked a kyng. God lende the kyng lyfe.

The x. Chapter.

 Then Samuel tolde the people the dutie

 Saul also went home to Gabaah. And there

When Nabal the Ammonite came &

 And they sayde vnto the messengers that cā /

When saide Samuel vnto all Israel: beholde I haue obeyed youre boyce in all that ye sayde vnto me / & haue made you a kyng. And se youre kyng walketh before you. But I am olde & graye headed: & behold my comys are wth you & I haue walked before you fro my chyldhode

 it is the Lorde that made Moyses & Aarō / & which brought youre fathers out of Egypte.
 Now therfore stāde still / and let me reason wth you before the Lorde / of all the ryghtwelnesses of the Lorde which he shewed both you and youre fathers.

After þe Jacob was come into Egypte / your fathers cryed vnto the Lorde / & the Lorde sent Moyses & Aarō / whych brought youre fathers out of Egypte / & made thē dwell in thys place. Neuerthelater they forgat the Lorde which fought agaynst them. Then they cryed vnto the Lorde and sayde: we haue synned / because we haue forsaken the Lorde & haue hearken vnto the boyce of the Lorde / but shall disobeie þe Lordes mouth: then shall þe hande of the Lorde be vpon you & on youre fathers.

 Now also stāde & se this great thing which the Lorde will do before youre eyes: is it not feared the Lorde and Samuel exceedingly.

 Then sayde all þe people vnto Samuel: praye for thy seruantes vnto the Lorde thy God / þe

Then sayde Samuel vnto þe people: feare kednesse yet by parte not fro the Lorde in any

 Nether turne ye after bayne thynges whych done great thynges for you. But & yf ye shall do wyckednes: then shall bothe ye and youre

The philistines are smytten of Saul & Jonathan.
 Saul being disobeient to Goddes commaundment is shewed of Samuel that he shall not raygne.

 he had raygned two yeres ouer Is-

C And the men of p Israel toyned the selues to

And p people answered/ do whatsoeuer thou come hither vnto God. And Saul asked of God: shall I go doune after p Philistines? & wilt thou deliuer the into myne hand? But he answered him not at p tyme. Then sayde Saul let the people come hyther out of all quarters/ & know & se / in whō this synne is chaūced this daye: for as truly as the Lorde lyueth which hath saued p Israel/ though it be in Jonathas my sonne/ he shall dye for it.

But no man answered him of all the people.

Then he sayde vnto all p Israel: be ye on one ther. And p people sayde vnto Saul: what thou thinkest best that do. And Saul sayde vnto the Lorde God of p Israel: geue perfect knowledge. And Saul and Jonathas were caught/ & the people shapd free. Then sayd Saul: cast lott betwene me & Jonathas my sonne. And Jonathas was caught. Then Saul sayde to Jonathas: tell me what thou hast done. And Jonathas tolde him & sayde:

I tasted a litle honye vpon the ende of my staffe p was in myne hande/ & se/ I must dye.

Then sayd Saul* God do so/ and so to me/ * Ruth. i. c.

And then Saul departed fro folowyng the myes on euery syde: agaynst the Moabites: agaynst p chyldre of Ammō: agaynst p Edoyf he be able to fyghe with me (to beate me/those wordes of þ Philistine/ they were discouraged and greatly afayed. And this Da-uid was the sonne of an Ephraimite of Bethlehem Iudon/ named Iesai/ which Iesai had eight sonnes. And was an olde man in the dayes of Saul amonge þ people. And the thre eldest sonnes of Iesai wet & folowed Saul to battell. And the names of his thre sonnes þ wet to battell/ were: Eliab the eldest / & the next to him Abinadab/ & the thrid Samah/ & Da-uid was þ youngest. And whē the thre eldest were gone after Saul/ Dauid went and departed from Saul/ to fede his fathers shepe at Bethlehem. And the Philistine cam forth fowtreye dayes.

* It is the maner of soundyaers whē they lacke money, to borrow p^o apledge: therfoze is Dauid cōmaunded to redeeme his by the thys pledge.

And Iſai ſayde vnto Dauid his ſonne: take belleis / a ranne into the hoſte a came a ſaluted hys brethren . And as he talked with them: Beholde, there ſtoode a mā in the middes / Goliath the Philiftine by name / of Beth / which came out of the Araye of h^e Philiftines / and ſpake of the maner aboute reheerſed / h^e Dauid

Then spake Dauid to the men that stood by & sayde: what shall be done to the mā that beatech thys Philistine & taketh awaye the shame from Israel? for what is this uncircumcised Philistine/that he shoulde reuple & holste of the luyving God? And the people answered as it is reherſed ſayinge: ſo ſhall it be done to the man that beateſh him. And Eliab his eldeſt brother hearde when he ſpake vn-

Why cameſt thou awaye / & with whom haſt thou leſte thoſe ſewe ſhepe in þe wildeſneſſe?

Dauid answered / what haue I now done? is him agayne / as before.

And they þ hearde the wordes which Da-

Saul : Lett no mannes hert ſayle hym be-

Then sayde Saul to Dauid go / & I Lord

Dauid / and put an helmet of brass vpon hys heede / and put a coote of maple vpon hym / & girded Dauid wth hys awne swerde vpon his uid in the name of his Goddes. And he sayde to Dauid: come to me and I wyll geue thy flethe vnto the fowles of the ayre/ and to the beastes of the felde. Then sayd Dauid to the Philistine:thou comest to me with a swerde name of the Lorde of hostes/ the God of the hoste of Israel whom thou hast rayled vpon.

This daye shall the Lorde deliuer the into

And whē the Philistine arose & came and so Dauid ouer came the Philistine wyth a to the baleyfe and vnto the gates of Aharon.

And the Philistines fell downe deed by the

the chyldren of Israel returned fro chalyng after the Philistines & robbed their tentes.
And Dauid toke the heed of the Philistine & brought it to Ierusalem. But he put his armour in his tente.

¶ When Saul saw Dauid go forth agaynst the Philistine, he sayde vnto Abner the captayne of his hoste: Abner, whose sonne is this lad? And Abner answered, as truly as the soule lyueth, O kynge, I cannot tell. Then sayde the kynge: Enquire thou / whose sonne the youngelinge is. And so when Dauid was returned from the slaughter of the Philistine, Abner toke hym and brought hym before Saul, with the heed of the Philistine in his hande. And Saul sayde to him; whose sonne art thou/thou ladd? And Dauid answered &

And it happened as they went / when Dauid was returned fro the slaughter of the Philistine / that women came out of all cities of Israel syngyng & dauncyng / agaynst Saul / with tymbzelles / with toye / & wryth fyddles. And the women that playede lange therto / & sayde: Saul hath slayne his thousande / and Dauid his ten thousande. Then was Saul excedyng wroth & he sayyng displeased hym / & he sayd: they haue ascrybed vnto Dauid ten thousand / & to me but a thousand / & what can he moze haue saue the kyngdome? wherfore Saul looked on syde of Dauid fro the daye forward. And it happened on the morow / that the euell spyete sent of God came vpon Saul / so that he prophesied in the myddes of the house. And Dauid played on the instrument of his harte as he was daylye wont. And Saul had a speare in his hande / & hurlede it enterdwyng to haue nayled Dauid to the walle. But Dauid auoyded out of hys presence two tymes. For Saul was a fearde of Dauid / because the Lord was with him / & was departed from Saul. And then Saul put Dauid fro him & made hym a captayne ouer a thousand / & he went out and in before the people. And Dauid was wysse in all that he toke in hande / and the Lord was wth him. Wherfore when Saul saw that he was so excedyng wysse / he was afraid of him. But all Israel & Iuda loued Dauid / because he went out and in before the Lord. Then sayde Saul to Dauid. Beholde my eldest daughter Merob / her I wyll geue the to wyfe: Only playe the man & fight the Lords batelles. For Saul thought myne hande shall not be vnto hym / but the harte of the Philistines. And Dauid answered Saul. What

E* what am I? & what is my life of the kyngred of my father in Israel / I shoulde be sonne in law to the kyng: How be it when I tyme was come I Merob Sauls daughter shuld haue bene geue to Dauid / he was geue vnto Abriel a Gholothite / to wyfe. How be it Michol Sauls daughter loued Dauid.
And when it was shewed Saul: the thyng pleased him well. And he sayde: I wyll geue him her that he maye be a snare to hym / to bryng the hande of the Philistines vpon him.
And Saul sayde to Dauid: thou shalt this daye be my sonne in law agayne. And Saul commaunded his seruantes / to comen to Da-uid secretly & saye: Beholde the kyng hath a fauoure to the / and all his seruantes loue the / be therfore the kynges sonne in lawe.

And Sauls seruante spake those wordes in eares of Dauid. But Dauid answered: semeth it to you a lyght thyng to be I kyngs sonne in lawe / when I am a poore man & of smalle reputacyon? And Sauls seruante tolde him agayne sayinge: of this maner answered Dauid. Then sayde Saul: this wyse saye to Dauid: the kyng careth for no nother dowrye but for an hundred foreskynnes of the Philistines / to be aduenged of I kynges enemies. For Saul thought to make Dauid fall into the handes of the Philistines. Then his seruantes tolde Dauid these wordes / & it pleased Dauid well to be I kynges sonne in lawe. And shortly after Dauid arose to his men / & went / & slue of the Philistines / two hundred men / & brought their foreskynnes / & satisfied the kyng therof to be his sonne in lawe. * And so Saul gaue him Michol his daughter to wyfe. And when Saul sawe & bnderode / how that the Lord was with Da-uid / & that Michol his daughter loued hym / he was the moare afraied of Dauid / and he came Dauids enemye for euer. And when I Philistines went out to warre / Dauid behaued him selfe wyllyng then all I seruantes of Saul: so I his name was moche let bye.

Saul commaundeth to sle Dauid. Michol his wyfe saucth hym by a poyze feate / & deceaueth her father. Saul is also amonge the prophetes.

The xix. Chapter.

When Saul communed with Jona-thas his sonne / & with all his ser-uantes / that they shuld kyll Da-uid. * But Jonathan Sauls sonne had a great fauoure to Dauid / & tolde Da-uid sayinge: Saul my father gothe about to slee the. Now therfore take hede to thy selfe.
be tymes & abyde in some secret place & hyde thy selfe. And I wyll go out & stande by my father in the felde where thou art / & wyll co-men with my father of the / and yf I can par-ceauce ought I wyll tell the.

And Jonathan spake the best of Dauid vnto Saul his father & sayde vnto him: lett not the kyng synne agaynst his seruante Da-uid / for he hath not synned agaynst the / & his wordes are to the warde very good. For he dyd put his lyfe in his hande & slue the Philistine / & the Lord gaue a great victorie to all Israel. And thou shalt it / & thou reioy-sedest / wherfore then guidest thou synne agaynst innocent bloude / & sleest Dauid for nought? And Saul hardeneth vnto the voyce of Jonathan and swaereth truly as I Lord I wyll he shall not dye. Then Jonathan called Dauid & shewed him all those wordes / & brought him to Saul. And he was in his presens as in tymes past.

And the warre began agayne / and Dauid wet out & fought with the Philistines & slue a great slaughter / & put them to flight. And the euell spete of the Lord was vpon Saul as he sat in his house hauing a fauelling in his hande / & Dauid played with his hande.
And Saul entended to nape Dauid to the walle with the fauelling: But Dauid ryde hym selfe out of Sauls presens / & he smote the speare into the walle. But Dauid fled & sauced him selfe that same nyght. Then Saul sent messengers vnto Dauids house / to watche hym & to sle hym in the morninge. But Michol his wife tolde it him sayinge: If thou saue not thy selfe this nyghte / to morrow thou art a deed man. And so Michol lett Dauid downe throu a wyndow / & he wet and fled & sauced him selfe. And then he toke an yma-ge & layed it in I bed / & put a pylow stuffed with goates hearre vnder the heed of it / & co-uered it with a clothe. And when Saul sent messengers to fetch Dauid / the sayde that he was sycke: Then Saul sent the messengers to se Dauid sayinge: bryng him to me / bed & all / that he maye be slayne. And when I messengers were come in: Beholde there laye an ymage in the bed / with a pylow of goates hearre vnder the heed of it. Then sayd Saul to Michol: why hast thou mocked me so / and sent away myne enemy that he is escaped?
And Michol answered Saul: he sayde vnto me / let me go / or elles I wyll kyll I. And so Dauid fled and escaped and went to Samuel to Ramath & tolde him all that Saul had done to him. And he / and Samuel went and dwelt in Ramoth.

And it was tolde Saul saying: Beholde / Dauid is at Ramoth in Ramath / then Saul sent messengers to fett Dauid. And whē they saw a cōpanye of prophetes prophesyinge and Samuel standyng fast by the spete of God fell vpon the messengers of Saul / & they prophesied to. And when it was tolde Saul / he sent other messengers / & they prophesied

phesied I ykewyse. And Saul sent messengers yet agayne the thyrde tyme whych prophesied also. Then went he hym selfe to Ra-math / & whē he came to a great welle that is in Socoh / he asked & sayde: where are Samuel & Dauid? And they sayde: se they be at Ramoth in Ramath / and as he wet thither to Ramoth in Ramath the spete of God came vpon him also / and he went prophesying / in strippe of his clothes and prophesied before Samuel in lyke maner / & fell naked all I daye & all that nyght / wherfore it is a comen sayinge / is Saul also amonge the prophetes?
Dauid beyng in iopardy of his lyfe cōplayneth vnto Jonathan. Jonathan loueth him eue as him selfe / & delivereth him. A proper pōlecy deuised be twityl the: by which Dauid shuld knowe the entent of Saul / yet Jonathan be blamelesse. The xx. Chap.

And Dauid fled fro Ramoth in Ra-math & went & sayde before Jona-thas: what haue I done? wherin am I faultie? what is the synne I I haue comitted before thy father that he se-keth my lyfe? And Jonathan answered him: God forbydd / thou shalt not dye. For se my father wyll do nothinge ether great or small / but I he will shew it me. For why shulde my father hyde this thyng fro me? there shalbe no soche thing. And Dauid swaer agayne & sayde: thy father knoweth I I haue founde grace in thyne eyes & therfore he thynketh / Jonathan shall not know it / lest he be soze.
For in very deade / eue as truly as I Lord I wyll / & as truly as thy soule I wyll / there is but a steppe betwene me & deeth. Then sayde Jonathan vnto Dauid / whatsoeuer thy soule desyret I I wyll do vnto the. And Dauid sayde vnto Jonathan: Beholde / to morrow is I fyrst daye of the moneth / & I shulde syt w I kyng at meate. But let me go I I maye hyde my selfe in the felde vnto this daye the I dayes at euen. If thy father myle me / then saye: Dauid asked leaue of me / I he myght go to Bethlehem to his awne cytie / for there is holde a yerely feest for all his kynne. And yf thy father saye thus: it is well done / then thy seruante shall haue peace. But & yf he be angrye: then be sure that wickednesse is be-terlye concluded of him. And then thou shalt shewe mercy vnto thy seruante / for thou hast made with me thy seruante a bonde in I Lord. Notwithstandyng yf there be in me any trespase / then slep me thy selfe / for what meadeth the to bryng me to thy father.

And Jonathan answered: God kepe I fro the / I I shuld knowe / I wyckednesse weare cōcluded of my father / to come vpon the: and shulde not tell it I. Then sayde Dauid / who shall tell me / yf thy father answer cruelly?
Then sayde Jonathan to Dauid / come & lett us go out into the felde. And they went out both of them into the felde.

And Jonathan sayd vnto Dauid: O Lord god of Israel / whē I haue groped my fathers mynde / one tyme or other within this the dayes / that it stand well with Dauid: and I then sende not vnto the and shew it the / the Lord do so & so vnto Jonathan. And in lyke maner / yf euell to the warde please my father / I wyll shew the and sende the awaye / that thou mayst go in peace. And the Lord be with the as he hath bene with my father.
And thou shalt performe vnto me the mercy of the Lord / not onely whyle I lyue but eue whē I am deed plucke not thy mercy away from my I house for euer: Do not when the Lord hath destroyed the enemyes of Dauid every one from the face of the erth.

And so Jonathan made a bonde with the house of Dauid / desyryng that the Lord shulde seke out of the handes of Dauids ene-myes their wickednesse. And in other wordes Jonathan adured Dauid / because he loued him. For as his awne soule he loued him.

Then sayde Jonathan to Dauid: to morrow shalbe the fyrst daye of the moneth. And thou shalt be mylled / because the place shall appere emptye. But this daye the dayes come in any wyse vnto the place where thou shalt hyde thy selfe / when it is workdaye: eue by the stoone cell. And I wyll shote the arowes by I one lyde therof / as though I shott at a marke / and wyll sende after a ladd / and bidde him go seke the arowes. If I saye vnto the lad: se I arowes are on this lyde I / bryng the: then come thou: for it is peace & nothing to do / as sure as the Lord I wyll. But and yf I saye thus vnto the yong felow / beholde / I arowes are beyonde I / the go / for I Lord hath sent I awaye. And of this which thou I haue spoke: beholde I Lord is witnesse be-twene the & me for euer. And so Dauid hyd him self in the felde. And when the new mone was come / I kyng sat him downe at meate / for to eat. And the kyng sat him downe after the olde maner / in his seate by the walle. And Jonathan arose / & Abner late by Sauls side / & Dauids place was emptye. Neuerthelesse yet Saul sayd nothyng at all I daye. For he thought some thyng had chaunced him I he is not cleane. But on the morrow which was the seconde daye of the mone / when Dauids place appered emptye. Saul sayde vnto Jonathas his sonne: wherfore comest not the some of I sai to meate / neither yesterdaye nor to daye. And Jonathan answered vnto Saul.
Dauid asked lycence of me to go to Bethlehem saying: let me go I pray I / for oure kynrede holde an offeringe in the cytie / and my brother hath sent for me. Now therfore yf I haue found

founde fauoure in thynne eyes / lett me me go & se my brother. And therfore he cometh not vnto the table of the kyng. Then was Saul angrie with Jonathan & sayde vnto him: O frowarde and rebellious / thynekest thou I knowe not how thou hast chosen & sonne of Isai vnto thine awne rebuke / & vnto & rebuke and shame of thy mother. For as longe as the sonne of Isai lyueth vpon the erth / thou shalt not be stablyshed / nor yet thy kyngdome / wherfore now sende and fette him vnto me. For he is the chyld of deeth.

But Jonathan answered Saul his father & sayde to hym: wherfore shuld he dye? what hath he done? Then Saul cast a speare at hym to hyt hym / wherby Jonathan wist well / & it was bitterlye determyned of hys father / to sleie David. And so Jonathan arose fro the table in a great anger & dyd eate no meate the seconde daye of the moneth / for he was sorry for David / because his father had done hym shame. On the next morning Jonathan went out into the felde / at the time apointed with David / and a lytle lad with him. And he sayde vnto the boye: runne & synde out myne arrowes which I shote. And as the boye ran / he shote an arrow beyonde him. And whē the lad was come to & place whether Jonathan had shot the arrow / Jonathan cryed after him & sayde: the arrow is beyonde &. And he cryed after the lad: haste / make speede and stāde not still. And Jonathan had geathered vpon & arrow and came to his master. But the lad wist nothyng of the matter: Only Jonathan & Da-uid wist it. Then Jonathan gaue his wepōs vnto the Lad & sayde vnto him: go and carpe the to the towne. And as sone as the lad was gone / David arose out of a place that was towarde the south and fell on his face to the ground & bowed hym self thre tymes. And they kydded ether other and wepte to gether / but David moore abundantlye. And Jonathan sayde to David: go in peace which we haue sworne bothe of vs in the name of the Lord saying: the Lord be betwene the & me / and betwene thy seide & myne for euer. And he roose & departed. And Jonathan went into the towne.

David fleeth in to Nob to Ahimelech the priest & getteth on hym shew bread to satisfye hys hunger: & that with a cleane conuayd ipe. After he flyeth to kyng Achis / and there sayneth hym selfe to be mad.

The xxi. Chapter.

Then came David to Nob to Ahimelech the priest: And Ahimelech was astonished at is comyng & sayde vnto him: why comest thou thyself alone / & no man with the? And David sayde to Ahimelech the priest: the kyng hath commanded me to do a certain thyng and sayde vnto me / let no man knowe where aboute I sende and what I haue commaunded the to do.

 And therfore I haue appoynted my seruau-tes to soche and soche places. And now what hast thou vnder thyne hande? geue me fyue loaves of bzed or what cometh to hande.

And the priest answered David and sayde:
 there is no comen bzed vnder myne hande / but there is halowed bzed / yf & young men had abstained only from women. And David answered the priest and sayde vnto him: of a truthe women hath benelocked by from vs about a thre dayes / when I cam out: and & *vesselles of the young men were holy. How be it this waye is vnpure / but it shalbe halowed in the vessel. And so the priest gaue hym halowed bzed / for there was no nother bzed there saue thewe bzed that were taken from before the Lorde / to put freshe bzed there / the daye that it was taken awaye.

And ther was there the same daye a certē man of the seruantes of Saul abydyng before the Lorde named Doeg an Edomite / the cheifest of Sauls hearde men. And Da-uid sayde vnto Ahimelech: is not here vnder thine hande other speare or swerde? for I haue nether brought my swerde nor myne harnes with me / because the kynges busines required haste. Then & priest answered: & swerde of Goliath the Philistine whom thou sleest in Ochdale / that is here wrapt in a cloth behynde & Ephod. If thou wilt take that / take it: for there is no nother saue that here. And David sayde: there is none to & geue it me.

And David arose and fled the same daye from the presence of Saul / & went to Achis the kyng of Geth. And the seruantes of Achis sayde of hym: is not thys David the kyng of the lande? dyd they not syng vnto thys felow in daunces saying: Saul hath slayne his thousand / and David his ten thousand? And David put those word in to hys heart & was soze afrayed of Achis the kyng of Geth. And he chaunged hys countenaunce before them / and rauid in their handes / and scrabled on the dozes of the gate / and let hys spittel falle downe vpon hys bearde.

Then sayde Achis vnto hys seruauit. Looye saw that thys man was besyde hym selfe / wherfore then haue ye brought hym to me?
 lacke I madde men / & ye haue brought thys felow to playe the mad man in my presence?
 he shall not come into my howse.

David fleeth in to the cane Doolam. After that into Nazareth to the kyng of Moab. And thence in to Harath. Doeg betrayeth David. Ahimelech is accused of treyson and slayne / and. lxxxiij. prestes mo-with him: because they receaued David. Nob is destroyed of Saul. Abiathar fleeth to David.

The xxij. Chapter.

And

And David departed thence & escaped / and came vnto the cane Doolam. When his brethren & all his fathers house hearde it / they wet thither to hym. And there geathered vnto hym all men that were in combzaunce and in dett & troubled in their hertes / and he be came a captayne ouer the. And there were with him vpon a foure hundred men. And David wet thence to Nazareth in the lande of Moab / and sayde vnto the kyng of Moab: Let my father and mother I praye the / haue their abydyng with you / tyll I knowe what God wyll do to me. And he lefte the wyth & kyng of Moab / and they dwelt to him all & whyle that David kepte hym selfe in holdes. And & prophet Gad sayde vnto David: Abide not in castelles / but departe & go to the land of Juda. Then David departed and came into the forrest Harath. And Saul hearde of it: for Da-uid was knowe & also the men & were wyth hym. And as Saul satt in Gabaah vnder a groue vpon a hye bancke to hys speare in hys hande & all hys men about him / he sayde vnto his seruauit & stode about him. Heare I pray you / you sonnes of Beniamin: will & sonne of Isai also geue euery one of you seids & vineyard / & make you all captaynes ouer thousandes and ouer hundredes: that ye haue all conspi-red agaynst me / so that there is none of you that openeth myne eare / in so moche & my sonne hath made a bonde wyth the sonne of Isai / nether is there any of you that mourneth for me or sheweth it in myne eare: because my sonne hath set by my seruauit to lye awayte agaynst me / as it appeareth this daye.

Then answered Doeg & Edomite / which had the ouer syght of the seruantes of Saul and sayde: I saw the sonne of Isai / when he cam to Nob / to Ahimelech the sonne of Ahi-tob / which asked counsell of the Lorde for hym / & gaue hym vitayles / and the swerde of Goliath the Philistine also. Then the kyng sent to calle Ahimelech the priest the sonne of Abitob / & all his fathers house: that is to saye / & prestes that were in Nob. And they cam all to the kyng. And Saul sayde: heare thou sonne of Abitob. And he sayde: here I am my Lord. Then sayde Saul to him: why haue ye conspired agaynst me / thou and the sonne of Isai / in so moche & thou hast geuen hym vitayle & a swerde / & hast asked counsell of God for hym / that he shulde aryse agaynst me & lye awayte as it is come to passe thys daye. And Ahimelech answered the kyng and sayde: who is so saythfull among all thy ser-uantes as David & therto & kynges sonne in law / and gothe at thy bydyng / and is had in honoure in thynne house: haue I this daye begone fyrt to aske counsell of God for hym?

God forbyd that from me: lett not the kyng put soche a thyng vnto his seruauit & on all the house of my father. For thy seruauit knoweth nothing of all this / ether lesse or moore.

But for all that & kyng sayde: thou shalt surely dye Ahimelech / both thou and all thy fathers house. Then sayde the kyng vnto his fote men that stode about him: turne & sleie the prestes of the Lorde / both because their hand is wyth David / and because they knewe when David fled and shewed it not to me. But the seruantes of & kyng wolde not moue their handes / to runne vpon the prestes of the Lorde. Then sayde the kyng to Doeg: turne thou and sleie the prestes.
 And Doeg the Edomite turned & ranne vpon the prestes and slue that same daye foure thore and fyue persones that dyd weare eche man a linnen Ephod. And Nob the cytie of & prestes he smote with the edge of & swerde / both man and woman / chyld and sucklyng / with ore alle and thepe.

1. Reg. xxi. g.

But yet one of the sonnes of Ahimelech & sonne of Abitob / named Abiathar / escaped & fled to David / and shewed David / how that Saul had slayne the Lordes prestes. And David sayde vnto Abiathar: I wist it & same daye / & Doeg the Edomite which was there wold tell it Saul. And I am cause of & deeth of all & Soules of thy fathers house. Abide to me a feare not: he that seeketh thy soule / shall seke myne / & to me thou shalt be in sauegard.

David deliuereth Keilah. He fleeth into the wyldernes of Ziph. He is comforted of Jonathan. The Ziphians wolde haue betrayed him / but he shapeth.

The xxij. Chapter.

Then men tolde David saying: Behold / the Philistines fight agaynst Keilah / & spoyle the barnes. Then David asked the Lorde adurlye saying: Shall I goo and sleie the Philistines? And the Lorde sayde vnto David: go & smite the Philistines and saue Keilah. Then sayde Davids me vnto him: se we be afrayed here in Juda. What shall we then be / when we come to Keilah / to & host of the Philistines. Then David asked the Lorde agayne.
 And the Lorde answered him and sayde: bp and go to Keilah / for I wyll deliuer the Philistines in to thynne handes.

And so David and his men went to Keilah and fought with the Philistines / and dzaue awaye their catell and slue a great slaughter of them. And so David saued & enhabiters of Keilah. And it chauced whē Abiathar & sonne of Ahimelech fled to David / to Keilah that he brought an Ephod in his hande.

And it was tolde Saul / that David was come to Keilah. Then sayde Saul: God hath deliuered him into myne hand. For he is shut p in /

in that he is come into a towne with gates & barres. And Saul called all the people to warre/for to go to Keilah / to belege David & his men. But David had knowledge that Saul imagined mysche agaynst him/and sayde therfore to Abiathar p[re]st: *Byng the Ephod. Then sayde David/ O Lord God of Israel/ thy seruaut heareth that Saul is about to come to Keilah to destroye the cytie for my sake: wyl the men of Keilah deliuer me into his hand: or wyl Saul come as thy seruaut heareth saye: Lorde God of Israel tell thy seruaut. And the Lorde sayde: he will come. Then sayde David: wyl I men of Keilah deliuer me and my men into the hande of Saul: & the Lorde sayde: they will deliuer you.

Then David & his men which were vpon a vi. hundred/ arose and departed out of Keilah & wēt whether chaunce dyaue them. And when it was tolde Saul / that David was fled from Keilah/ he let I. forney alone. And David abode in the wyldernesse in stronge holdes/ & in a mountayne in the wyldernesse of Ziph. And Saul sought him all hys tye/ but God deliuered him not into his had. And David saw I. Saul was come out / to seke hys tye/ whyle David was in I. wyldernesse of Ziph in a thyckett. And Jonathas Sauls sonne arose & went to David to the thyckett/ & strenghted him in God / & sayde vnto hym: feare not / for the hande of Saul my father shall not fynde the/ & thou shalt be king ouer Israel/ and I must be next vnto I. And Saul my father therto knoweth that it shalbe so. And they made* abode bothe of the to geather before the Lorde. And David tarped styll in the thyckett/ and Jonathas wēt to his house.

Then came I. Ziphites to Saul / to Gadabash saying: David hydehym selfe fast by vs in stronge holdes that are in a thyckett in the hyll of Hachilah on the ryght tye of the wyldernesse. Now therfore syz kynges / come downe with all the lust that thy soule hath to come. And oure parte shalbe to deliuer hym into I. hādes of the kyng. Then sayde Saul Blessed are ye in the Lorde: for ye haue compassyon on me. Go I pray you and marke moare delygetye/ & knowe & se his haunte/ where hys fote hath bene / & who hath sene him there: for it is tolde me I. he is very sotel. Se therfore & know all the loughyng places where he lougheth / & come agayne to me in the certentye/ and I wyl go with you. And then yf he be in the lade/ I wyl hunt him out with all the thousandes of Iuda. And they arose & wēt to Ziph before Saul. But David and his men were in the wyldernesse of Maon/ in the wyldes felde/ on I. right hand of the wyldernesse. For whē Saul was gone with his men to seke / it was tolde Da-

uid. And therfore he went vnto a Roche and dwelt in the wyldernesse of Maon. And whē Saul hearde I. he folowed after David into the wyldernesse of Maon. And Saul and his men wēt on I. tye of I. mountayne/ and David & his men on I. other. And David as a mā amased/ made hast to get fro Saul. For Saul & his men had compassed David & his men rounde about / to take them.

But there cam a messenger to Saul sayig: Hast the I. come/ for the Philistines are come in & roue I. I. I. wherfore Saul returned fro persecutynge David/ & wēt agaynst the Philistines. And therfore I. place is called*. Se la Mahalecoth. And then David wēt thence and dwelt in strong holdes at Engadi.

David fleeth in to Engadi and there hydehym in a caue. Saul cometh in thither to do hys easement and David cutteth of the border of hys mantel for a token/ but hurteth hym not. David gothe out of the caue after Saul and speaketh to him.

The xliij. Chapter.

When Saul was come agayne fro the Philistines/ there were I. tolde him sayig: beholde/ David is in I. wyldernesse of Engadi. Then Saul toke thze thousand cholen me out of all Israel/ & wēt to seke David & his me in I. Roche/ where no thyng haunted but* wyldes gootes. And he cam to I. flockes of shepe by awayes side where was a caue. And Saul wēt in* to couer his feate. And David & hys men sat a lōge by I. tye of I. caue. And I. me of David sayde vnto him: se I. daye is come/ of which I. Lorde sayd vnto the: Beholde I. wyl deliuer thyne enemye in to thyne hād/ & thou shalt do to him what it pleaseth the. The David arose & cutt of a lapp of Sauls cote p[re]uelye. And immediatly Davids hert smote him/ because he had cutt of a lapp of Sauls cote. And he sayde vnto his men: the Lorde kepe me fro doynge I. thyng vnto my master I. is the Lordes anoynted/ to lape myne hande vpon him/ saying he is the Lordes anoynted. And so David kept of his seruantes in wordes/ and suffred them not to go vpon Saul.

And when Saul was by out of the caue & gone awaye/ David arose and went out of the caue and cryed after Saul sayinge: My Lorde kyng. And Saul looked behynde him. And David stouped to the erth & bowed hym self/ & sayde to Saul: wherfore geuest thou an eare to mennes wordes/ that saye/ David seketh the euell. Behold this daye thine eyes haue sene/ how I. the Lorde had deliuered the this daye/ into myne hand in the caue. When they had kyll the/ myne eye had compassyon on the: and I sayde: I will not lape my hādes on my master/ for he is the Lordes anoynted. And mozeouer my father / se yet the lapp of thy cote in my hande. And in as moche as I kyll

I kyll the not to/ when I cutt of I. lapp of thy cote/ vnderstande & se/ I. there is nether euell no/ rebell younesse in me/ & that I haue not synned agaynst the. And yet thou hūtest after my soule to take it. The Lorde be iudge betwene the & me/ & the Lorde aduenge me of the. But myne hād be not vpon the. Accor- dyng to the olde p[ro]uerbe/ wyckednesse shall p[ro]ceede out of the wycked: But myne hand be not vpon the. After whom art thou come out/ thou kyng of Israel: After who chafest thou/ euen after a deed dogge/ & after a flee.

The Lorde be iudge & iudge betwene the and me/ & se & p[re]ate my cause/ and iudge me fre out of thyne hād. Whē David had made an ende of spea kyng all these wordes to Saul/ Saul sayde: is this thy boyce my sonne David: and he lyfte by his boyce and wepte/ and sayde to David: thou art ryghte ouer then I/ for thou hast rewarded me with good/ and I haue rewarded the with euell. And thou hast shewed this daye how that thou hast dealt lo- uynge with me/ for as moche as when the Lorde had locked me in thyne handes / thou sleest me not. For who shall finde his enemye and lett him depart a good waye. Wherfore the Lorde reward the with good/ for I. thou hast done vnto me this daye. And now I wot well I. thou shalt be kyng/ & I. the kyngdom of Israel shalbe stablyshed in thyne hande. Swere therfore vnto me by I. Lorde/ I. thou shalt not destroye my seade after me / & that thou shalt not destroye my name oute of my fathers house. And David sware vnto Sa- ul/ & Saul went home. But David and his men gatt by vnto an holde.

To tweare the Lorde is the all the Lorde men gatt by vnto an holde. Samuel dyeth. David fleeth in to the wyldernesse of Maon. He is angrye with Nabal: but is pacy- fient that it fye by the wyldome of Abigail. Nabal dyeth and Da- uid be stable and maryeth Abigail.

The xlv. Chapter.

When Samuel dyed/ and all Is- rael geathered to geather & lamen- ted him & buryed him in hys awne house at Ramath.

And David arose and gat him to the wil- dernesse of Pharan. And there was a man in Maon whose catell was in Carmel / and I. mā was excedyng myghtye/ & had thze thou- sand shepe & a thousand gootes. And he was sheryng his shepe in Carmel. The name of the man was Nabal/ & the name of his wyfe was Abigail/ and was a womā of good wil- dom and beuotifull. But the man was chur- lysh and of thze woode condicions / and was a Calebite. And when David hearde in I. wyldernesse/ that Nabal ware hys shepe/ he sent out ten of his younge men/ & sayde vnto the: gett you by to Carmel and go to Nabal and grete him in my name. And thus wyle saye into my frende: peace be to the / peace be to thyne house and peace be vnto all that thou hast. I haue hearde saye that thou hast she- rers. Now thy sheperdes were wyth vs / and we dyd the no spyte/ nether was there ought myslynge vnto them/ all the whyle they were in Carmel: aske thy laddes/ & they wyl shew the. Wherfore let these young men fynde fa- uoure in thyne eyes (for we come in a good cealon) & geue I. praye the whatsoeuer cometh to thyne hand vnto thy seruantes and to thyne sonne David.

And Davids youngmen came & tolde Na- bal all those wordes in the name of David & then stopped. And Nabal answered Davids seruantes & sayd: what is David: and what is the sonne of Isai: there is plente of ser- uantes now a dayes / that b[re]ake a waye euery mā from his master. I wulde take my breed/ my water & my flethe I. I haue kyllled for my sheryers/ and geue it men which I wot not whence they be.

And Davids seruantes turned their waye and went agayne / and came and tolde hym accor dyng to all those sayinges. Then Da- uid sayde vnto his men: gyde euery man his swerde aboute hym. And they gydded euery man hys swerde on/ and David therto gyde on hys swerde. And there folowed David vpon a foure hundred men/ and two hundred abode by the stiffe.

But one of the laddes tolde Abigail Na- bals wyfe saying: se David sent messengers vnto oure master out of I. wyldernesse to sa- lute him/ and he rayled on them. And yet the men were very good vnto vs and dyd vs no displeasure/ nether mysled we any thyng/ as long as we were conuersant in the / whē we were in the feldes. But they were a wall of defence vnto vs bothe by nyght and also by daye/ all the whyle we were in them keepyng shepe. Now take hede & se what thou hast to do / for it is concluded to do myscheue vnto oure master and to all his household. And he is vnglacypous to speake to. Then Abigail made hast and toke two hundred loues and two botelles of wyne and fyue shepe readye dyled and fyue measures of parched corne/ and an hundred bondelles of reafynge / and two hundred frayles of fygges/ & laded them on asses/ and sayde vnto her younge men: go before me/ and se I. come after you / & tolde her husband Nabal nothyng therof. And as he rode on her ass and was comyng downe in a glade of the hyll/ David & hys men came downe agaynst her/ and she met them.

And David sayde: in bayne haue I kept all that this felowe had in the wyldernesse: so that nought was mysled that pertayned vnto him/ for he hath quytte me wyth euell for good.

good. So and so do God unto y^e enemyes of David/as I will not leaue of all that per-tayne to hym/by the dawninge of the daye/
* As who saye ought * that pisteth agaynst the walle. not as moche as a dogge: or (as some will) nothyng of the malekynde.

When Abigail saw David/ she hastened and lyght of her asse and fell before David on her face/and bowed her self to the grounde / and fell at his fete and sayde: Let this unhappie deade be counted myne/my Lord/ & let thine handmayde speake in thine audience / and heare the wordes of thy handmayde. Let not my Lord regarde this vnthriste man Nabal/ for as hys name is/ so is he. * Nabal is his name & follye is with hym. But I thine handmayde saw not the younge men of my Lord which thou sendest.

And now my Lord as sure as the Lord lyueth & as thy soule lyueth/ the Lord hath withholden the fro comyng to shede bloude & from aduengyng thy self with thine awne hand. Furthermore I praye God that thine enemyes & they that entende to do my Lord euell/may be as Nabal. And now this bles-syng which thine had mayde hath brought/lett it be geuen vnto the young men that fo-lowe my Lord. For geue the trespass of thyne handmayde that the Lord maye make my Lord a suer house / because my Lord fgyhteth the battelles of the Lord/ and there coude none euell be founde in the in all thy lyfe. And yf any man pyle to persecute the & to seke thy soule / y^e the soule of my Lord be bounde in a bondell of lyfe y^e the Lord thy God. And the soules of thy enemyes be slong in the myde of a syng. And mozeouer when the Lord shall haue done to my Lord all the good that he hath promised the/ & shall haue made the ruler ouer Israel: then shall it be no grudge of conscience vnto the or discourage of herte vnto my Lord / that thou shouldest bloude causelesse and dydest aduenge thy self.
And mozeouer when the Lord shall haue dealt well wth my Lord/ then thynke on thy ne handmayde. Then sayde David to Abigail: blessed be the Lord God of Israel which sent the this daye to mete me. And blessed be thy behauoure / & blessed be thou whych hast kept me this daye fro comyng to shede bloud & from aduengyng my self with myne awne hand. For in very deade as sure as the Lord God of Israel lyueth whych hath kept me backe fro hurtynge the/ excepte thou haddest hastened and met me / there had not bene left Nabal by the dawninge of the daye / a pyller agaynst the wall. And so David receaued of her hand that she brought hym/ and sayde to her: go in peace to thine house. And let I haue obeyed thy voice & haue receaued y^e to grace.
And whē Abigail came to Nabal: beholde/he helde a feast in his house lyke the feast of a kinge/and Nabals herte was mery within him/and he was droncke a good. Wherefore he tolde him naught nether litle nor moare/vntyll the morow daye. But in y^e moynynge/when the wyne was gone out of Naball/his wyfe tolde hym these wordes / and hys herte dyed within him/and he be came as a stone / and vpon a ten dayes after the Lord smote Nabal/that he dyed. And whē David hearde that Naball was deed/ he sayde: Blessed be y^e Lord that hath iudged the cause of my rebuke of the hande of Nabal/ and hath kept hys seruaunt from euell/ and hath turned the wykednesse of Naball agayne vpon hys awne heed. And David sent to comen wyth Abigail/ to thynntent to take her to his wyfe. And when the seruauntes of David were come to Abigail to Carmel / they spake vnto her saying: David sent vs vnto the/ to take the to his wyfe. And she arose and bowed her self on her face to the erth & sayde: Beholde thy handmayde / to be a seruaunt to washe the fete of the seruauntes of my Lord. And Abigail hastened and arose and gat her by vpon an Asse/with fyue damoselles of hers y^e went at her fete/and wēt after the messengers of Da-uid and was his wyfe. David also toke Abi-nōah of Jezrahel/ & they were bothe his wy-ues. But Saul gaue Michol his daughter Da-uids wyfe to Phalti y^e sonne of Laish of Galli.

Saul sleapeth in his tent And David taketh away his speare & a cruise of water/ that God eat is heed.

Chapter.
After y^e came y^e Ziphites vnto Saul to Gabaah sayinge: David hydeth him self in the hyll of Hachilah euē before y^e wyldernesse. Then Saul arose & went to the wyldernesse of Ziph and thre thousande chosen men of Israel wth hym/for to seke David in the wyldernesse of Ziph.
And Saul pytched in the hyll of Hachilah which lyeth before the wyldernesse / by the wayes syde. But David dwelt in the wyldernesse. And whē he saw that Saul cam after him into the wyldernesse/ he sent out spyes & bnderstode that Saul was come of suretye.
Wherefore David arose & wēt to the place where Saul had pytched / and behelde the place where Saul laye with Abner y^e sonne of Ner hys chiefe captayne. For Saul laye with in a rownd bancke/and the people pyt-ched rounde about him. Then answered Da-uid and spake to Ahimelech the Bethite and to Abisai the sonne of Zaruah and brother to Joab saying: who will go downe with me to Saul to the hoste: & Abisai sayde: I will go downe with the.

And so David & Abisai came to y^e people by nyght. And beholde/ Saul laye slepyng with in a rounde backe & his speare pitched in the

in the ground at his heed/ Abner & the people lyng round aboute him. Then sayde Abisai to David: God hath closed in thynne enemye vnto thynne hade this daye. Now therfore lett me smyte him a felowshippe wth my speare to y^e erth/ euē one stroke/and I will not smyte him y^e secōde time. But David sayde to Abi-sai: destroye him not/ for who can laye his had on y^e Lord/ & anoynted & be gyltlesse? And Da-uid sayde furthmore: as sure as the Lord lyueth/ y^e Lord shall smyte hym/ or hys daye shall come to dye/ or he shall descēde into battell & there perishe: but y^e Lord kepe me fro layng myne hand vpon y^e Lordes anoynted.
Now then take a felowshippe y^e speare y^e is at is heed/ & the cruise of water/ & let vs go.
And David toke y^e speare & y^e cruise of water y^e were at Sauls heed / & they gatt them awaye/ & no mā saw or wist it or awoke. For they were all a slepe/ because the Lord had Clent a slōber vpon the. Then David wēt ouer to y^e other syde & stode on the toppe of an hill a farr of (a great space beyng betwene the) & cryed to the people & to Abner the sonne of Ner saying: Answer est thou not Abner: and Abner answerde & sayde: what art thou that cryest to the kyng: and David sayde to Abner: art not thou a mā/ & who is lyke y^e in Israel? But wherfore hast thou not kept thy Lord y^e kyng: for there came one of y^e folke to destroy y^e kyng thy Lord. It is not good y^e thou hast done. As truly as y^e Lord lyueth ye are worthy to dye / because ye haue no better kepte y^e Lord/ & anoynted. And now se where the kynges speare is and y^e cruise of water that were at his heed.

Then Saul knewe Davids voyce & sayde: is this thy voyce my sonne David: and Da-uid sayde: it is my voyce my Lord kyng. And he sayde therto wherfore doth my Lord persecute his seruaunt: for what haue I done: or what euell is in myne had? Now heare therfore (my Lord kyng) y^e wordes of thy seruaunt.
If y^e Lord haue slered y^e by agaynst me/ he shall smell y^e sauoure of sacrifice. But & yf they be y^e chyldre of me/ cursed be they before y^e Lord. For they haue cast me out fro abydyng in y^e enheritaunce of y^e Lord/ sayng: hece a go serue other Goddes. And yet I hope my bloude shall not fall to the erth before y^e face of y^e Lord/ though y^e kyng of Israel be come out to hunt a fce/ as men hunt y^e partregg in y^e mountaynes. Then sayde Saul: I haue synned/ come agayn my sonne David for I will do y^e no moare harme/ because my soule was preyouse in thynne eyes this daye. Beholde/I haue played the sole & haue erred exceeding moche. And David answered and sayde: Be-holde y^e kynges speare/lett one of the younge men come ouer & fect it. The Lord rewarde euery mē n^es ryghte wellesse & sayth: for the Lord deliuered the into my hade this daye/but I wolde not laye myne had vpon y^e Lord anoynted. And as thy lyfe was moche set bye this time in myne eyes: so be my lyfe set by in y^e eyes of the Lord/ that he deliuer me out of all trybulacion. And Saul sayde to David: Blessed art thou my sonne David / for thou * shalt be a doer and also able to byng to an ende. And so David wēt his waye/ and Saul turned to his place agayne.

Chapter.
Then thought David in his hert: I maye peryshe one daye or other by the had of Israel. There is no better for me/ then to flee into y^e lande of the Philistines/ y^e Saul of very dyspayre to finde me/ may cease to seke me any moare in all y^e coostes of Israel: for so I maye escape his hand. And David arose/ & he & y^e syre hūdzred men y^e were wth hym wēt vnto Achis/the sonne of Maach/ kyng of Geth. And Da-uid dwelt wth Achis at Geth/ both he and hys men/ euery mā wth his houshoide / and David wth his two wyues: Abinoam y^e Jezrahelite & Abigail Nabals wyfe of Carmel. And whē it was tolde Saul that David was fled to Geth/ he sought no moare for him. And Da-uid sayde vnto Achis: If I haue found grace in thynne eyes / lett me haue a place in some towne in the feld/ y^e I maye dwell there. For what shulde thy seruaunt dwell in y^e heed cite of y^e kingdome wth the. Then Achis gaue him Zikeleg y^e same daye for which cause Zikeleg pertayneth vnto the kynges of Iuda vnto this daye. And the tyme y^e David dwelt in the cōtrepe of the Philistines/ was a yere & four monethes. And David & his men went a ranne vpon the Getherites/ the Gerzites & y^e Amalekites: which nations were fro the begyngynge y^e enhabyters of the lād/ as men go to Sur/ and so forth to Egypte. And David smot y^e lād & left nether mā ner womā alyue/ & toke y^e shepe the oren/ the asses/ camelics/ & clothes/ & remoued & came to Achis. And Achis sayde: haue ye not bene a rourng this daye: And David answered: yea in the south of Iuda/ and in the south of y^e Jezrahelites/and in the south of y^e Kenites. And David saued nether mā nor woman alyue to byng to Geth/ for feare lest they shulde telle on y^e saying: so dyd David & so is hys maner all y^e while he dwelt in y^e cōtrepe of y^e Philistines.
And Achis beleued David sayinge: He hath made h^e self to synke vnto his people Israel/ & therfore he shalbe my seruaunt for euer.

Samuel

i. Samuel.

appeareth.

The Philistines moue warre agaynst Saul and the Israelites. Saul requirerth counsell of God but hath no answer: and then seeth after an enchanter/ which rayseth him vp the spete of Samuel.

The xxviii. Chapter.

And it chaunced in those dayes / the Philistines geathered their host to geather to warre / entendinge to fight with Israel. And Achis sayde to Dauid: Be sure / thou shalt goo out w me in thy host / and thy men also. And Dauid sayd agayne to Achis: then thou shalt know / what thy seruauit can do. And Achis sayde to Dauid: Then I will make thee a keeper of my heed of my body: had I smited hym & buryed hym in Ramath his auncie cytie. And Saul had put the women & had spretes of prophete & a Sozcerars oute of the lande. And the Philistines geathered to gether and came and pitched in Sunam. And Saul & all Israel geathered to geather and pitched in Gelboe. And when Saul saw the hoste of the Philistines / he was afrayed / and his hert was soze astonied. And Saul asked counsell of the Lorde: But the Lorde answered him not / nether by dreme nor by vision / nether by prophete. Then sayde Saul vnto his seruantes: seke me a woman that is a mistress of a spete of prophete & I maye go to her & aske of her. And his seruauit sayde to hym: se / there is a wyfe that hath a spete of prophete in her possellio at Endor. And Saul chaunged his clothes & put on other rayment / & then went he & two men w him / & they came to the wyfe by night. And he sayde: prophete vnto me by the spete / & byng me him by whom I shall name vnto the. And the wyfe sayde vnto him: Beholde / thou knowest what Saul hath done / how he hath destroyed the women that had prophesying spete / & a Sozcerars out of the land. Wherefore then sayest thou a nett for my soule to kyll me? And Saul swoze to her by the Lorde sayinge: As luerly as the Lorde lyueth / there shall no harme chaunce to thee for this thyng. Then sayde the wyfe: who shall I fetch vnto the? and he sayde: Byng me by Samuel. When the woman saw Samuel she cryed wyth a lowde voyce & spake to Saul saying: why hast thou trocked me? for thou art Saul. And the kyng sayde vnto her: be not afrayed: But what seyst thou. And the wyfe sayde vnto Saul: I se a God ascendyng by out of the erth. And he sayde: what facion is he of? And the woman sayde: there cometh by an olde mā w a mantell vpon hym. And Saul perceaued that it was Samuel / & stouped w his face to the ground & bowed him self. And Samuel sayde to Saul: why hast thou brought me / to make me be brought by? And Saul answered: I am soze encombyed / for the Philistines make warre agaynst me / & God is departed fro me & answered me no moare / nether by prophete / nether by dreme. And therfore I haue called the / to tell me what I shall do. Then sayd Samuel: wherefore doest thou aske of me? whyle the Lorde is gone fro & is thine enemye / the Lorde will do to the as he sayde by my hand. For the Lorde will rent the kyngdom out of thine hand / & geue it thy neybour Dauid / because thou obeydest not the voyce of the Lorde / nor executedst his feare w rath vpon the Amalekites. Therfore hath the Lorde done this vnto thee this daye. And mouer the Lorde will deliuer Israel w the / into the hand of the Philistines. And to morow shalt thou & thy sonnes be w me / & the Lorde shall geue the hoste of Israel into the handes of the Philistines. Then Saul fell streyght waye flatte on the erth as long as he was / & was soze a dzead of the wordes of Samuel. And therto there was no strength in him / for he had not eaten all the daye and the nyght before. And the woman cam vnto Saul and saw that he was soze troubled / and sayde vnto him: Se / thine hand mayde hath obeyed thy voyce & haue put my soule in my hande / and haue harkened vnto thy wordes which thou saydest vnto me. Now therfore harken thou also vnto the voyce of thine hand mayd / & let me sett a morsell of bread before the / & eate & gett the strenght to go thy iourneye. But he refused it and sayde: I will not eate. But his seruauit & the wife to geather compelled him / & he hearde their voyce. And so he arose fro the erth & sat him on a bed. The woman had a fat calfe in the house / & she halsted & kyled it / & toke flower & kneed it / & dyd bake hym sweete cakes / & brought the before Saul & before his seruantes. And when they had eate / they stode by / and went awaye the same nyght. Dauid goyng with kyng Achis to fyght agaynst Saul is sent agayne by the meanes of the Lordes of the Philistines.

The xxx. Chapter.

The Philistines geathered all their hostes to geather vnto Aphec: And Israel pitched by a fountayne in Jezrahel. And the Lord of the Philistines wet to the by hundredes & by thousands. But Dauid & his me came behinde w Achis. Then sayd the Lord of the Philistines: what are pouder & quyes? And Achis sayd vnto the Lord of the Philistines: Is not this Dauid the seruauit of Saul the kyng of Israel / which hath bene w me dayes & yerres / & I haue founde no fault in him sence he fled vnto me vnto this daye. Neuerthelesse the Lord of the Philistines were wroth w him & sayd vnto him: Make this felow returne / & let him go agayne to his place which thou hast appoynted him. For he shall not go w vs to battell / lest he be an aduersarye to vs in the battell. For wher he coulde be better better obtayne the fauoure of his master / then by the heedes of oure men. Is this not Dauid to who they sange in daunces? Saul slue his thousand / but Dauid his ten thousand. Then Achis called Dauid & sayde vnto him: As sure as the Lord lyueth thou art honest / & it please me well that thou shuldest accompanye me in the host / for I haue founde none euell w thee sence thou camest to me vnto this daye: Neuerthelesse the Lordes of the Philistines fauoure thee not: wherefore returne & go in peace / & thou displeasest not the Lordes of the Philistines. And Dauid sayde agayne to Achis: Why what haue I done? & what hast thou founde in thy seruauit as long as I haue bene w the vnto this daye? & I maye not go fight agaynst the enemies of my Lord the kyng. Achis answered & sayde to Dauid: I wote well thou pleasest me / as it were an Angell of God. Notwithstanding the Lordes of the Philistines haue sayde / & thou shalt not goo w the to battell. Wherefore ryle by erlye in the morning w thy masters seruantes that are come w the. And when ye be by erlye as sone as ye haue light / departe. And so Dauid and his men rose erlye to departe in the morning / & to returne into the lade of the Philistines. And the Philistines went by to Jezrahel. Dauid retornyng from kyng Achis synedeth Zikheleg burnt. He purfueth after the burners therof & kyleth them and recouereth the praye.

The xxxi. Chapter.

At per Dauid & his me were come to Zikheleg the thirde daye / & Amalekites had runne in a running vpon the south and vpon Zikheleg / and had smyte Zikheleg & burnt it w fyre / & had taken the women that were therein prysoners / both small & great: but slew not a man / saue carped the w the & went their wayes. When Dauid & his men came to the cite: beholde / it was burnt w fyre / & their wyues / their sonnes & their daughters were taken prysoners. Then Dauid & the people that was w hym bliste by their voyces & wept / vntill they could wepe no moare. And Dauids two wyues were taken prysoners also. Ahinoam the Jezrahelite and Abigail the wyfe of Nabal the Carmelite. And Dauid was in a thowde straye: for the people entended to stone hym because the hertes of all the people were bereft for their sonnes and their daughters. But Dauid toke a good courage to him in the Lord his God & sayd to Abiathar the preste Ahimelechs sonne: byng me the Ephod. And Abiathar brought the Ephod to Dauid. And Dauid asked the Lord sayig: Shall I folow after this companye? & shall I ouer take them? And he sayde to hym: folowe / for thou shalt ouer take them and recouer the praye. And he went and the fyre hundred men that were w him / & they cam to the ryuer Besor / where a part of them abode. But Dauid and foure hundred men folowed: But two hundred abode behinde beyng to werpe to go ouer the ryuer Besor. Then they founde an Egypcian in the felde / & brought him to Dauid & gaue him bread to eate & water to dryncke / & gaue him a fewe syggys & ii. clousters of reafyngs. And whē he had eate / his spretes cam agayne to him: for he had eate no bread nor dryncke no water in thre dayes & thre nyghtes. Then Dauid sayd vnto him: to who belongeth thou & whence art thou? and he lad answered: I am an Egypcian and seruauit to an Amalekite: and my master left me behinde / because it is thre dayes & a gone & I fell secke: we came a rounyng vpon the south of Gerethys / & vpon the of Juda & on the south of Caleb. And we burnt Zikheleg w fyre. And Dauid sayde to him: canst thou byng me to this companye? And he sayde: I were vnto me by God / & thou wilt nether kyll me nor deliuer me into the handes of my master / & I will byng the vnto them. And when he had brought him: se / they laye shatred all abroade vpon the erth / eating & drynckynge & triumphyng ouer all the great praye that they had caried awaye out of the lande of the Philistines / & out of the land of Juda.

And Dauid sayde vpon the fro the temple vntill the euē on the morow: so that there escaped not a mā / saue foure hundred young men which rodde awaye vpon camels and fledde. And Dauid recouered all the Amalekites had caried awaye / & his two wyues: so that there was no person lacking small or great / sonne or daughter / or of the spoyle of all that they had take awaye / Dauid brought all agayne. And Dauid toke all the shepe / & a oxen. And they draue the catell before / & sayde: this is Dauids praye. And then Dauid came to the two hundred me that were to werpe for to folow Dauid which they made to abyde at the ryuer Besor. And they cam to mete Dauid and the people that were w hym. And when Dauid cam to the people / he saluted them. Then answered all the wicked & the bnythifres of the men that went w Dauid / & sayde: because they went not w vs / therfore shall none of the praye that we haue recouered / be geue vnto the / saue to euery mā his wyfe & his childre: which lett the carry awaye & be walkyng.

Then sayde Dauid: ye shall not do so (my brethren) w the Lorde hath geue vs / & hath preserued vs / & deliuered the companye that came agaynst vs / into oure hand. For who shulde herken vnto you in this matter? But as his parte is & goeth & fyghteth / so good shall his parte be / that tarieth by the stuffe / they shall part it a lyke. And so fro that daye forward: was that made a law & a custome in Israel / p. iij. and

David commeth to flee & messenger / that sayde he had kyled Saul. The Lamentacion of David for Saul and Jonathas.

The fyrst Chapter.

After the deeth of Saul / whē David was returned fro the daughter of the Amalekites & had bene two dayes in Zikeleg: Beholde / there cam a man the thyrde daye out of the holte fro Saul wth his clothes rent & erth vpon his heed. And whē he came to David / he fell to y^e erth & dyd obeysaunce. To whō Da-uid sayde: whence comest thou? And y^e other answered hym: Out of the host of Israel am I escaped. And David sayde to hym agayne:
How hath it chaunced? tell me. And he sayde:
The people fled fro the battell: a many of the people are ouerthrowen & deed: and Saul & Jonathas his sonne are deed therto.

And David sayde vnto the young mā that tolde him: how knowest thou that Saul and Jonathas his sonne be deed? and the younge man that tolde him / sayde: I was by chance in mount Gelboe. And se / Saul leaped vpon hys speare / and the charrettes and horsemen folowed hym at the heeles. And Saul looked backe and called me. And I answered: here am I. And he sayde vnto me: what art thou? and I sayde vnto hym: I am an Amalekite.
And he sayde vnto me: come on me & slee me: for angur he is come vpon me and my lyfe is yet all in me. And I went on him a lye hym: for I was sure that he coulde not lyue / after that he was fallen. And I toke the crowne that was vpon his heed and the Bracelet that was on his arme and haue brought them vn to my Lorde hyther.

Then David toke hys clothes and a rent the / & so dyd all the men that were with him.
And they mourned / wepte & fasted vntill eue / for Saul and Jonathas hys sonne / and for the people of the Lorde / and for the house of Israel / because they were ouerthrowen wth the swerde.

Then sayde David vnto the young mā y^e brought him tydyngs. Whēce art thou? And he sayde: I am y^e sonne of an alpaūt an Ama-lekite. And David sayde vnto him: How is it that thou wast not afrayed to lye thynne had on y^e Lordes anoynted / to destroye hym? And David called one of his young men & sayde:
Go to and runne vpon him. And he smote hym y^e he dyed. Then sayde David vnto him: thy bloude vpon thine awne heed / for thine arme mouth

hys / for th^e mouth hath testyfyed agaynst the saying: I haue slayne the Lorde's anoynted.

And David sang thys song of mournyng ouer Saul and ouer Jonathas hys sonne / & therof. And Beholde it is wyrtte in the boke of the ryghtwys. The glozpe of Israel is slayne vpon y^e hilles: Oh how were y^e mightyde it in the streates of Bethleem: lest the daughters of the Philistines reioyse / & that y^e daughters of y^e uncircumcised triumphe therof.

Ye mountaynes of Gelboe / vpon you be nether dew nor raygne / ner felbes whence heaue offeringes come. For there the wydes of y^e myghtie were cast from them: the wyde of Saul / as though he had not bene anoynted wth oyle. The boowe of Jonathas and the swerde of Saul turned neuer backe agayne emptye / from the bloud of the wounded and from the fatte of the mightie warryowes.

Saul and Jonathas louely and pleasur in their lyues / were in their deethes not de-uided / men swifter then Eagles and stronger then Lyons. Ye daughters of Israel / wepe ouer Saul / whych clothed you in purple & garmentes of pleasure / and bordered poure rayment with ornamentes of goulde. How were y^e mightye slayne in battell? Jonathas on the hie hilles was wounded to deeth. Who is me for the my brother Jonathas: delectable to me wast thou excedyng. Thy loue to me was wonderfull / passing y^e loue of womē.
How were thy myghtie ouerthrowen / & how were the wepons of warre forlozen.

David is annoynted in Hebron. The battell of the seruautes of David and Jshobeth.

The second Chapter.

After thys David asked the Lorde sayyng: Shall I go vp in to any of y^e cities of Juda? And y^e Lorde sayde:
go. And David answered whither shall I go? He answered vnto Hebron. And so David went thither with his two wyues also / Abinoam the Jeshabelite and Abigail Nababs wyfe y^e Carmelite. And the mā that were wth him / did David carpe by also / every man wth hys houle. And they dwelt in the townes of Hebron. And the men of Juda came and there annoynted David kyng ouer y^e house of Juda. When it was tolde David / how the men of Jabez in Galaad had buryed Saul / he sent messengers vnto them & sayde vnto them: blessed are ye vnto the Lorde / that ye haue shewed soche kyndnesse vnto poure Lorde Saul / and haue buryed hym. Wherfore the Lorde shew you merce and trueth agayne. And I will do you good also / because ye haue done this thyng. And now let poure handes stee the & playe ye the men / though poure mayster Saul be deed. And finallye understode y^e the house of Juda haue annoyntof Ner y^e was captayne of Sauls host / toke Jshobeth y^e sonne of Saul and brought him to Mahanaim and made him kyng ouer Galaad and ouer the Amurites / & ouer Jeshabel: and ouer Ephraim and Benjamin and ouer all Israel. And Jshobeth Sauls sonne was fourtye yere olde when he began to raygne ouer Israel / and raygned two yere. But the house of Juda only folowed David. And y^e tyme whych David raygned in Hebron ouer the house of Juda / was. vii. yere & fyve monethes. And Abner the sonne of Ner and the seruautes of Jshobeth the sonne of Saul wet out of Mahanaim / to Gabaon. And Joab the sonne of Zaruah and the seruautes of David went out and mette them by the Pole of Gabaon. And they satt downe / the one parte on the one side the Pole & the other on the other syde. And Abner sayde to Joab: let the young men arise and playe before vs.

And Joab answered: be it. Then there arose a went ouer: twelue of Benjamin by nobre whych pertayned to Jshobeth the sonne of Saul / and twelue of the seruautes of Da-uid. And they caught eche his fellow that came agaynst hym / by the heed and thrust hys swerde in hys syde / and so felle doune all at once. Wherfore the place was called *Helath Zurim whych is in Gabaon. And there beganne an excedyng cruel battell that same daye. But Abner and the men of Israel were put to the worse of the seruautes of David.

And there was thre sonnes of Zaruah there: Joab / Abisai and Asahel: whych Asael was as swifte of fote as a wyld Beest / and folowed after Abner and turned nether to to the ryght hand nor to the lefte from Abner. Then Abner looked behynde hym and sayde: art thou Asahel? And he sayde ye.
Then sayde Abner: turne y^e ether to the right hand or to the lefte & cathe one of the young men and take the hys spoyle. But Asahel wolde not depart fro hym. And Abner sayde agayne to Asahel: turne from me / for I were loth to smyte y^e to the grounde. For then how shulde I holde by my face before Joab thy brother: howbeit he wolde in no wise depart

Then Abner wth the hynder ende of the ff speare smote hym vnder y^e thort rybbes / that the speare cam out behynde hym: that he fell downe in the same place & dyed there. And as many as cam to the place where Asahel fell downe and died / stode still. But Joab & Abi-sai folowed Abner tyll the sonne wet doune.

The battell be twixt y^e Philistines and Israel. Saul

The xxxi. Chapter.

As y^e Philistines fought agaynst Israel / y^e me of Israel fled awaye from the Philistines / & fell doune listines folowed after Saul & his sonnes / & few Jonathas / Abinadab and Melchisua Sauls sonne. And y^e battell wet soze agaynst foult him / & he was soze wounded of y^e hoters.

The sayd Saul vnto his harnesser: *Draue out thy swerde & thrust me thorow therewith lest these uncircumcised come thrust me trou-ghe & make a mocking stocke of me. But his harnesser wolde not / for he was soze a-frayed. Wherfore Saul toke a swerde & fell vpon it. And when hys harnesser saw that Saul was deed / he fell y^e hys wyfe vpon hys swerde & dyed with him. And so Saul dyed a his thre sonnes & his harnesser / & therto all his men / that same daye to geather.

When the men of Israel y^e were of y^e other syde y^e valeye / & they of the other syde Jozabab heard y^e the men of Israel were put to flight / & that Saul & his sonne were deed / they left the cyties / & ranne awaye / & the Philistines

Philistines were come to strippe the y^e were slayne / they founde Saul & hys thre sonnes lying in mount Gelboe. And they cut of hys heed & stripped him out of his harness / & sent into the lād of y^e Philistines euery where / to publishe in the houses of their Gods & to the people. And they hanged by his harness in y^e house of Achis / but they hanged by hys carkasse on the walles of Bethsan. When y^e enhabiters of Jabez in Galaad heard therof / what the Philistines had done to Saul / they arose as many as were men of warre & wet all nyght & toke the carkasse of Saul & the harkasses of his sonne / fro y^e walles of Beth-san & brought the to Jabez & burnt the there and toke their bones & buryed them vnder a tree at Jabez / and fasted seven dayes.

And Saul had a concubyne named Riphah the daughter of Aiah. And Jchoseph sayde to Abner. Wherfore yest thou with my fathers concubyne? And Dauid answered well sayde/ I will make a bonde wyth the. But onethyng I requere of the/ that thou se not my face/ except thou fyrt byng Michol Sauls daughter/ when thou comest to se me.

Now then do it: for the Lorde hath sayde of Dauid / by the hand of my seruante Dauid/ I will saue my people Israel/ out of the handes of the Philistines/ and out of the hand of all their enemies. Now this Sauls sonne had troy men that were become captaynes ouer the soudiars/ the one called Baanah & other Rechab / the sonnes of Remona Berothite/ and of the chylzen of Benjamin: for Beroth was rekened to pertayne to Benjamin. And these Berothites fled to Bethaim and

And his nource toke him bp and fled awaye. And as he made hast to flee and was amaled/ þe childe fell & became halt & was calleth Miphiboseth. And these sonnes of Remon the Berothite/ Rechab and Baanah went/ & cam in the heat of the daye to þe house of Jchoseph/ as he slept on a bed at none. And beholde they cam into the house as though they wold haue bought whete/ & smote hym vnder the thort ryddes and fled. For they cam into the house as he slept on his bed in his resting chamber/ and smote him and slue hym and beheded hym and toke his heed & gat the awaye thozow the wyld felde all nyght. And they brought the heed of Jchoseph vnto Dauid/ to Hebron and sayde to the kyng: behold there the heed of Jchoseph Sauls sonne thine enemye/ which sought thy soule. But the Lorde hath aduenged my Lorde the kyng this daye/ of Saul and of his seede.

¶ Lett they shuld haue bene knownen.

And Dauid answered Rechab and Baanah his brother / the sonnes of Remon the Berothite and sayde vnto the: * as surely as the Lorde lyueth whych hath deliuered my soule out of al aduersites/ him that tolde me how that Saul was deed/ thinkyng to haue brought me good tydynges/ I caught & slew in Zikeleg/ to geue him a rewarde for his tydynges bringyng. And how moch moze ought I so to deale with weked men þe haue slayne a ryghteous person in his awne house vnto his bed. Now therfore thynke ye that I will not requere his bloud of youre handes & take you from the erth? And Dauid commaunded his young men / and they slue them and cut of their handes and their fete & hanged the bp by the pole in Hebron. And they toke the heed of Jchoseph and buried it in the sepulchre of Abner in Hebron.

Whosoener wynteth the walles and the lame and the blynd hated of Davids soule*. wherfore the blynd & the lame shall not come into the house. And David dwelt in the towre and called it the citie of David. And David bylt round about it fro Hello inward. And David waxed great and the Lorde God of hostes was with him. And Hiram kyng of Tyre sent messengers to David with Cedar trees and carpenters & Malons/to bylde David an house. wherby David perceaued that the Lorde had stablished him kyng ouer Israel and had exalted his kyngdome for his people Israels sake. And David toke him mo concubynes and wyues out of Ierusalem/after he was come from Hebzon/and mo sonnes and daughters were yet borne to David. And these be the names of the sonnes that were borne hym in Ierusalem: Samua/Sobab/Nathan/Salamo Jebahar/Elisua/Rephag/Japhia/Elisama/Elisada/and Eliphalet.

But when the Philistines heard that they had anoynted David kyng ouer Israel/they ca all by to seke David. And as sone as David heard of it/he gat him to an holde. And the Philistines cam and layd them a long in the baleye of Raphaim. And David asked of the Lorde saying: Shall I go to the Philistines? & wilt thou deliuer them into my handes? And the Lorde sayde vnto David: go for I will deliuer the Philistines into thy handes. And David cam to Baal Pharazim & smote the there & said: the Lorde hath deuised myne enemyes a sondze before me/as a man wood deuise water. And therfore he called the name of the sayd place/Baal Pharazim. And there they left their Images and David & his men toke them by. And the Philistines cam yet agayne & layd them in the baleye Raphaim. And David asked the Lorde/ & he sayd go not But compasse them on the backsyde & come by them fro the Peretrees. And when thou hearest the noyse of a thing going in the topes of the Peretrees/then moue. For then the Lorde is gone out before the/to smyte the host of the Philistines. And David did as the Lorde commanded him and smote the Philistines from Gabaah to Gezer.

The arche is brought forth of the house of Abinadab. Ozah is stricken & dyeth because he touched the arche. The arche is brought into the house of Obed Edom/ & fro thence in to Ierusalem. David daunceth before it/ & is therefore despyled of hys wyfe Michol.

The. vi. Chapter.

After that David chose out all the chese young men in Israel to the soume of thyrty thousand/ & arose & went & all the folke that were w him of the me of Juda/ to sett awaye the Arch of God vpon which is called the name of the Lorde of hostes that dwellyth betwene cherubyns. And they put the Arch of God by a new cart and brought it out of the house of Abinadab & dwelt at Gabaah. And Ozah and Ahio the sonnes of Abinadab draue the new carte. And when they brought it out of the house of Abinadab that dwelt at Gabaah with the Arch of God/ Ahio went before the arch. And David and all the house of Israel playde before the Lorde with all maner instrumentes of fyre woode/ w harpes/ psalteries/ timbrells/ sedylls/ and symbals.

And when they ca to Nachon thersyng floure/ Ozah put his hand to the arch of God and held it/ for the oxen stobled. And the Lorde was wroth wth Ozah and God smote hym in the same place for his fault/ and there he dyed by the arche of God. And David was displeased because the Lorde had rent Ozah. And the name of the place was called Perez Ozah vntill this daye. And David was then afrayed of the Lorde and sayde: how shuld the Arch of the Lorde come to my house? And so David wolde not byng the Arch of the Lorde with him into the citie of David. But caried it into the house of Obed Edom a Gethite. And the Arche of the Lorde continued in the house of Obed Edom the Gethite/ thye monethes/ and the Lorde blessed Obed Edom and all hys householde. And when it was tolde kyng David how that the Lorde had blessed the house of Obed Edom and all the pertayned vnto him/ because of the Arch of God/ he met and brought the Arch of God from the house of Obed Edom vnto the cytie of David with gladnes. And euer whē they bare the Arche of the Lorde/ had gone fyre paces/ he offered an ore and a fatt shepe. And David daunced before the Lorde with all his myght in a lynnē Ephod girde vnto him. And David and all the house of Israel brought the arche of the Lorde with howtyng and tropet blowyng. And as the arche of the Lorde cam into the citie of David/ Michol Sauls daughter looked thoww a wyndow and saw king David spyng & daunce before the Lorde/ & therfore despyled hym in her hert. And when the y had brought brought in the Arche of the Lorde/ and had set it euen in hys place/ euen in the tabernacle that David had prepared for it: David offered burntofferings and peaceofferings before the Lorde/ and as sone as David had made an ende of offering burntofferings and peaceofferings he blessed the people in the name of the Lorde of hostes/ & gaue amōge all the folke/ euen amōge the hole multitude of Israel/ as well to the women as men euerye one a Cake of bzed & a pece of fleshe and a flacket of wyne. And so the people departed euery man to his house.

Then David returned to salute his householde. And Michol the daughter of Saul came out against him and sayd: Oh how glorious was the kyng of Israel to daye/ which stripe him self to daye before the eyes of the maydens of his seruantes/ as a lyght byrned fellow is wont to stripe him self. But David sayd agayne to Michol/ I wil make sport before the Lorde which chose me before thy father & before all his kynne/ commaundyng me to be ruler ouer al his people Israel. And I wil be yet more byle then so/ & wil be meke in myne awne lyght/ and shall for all that of every same maydeseruantes whych thou speakest of/ be had in honoure. But the sayd Michol daughter to Saul had no childe vnto the daye of her deeth.

David of a good entent/ entredyng to bylde an house vnto the Lorde/ is forbydden of God. He prayeth that the promeis of God maye be fulfilled.

The. vii. Chapter.

And in procelle as the kyng dwelt in his house after that the Lorde had geuen him rest rounde about from all his enemyes/ he sayd vnto Nathan the prophet: behold/ I dwell in an house of Cedar trees/ but the Arche of God dwelleth in the myddes of curtaynes. Then sayd Nathan vnto the kyng: go and do all that is in thyne hert/ for the Lorde is wth the.

But that same nyght the woord of the Lorde came vnto Nathan saying: go and tell my seruaut David/ thus sayth the Lorde: Wilt thou go bylde me an house to dwelle in? For I haue not dwelt in any house sence the tyme I brought the chyldren of Israel out of Egypt/ vnto this daye: but haue walked in a tent & in a tabernacle. In any waye where I went amōge all the chyldren of Israel/ spake I one woord with any of the tribes of Israel which I commaunded to fede my people Israel saying: why bylde ye not me an house of Cedar tree? Now therfore so saye vnto my seruaut David/ thus sayth the Lorde of hostes/ I toke the out of a sheperdes cote from solowynge shepe to be a ruler ouer my people Israel. And I was with the in all that thou wentest to/ and haue destroyed all thyne enemyes out of thy syght/ and haue made the a great name/ like vnto the name of the great men of the worlde. And I will appoynt a place for my people Israel/ and will plant it and they shall continew in one place and shall moue no moare/ neither shall wyckyd people trouble the any moze as they did at the beginnyng/ and sence the tyme I commaunded Iudges to be ouer my people Israel/ & I will geue the rest fro all thyne enemyes. And the Lorde tellyth the that he will bylde the an householde.

And when thy dayes be fulfilled and thou layde to rest wth thy fathers/ then I will set by thy seede after the/ whych shall proceed out of thy bodye/ & will stablyshe his kyngdome. And he shall bylde an house for my name/ & I will stablyshe the seate of his kyngdome for euer: I will be his father & he shall be my sonne: in so moche as he shall synne/ I will rebuke him wth Roche a rodde as me he rebuked w and with Roche plages as the chyliden of men be plagued with. But my mercye will I not take awaye from him/ as I toke it from Saul/ whom I put downe before the. And thyne house and thy kyngdome shall endure without ende after the/ & thy seate shall be stablyshed for euer. And when Nathan had tolde David all these woordes and all this blysson/ then met kyng David & set him downe before the Lorde and sayde: what am I Lorde Jehouah/ and what is my kynne/ that thou shuldest haue brought me this farre forth? And is this a small thyng in thy syght Lorde Jehouah/ but thou shuldest speake also of thy seruants house for a great while to come? is this a lawe amōg me Lorde Jehouah? And what can David saye moare vnto the/ seing thou knowest thy seruant Lorde Jehouah? Cue for thy woordes sake & accordyng to thine awne hert hast thou done all these greates thyngs to make the knowe vnto thy seruants. wherfore thou art great O Lorde God there is none like the/ neither is there any God saue thou accordyng to all the we haue heard with oure eares. And what one people in the erth is like thy people Israel/ which God wet & deliuered to be his people/ & to make him a name/ & to shewe the great & terryble thyngs in the erth/ before thy people which thou redeemedst to the out of Egypt/ eue fro the people & fro their Gods. And thou hast ordeyned thy people Israel to be thy people for euer. And thou Lorde art their God. And now Lorde God the thing thou hast sayd of thy seruants & of his house make it good for euer & do as thou hast sayde. And let thy name be great for euer/ that men maye saye/ the Lorde of hostes is the God of Israel: and let the house of thy seruant David be stablyshed before the.

For thou Lord Jehouah hast sayde of thy blessing the house of thy seruauit shalbe blessed for ever.

David overcometh the Philistines and maketh them to becomen tributaries. He ordeineth & appoynteth hys officers.

The.viii. Chapter.

After that David bette the Philistines and subdued them and toke the byrdell of bondage out of their handes. And he bette the Moabites and a measured them with a lyne making them ye a long on the erth / & then meating the length of two lynes to lye / & the length of one lyne to saue a lyne. And so became the Moabites Davids seruantes & payd tribute. David smote also Adadezer the sonne of Rehob kynge of Zobah as he wet to make the ende of his coostes at the ryuer Euphrates. And David toke a thousand and seven hundred horsemen of hys / and twenty thousand fote men and destroyed all his charettes reseruyng one hundred of them. Then came the Sirians of Damalcon to succoure Adadezer kynge of Zobah. And David slue of the two and twenty thousandmen & put sounde poyres in Siria Damalcon. And the Sirians became seruantes to David payng tribute. And thus the Lord saued David in all that he wet to. And David toke the shildes of gold were by the seruantes of Adadezer & brought the to Ierusalem. And therto out of Betah and Berathai cyties of Adadezer he brought exceeding great abundance of bzasse.

When Chof kynge of Hemath had heard how David had discomforted all the hoste of Adadezer / he sent Joab his sonne vnto king David to salute him with peace and to blesse him because he had fought against Adadezer and beaten hym: for Chof kept warre with Adadezer / whych sonne brought bestelles of syluer / golde & of bzasse with him. And them also kynge David dyd dedicat vnto the Lord with the syluer and golde that he consecrated of all nations whych he subdued: of the Sirians / the Moabites / the chyldren of Ammon / the Philistines / the Amalekites / and of the spoyle of Adadezer sonne of Rehob kynge of Zobah. And David made him a name after he returned from the slaughter of the Sir-riens in the valeye of Salt where he slew xviii thousand men. And he put keepers in Edom / euē thow out all Edom put he sound poyres and all Edom became hys seruantes. And the Lord kept David whatsoeuer he toke in hand. And David raygned ouer all Israel and executed ryght and Justice vnto all hys people. And Joab the sonne of Zaruiah was ouer the host / and Jeholaphat the sonne of Ahilud was recorder. And Sadoch the sonne of Ahitob and Ahimelech the sonne of Abiathar were the prestes / and Sarafah was the scribe. And Banaiab the sonne of Jehofada was ouer the Cerethites and the Phelethites and Davids sonnes were chiefe rulers.

David rethorseth all the fylde of Saul to Miphiboseh the sonne of Jonathas.

The.ix. Chapter.

When sayd David: is there yet any man left of the house of Saul / I maye shew hym merce for Jonathas sake: And there was of the household of Saul a seruauit named Zibah which was called vnto David. And the kynge sayd vnto him: art thou Zibah. And he sayde: thy seruauit is the man. Then sayd the kynge remayneth ther yet any man of the kynred of Saul / whom I maye shew the merce of God vpon: And Zibah sayd vnto the kynge: Jonathas hath yet a sonne which is lame on both fete. And the kynge sayd vnto him: where is he? And Zibah sayd vnto the kynge: behold he is in the house of Machir: the sonne of Amiel in Lodaber. Then kynge David sent & fette him out of the house of Machir the sonne of Amiel / out of Lodaber. Now when Miphiboseh the sonne of Jonathas the sonne of Saul was come vnto David / he bowed hym self and fell on his face. Then sayd David: Miphiboseh: And he answered: Behold thy seruauit. And David said: feare not: for I will surely shew the kindnesse for Jonathas sake and will restore the all the felde of Saul thy father / and thou shalt eate meate on myne awne table all waye. And the other bowed hym self and sayd: what is thy seruauit that thou shuldest bouchefafe to loke vpon soche a deed dogg as I am.

Then the kynge called vnto Zibah Davids young mā saying vnto hym: I geue vnto the masters sonne all that pertayned to Saul & to all hys kynne. Se therfore that thou and thy sonnes and thy seruantes tyll the lande for him / and bzing in / that thy masters sonne maye haue fode to eate. For Miphiboseh thy masters sonne shall eate meate all waye vpon my table. For thys Zibah had fiftene sonnes and twenty seruantes. Then sayd Zibah vnto the kynge: all that my Lord hath sayde sayde vnto his seruauit / thy seruauit shall do. For (sayd the kynge) Miphiboseh must eate vpon my table / as one of the kynges sonnes. Thys Miphiboseh had a sonne & was young named Micha / and all that dwelled in the house of Zibah were seruantes vnto Miphiboseh. And Miphiboseh dwelt in Ierusalem / for he ate euer at the kynges table / and was therto hault on bothe legges.

The messengers of David are spitefully & villanously entreated of the kynge of Moab: whych kynge David auengeth.

The.x. Chapter.

It happened after this / that the kynge of the chyldre of Ammon died / & his sonne raygned in his steade. Then said David: I wil shew kindnesse vnto Hanon the sonne of Nahas / as hys father shewed kindnesse vnto me. And ther by David sent to comfort hym by the hand of his seruantes ouer the deeth of his father. Now when Davids seruantes were come in to the land of the chyldren of Ammon / the Lordes of the chyldren of Ammon sayd vnto Hanon their Lord: thynkest thou that David dothe honoure thy father / because he hath sent to comfort the? Maye / he hath rather sent hys seruantes vnto the / to seache the cytie and to spye it out / euen to ouerthrow it.

Wherfore Hanon toke Davids seruantes and haued of the one halfe of euerye mannes berd & cut of their garmets euen in the myddle / euē harde by the buttockes of the and sent the awaye. When it was tolde David he sent against the (for they were mē exceedingly a shamed) & sayd: tarpe at Jericho vntill your beerdes be growen / & then retorne. And when the chyldre of Ammon saw the they stanche vnto David / they sent a hired of Bethzebo a of the Sirians of Zobah. xx. thousand fote mē & of king Maacah a thousand mē / & of Tob twelve thousand mē. And when David hearde of it / he sent Joab & all the host of strong men. And the chyldre of Ammon came out & waged battell before the gate & the Sirians of Zobah / of Rehob / Tob and Maacah were by them selues in the felde.

When Joab saw that the front of the battell was before and after / he chose of all the best of Israel & put the in araye agaynst the Sirians. And the rest of the people he deliuered into the hand of Abisai his brother / which put the in araye agaynst the chyldre of Ammon. And he sayd: ye Sirians overcome me / then succoure me. But ye chyldren of Ammon be to good for me / I will come & succoure ye / quyte I like a mā / & let vs fyght lustely for oure people & for the cyties of oure God. And the Lord do what semyth best in his eyes. And forthwith Joab proceeded & the people & was to him in to battell against the Sirians / whiche fled before him. And when the chyldre of Ammon saw the Sirians were fled / then fled they also before Abisai / & entered into the citie. And so Joab returned fro the chyldre of Ammon & came to Ierusalem. And when the Sirians saw that they were put to the worse before Israel / they geathered the to geather. And Hadadezer sent & brought out the Sirians & were beyonde the ryuer. And the host of them came / and Sobah the captayne of the host of Hadadezer before them.

And when it was shewed David / he geathered all Israel and passed ouer Jordan and cam to Belam: where the Sirians put them selues in araye agaynst David and fought with hym: how be it the Sirians fled before Israel. And David destroyed seven hundred charettes of the and fourty thousand horsemen / and smote Sobah the captayne of hys host / that he there dyed. And when all the kynges that were seruantes to Hadadezer saw that they were put to the worse before Israel / they made peace with the & serued them. And so the Sirians feared to helpe the chyldren of Ammon any moare.

The.xi. Chapter.

It came to passe in the beginning of a new yere / in the times when kings are wont to go forth to battell / that David sent Joab & his seruantes with him & all Israel. And they destroyed the chyldre of Ammon / & beleaged Rabah. But David tarped still at Ierusalem. And it chaunced in an euening that David arose fro his cowche & walked by the route of the kynges palace / & fro the route saw a very bewtyfull woman walhyng her selfe. And he sent to enquire what woman it shuld be. And it was answered agayne / she was Bethsabe the daughter of Eliam a wife to Urias the Hethite. And David sent messengers & fette her / and she came vnto him / and he laye with her. And she was streyght waye purified fro her uncleynesse / & returned vnto her house. And when the woman had perceaued that she had conceaued / she sent & tolde David / and sayde: I am with chyld.
 Then

Then David sent to Joab / to sende vnto him Azias the hethite. And Joab sent Azias to David. And when Azias was come vnto him he demaunded how Joab dyd / and how the people fared / and how the warre prospered.
And David said more ouer to Azias: god ouene to thynne house and walke thy fete. And Azias departed out of the kynge's palace / & there folowed him a seruaunte fro the kynge's table. But Azias slept at the doore of the kynges palace with all the seruautes of his Lord / and went not downe to his house.

Then they tolde David saying: Azias desedid not into his house. Then sayd David vnto Azias: Saying that thou art come fro / o-neynge / why doste thou not go downe vnto thynne house? And Azias sayd vnto David: I arcke and Israel & Juda dwell in paylyss: and my Lord Joab and the seruautes of my Lord lye in tentes vpon the flatt erthe: & shuld I then go into myne house / to eate and to drynke & to lye with my wife? By thy life and as sure as thy soule lyueth I will not do that thyng. Then sayd David vnto Azias:
*tarye here this daye also / & to morow I will lett the depart. And so Azias abode in Jerusalem that daye and on the morow. And Da-uid called him / and he ate & dranke befoze him / and he made him droncke. And at euen he went out to lye on his couche with the ser-uautes of the Lord / and went not downe to hys house. Wherefoze on the morow David wrote a letter to Joab and sent it by Azias.

And he wrote in the letter saying: put Azias in the forefront of the battell where it is moost strong / and come back from him that he may be smytten to deeth. And as Joab beleged the cittie he assigned Azias vnto a place where he wist that strong men were. And the men of the cittie cam out & fought wth Joab. And there were certen ouer thowen of the people and of the seruautes of David / and Azias the hethite dyed also.

Then Joab sent and tolde David all the processe of the warre and charged the messengers saying: when thou hast made an ende of telling the stoye of the warre vnto the kynge yf he begynne to fume and saye vnto the:
wherefoze approached ye so nye vnto the cittie to fyghe? wylt ye not that men wolde hurle

And shote from the walles? who smote Abimelech sonne of Jerobeleth? did not a woman cast a pece of a myllstone vpon hym fro of the walles / that he dyed in the besse? why then went ye nye the walles / then saye thou: thy seruaunt Azias the hethite is deed also.

And the messengers went and came & the-wed David all that Joab had sent him with / and said vnto David: I men preuayle agaynst be / and cam out vnto vs into the felde / & we stake vnto them / euen vnto the enterynge of the gate. And the mothers wote from the walles / and some of the seruautes of the kynge be deed. And thy seruaunt Azias the hethite is deed also. Then sayd David vnto the messenger / thus wylle I saye vnto Joab / let not the thyng trouble the. For the swerde deuoureth one as well as another: make thy battell more stronge agaynst the cittie and destroye it / and se that thou courage Joab. And when the wyfe of Azias heard that her husband was deed / she mourned for hym / & as sone as the mourning was ended / David sent and fet her to his house / and she was his wife & bare him a sonne. But the deade that David had comitted / displeased the Lord.

David is reproued for the slaughter of Azias / & then repenteth. The chylde conceived in adoutrye dyeth. After it is Salomon borne.

The .xij. Chapter.

And the Lord sent Nathan vnto Da-uid. And he cam vnto him and sayd vnto hym: there were two men in one cittie / a ryche and a poore. And the ryche had exceeding great aboundaunce of shepe and oxen. But the poore had nothyng saue one lytle lambe which he bought & no-ryshed by. And it grew by with hym and hys chylde / and did eate of his atone meate and dranke of his atone cuppe / & slept in his bo-some / & was as dere vnto hym as his daughter. And there cam a strainger vnto the ryche man. And he coude not fynde in hys heart to take of his atone shepe nor of hys bestes to dresse for the strainger / he was come vnto him.
But toke the poore manes lambe & dressed it for the man that was come to him. And David was exceeding wroth wth the man / and sayd to Nathan: as surely as the Lord lyueth I felow the hath done this thyng. *is the chylde of deeth and shall restore the lambe foure folde / because he dyd this thyng and because he had no petye. Then Nathan sayd to David: thou art the man. Thys sayth the Lord God of Israel: I annoynted the kynge ouer Israel & rydde the out of the handes of Saul. And I gaue the thyngs of thy masters house and thy masters wiues into thy bosome / & gaue the the house of Israel and of Juda / and wolde yf that had bene to lytle: haue geuen the twyse some chemoare. Wherefoze hast thou despyled the comaundement of the Lord / to do wickednesse in his syght: thou hast kylde Azias the hethite wth the swerde and hast taken his wyfe to thy wyfe / & hast slayne hym wth the swerde of the chylde of Amnon.

Now therfoze the swerde shall neuer repart from thynne house / because (sayth the Lord) thou hast despyled me and taken the wyfe of Azias the hethite / to be thy wyfe.

Thus

Thus sayth the Lord: beholde I wylle steepe by euell agaynst the euen of thynne atone house & will take thy wiues befoze thine eyes / and geue them vnto thy neybour / which shall sleepe with the in the syght of the sonne. And thou didest it secretly / yet wyl I do this thing befoze all Israel and in the open sonne lyght.

Then sayd David vnto Nathan: I haue synned agaynst the Lord. And Nathan sayd agayne to David: the Lord hath put awaye thy synne / thou shalt not dye. How be it because in doyng this deade thou hast geuen the enemys of the Lord a cause to rayle / the chylde is borne the shall dye surely. And Nathan departed vnto his house. And the Lord stroke the chylde that Azias wyfe bare David & it sickened. And David besought God for the boye & fasted & went & laye all nyght vpon the erthe.
And the elders of his house arose and wet to him to take him by fro the erth. But he wold not / neither yet eate meat with them.

And it hapened the seventh daye that the chylde dyed. But the seruautes of David durst not tell him that the chylde was deed. For they sayd: while the chylde was yet aloue / we spake vnto him / and he wolde no herke vnto oure voyce. How moche moare then wyl he heere him self yf we tell hym that the chylde is deed? But David saw his seruautes whysperryng and thereby perceaued that the chylde was deed / and sayd vnto his seruautes: is the chylde deed. And they sayd ye. Then David arose from the erth and washed & annoynted him self and chaunged hys apparell / & went into the house of the Lord & prayed / & after cam to hys atone house & bade the they shulde set meat befoze hym / and he dyd eate. Then sayd hys seruautes vnto hym: what is thys that thou hast done? Thou fastedest and we-pest for thy chylde while it was a liue / and as sone as it was deed thou dydest ryse by and dydest eate meate. And he answered: whyle the chylde was a lyue / I fasted and wepte. For I this thought: who can tell whether God wylle haue mercye on me that the chylde maye liue.
But now seying it is deed / wherefoze shuld I fast? can I bypnyng hym agayne any moare? I shall go to him: but he shall not come agayne to me. And David comforted Bethsabee hys wyfe / & wet in vnto her & laye with her / & she bare a sonne whose name was called * Salomon / & the Lord loued him. And he sent by the hand of Nathan the prophete and called his name * Jediasah / of the Lordes behalfe.

And as Joab fought agaynst Rabah the cittie of the chylde of Amnon he toke the kynge's Courte / and sent messengers to Da-uid saying: I haue made assaunt to Rabah / and also haue taken the castell from wher they had their water. Now therfoze geather the rest of the people to gether / & come & be-sege the cittie & take it: lest yf I take it / the victo-rye be ascribed to me. And David geathered all the people to gether / & wet to Rabah and assaunted it & gatt it. * And he toke the kynge's croune fro of his heed which wayed an hundred wayght of golde / & was sett wth pyncious stones. And David ware it on his heed. And he brought out the spoyle of the cittie in excedyng great aboundaunce. And he brought out the people that was therein & sawed the & drew harowes of yron vpon the / and shred some of them with shredde knyues of yron / & thrust some into fornaices. And so he serued all the citties of the chylde of Amnon. And then Da-uid & all the people returned vnto Ierusalem.

Amnon Davids sonne defyleth his syster Thamar.
Abalom therfoze killeth Amnon and after slepyh a

The .xij. Chapter.

And it chaunced that Abalom Da-uids sonne had a fayre sister named Thamar / who afterwarde Amnon a nother sonne of David loued.
And this Amnon was so beryd the he fell syche for the loue of his sister Thamar: for it thought hym harde to come by hys purpose of her / seying she was yet a byrgyn. But Amnon had a copanyan called Jonadab the sonne of Sa-mah the brother of David: which Jonadab was a very wyse man. And he sayd vnto hym how cometh it that thou beyng the kynge's sonne art thus consumed euery moztynge? mayst thou not tell it me? And Amnon answered him: I loue Thamar my brother Absaloms syster. Then sayde Jonadab vnto him: lye on thy bedde and sayne thy self syche. And when thy father is come to se the / saye vnto him: let my syster Thamar come & geue me meate and dresse it in my syght / that I maye se it and eate it of her hande.

And Amnon laye downe & made him self siche. And when the kynge was come to se him Amnon sayd vnto him: let Thamar my syster come & make me a couple of frytters in my syght / & I maye eate of her hand. And David sent home to Thamar saying: go to thy brother Amnons house & dresse hym meate. When Thamar came to her brother Amnons house he laye. And she toke flour & made paste & made frytters in hys syght & did bake the / & toke a platter & powred the out befoze hym.
And Amnon wolde not eate / but commaunded to haue out all men from hym. And they wet all out from hym. Then sayd Amnon vnto Thamar: byng the meate into the chambze & I maye eate of thynne hand. And Thamar to-ke the frytters which she had made / & brought the into the chambze to Amnon her brother & set said vnto her: come Ipe to me my syster. And she answered hym: nay / my brother do not force me / for it ought not to be so in Israel do not this folly. * For whither shall I go wpyth my shame? And thou shalt be as one of the soles in Israel. But speake vnto the kynge & he shall not denye me vnto the.

How be it he wolde not herke vnto her boyce but was to ströge for her & * forced her & laye w her. And then Amnon hated her exceedingly: so p the hate wherwith he hated her was greater then p loue w which he before Dloued her. And he sayd vnto her: vp & awaye. Then she sayde vnto hym / this great cruelnesse that thou puttest me awaye passyth the other that thou dydest vnto me. Neuertheless he wolde not heare her / but called hys lad that waited vpon him & sayd: put her out at the dozes fro me & bolt the doze after her. And she had a kirtell of diuerse coloures vpon her: for w soche were p kynges daughters p were virgines appareled / made strapte vnto the. Then hys seruauit brought her oute at p dozes & locked the dozes after her. And Chamar put althes on her heed and rent her gape kytell p was on her and put her hand on her heed & so went / & as she wet cryed. Then Abfalom her brother sayd vnto her: hath Amnon thy brother bene with the? Now then be still my syster: for he is thy brother. And let not this thyng greue thine hert. And so Chamar remayned discorforted in her brother Abfaloms house. And kyng Dauid heard of all these thynges and was very wroth. And Abfalom sayd vnto hys brother Amnon nether good ner badd. How be it Abfalom hated Amnon because he had forced hys syster Chamar.

And it happened two yere after p Abfalö had a shepetheryng in Baal Hazor besydes p tribe of Ephraim / & had all the kynges sonnes & he cam to the kyng & sayde: behold thy seruauit hath a shepetheryng / let the kyng & hys seruantes come w thy seruante. And p kyng sayd vnto Abfalom: Oh naye my sonne let vs not go euerye one of vs that we be not chargeable vnto the. And Abfalom laye soze vpon him: how be it he wolde not go / but blessed him. Then sayd Abfalom: then let my brother Amnon go wpyth vs. And the kyng answered what nedeth it p he go with the. But Abfalom made soche instance p he let Amnon go with hym / & all the kynges chyldren.

Then Abfalö comanded hys young men saying: marke when Ammons hert is mery with wyne / & when I byd you smyte Amnon then kill him: feare not / for it is I p bid you / be holde therfore & playe the lusty bloudes. And the young men of Abfalom serued Amnon even as Abfalom comanded the. And all the kynges sonnes arose & toke eche man his Dule and fled. And whyle they were yet in the waye / tidinges cam to Dauid that Abfalom had slayne all the kynges sonnes / so p none was left a lyue. Then the kyng arose and tare his garmentes and laye along on p erth: & all hys seruantes stode by with their clothes ret. Then Jonadab the sonne of Samah Dauids brother answered and sayd: let not my Lord suppose that theye haue slayne all the young men the kynges sonnes / saue Amnon only is deed. For that hath bene euer in Abfaloms mouth sence he forced hys sister Chamar. Now therfore let not my Lord the kyng take p thing so greuoulye to thyncke that all the kynges sonnes were deed / when Amnon only is deed.

But Abfalom fled. And the young man p kept the watche lyfte vpon hys eyes and looked aboute. And beholde / ther cam moche people by awaye that was behynde hys backe a longe by an hylles syde. Then sayd Jonadab vnto the kyng: behold / p kynges sonnes are come / and as thy seruauit sayd / so it is. And as sone as he had lesse speaking: beholde / the kynges sonnes came and lyfte vpon their boyces and wepte. And therto the kyng and all hys seruantes wept exceedingly. But Abfalom escaped and went to Cholmai the sonne of Amihud kyng of Gesur. And the kyng mourned for hys sonne continually. And so Abfalom escaped and went to Gesur / & was there thre yeres. And by that tyme the kyng turned hys mynde from pursuing Abfalom. For he had lest mourning for the deeth of Amnon.

The. xiiij. Chapter.

When Joab the sonne of Zarufah perceaued that the kynges hert was turned agayne to Abfalom / he sent to Chekoa / and sett thence a wyse woman / and sayd vnto her: feyne thy selfe to be a mourner / and put on mourning apparell. And anoynt not thy selfe w oyle. But be as a woman p had löge tyme mourned for the deeth of some bodge. And go to p kyng and speake of this maner vnto hym. And so Joab taught her what she shuld saye.

And when the wyse of Chekoa was come to speake with the kyng / she fell on her face to the grounde & dyd obeysaunce & sayd: helpe me O kyng. And the kyng sayd vnto her: what ayleth the? & she answered: I am a wedow / and myne husbände is deed. And thy handmayde had two sonnes which fought to gether in the feldes where was no man to go betwene the / & the one slewe the other. And beholde / the whole kindred arose agaynst thy handmayde handmayde & sayd: deliuer vs him that smote of his brother: p we maye kyll him for p soule of hys brother whome he slue / for we wyll destroye p heyre also. And so they shall quenche my sparkle which is left that he shall stee by nether name o: issue vpon p erth vnto my husbände. And the kyng sayd vnto the wyse: go home to thyne house / and I wyll geue a charge for the. And p womā of Chekoa sayd vnto the kyng. My Lord kyng / the trespase be on me and on my fathers house / and p kyng and hys seate be gyltlesse. And then sayd the kyng: yf any man saye ought vnto p / bring him to me / & he shall no moare trouble the. Then sayd she: lett the kyng remember hys Lord God / that the next of the bloude gather not on heappes to gether to destroye / & that they slaye not my sonne. And he sayd: as sure as the Lord lyueth / there shall not one hearre of thy sonnes heed fall to the erthe.

Then p woman sayd: lett thyne handmayde speake one woorde moare vnto my Lord p kyng & he sayd: laye on. And p woman saide wherfore then hast thou determyned on thys same maner agaynst the people of God: that the kyng shulde speake this thyng & be faultye therein / so that the kyng shulde not sett home agayne hys baneshed. For we must nedes dye and perishe as water spilt on the grounde which cannot be geathered by agayne & God will not take awaye p lyfe but fynde the meanes that the banyshe be not biterly expelled fro him. And now cöcernyng that I am come to speake of this thyng vnto p kyng my Lord in the p:esence of the people: thy handmayde thought: surely I will speake vnto the kyng / peraduenture the kyng will here the request of his handmayde. And the kyng shall heare his handmayde & deliuer her out of the hand of the mā p wolde haue destroyed me & my sonne also out of the enheritaunce of God. Then thyne handmayde sayd: I pray God that the woorde of my Lord the kyng may be * immutable. For my Lord p kyng is as an Angel of God / in hearyng of good o: badd: & therfore the Lord thy God be w the.

Then the kyng answered and sayd vnto p woman: hide not fro me I praye the: the thing that I shall aske the. And the womā saide: lett my Lord the kyng saye on. Then sayd p kyng: Is not p * hande of Joab with the in all this matter? And the woman answered and sayd: as sure as thy soule lyueth my Lord kyng / it is * nether on the ryght hande nor on p lefte that my Lord the kyng hath spoken. For thy seruauit Joab he had me / and he put all these woordes euen in the mouthe of thyne handmayde. And the turnyng of my tale a nother waye / that made thy seruauit Joab. And so I se that my Lord is wyse eue as an Angell of God / to vnderstand all thyngs that are in the erthe. Then sayd the kyng to Joab beholde / I am content to do this thyng. So therfore sett home the ladd Abfalom. And Joab fell to p ground on his face & bowed him selfe and * blessed the kyng and sayd: now thy seruauit knoweth that I haue founde grace in the syght of my Lord the kyng in that he hath fulfilled the request of hys seruauit. And so Joab arose & wet to Gesur & brought Abfalom to Jerusalem. Then sayd p kyng: lett hym turne to his awne house / but se that he come not in my p:esence. And so Abfalom went to his awne house / but came not in the kynges p:esence.

Moreouer in all Israel there was not so goodlye a mā as Abfalö / o: so greatly p:ayed / fro the soole of his fote to the toppe of his heed there was no blemeshe in him. And whē he shaued his heed / for at euery yeres ende he shaued it because it was heuye on hym / and therfore he shaued it / the hearre therof wayed two hundred cycles weyght of the kynges weyght. And this Abfalom had thre sonnes bozne him & one daughter named Chamar / whiche was a sayze woman to loke vpon. When Abfalom had dwelt two yere in Jerusalem without comyng into p kynges p:esence he sent for Joab / to haue sent hym to the kyng. But he wolde not come to him. And he sent agayne / & for all that he wold not come. Then he sayde vnto his seruantes: beholde / Joab hath a parcell of lande fast by myne / & hath barlye therein. So and set it on fire. And Abfaloms seruantes went & sett it on fyre.

Then Joab arose & came to Abfalö vnto his house & sayde vnto hym: wherfore haue thy seruantes burnt my felde with fyre? And Abfalom said to Joab: beholde / I sent for the desyryng the to come / because I wolde haue sent the to the kyng / for to saye: wherfore am I come from Gesur. It had bene as good for me to haue biddē there still. Now therfore let me come to the kynges p:esence / o: else yf there be any trespase in me / kill me. And Joab went to the kyng & tolde him. And he sent for Abfalom: whych whan he was come / fell to the grounde on his face before the kyng. And the kyng kysed hym.

And when the other answered: thy seruauit is of soche a trybe of Israel. Then sayd Abfalom vnto hym: se/ thy matter is good & ryghteous/ & yet no man is deputed of the kynge to heare the. Then Abfalom sayd mozeouer: Oh/ that I were a iudge in y^e lande/ & that al men which haue pleyes & matter in the law/ shuld come to me. For I wolde do the iustice. And also when any mā came nye to him to do him obeysance/ he put forth hys hand & toke him to him & kissed him. And on thys manner dyd Abfalom to all Israel that came to the kynge for Judgement/ & therewith ^{* That is/ by the} stalle the hertes of the men of Israel. And at fourtye peres end Abfalom sayd vnto the kynge: let me go I praye the to Hebzon/ & paye my bowe which I haue bowed/ vnto the Lorde: for thy seruauit bowed a bowe when I was in Gethur in y^e lande of Siria saying: yf I Lorde shall byynge me agayne to Jerusalem/ I wyll serue the Lorde. And the kynge sayd: go in peace. And so he arose and went to Hebzon.

Then Abfalom sent spies thorow out all y^e tribes of Israel saying: as sone as ye heare y^e boyce of the troget blowe/ saye: Abfalom raig- neth kynge in Hebzon. And w^h Abfalom wēt two hundred men out of Jerusalem y^e were called. And they went with pure hertes and wēt nothing of the matter. And Abfalō sent also for Abithophel the Gilonite Dauid's counseller/ and fect hym out of his citie Giloh/ when he sacrificed sacrificys. And there was brought strōge treason. And the people due to Abfalō in great multitude. And there cam a messenger to Dauid & sayd: the hertes of y^e men of Israel are to folow Abfalom. Then sayd Dauid vnto all his seruauits that were with him at Jerusalem: bp & let vs flee/ for we shall not esse escape from Abfalom. Make spede to depart: lest he come sodēlye & cathe vs & byynge some mylcheue vpon vs/ & smyte the citie with the edge of the swerde. And the kynge's seruantes sayd to him: beholde thy seruantes are redye to what so euer my Lord the kynge shall apoynte.

And the king & all his household departed by a fote. And he left behinde hym ten wiues & a fote. And he left behinde hym ten wiues & concubines/ to kepe y^e house. And so the kynge & all the people went out a fote & tarped farre from y^e house/ And all hys seruantes wēt by hys syde. And all the Gerethi- uoyes had the tes & all the Phelethites/ and all y^e Bethites euen. bi. hundred men which were come a fote from Geth/ went before the kynge. Then sayd y^e kynge to Ethai the Gethite/ wherfore shuldest thou go with vs also? Returne and abide with the kynge/ for thou art a stranger & art remoued from thine awne place. Thou camest but yesterdāy/ and shuld I bnyquet the to daye to go with vs? I wyll go whether

I go. But returne thou & carpe agayne thy byeth. Mercie & truthe be wth the. And Ethai answered the kynge & sayde: as surely as y^e Lorde lyueth/ & as surely as my Lorde the kynge lyueth/ in what place my Lorde y^e king shalbe/ whether in deeth or life/ euē there wil thy seruauit be. Then sayd y^e kynge to Ethai/ come & go forwarde. And Ethai the Gethite wēt forth/ & all his men/ & all the chyldren y^e were with him. And all the countrey wepte with a loude boyce. And all the people went forwarde y^e straght waye to the wilderness. And beholde/ Sadock & all y^e Leuites were with him & bare the arche of y^e appoyntmēt of God. And whē they had set downe y^e Arche of God/ Abiathar came bp/ vntill the people were all come ouer/ out of y^e citie. Then sayd the kynge vnto Sadock. Carpe the Arche of God agayne into y^e citie. If I shall fynde fauoure in the eyes of the Lorde/ he will byynge me agayne/ and shewe me both it and the tabernacle therof also. But and yf the Lorde thus saye: I haue no lust vnto the. Beholde/ here am I/ let him do wth me what semeth best in hys eyes.

The kynge sayde also vnto Sadock the prest thou art a Sear. Returne therfore into the citie in peace. And take poure two sonnes with you: Ahimaaz thy sonne/ & Jonathan the sonne of Abiathar. And se/ I will tarpe in the felles of the wyldernesse vntill there come some woorde from you to be tolde me. And so Sadock and Abiathar carped the Arche of God agayne to Jerusalem/ & they tarped there. And Dauid went bp on mount olyuet & wepte as he went/ & had hys heed couered & wēt therto barefote. And all y^e people that was wth him/ had euery man hys heed couered/ and as they went wepte also. And one tolde Dauid saying: Abithophel is one of them that haue conspired wth Abfalom. Then sayde Dauid: O Lorde/ turne the counsell of Abithophel into folishenes.

When Dauid was come to y^e toppe of the mount & had bowed him selfe vnto God: beholde/ Hufai y^e Arachite came agaynst him wth his coote torne and erth vpon his heed. Vnto whome Dauid sayd: yf thou go with me thou shalt be a burthen vnto me. And yf thou returne to y^e citie: then shalt thou saye vnto Abfalō I will be thy seruauit. O kynge: thus lōge haue I bene thy fathers seruauit/ & now I am thine. And destroye me the counsell of Abithophel. And thou hast there with y^e Sadock & Abiathar y^e prestes/ vnto whych thou shalt shew all y^e thou canst heare out of y^e kynge's house. And beholde/ ye haue there wth you thre two sonnes: Ahimaaz Sadock's sonne/ & Jonathan Abiathars sonne/ by whych ye shall sende me all that ye can heare. And

And so Hufai Dauid's frende gat hym to the citie. And Abfalō also entered into Jerusalem.

¶ The xvi. Chapter. And when Dauid was a lytle past the toppe of the hyll: beholde Ziba y^e seruauit of Achishbolet came agaynst him with a couple of asses laden wth bread & upon the two hundred louses & one hundred bunches of Kelynges/ & an hundred frayles of dyed fygges/ & a bottell of wyne. Then sayd the kynge to Ziba: what hast thou there? And Ziba sayde: Asses for the kynge's household to ryde on/ and byed & frute for the younge men to eate/ and wyne to dyncke/ yf anye man saynt in y^e wilderness. Then sayde the kynge: where is thy masters sonne? and Ziba sayd vnto the kynge: beholde/ he tarpyeth still at Jerusalem. For he sayde: this daye shall the house of Israel restore me the kyngdome of my father. Then sayd y^e kynge to Ziba: beholde/ thine are all y^e pertayned vnto Achishbolet. And Ziba answered: I beseeche the yf I maye fynde grace in thy sight my Lord king.

¶ The xvii. Chapter. And when kynge Dauid came to Bahurim: beholde/ thence cam out a man of y^e kinrede of the house of Saul named Semei y^e sonne of Gera/ and he cam out cursyng. And therto he cast stones at Dauid and at all the seruantes of kynge Dauid/ all the people & all the men of warre goyng part on his right hand/ & part on his lefte. And thus sayde this Semei as he cursed: come forth/ come forth thou bloudesteder and thou bnythistie man. The Lorde hath brought vpon the all y^e bloude of the house of Saul/ in whose steade thou hast raygned/ and he hath delpyered the kyngdome into the hand of Abfalō thy sonne. And thou art wthapped aboute wth thine awne mylcheue/ because thou art a bloudesteder. Then sayd Abfalō the sonne of Zaruiah vnto y^e kynge: why dothe this deed dogg curse my Lorde the kynge? let me go and take of y^e heed of him. And the king sayde: what haue I to do wth you ye sonnes of Zaruiah: let hym curse: for y^e Lorde hath byddē him curse Dauid. And who dare presume to saye wherfore dothe he so? And Dauid sayde to Abfalō/ & to all his seruantes: behold/ my sonne which is out of myne awne bowelles seketh my lyfe: how moche moze then maye thys sonne of Iemini do it? Suffre hym therfore to curse/ for y^e Lorde hath byddē him: haplye y^e Lorde wil loke on my wretchednesse/ & do me good for his cursyng thys daye. And thus as Dauid & his mē wēt by y^e waye/ Semei wēt a lōge on y^e hilles syde ouer agaynst him/ & cursed as he went/ & threw stones at him/ & cast dust. And y^e kynge & all that were wth hym cam we- rye/ and refreshed them selues there.

And Abfalō and all the people of the men of Israel came to Jerusalem & Abithophel with him. And as sone as he was come: Hufai the Arachite went vnto Abfalom & sayde vnto him: God saue the kynge/ God saue the kynge. And Abfalom sayde agayne to Hufai: is this the kyndnesse thou owest to thy frende? Why wentest thou not with him? And Hufai sayd vnto Abfalom: naye not so/ but whom y^e Lorde and this people and all the men of Israel chose/ his wyll I be/ and with him will I dwell. And forther moze vnto whome shall I do seruyce but euen to hys sonne? And as I was seruauit before wth thy father/ euen so shall I be wth the. Then spake Abfalō to Abithophel geue counsell what is best for vs to do. And Abithophel said vnto Abfalom: get the in vnto thy fathers* concubines which he hath lefte to kepe the house. For when all Israel shall heare that thou hast made thy father to stynche/ then shall the handes of all that are wth the/ be stronge. And so they pitched Abfalō a tent vpon the* toppe of the house. And he went in vnto his fathers concubines in the syght of all Israel.

And the counsell of Abithophel whiche he counceled in those dayes/ was as a man had asked counsell of God: euen so was all the counsell of Abithophel/ both vnto Dauid and also vnto Abfalom.

And I will come vpon him while he is werpe and make handes/ and wyll seare hym/ that all the people that are wth hym shall flee. And so wyll I smyte the kynge on y^e heade/ & will byynge agayne all the people vnto the. And when all these men whych thou sekest are turned to the/ all the people shall haue rest. And the saying pleased Abfalom well and all the elders of Israel. Then sayde Abfalō: call also Hufai the Arachite and let vs heare hys sentēce. When Hufai was come to Abfalom Abfalō spake vnto hym saying: Abithophel hath geuen soche counsell: whether it be best we do after his saying or not/ tell thou.

Then sayd Hufai to Abfalom: the counsell that Abithophel hath geuen is not good at this tyme. For (sayd Hufai) thou knowest thy father & the men y^e are wth him/ how y^e they be strōg mē. And they be chafed in their myn- des/ euē as a* Beare robbed of her whelpes. q. iii. And Joab blew a trumpet / & the people returned all Israel fled euery mā to his tent. And this Absalom yet in hys lyfe tyme / toke & reared he sayde: I haue no male childe. And therfore he called the pylle after his awne name. And it is called vnto this day / Absaloms pylle.

Then sayd Ahimaaz þ sonne of Sadock:

Joab sayd vnto him: thou art no mā to beare

a nother tyme: but to daye thou shalt beare none/ because þ knynges sonne is deed. Then sayd Joab to Chusi: go & tell the kynge what thou hast sene. And Chusi bowed him self vnto Joab & ranne. Then sayd Ahimaaz þ sonne of Sadock agayne to Joab: come what come

Joab sayd: wherfore shuldest thou runne my sonne: for and thou runne thou gettest no re-

And he sayd vnto him: runne. Then Ahimaaz ranne by the playne and ouer ranne Chiff.

And Dauid sat betwene the two gates. ¶ And the watchman wēt vp to þe rouffe ouer the gate into the walle/and lyfte vp his eyes and saw:and beholde/there cam a man runnyng alone. And the watchmā called & tolde the kyng. And the kyng sayde: yf he come alone/ there is tydynges in his mouth. And he cam and dreyw nye. And the watchmā saw a nother man runnyng / and called vnto the porter & sayd:beholde/there cometh a nother runnyng alone. And the kyng answered:he is also a tydynges brynger. And þe watchmā sayd:me thinketh the running of the formost is lyke the runnyng of Ahimaaz the sonne of Sadock. And the kyng sayd:he is a good mā & cometh with good tydynges. And Ahimaaz called and sayd to the kyng:good tydynges/ and bowed him self to the erthe vpon his face befoze the kyng and sayd:blessed be þe Lorde thy God which hath * But vp all þe men that lifte vp their handes agaynst my Lorde the kyng. And þe kyng sayd:is the lad Absalom safe? And Ahimaaz answered I saw a great a do/when the kinges seruaut Joab sent me thy seruaut. But I wotte not what it was. And the kyng sayd:turne and stande here, And he turned and stode.

And beholde Chusi came and sayd: tydinges my Lorde the kynge/ & Lorde hath quyte the thys daye out of the handes of all that rose agaynst the. And & kyng sayde to Chusi: is & lad Absalom safe? And Chusi answered the enemyes of my Lorde the kynge and all that ryle agaynst the/ to haue & / be as thy lad is. And the kynge was moued & went by to a chambze ouer & gate & wept. And as he went thus he sayde: my sonne Absalom/ my sonne/ my sonne/ my sonne Absalom/ wold to God & had dyed for & Absalom/ my sonne/ my sonne. & David is refozed to hys kyngdome/ and brought agayne to Ierusalem.

haue saued thy lyfe / & the liues of thy sonnes & daughters / & thyne of thy wyues & concubynes / in þe thou louest thine enemyes & hastest thy frendes. Thou hast declared this daye þe thou comest nether for thy Lord / nor seruantes. For this daye I do perceaue / yf Absalom had lyued / & all we dyed this daye / þe then it had pleased þe well. Now therfore by a come out / & speake kyndely vnto thy seruantes / I sweare by þe Lord except thou come out / there will not carpe one mā wth thyss nyght. And þe will be worthe vnto the / then all þe euell þe fell on the from thynne pouthen vnto thys houre. Then the kynge arose and satt downe in the Gate. And it was tolde vnto all the people / how the kynge satt in the Gate. And then all the people cam before the kynge. But Israel fled euery man to his tent.

And all the people were at stryffe thorow out all the trybes of Israel saying: the kynge deliuered vs out of þe hand of oure enemyes. And he deliuered vs out of the hand of þe Philistines. And now he is fled out of þe land for Absalom. But Absalom whom we anoynted ouer vs is deed in battell. Now therfore why are ye so styll / that ye byng not the kynge agayne. And kynge Dauid sent to Sadock & Abiathar the prestes saying: speake vnto þe elders of Iuda & saye: why shulde ye be the last þe shulde byng agayne þe kynge to hys house / seing þe soche tidinges is come fro all Israel vnto þe kynge euē to hys house: ye are my brethren / my bones & my fleshe: wherfore then shulde ye be the last that shulde come to byng the kynge home agayne? And saye to Amasa: art thou not my bone and my fleshe? And God do so to me & to therto: except thou be captaine of þe host to me for euery in þe troume of Joab. And he bowed þe herttes of all þe men of Iuda / as a man wolde bow þe hert of one man: so þe they sent woode to þe kynge / þe he shuld retorne to all hys seruantes. And the kynge returned & came to Iordā. And Iuda came to Galgal for to go agaynst þe kynge to conueye him ouer Iordā. And Semei* þe sonne of Gera the sonne of Jemini whyche was of Bahurim / hastid & came to the mē of Iuda agaynst kynge Dauid / & a thousande men of Beniamin wth him / and* Ziba the seruauant of the house of Saul & his. x. sonnes and twenty seruantes with him. And they whyppte ouer Iordā before the kynge. And there wēt ouer a Botte to carpe ouer þe kynge's housholde and to do hym pleasure.

And Semei the sonne of Gera fell before the kynge / as he was come ouer Iordā and sayde vnto him: let not my Lord impute wickednesse vnto me / ner let him not remēber the wickednesse that thy seruauant did / when my Lord the kynge departed out of Jerusalem that the kynge shuld take it to herte. For thy seruauant dothe knowe how that I haue done anyt. And therfore beholde / I am the fyrst this daye of all þe house of Ioseph þe am come to mete my Lord the kynge. But Abisai the sonne of Neriab answered & sayd: shall Semei not dye for that cause: whych cursed the Lordes anoynted? And the kynge sayd: what matter is betwene you & me ye sonnes of Neriab / þe ye shuld this daye be aduersaries vnto me? There shall no man dye this daye in Israel: for I know that I am this daye kynge ouer Israel. And the kynge sayde vnto Semei: thou shalt not dye / & swaue vnto hym.

And Biphibose the sonne of Saul came also to mete þe kynge / & had nether dressed his fete ner haue his beerde ner washed his clothes fro the tyme þe kynge departed / vntill he came agayne in peace. And when he was come to Jerusalem towards þe kynge / the kynge sayd vnto him: wherfore wentest not thou to me Biphibose? And he sayd: my Lord the kynge / my seruauant deceaued me. For thy seruauant sayd: þe I wolde haue mine Aste sabled to ryde theron / for to go to þe kynge / because thy seruauant is lame. And he hath therto coplayned on thy seruauant vnto my Lord þe king. But my Lord þe kynge is as an Angel of God: do therfore what semeth best in thynne eyes. For all my fathers house were but deedmen vnto my Lord the kynge: & yet dydest thou put me amonge the þe eate at thine awne table. What right therfore haue I yet / to crye any moze vnto þe kynge? And þe kynge sayd: it needeth the not to speake any moze / for I haue sayd: þe thou & Ziba shall deuide þe land betwene you. And Biphibose sayd vnto þe kynge: yee let him take all: for so moche as my Lord þe king is come in peace vnto hys awne house.

And Berelai the Galaadite came fro Rogelim & wēt ouer Iordā to þe kynge / to accompanie him ouer Iordā: whiche Berelai was a very aged mā / euē foure thore yeres olde / & had prouided þe kynge of sustenance while he laye at Mahanaim: for he was a mā of verie great substance. And þe king sayd vnto Berelai: come thou to me / þe I may fede þe to me in Jerusalem. But Berelai sayd vnto þe kynge of what age am I of / þe I shulde go to þe kynge to Jerusalem. I am this daye foure thore yeres olde: & therfore canst not decerne fauery fro bnfauery / nether hath thy seruauant pleasure in þe eateth oʒ dʒincketh: ner yet delectaciō in þe songes of mē oʒ womē. It is no nede þe thy seruauant be a burthen vnto my Lord þe kynge: let thy seruauant go a lytle waye ouer Iordā to the kynge: for why shulde þe kynge render me soche a rewarde? But let thy seruauant turne back agayne / þe I maye dye in mine awne clype / by the graue of my father and mother.

But

But lo here is thy seruauant Chama: let him go with my Lord the kynge / and do to hym / what shall please the.

And the kynge answered: Chamaam shall go with me. And I will do to hym that thou shalt be content with. And therto whatsoeuer thou shalt require of me / that same will I do for the. And all the people went ouer Iordā. And whē the kynge was come ouer Iordā / he hyllid Berelai & toke hys leaue of him / & he went backe agayne vnto his awne place. And then the kynge wēt to Galgal / and Chamaam went with him. Now all the men of Iuda were at the bynginge ouer of the kynge / & but halfe the men of Israel.

Wherfore all the men of Israel came to þe kynge & sayde vnto him: why haue oure brethren the men of Iuda stolen the awaye / and haue brought the kynge & his housholde & all Dauids men with him ouer Iordā? And all the men of Iuda answered þe men of Israel: for the kynge is nere of kynne to vs: wherfore be ye angrie for that matter? thynke ye that we rate of the kynge's cost / oʒ that the kynge geueth vs any gyftes? And þe men of Israel answered the men of Iuda & sayde: we haue ten partes in the kynge / & haue therto moze ryght to Dauid then ye. Why then dyd ye despyse vs / that oure aduylle had not ben fyrst had in restoring oure kynge agayne? And þe wordes of the men of Iuda were fearter then the wordes of the men of Israel.

¶ Seba the sonne of Bochi: reaseth Israel agaynst Dauid. Joab kylleth Amasa traterously. The heed of Seba is deliuered to Joab. Dauids receauers are nombred.

The xx. Chapter.

¶ And there happened to be an bntzi the felow named Seba the sonne of Bochi: a mā of Geminu whych blew a trompet and sayd: we haue no parte in Dauid / nor enheritaunce in the sonne of Iſai / & Israel / lett vs depart therfore euery mā to his tent. And all Israel wēt from Dauid & folowed Seba the sonne of Bochi. But the men of Iuda claued fast vnto the kynge / fro Iordā to Jerusalem.

And when Dauid was come to his house to Jerusalem / he toke the ten wyues hys concubynes þe he had left behynde him to kepe þe house / & put the in warde and mynistred all thynges vnto them: but laye no moze with them. And so they were enclosed vnto þe daye of the deeth of the / & lyued a wyrdowes lyfe.

¶ Then sayde the kynge to Amasa: call me þe men of Iuda to geather with in thre dayes & present thy selfe here. And Amasa went to geather the men of Iuda to geather: but tarried longer then þe time which was apoynted him. Wherfore þe kynge sayde to Abisai: now shall Seba þe sonne of Bochi: be worthe to vs the Absalom. Take thou therfore thy* Lord's seruantes & folow after him: lest he gett him walled cyties & escape vs. And there wēt out after him Joabs men and the Gerethites & the Phelthites & the men of myght. And they departed out of Jerusalem to folow after Seba the sonne of Bochi. And when they were come to the great stone in Gabaon / Amasa met the. And Joab had his garment that he had about him / g yde vnto him / & had gyde ther on a knyfe toged fast to his loynes / in soche a methē þe as he wēt it fell some tymes out. And Joab sayde to Amasa: are all thyngs in rest and peace my brother? And Joab toke Amasa by the chynne with the ryght hande / as though he wolde haue* kylled hym. And Amasa toke no hede to the knyffe that was in Joabs hand / with which Joab smote hym in the thort rybbes & shed out hys bowelles to þe ground and smote him but one stroke / and he dyed.

¶ And then Joab and Abisai his brother followed after Seba the sonne of Bochi. And one of Joabs men þe stode by him sayd: what is he that he wolde be as Joab / & what is he þe wold be vnto Dauid in stede of Joab? And Amasa laye walowping in bloude in þe midd of the waye. And there was a man þe saw all the people stande styll. And whē he saw that* all þe came by him stode still / he rowled Amasa out of the waye into the feld & cast a cloth vpon hym. And as sone as he was tombeled out of þe waye / all þe people wēt after Joab / to folow after Seba þe sonne of Bochi.

¶ And he went thorow all the trybes of Israel vnto Abel Bethmaacah & all Barim. And þe people geathered vnto him & wēt also after him. And they cam and beleged hym in Abel Bethmaacah. And they cast by a backe agaynst the cytie. And it was beleged. All þe people þe was with Joab labored busely to ouerthrowe the walle. Then cryed a wyfe woman out of the cytie / heare heare / byd I praye you Joab that he come hyther / that I maye speake to him. When Joab was come / the woman sayd: art thou Joab? And Joab answered þe am I. And he sayd to him: heare þe wordes of thy hād mayde? And he sayd: I am readye to heare. And she sayde: it hath bene a comen sayinge in the olde tyme / men* must aske of Abel / and then go to and fynne the whether it worke. Abel is one of the quyetest & sayth: will receaue fullest cyties þe are in Israel. And thou goest about to destroye a cytie that is as a mother of many in Israel. Why deuowrest thou the enheritaunce of the Lord.

¶ And Joab answered and sayd: God forbidd / God forbidd it me / that I shuld ether deuowre oʒ destroye it. The matter is not so: But q. b. there there is a man of mount Ephraim / Seba & some of Bochar by name / which hath lyfte by his hand agaynst kyng David. Deluier vs him only / and I will depart fro the cite. And the woman sayde vnto Joab: Beholde / his heed shalbe thyowen thorow the walle to the. And then the woman went vnto all the people in her wyldome. And they smote of the heed of Seba the sonne of Bochar / & cast it to Joab. And he blew a trompet / and they shattered from the cite / euery man to his tent. And Joab returned to Iherusalem vnto the king. And Joab was ouer all the hoste of Israel. And Banatiah the sonne of Jehoiada was ouer the Cerethites & the Phelethites. And Aduram was ouer the tribute. And Jehoshaphat the sonne of Ahilud was Recorder. Serua was scribe. And Sadock and Abiathar were the prestes. And Ira the Jaitite was the wyle Davids prest.

Chap. xxi. Chapter.
Then there fell an hōgre in the dayes of David the yeres / yere by yere. And David enquired of the Lord. And the Lord answered: it is for Sauls sake & the house of bloude / because he slue the Gabaonites. And the kyng called the Gabaonites & sayde vnto the. Now these Gabaonites are not of the chyldre of Israel / but a remnant of the Ammorites / & the chyldren of Israel swore vnto the. And yet Saul sought to sle the / for a zele that he had to the chyldren of Israel & of Iuda. Wherefore David sayd vnto them: what shall I do for you? and wherewith shall I content you & ye maye * blesse the enheritaunce of the Lord.

And the Gabaonites sayde vnto hym: we haue no matter of siluer or of golde w Saul or with his house: nether haue we any mā & we wolde kill in Israel. Then he sayd: what saye ye that I shall do for you? And they sayd vnto the kyng: the man that consumed and imaged to bynge vs to nought / hym we ought to destroye / that nought of him continue in any of the coostes of Israel / let seven men of his sonnes be deliuered vnto vs / that we maye hang the by vnto the Lord / in Gabaah of Saul & Iordens electe. And David sayde: I will geue them you.

But the kyng had compassion on Michiboseh the sonne of Jonathan / the sonne of Saul / because of the Lordes othe that was betwene the: that is to saye betwene David and Jonathan & some of Saul. But he toke the two sonnes of Kezphah the daughter of Aiah which he bare vnto Saul / Armoni

And when it was tolde David what Kezphah & daughter of Aiah the concubine of Saul had done / he wēt & toke the bones of Saul & of Jonathan his sonne / of the men of Jabes in Galaad / which they had stolen fro the strete of Bethsan / where the Philistines had haged the in the dayes whē the Philistines had slayne Saul in Gelboe. And he brought thence the bones of Saul & the bones of Jonathan his sonne / & they sett awaye the bones of the that were hanged / & buried them with the bones of Saul and Jonathan his sonne in the contrey of Benjamin / in Zela / in the sepulchre of Cis his father. And there was yet battell in Geth / where was a mā of a size and had on euery hand. bi fyngers and on euery fote. bi toes. xxiij. in all. And was also of the kynred of Haraphah / and defyed Israel. David. Lxxvi.

The Lanticle of song of David for the deluierance from his enemyes.

Chap. xxii. Chapter.
David spake the wordes of this songe vnto the Lord / what tyme the Lord had deluiered him out of the handes of all his enemyes / and out of the handes of Saul.

And he sayde: the Lord is my rocke / my castel and my deluierer. God is my strenght / in hym will I trust: my hyde & the home that defendeth me: myne hye holde & refuge: O my Sauer / saue me from wronge.

I will praye and calle on the Lord / and so shall be saued from myne enemyes. For the waues of deeth haue closed me aboute / and the floodes of Belial haue feared me. The cord of deeth haue ouertaken me. In my tribulacion I called to the Lord / & cryed to my God. And he heard my voyce out of his temple / and my crye entered into his eares. And the earth trembled and quoke / and the foundations of heuē moued & shoke / because he was angrie.

Smoke went by out of his nostrilles / & coluymng fyre out of his mouth / that coles were kendled of him. And he bowed heuē and came downe / and darchnesse vnder nethe his fete. And he rode vpon Cherub and flew: and appered vpon the wynges of the wynde. And he made darchnesse a tabernacle rounde about him / & water geathered to geather in thicke cloudes. Of the brightnesse / that was before him / coles were sett on fyre.

The Lord thundred from heuen / and the most hye put out his voyce. And he shotte arrowes and skatered them / and hurled lyghtenynge and turmoyled them. And the bottome of the see appered / and the foundations of the world were sene / by the reason of the rebukynge of the Lord / and thorow the blastynge of the bzeeth of his nostrilles. He sent from an hye & sett me / & plucked me out of myghtye waters.

He deluiered me fro my mightie enemye / & from the that hated me and were to strong for me. When they had compassed me in the daye of my tribulacion / the Lord stayed me by. And he brought me out into rowmety / & deluiered me / because he delyped in me.

The Lord rewarded me accordyng to my ryghtwysnesse / & accordyng to the purenesse of my handes he dealt with me. For I kept the wayes of the Lord / and dyd no wychednesse forsayng my God. But I had all his lawes in my syght / & turned my face from none of his ordinaunces. But was pure vnto him ward / & kept my self fro wychednesse.

And the Lord dyd to me agayne / accordyng to my ryghtwysnesse / and after my pu-renesse that I had in his syght. With the holy thou shalt be holy / and with the man that is incorrupt / thou shalt be incorrupt. With the pure thou shalt be pure / & with the froward thou shalt be froward also. And the people that are in aduersyte / thou shalt helpe. And on the proude shalt thou cast thine eyes. Thou art my lyght O Lord / and the Lord shall lyght my darchnesse.

With thy helpe I will runne thorow an hoste of men / and by the waye of my God will I sprynge ouer a walle. The waye of God is undefyled / and the worde of the Lord fyned as golde / & he a wyde to all that trust in him. Who is a God saue the Lord / and who myghte saue oure God? God is my strenght in warre / and ryddyth the waye cleare before me. And maketh my fete as swyfte as an hyndes and setteth me fast vpon my hye hold.

And teacheth my handes to fyght / that a bowe of byasse is to weake for myne armes. And thou hast saued me with thy hyde / and keppest me euer in meakenes. And thou madest me space to walke in / that my fete shuld not stoble. I folowed myne enemyes & destroyed the / and turned not agayne vntill I had consumed them.

I wasted them and so clouted the / that they could not arpye: but fell vnder my fete. And thou compassedest me about w might to battell / & madest them that roase agaynst me to stoupe vnder me.

And thou madest myne enemyes to turne their backs to me / and them that hated me / I destroyed them. They looked for helpe: But none came to saue them vnto the Lord they cryed / but he heard them not.

And I will beate them as smalle as the dust of the earth / and will stampe them as the dytte of the strete / & will spreade the abroad.

And thou deluieredst me from the byssenyon of my people / & keppest me to be an heed ouer nacyos / for the people which I knew not be came my seruantes.

And the alpyntes crouched vnto me / and obeyed me at a worde.

And the alpyntes & shyncke awaye shall tremble for feare in their defended places.

The Lord lyue / and blessed be he & his my hyde strength: and exalted be God & strength that saueth me. It is God that aduengeth me / & byngeth downe the people vnder me. And deluiereth me from myne enemyes / thou liftest me by on hye from the that ryle agaynst me / and deluierest me from the wicked men.

And therefore I will praye the O Lord mist / for geamonge the bethen / and will syng vnto thy name. For thy great & manyfolde sayng of thy kyng / and the wyng merce vnto thyne anointed / eue to David / & his seede for euer.

* That is / the deades of God are pure & vncorrupt.

* That is / to runne awaye from me.

* That is / euen there where they lurcheand strength: and exalted be God & strength that saueth me. It is God that aduengeth me / & byngeth downe the people vnder me. And deluiereth me from myne enemyes / thou liftest me by on hye from the that ryle agaynst me / and deluierest me from the wicked men.

* That is / to geamonge the bethen / and will syng vnto thy name. For thy great & manyfolde sayng of thy kyng / and the wyng merce vnto thyne anointed / eue to David / & his seede for euer.

ſabe & nombze the people that I maye know the nombze of them. And Joab ſayde vnto þe kyng: I beſeche þe the Lozde the God make the people as many moo as they be: yē & an hundred tymes ſo many mo / and that þe eyes of my Lozde the kyng maye ſe them. But how is it that my Lozde the kyng hath a luſt in this thynge? Notwithſtandynge the kynges wordes preyayled agaynſt Joab & agaynſt all the captaynes of the Hoſte.

Then Joab and þe captaynes of the Hoſt went out from the kyng / to bewe the people of Iſrael. And they paſſed ouer Jordan & pitched in Aroer on the ryght ſyde of the cytie þe lyeth in the myddes of the baleye of Gad and ſo forth to Jazer. And then they went to Gaſaad and to the nether land of Hodeſi / & from thence to Dan Jaan / and aboute to Sidon / and came to the ſtronger towne of Tyre / and to all the cyties of the Heuites and of the Cananites / and then went out to the South of Juda / euē to Berſabe. And ſo whē they had bene abzoade thozow out all the lande they returned to Jeruſalem agayne at the ende of nyne monethes and twetye dayes. And then Joab deſpyered by the rekenynge of the nombze of the people vnto the kyng. And there were found in Iſrael nyne hundred thouſand men of myght & dyed ſwerdes. And the men of Juda were fyue hundred thouſand men.

And Davids heart ſmote hym after that he had nombzed the people. And he ſayde vnto the Lozde: I haue ſynned excedyngly in þe I haue done. And now Lozde take awaye the treſpace of thy ſeruaunt: for I haue done ſo lyſhelly. And when David was by in a moynynge / the worde of the Lozde came vnto the prophete Gad Davids ſear ſayinge: go and ſaye vnto David / this ſayth the Lozde. I offer the thye thyngeſe / choſe which of them I ſhall do to the.

And Gad came to David and ſhewed him / and ſayde vnto him: whether wilt thou haue by. yeres hunger in thy lāde / or that thou ſlee thye monethes befoze thyne enemyes & they ſolowynge the / or that there be thye dayes peſtilence in thy lande. Now vnderſtande and ſe / what worde I ſhall byng agayne to him that ſent me. Then ſayd David vnto Gad: I am in a maruelous ſtraite. But let me falle I praye the / into the hades of the Lozde / for moche is his mercye / and lett me not falle in into the handes of men.

And the Lozde ſent a peſtilence in Iſrael from the moynynge vnto the ende of the tyme appoynted. And there dyed of the people betwene Dan & Berſabe. lxx. thouſande men. And when the Angell ſtretched out his hand vnto Jeruſale to haue deſtroyed it / the Lozde had compaſſyon to do that euell / and ſayde to the Angell that deſtroyed þe people: it is ſufficient: lett thyne hande ceaſe. And the Angell was at the threſſynge place of Areunah the Jebuſite. Then ſpake David vnto the Lozde whē he ſaw the Angell that ſmote þe people / and ſayde: loo / it is I that haue ſynned / and I that haue done wyckedly. But theſe ſhepe what haue they done? lett I praye the thyne hand be on me and on my fathers houſe.

And Gad came the ſame daye to David & ſayde vnto him: go by & reare an aultare vnto the Lozde in the threſſynge flowze of Areunah the Jebuſite. And David accorдынge to the ſaying of Gad went by as the Lozde commaunded. And when Areunah loked and ſaw the kyng & his ſeruautes comynge toward him / he went out: and bowed hym ſelfe to the kyng flat on his face to the ground / & ſayde: wherfoze is my Lozde the kyng come to hys ſeruaunt? And David ſayd: to bye the threſſynge flowze of the / ſo to make an aultare vnto the Lozde that the plague maye ceaſe fro the people.

And Areunah ſayde vnto the kyng: let my Lozde the kyng take and offer what ſemyth him good in his eyes: Beholde oren ſo ſacreſyce / and ſleades and the other instrumentes of the oxe ſo ſo wood. And Areunah the kyngs frende gaue all to the kyng / and ſayde mozeouer vnto the kyng: the Lozde: the Lozde thy God accept the. But the kyng ſayde vnto Areunah: not ſo / but I wyll bye it of the at a pryce / and wyll not offer ſacreſyce vnto the Lozde my God that ſhall coſt me nought. And ſo David bought the threſſynge flowze / and the oren ſo ſyſtye ſycles of ſyluer. And David bylt there an aultare vnto the Lozde and offered burnt ſacreſpyces and peace offeringes. And ſo the Lozde was agreed with the lande. And the plague ceaſed from Iſrael.

The ende of the ſecond boke of Samuel: which they comenly call the ſecond of the kynges.

David. iii. Kynges Adoniah Salomon is iii. Kynges. Anoynted. Lxxviii.

The thirde boke of the Kynges after the rekenyng of the Latenistes: whych after the Hebrewes is called the fyrst of the Kynges.

The young virgin Abisag kepeth David in his extreme Age. Adoniah occupieth the reaulme bywyttyng to his father. Salomon is anoynted Kyng and then Adoniah fleeth.

The fyrst Chapter.

When Kyng David was wahren olde & stryke in peres/ though they couered hym w cloth/ yet he caught no heate. wherfore hys seruantes sayd vnto him: let there be sought for my Lorde the kyng a young mayden to waite vpon him and to cheryshe hym. And let her lye in thy bosome / that my Lorde the kyng maye get heate. And so they sought for a fayre Damosell thozow out all the coostes of Israel & founde one Abisag a Sunamite & brought her to hys kyng. And the Damosell was excedyng fayre/ & cheryshed the kyng & ministred to him: But hys kyng knewe her not.

But Adoniah the sonne of Hagith exalted him self saying: I wyll be kyng. And he gatt him a charet and hozmen and fyttie men to runne before hym. And hys father rebuked hym not at anye tyme nor sayde so moche to him as why doest thou so. And he was therto a goodlye man & hys mother bare hym next after Abisalom. And he comuned wth Joab hys sonne of Zaruiah & w Abiathar hys prest. And they holpe Adoniah. But Sadock the prest/ Banaiah the sonne of Jehoiada/ Nathan the prophet/ Semel and Rei & the men of myght which were wth David fauered not Adoniah. And Adoniah sacrificed shepe & oren and fatynges at the ston of Zobelet which is fast by the well of Rogell/ & bad all his brethzen the kynges sonnes & all the men of Iuda the kynges seruantes. But Nathan the prophet & Banaiah and the mightie men and Salomon his brother he bad not.

Wherupon Nathan spake vnto Bethsabe the mother of Salomon saying: hast thou not heard how that Adoniah the sonne of Hagith doth raigne bntweting vnto oure master David? Now therfore come hys I maye geue the counsell/ how to saue thyne atone lyfe & the lyfe of thy sonne Salomon. Hence & get the vnto kyng David & saye vnto him: dydest not thou my Lorde kyng swere vnto thy hadmadye sayinge: Salomo thy sonne shall raygne after me/ and he shall sitt vpon my seate/ why is then Adoniah made kyng? And se/ while thou yet talkest there wth hys kyng/ I will come in after hys & will ende thy word.

And Bethsabe went in vnto the kyng into the chambze. And the kyng was very olde & Abisag the Sunamite ministred vnto hym. And Bethsabe stouped & made obeysaunce vnto the kyng. And the kyng sayde: what is thy matter? And she answered & sayde: My Lorde thou swarest by the Lorde thy God vnto thyne hadmadye: Salomo thy sonne shall raygne after me & he shall sitt vpon my seate. But now se/ Adoniah is kyng and thou my Lorde kyng wottest it not. And he hath offered oren fatynges & shepe abundantly/ & hath called all the sonnes of the kyng/ and Abiathar the prest/ and Joab the captayne of the Hoste. But Salomon thy seruant hath he not bydde. And now my Lorde kyng hys eyes of all Israel wayte on the / to tell them who shall sitt on the seate of my Lorde the kyng after him. For elles when my Lorde hys kyng is layde to rest wth hys fathers/ I and my sonne Salomon shalbe synners.

And beholde whyle she yet talked wth hys kyng/ Nathan the prophet was come. And they tolde the kyng saying: here cometh Nathan the prophete. And when he was come before the kyng/ he made obeysaunce vnto hys kyng vpon his face vnto hys gounde/ & sayde: My Lorde kyng/ hast thou sayde/ Adoniah shall raygne after me/ & he shall sitt vpon my seate? For he is gone downe this daye & hath offered oren/ fatynges & shepe abundantly/ and hath called all the kynges sonnes & the captaynes of the Host/ and Abiathar the prest. And se/ they eate and dryncke before him and saye. God saue kyng Adoniah. But me thy seruant and Sadock the prest and Banaiah hys sonne of Jehoiada/ & thy seruant Salomon he hath not called. Is this thyng done of my Lorde the kyng & yet woldest not shewe me thy seruant/ who shulde sitt on hys seate of my Lorde the kyng after him?

Then kyng David answered & sayde: call me Bethsabe. And she cam in & stode before him. And hys kyng sware saying. As sure as hys Lorde (that hath rydd my soule out of all aduersyte) lyueth: euen as I sware vnto the by the Lorde God of Israel sayinge: Salomon shall raygne after me/ and he shall sitt vpon my seate for me/ so wyll I do this daye. And Bethsabe bowed on her face to the erth and dyd obeysaunce vnto the kyng and sayde: I praye God my Lorde kyng David maye lyue euer. Then sayde kyng David call me Sadock the prest and Nathan the prophet and Banaiah hys sonne of Jehoiada. And wher they cam before the kyng. The kyng sayde vnto them: take with you the seruantes of youre Lorde/ & lett Salomon my sonne vpon myne atone Mule and carpe him downe to Gihon. And let Sadock hys prest and Nathan hys prophet phet anoynte him there/ to be kyng ouer Israel. And then blowe ye with a tropet & saye: God saue kyng Salomo. And then come by after him/ & let him come and sette vpon my seate. For he shalbe kyng in my steade. And him I haue comaunded to be captayne ouer Israel and Iuda. And Banaiah the sonne of Jehoiada answered the kyng & sayde/ Amen/ & so I praye God that the Lorde God of my Lorde the kyng saye so to. And as the Lorde hath bene w my Lorde the kyng/ euen so/ I praye God he maye be wth Salomon and hys he make his seate gloriouslyer then hys seate of my Lorde kyng David.

And Sadock the prest and Nathan the prophet and Banaiah hys sonne of Jehoiada & the Cerethites and Phelethites wet downe/ & lett Salomon vpon kyng Davids Mule & led him to Gihon. And Sadock the prest toke an horne of oyle out of the tabernacle & anoynted Salomo. And they blew a tropet/ and all they sayd: God saue kyng Salomon. And all the people cam by after him ppyng with pypes and reioysyng greatlye/ so hys the erth range with the sounde of them.

And Adoniah and all the gesses that were with him/ heard it euen as they had made an ende of eatyng. And when Joab hearde the sounde of the trompet/ he sayde: how happeneth it that there is loche a nople in hys cytie? And as he yet spake/ se/ Jonathas the sonne of Abiathar the prest came. And Adoniah sayde: come for thou art a lustye bloude and byrnest good tydynges. And Jonathas answered & sayd to Adoniah: wterly oure Lorde kyng David hath made Salomo kyng. And hys kyng sent with him/ Sadock hys prest and Nathan the prophet/ and Banaiah the sonne of Jehoiada & the Cerethites & the Phelethites/ & they haue set him vpon hys kyngs Mule. And Sadock the prest and Nathan hys prophet haue anoynted him kyng in Gihon. And as they came by agayne they reioyled that the cytie dyd sounde agayne. And that is the nople that ye haue heard. And therto Salomon sette on the seate of the kyngdome. And mozeouer the kynges seruantes went in to blesse oure Lorde kyng David saying: thy God make the name of Salomo moze glorious then thyne. And the kyng bowed hym self vpon the heed. And last of all thus sayde the kyng: blessed be the Lorde God of Israel which hath made one to sette on my seate this daye/ euen myne eyes seying it.

And all the gesses that were w Adoniah were afrayed & rose by & went euery man hys waye. And Adoniah fearyng Salomo arose & went & caught holde on the hornes of the aultare. And it was tolde Salomon/ how hys Adoniah for feare of kyng Salomon hadde caught handfast by the hornes of the aultare saying: let kyng Salomon swere vnto me this daye/ that he wyll not sleie his seruant wth the swerde. And Salomon sayde: yf he wyll be a chyld of vertue/ there shall not an hearre of him fall to the erth. But & yf wickednesse shall be found in hym/ he shall dye for it. And therupon kyng Salomo sent & fet him downe from the aultare. And he came & dyd obeysaunce vnto kyng Salomon. And Salomon sayde to him: get the to thyne house.

David dyeth. Adoniah requyeth to haue Abisag to his concubyne/ and therfore Salomo comaunded to sleie hym. Abiathar is put from his presthode. Semel and Joab are slayne.

The seconde Chapter.

When hys dayes of David were drawne nye/ that he shulde dye/ he charged Salomon his sonne saying: I must walke by the waye of all the world/ neuer thelater be thou strong & quyte thy self manfully. And se that thou kepe the appoyntment of the Lorde thy God/ & thou walke in his wayes & kepe his commaundementes/ ordinaunces/ lawes and testymontes/ euen as it is witten in the lawe of Moyses: hys thou mayst vnderstand all that thou oughtest to do/ and all that thou shuldest medyll with. That the Lorde maye make good hys promise which he hath promysed me sayig: yf thy chyld shall take hede to their wayes/ that they walke before me in truthe/ wth all their hertes & with all their soules/ then thou shalt neuer be with out one setting on the seate of Israel.

Mozeouer thou wottest how Joab the sonne of Zaruiah hath serued me/ and what he hath done to hys two captaynes of the Hostes of Israel: vnto Abner the sonne of Ner and vnto Amasa the sonne of Jether: how he slue them & shed the bloude of warre in tyme of peace/ and put the bloude of warre vpon his gyrdle that was about his loynes and in his shoes that were on his fete. Deale wth hys him therfore accordyng to thy wysdome and se hys thou byrge not hys horre heed doune to hys graue in peace. And shew kyndnesse vnto the sonnes of Berselai the Galaadite/ & lett them be amog them that eate at thyne atone table/ because they to claue to me when I fled from Abisalom thy brother.

And se/ thou hast with hys Semel hys sonne of Gera the sonne of Gemini of Bahurim/ which cursed me wth a bytter curse what tyme I wet to Mahanaim. But he came agaynst me to Jordan/ and I sware to him by the Lorde/ sayinge: I wyll not sleie the wth the swerde. But pardon thou him not. Thou art

After that Adoniah the sonne of Hagith came to Bethsabe the mother of Salomon And she sayde: Betokeneth thy comig peace? And he sayde: it betokeneth peace. Then sayd he: I haue a matter to shew the. And she sayd: saye on. And he sayde: thou knowest that the kyngdome was myne / & that all Israel put their eyes on me / & I shulde raygne / how be it the kyngdome was turned away & geue to my brother / for it was appoynted him of the Lord: & now I aske a peticio of the Lord / wherof be nye me not. And she sayd vnto him: tell what it is. Then he sayde: speake I pray the / vnto Salomon the kyng (for he wyll not saye the naye) that he geue me Abisag the Sunamite to wyfe. And Bethsabe sayde: well / I wyll speake for the vnto the kyng.

And therupon Bethsabe went vnto kyng Salomon to speake vnto him for Adoniah. And the kyng rose by agaynst her and bowed hym selfe vnto her / and satt hym downe on his seate. And there was a seate sett for the kynges mother / & she sat on his right syde. Then she sayde: I must desyre a lptell peti- cyon of the: saye me not naye. And the kyng sayd vnto her: Alke on my mother: for I wyll not saye the naye. And she sayde: let Abisag the Sunamite be geuen to Adoniah thy brother to wyfe. And kyng Salomon answered & sayd vnto his mother: why doest thou aske Abisag the Sunamite for Adoniah: but rather aske for him the kyngdome / seing he is myne elder brother: Euen for him aske it & for Abiathar the pteast / & for Joab the sonne of Sarusah.

Then kyng Salomon swore by the Lord saying: a God do so to me & so therto yf Adoniah haue not spoke this worde agaynst him self. Now therfore as surely as the Lord ly- ueth which hath stablyshed me and set me on the seate of Dauid my father / & which hath made me an house as he prompled me / Adoniah shall dye this daye. And kyng Salomon sent by the hand of Banatah the sonne of Jehoiada / and smote him that he dyed.

And vnto Abiathar the pteast sayde the kyng: get the to Anatoth vnto thyne awne felde / for thou art worthy of deeth: but I wyll not at this tyme kyll the / because thou barest the Arche of the Lord Jehouah before Dauid my father and because thou sufferedst with my father in all his afflictions. And so Salomon put away Abiathar the pteast vnto the Lord: to fulfyll the wordes of the Lord which he spake ouer the house of Eli in Siloh. Then tydings came to Joab: for Joab had turned after Adoniah but not after Salomon. Wherupon he fled vnto the taber- nacle of the Lord and caught handfast on the hornes of the aultare. And it was tolde the kyng Salomon how that Joab was fled vnto the tabernacle of the Lord and stode by the aultare. Then Salomon sent Banatah the sonne of Jehoiada saying: go and smyte him. And when Banatah was come to the taber- nacle of the Lord he sayde vnto hym: thus sayth the kyng / come out. And he sayd naye: But I wyll dye euen here. And Banatah brought the kyng worde sayinge: thus sayde Joab and thus he answered me.

And the kyng sayde: do euen as he hath sayde: smyte hym & burie him / & take away the bloude (which Joab shed causelesse) from me and from the house of my father. And the Lord bynne his bloude vnto his awne heed / for he smote two men rightwyse and better then he / & slue them with the swerde / my father bntwetyng: eue Abner the sonne of Ner captayne of the Host of Israel / and Amasa the sonne of Jether captayne of the Host of Iuda. And their blood retorne vpon the heed of Joab and on the heed of his seede for euer. And prosperye be vnto Dauid / and vnto his seede / and vnto his house / and vnto his seate / of the Lord for euer.

And Banatah the sonne of Jehoiada wet by and smote him and slue him & buried hym in his awne house in the wilderness. And the kyng put Banatah the sonne of Jehoiada in his rowme ouer the Host / and put Sadoch the pteast in the rowme of Abiathar.

Then the kyng sent and called Semei / and sayde to him: buyde the an house in Je- rusalem & dwell there & se that thou go not once thence any whether. For be thou sure of it / the daye thou goest out and passest ouer the ryuer of Cedron / thou shalt dye for it / & thy blood shalbe on thyne awne heed. And Semei sayde vnto the kyng: it is wel sayde: as my Lord the kyng hath sayd / so wyll his seruait do. And Semei dwelt in Ierusalem many a daye. And it chaunced at the ende of thye yere that two of the seruantes of Semei ranne away vnto Achis sonne of Maacah kyng of Geth. And one tolde Semei saying: se / thy seruantes be in Geth. And Semei stode by and saddled his Asse and gat him to Geth to Achis / to seke his seruantes / and came and brought them agayne from Geth.

But it was tolde Salomon how that Semei had gone from Ierusalem to Geth and was the kyng sent and called Semei & sayde vnto him: why doest thou aske the Lord / & testifyed vnto the saying: be sure wher so euer thou goest out & walkest abroad any whether / thou shalt dye for it? And thou answeredst me / it is good tydings that I haue hearde. Why then hast thou not kept the othe of the Lord / and the commaundement that I commaunded the?

was come agayne. And the kyng sent & called Semei & sayde vnto him: why doest thou aske the Lord / & testifyed vnto the saying: be sure wher so euer thou goest out & walkest abroad any whether / thou shalt dye for it? And thou answeredst me / it is good tydings that I haue hearde. Why then hast thou not kept the othe of the Lord / and the commaundement that I commaunded the?

And then the kyng sayde to Semei: thou remembrest all the wickednesse which thyne hert knoweth & thou dydest to Dauid my father. The Lord therfore render agayne thy wickednesse vpon thyne awne heed: & kyng Salomon be blessed / & the seate of Dauid be stablyshed before the Lord for euer. And the kyng commaunded Banatah the sonne of Jehoiada: which went out and smote him that he dyed. And so was the kyngdome settled in the hand of Salomon.

The thirde Chapter.

When Salomon drew affinite with Pharaos kyng of Egypte / and toke Pharaos daughter & brought her into the cytie of Dauid vntill he had made an ende of bylding his awne house & the house of the Lord & the walles of Je- rusalem rounde aboute. Only the people sacreficed in aultares made on hylls / because there was no house bylt vnto the name of the Lord vntill those dayes. And Salomon loued the Lord and walked in the ordinaunces of Dauid his father / saue onely that he sacrefi- ced & offered incense vnto aultares in hylls.

And the kyng wet to Gabaon / to offer there: for it was a great offeringe place. And there Salomon offered a thousand burnt offeringes vpon that aultare. And in Gabaon the Lord apered to Salomon in a dreame by nyght. And God sayde: Alke what I shall geue the. And Salomon sayde: thou hast shewed vnto thy seruait Dauid my father great mercede / accordynge as he walked before the Lord in truth & in ryghtewesnes & playnesse of herte with the. And thou hast kept for hym this great mercede / & thou hast geue him a sonne to sytt on his seate: as it is come to passe thys daye. And now Lord my God / it is thou that hast made thy seruait kyng in steade of Dauid my father. And I am a yong lad & wott not how to order my selfe. And thy seruait is in the myddes of thy people which thou hast cho- sen / a people & are so manye & they canot be tolde noz nobzed for multitude. Geue ther- fore vnto thy seruait an vnderstandynge hert to iudge thy people & to decerne betwene good / and badd. For who is able to iudge this thy so wayghtie a people?

And it pleased the Lord well / & Salomon had desyred this thyng. Wherfore God sayde vnto him: because thou hast asked this thing & hast not asked long lyfe / nether hast asked ryches / noz the lyue of thine enemyes / but hast asked the discrecion to vnderstande equyte. Se / I haue done accordynge to thy peti- cion: and beholde / I haue geuen the a wyse and an vnderstandynge hert / so that there was none lyke the before / nether after the. Shall anye aryse lyke vnto the. And therto I haue geuen the & thou askedst not / bothe ryches & ho- noure: so that there shalbe no kyng lyke the all thy dayes. And yf thou wilt walke in my wayes / to kepe myne ordinaunces & com- mandement / as Dauid thy father dyd walke / I wyll lengthen thy dayes also. When Sa- lomons awoke / this was his dreame. And he came to Ierusalem & presented him selfe be- fore the Arche of the testament of the Lord / & offered burnt offeringes & peaceofferinges / and made a feast to all his seruantes.

Then came there two women / were har- lottes vnto the kyng & stode before him. And the one of the sayde: Oh my Lord / I & this wo- man dwell in one house. And I was deliue- red of a chyldre to her in the sayde house. And the thirde daye after I was deliuered / she was deliuered also: we two beyng to gea- ther & no straüger to vs in the house saue we two alone. And this wyues chyldre dyed in a nyght / for she had ouerlayde it. And then she arose at mydnyght & toke my sonne from my syde / whyle thyne handmayde slept & layde it in her bosome / and put her deed chyldre in my bosome. And when I rose by in the mornynge to geue my chyldre sucke: se / it was deed. But when I had looked moare diligently vpon it in the mornynge: beholde / it was not my sonne which I dyd beare. And the other womā sayde: it is not so: But the lyuyng is my sonne / and the deed thyne. And she sayde agayne: thou sayest vnto me / for the deed is thy sonne / & the lyuyng myne. And thus they pleated before the kyng. Then sayde the kyng: the one sayeth / this that is a lyue is my sonne / and the deed is thyne. And the other sayth naye: But thy sonne is the deed and the lyue chyldre is myne. Then sayde the kyng: bring me a swerde. And they brought a swerde before the kyng. And then the kyng sayde: Deuyde the lyuyng chyldre in two / and geue the one halfe to the one / and the other to the other.

Then spake the woman whose the lyuyng welles are bnt / chyldre was vnto the kyng (for her a howelles deest and the yerned vpon her sonne) and sayde: I beseeche the my Lord / geue her the lyuyng chyldre / and in no wyse slep it. And the other sayde: it is. And she shalbe

And Salomō raygned ouer all kyngdomes from the ryuer thozou out all the lande of the Phylistines vnto the borders of Egypt / and they brought presentes & serued Salomon all dayes of his lyfe.

And Salomōs fode was in one daye thirtie quarters of manchet flour & thre skore quarters of mele: ten staled oxen / & twentie out of the pastures & an hundred shepe and gootes / besydes / herttes / buckes & buballes & fatt pultrye. For he ruled in all the regions on the other syde Euphrates / fro Chapphlah to Gaza / & also ouer all þ kynges on þ other syde the sayde Euphrates. And he had peace with all his seruantes on euery syde. And Juda and Israel dwelt without feare / euery man vnder his byne & vnder his fygg tre fro Dan to Bersabe / all þ dayes of Salomon.

And Salomō had fourtie thousand stalles of horsys for charettes / & twelue thousand horsmen. And as for barrye and straw for the horsys & beastes / they brought vnto þ places where þ officers were / euery mā in his office.

And God gaue Salomō wisdom & vnderstandyng excedyng moche & a large hert / euē as þ sande a long by the see banche: so þ Salomons wysdome exceded the wysdome of all the of the East contreye & all the wysdome of the Egyptians. And he excelled all men in wysdome / both than the Egrahite / & Hemā / Chalcol and Wozda þ sonnes of Mahol. And his name spred abroad among all nacys on euery syde. And Salomon wrote thre thousand prouerbes. And his songys were a thousand & fyue. And he disputed of trees / euē fro the Cedar tre þ groweth in Libanon vnto the Ilope þ spryngeth out of the walle. Kyng Hiram sendeth Cedar tymber to the byldyng of the temple. The description of the workes.

The.ii. Chapter.

And Hiram kyng of Tyre sent hys seruantes vnto Salomon / for he had hearde that they had anoynted him kyng in the towne of his father. And therto Hiram was euer a louer of Dauid. And Salomō sent agayne to Hiram sayyng: thou knowest of Dauid my father / how he coude not bylde an house vnto þ name of the Lord his God for warre which he had on euery syde / vntyll the Lord had put the vnder his fote. But now the Lord my God hath geue me rest on euery syde / so þ ther is nether aduersarye nor any euell plage. And therfore I am disposed to bylde an house vnto vnto the name of the Lord my God / as he promesed Dauid my father sayyng: thy sonne which I wyll put vpon thy seate for the / he shall bylde an house vnto my name. Now then comaunde þ they hewe me Cedar trees in Libanon. And let my seruantes be with thine / & wyll geue þ hire of thy seruants in all soche thyngs as thou shalt appoynte / for thou knowest þ there are not amōg vs þ can chyll to hewe tymber lyke vnto þ Sidones.

When Hiram hearde the wordes of Salomon / he reioysed greatly & sayde: Blessed be the Lord this daye which hath set Dauid a wyse sonne ouer this myghtie people. And Hiram sent agayne to Salomon sayyng: I haue accept the request which thou sentest to me for / & wyll satysfy all thy lust / concerning tymber of Cedar trees & fyre. My seruantes shall byyng the fro Libanon to the see. And I wyll conueye the by shippe vnto þ place that thou shalt sende me worde / & wyll cause them to be discharged there / that thou mayst receaue the. And thou shalt do me this pleasure agayne / to mynstre fode for myne house. And so Hiram gaue Salomon Cedar trees & fyre trees / as moche as he desired. And Salomō gaue Hiram twentie thousand quarters of wheate to fede his houtholde / & all / & twetye buttys of pure oyle. And so moche gaue Salomon to Hiram yere by yere.

And the Lord gaue Salomon wisdom as he promesed hym. And there was peace betwene Hiram and Salomon & they were confedered to geather. And kyng Salomon areyled a tpybute thozou out all Israel. And þ tpybute was thirtie thousand men / which he sent to Libanon / ten thousand a moneth by courtse / so that they were one moneth in Libanon and two monethes at home.

And Adoniram was ouer the tpybute. And Salomon had thre thore & ten thousand þ bare burdens / & thre thore and ten thousand that hewed in the mountaynes besydes the Lord he had / to ouer se þ worcke / in nombze thre thousand & thre hundred / which ruled þ people that wrought in þ worcke. The.ii. Chapter.

And it came to passe the foure hundred and foure thore yere after the chylde of Israel were come out of the lande of Egypt / & þ fourth yere of the raygne of Salomon vpon Israel / and the seconde moneth called Zif þ he begane to bylde the temple vnto the Lord. And the house which Salomon bylt for the Lord / was thre thore cubytes longe and twentye broade & thirtie cubytes hie. And the porche that was before þ bodge of the temple / was twentie cubytes longe after the measure of the bredeth of the house / and ten broade / euē at the berve ende of the house. And he made vnto the house windowes to open and shutt.

And vnder þ walles of the house he made galaryes rounde about / bothe rounde aboute the temple and also the quere. And so made fydes rounde aboute. And the nethermost galery was .v. cubytes broade & the myddle galery .vi. And the thrid .viij. cubytes broade. For he made the walles without wheron the beames laye / euer thynner and thynner / so that they were not fastened in the walles of the house. And the house was bylt of stone made perfecte all readye per it was brought thither / so that there was nether hammer or axe ether any tole of yron hearde in þ house / whyle it was in byldyng.

And the doze of the myddle galary was in the ende of the house on the ryghte syde. And men went by with wyndyng steares into þ myddle galary / and out of the myddle into þ thirde. And so he bylt the house and fynished it / and roufite it with beames of Cedar tymber made holow and ioyned to geather. And then he bylt chambzes ouer all the temple of fyue cubytes height / and coupled the house to geather with beames of Cedar.

And the woode of the Lord came to Salomon sayyng: concernyng the house which thou art in byldyng / yf thou wyll walche in myne ordinaunces and execute my lawes & kepe all my comaundementes / to walche in them: then wyll I make good vnto the / my promes / which I promesed Dauid thy father. And I wyll dwelle amonge the chylde of Israel. And so therfore Salomon bylt þ house and fynished it and syled the walles of the house within / with rybbes of Cedar tre: euē from the pauemēt vnto the rouffe dyd he syle it within / and boarded the flooze of the house with planckes of fyre.

And he syled twentie cubytes in the ende of the temple bothe flooze & walles with Cedar / and dyssed it within to be the quere and place most holye. And þ fyrt house / that is to saye / the bodge of þ temple / was fourtye cubytes longe. And the Cedar of the house within was herued with knoppes & grauen in floures / & all was Cedar tymber / so that no stone was sene. And the stalcke of the lauatozpe was in the middle of the botome one cubit hie / and a cubyte & an half rounde / & it had knoppes there on in the bare places which were foure square not rounde. And vnder the fydes were foure wheles and their axeltrees soyned fast to the botome. And the height of euery whele was a cubyte and an halfe. And the worckman-ship of the wheles was lyke the worke of a charret whele. And the axeltrees / & nauelles / spokes and haltes were all moulten. And the foure vnderletters in the foure corners were of the berpe botomes.

And vnder the stalcke of the lauatozpe in the myddes of the botome was there a rounde fote of halfe a cubyt hie. And thereon playne places and ledges of the selfe. And he graued in the playne & also on the ledges / Cherubes / lynes & paulmetrees / euery where rounde about. And on this maner he made ten botoms cast worke: all of one measure & one syle. Then he made ten lauers of bzaile containinge fourtye Baches a pece / and they were of foure cubytz a pece / for euery one of the botomes a lauer. And he put fyue of those botomes on the ryght corner of the temple / and other fyue on the left corner: And put the see on the ryght corner of the temple Eastwarde & towarde the South.

And Hiram made pottes / shouelles & basons / and so synished all the worke that he made kyng Salomon for the house of the Lorde: that is to saye / two pylers & two halpes of the heed / & were on the toppes of the two pylers / & foure hundred pomegranetes vpon two wythes / two rowes on ether wythe / to couer the two halpes of the heedes that were on the toppes of the two pylers: And the ten botomes of bzaile with ten lauers vpon the: & a see with twelue oren vnder it: a pottes / shouelles & basens. And all these vesselles which Hiram made to kyng Salomon for the house of the Lorde were of byrght bzaile. And in the playne of Iordā vpon the kyng cast the: euē in the claye of the erth betwene Socob and Zarthan. And Salomon left all the vesselles vntowayed / for the excedyng abundance of bzaile that was in them.

And Salomon made all the vesselles that pertayned vnto the house of the Lorde: the aultare of goulde / and the table of goulde wher on the shew bred was put: And fyue candelsticks / for the ryght fyde / and as many for the left / before the quere / of pure goulde: & flowres / lampes / and snuffers of goulde: and Bolles / Psalteries / basons / spones and fyre pannes of pure goulde: and hynge of gould bothe for the dozes of the quere / the place most holpe / and for the dozes of the temple also.

And so was ended all the worke the kyng Salomon made for the house of the Lorde. Then Salomon brought in the thynges which David hys father had dedicated in syluer / goulde and other vesselles / & put the to the treasure of the house of the Lorde.

The Arche is borne in to the temple. A Clouds fylleth the temple. The Temple is blessed.

The. viij. Chapter.

Then Salomon gathered the elders of Israel / all the heedes of the trybes and auncient Lordes of the chyldzen of Israel / vnto him to Jerusalem / to byngge vpon the Arche of the appoyntment of the Lorde oute of the cytie of David which is Sion. And all the men of Israel assembled vnto kyng Salomon to the feast the fallet in the moneth * Ethanim which is the seuenth moneth. of pomegranetes to couer the with all. And the heed peeces that were on the toppes of the pylers were wrought in lykes in the porche the space of foure cubites of them. And the pomegranetes aboute & beneath on the wythen chaynes that compased the myddle of the heed peeces were in nombze two hundred on ether heed pece. And he sett vpon the pylers in the porche of the temple / and when he had set vpon the ryght pyller / he called the name therof Tachin / & when he had set vpon the left pyller he called the name therof Boaz. And the toppes of the pylers were thus wrought in lykes / & so was their worckmanship synished.

Then he cast a see of bzaile / ten cubytes wyde fro byrm to byrm and rounde in compase / & fyue cubites hie. And a stryng of. xxx. cubytes myght compase it about / and vnder the byrm of it as it were apples compased and embzased the see of ten cubytes wyde in two rowes cast with it whē it wast cast. And it stode on twelue oren: of which thre looked North / thre West / thre South & thre East / & the see on hie vpon them / and all their hynderpartes were inward. And it was an hand breadeth thyrke / and the byrm wrought lyke the byrm of a cup with flowres of lykes. And it containyd two thousand Baches.

And he made ten botomes of bzaile / foure cubytes long & foure cubytes brode a pece / & thre hie. And the worckes of the botomes were flat bozdes betwene the ledges. And on the flatt bozdes betwene the ledges were lynes / oren & Cherubes. And vpon the ledges that were aboute & beneath the lynes & oren / was soyned pendant worke. And euery botom had foure bzaile wheles / whose axeltrees were also of bzaile. And in the foure corners were vnderletters vnder the lauatozpe cast eche ouer agaynst his fellow.

And the stalcke of the lauatozpe was in the middle of the botome one cubit hie / and a cubyte & an half rounde / & it had knoppes there on in the bare places which were foure square not rounde. And the foure vnderletters in the foure corners were of the berpe botomes.

And vnder the stalcke of the lauatozpe in the myddes of the botome was there a rounde fote of halfe a cubyt hie. And thereon playne places and ledges of the selfe. And he graued in the playne & also on the ledges / Cherubes / lynes & paulmetrees / euery where rounde

Arche of δ Lord / & brought it & also δ tabernacle of witness & all δ holpe bestell δ were therein. And δ prestes & the Levites brought them by. And kyng Salomon and all the congregacion of Israel that were assembled / and were with him before the Arche / dyd offer shepe and oxen that coude not be tolde noz nombred for multitude.

And so the prestes brought the Arche of δ apoyntment of the Lord unto his place: eue into the quere of the temple and place most holy / under the wynges of the Cherubes. For the Cherubes stretched out their wynges ouer the Arche / and couered bothe it & also the stauess therof & hye byd it. How be it the stauess were so longe that the endes of them appered out of δ holy place before δ quere / but were not sene without. And there they be unto this daye. And there was δ nothyng in the Arche save the two tables of stone which Moyses put there at Horeb / when the Lord made an apoyntment with the chyldren of Israel after they were come out of Egypt.

And when the prestes were come out of the Holy place / then a cloude fylled the house of the Lord / that the prestes coude not endure to mynister because of the cloude: for δ glorie of the Lord had fylled the house of δ Lord. Then spake Salomon: the Lord sayde / δ he wolde dwelle in darcknesse. I haue bylt δ an house to dwelle in / & an habitacio for δ to abide in for euer. And the kyng turned his face & blessed all the congregacion of Israel / all the congregacion standyng. And he sayde.

Blessed be δ Lord God of Israel / which hath fulfilled with his δ hand / that he spake in his mouthe unto Dauid my father sayig: fro the daye I brought my people Israel out of Egypt / I chose no cytye amonge any of the trybes of Israel / to bylde an house / that my name myghte be there: But I haue chosen Dauid to be ruler ouer my people Israel.

And it was in the hert of Dauid my father / to bylde an house for the name of the Lord God of Israel. But the Lord God sayde unto Dauid my father: in δ it was in thyne hert to bylde an house for my name / thou dydest well / that thou wast so mynded. Neuertheless thou shalt not bylde the house / but thy sonne that shall come out of thy loynes / he shall bylde an house for my name. And the Lord hath made good his worde δ he spake. For I stode by in δ rowme of Dauid my father / & sate on the seate of Israel / as the Lord promysed / & haue bylt an house for the name of the Lord God of Israel. And I haue prepared therein a place for the Arche wherein δ couenaunt of the Lord is / which he made w our fathers / after he had brought the out of the land of Egypt. And Salomon stode before δ aultare of the Lord in δ sight of all the congregacion of Israel & stretched out his handes to heuē & sayde: Lord God of Israel / there is no God like δ in heuē aboue or in the erthe benethe / δ hepest apoyntment & mercye w thy seruantes δ walcke before the w all their hertes: which also hast kepte w thy seruantes Dauid my father / δ thou promysedst him. Thou spakest w thy mouthe & hast fulfilled w thyne hand / as it is come to passe this daye. And now Lord God of Israel / hepe w thy seruant Dauid my father / δ thou promysedst him saying: thou shalt not be with out one or other before me / lyttinge on the seate of Israel: How be it yf thy chyldren shall take hede to their wayes that they walcke before me / as thou hast walched before me. Now then δ Lord God of Israel / let thy worde be stable whych thou spakest unto thy seruant Dauid my father.

But in deade can God dwelle on δ erthe? Beholde nether heuē / noz heuē aboue all heuens are able to contayne the: how moche lesse then this house that I haue bylt? But loke to the prayer of thy seruant & his supplicacion δ Lord my God / to geue an eare vnto the voyce & prayer which thy seruant prayeth before the this daye / that thyne eyes maye be open vnto this house night & daye / & vpon the place / of which thou hast sayde / my name shall be there: that thou herken vnto the prayer which thy seruant shall praye in this place. And herke vnto δ supplicacion of thy seruant and of thy people Israel which they shall praye in this place: And heare thou vnto heuē thy dwelling place / & when thou hearest haue mercye. And yf any mā trespace agaynst his neybour / & his neybour take an aduersion to aduise him w all / & δ aduersion come before thine aultare at this house then herke thou by to heuē / & worke & iudge thy seruants / δ thou cōdempe the wycked to byt his waye vnto his heed / & iustitie & righteous to geue him accordyng to his rightwellesse. And the people of Israel be put to δ worde before their enemyes / because they haue sinned agaynst δ / & afterwarde turne agayne to δ & praye thy name / & praye & make supplicacyō vnto δ in this δ house: then heare thou by to heuē & be mercifull vnto δ synne of thy people Israel / & bytng the agayne vnto the lande which thou gauest vnto their fathers.

If heauen be shut by / that there be no rayne / because they haue synned agaynst δ : yet yf they praye in this place and praye thy name and turne from their synnes / thozow thy shouryng of them: then heare thou by to heuē / and be mercifull vnto the synne of thy seruantes & of thy people Israel / & thou shewe them a good waye to walke in / & geue rayne vpon thy lande that thou hast geuen vnto thy people to enheret.

If there chaunce darth in the land / pestilence / blastyng / or wytheryng of corne / or δ frutes be deuoured of grasshoppers or Caterpillers / or yf their enemyes belege the in the lād & in their atowne cyties / or whatsoever plage or synchelle chaunce: then heare thou by to heuē thy dwelling place / all δ prayers and supplicacions δ shall be made of all men thozow out all thy people Israel / which shall knowlege euery man the plage of his atowne hert / & stretche forth his hand vnto this house / & be mercifull / and worke / and giue euery mā accordyng to his wayes / eue as thou oney knowest euery mannes hert / for thou knowest the hertes of all the chyldre of Adā δ they maye feare the as longe as they lyue vnto δ erth which thou gauest vnto their fathers. And lyke wyle yf a straunger δ is not of thy people Israel come out of a farre contrey for thy names sake / for they shall heare of thy great name & of thy myghtie hand and stretched out arme / and therfore yf he come & praye at this place / heare thou by to heuē thy dwelling place and do accordyng to all that the straunger calleth to the for: that all nacyns of the erth maye knowe thy name / to feare the as do thy people Israel / and that it maye be knownen that this house which I haue bylt is called after thy name.

And when they go out to battell agaynst their enemyes whether soeuer thou shalt send them / & shall praye vnto the Lord towarde the cytie which thou hast chosen and toward the house that I haue bylt for thy name: heare thou their prayers and supplicacions / by to heuē / and iudge their cause.

And finally when they shall haue synned agaynst the / for there is no man that synneth not / & thou art angrye with them and hast deuiered the to their enemyes / that they be carryed awaye pylsoners vnto the land of their enemyes / whether ferre or neare / yet yf they turne agayne vnto their hertes in the lande where they be in captiuite / and returne and praye vnto the in the lande of the that holde the captiue / sayinge: we haue synned & haue done wyckedlye & haue trespaced / & so turne agayne vnto the with all their hertes and all their soules in δ lād of their enemyes which holde them captiue / and praye vnto the / towarde the land which thou gauest vnto their fathers / & towarde the cytie which thou hast chosen / and house which I haue bylt for thy name: then here thou their prayer & supplicacion by to heuē thy dwelling place / & iudge their causes / and be mercifull vnto thy people that haue synned agaynst the / and vnto all their trespace δ they haue trespaced agaynst the / and get the sauoure in the syght of them δ holde the captiue that they maye haue compassyon on them. For they be thy people and thyne enheritaunce which thou broughtest out of Egypt / fro δ fornaice of Egypt. And lett thyne eyes be open vnto the prayer of thy seruant & vnto the prayer of thy people Israel / to herke vnto them / in all that they calle vnto the for. For thou dydest seperat the / to be thyne enheritaunce / aboue all the nacyns of the erth / as thou saydest by the hande of Moyses thy seruant / whē thou broughtest oure fathers oute of Egypte δ Lord Jehouah.

And when Salomon had made an ende of praying all this prayer & supplicacion vnto the Lord / he arose from before δ aultare of the Lord & from knelyng on his knees and stretchyng of his handes by to heuē & stode & blessed all the congregacion of Israel with a loude voyce saying: Blessed be the Lord δ hath geuen reste vnto hys people Israel accordyng to all that he promysed: so δ there is not one worde escaped of all the good promyses which he promysed by the had of Moyses his seruant. And the Lord oure God be with vs / as he was with oure fathers / & for sake vs not nether leue vs / but that he bowe oure hertes vnto hym / to walcke in all hys wayes / & to kepe his cōmaundemētes / ordinaunces and customes which he cōmaunded oure fathers. And these my wordes which I haue prayed before the Lord / benye vnto δ Lord oure God daye and nyght / that he defende the cause of hys seruant and of hys people Israel euermore / that all nacyns of the erth maye knowe that the Lord he is God and none but he. And I praye God that poure hertes maye be sounde with the Lord oure God / to walke in his ordynaunces and to kepe his lawes as we do this daye.

And the kyng and all Israel with him / offered offerynges before the Lord. And the peaceofferynges δ Salomon offered vnto δ Lord / were xxxiij. thousand oxen & an hundred & twenty thousand shepe: And so the kyng & all the chyldren of Israel dedicated the house of the Lord. And the same daye δ kyng halowed the myddle of the courte δ is before δ house of the Lord: for there he offered burnt-offerynges & meateofferynges & the fat of δ peaceofferynges / because δ brazen aultare that was before the Lord / was to lytle to receaue the burnt-offerynges & meateofferynges and the fatt of the peaceofferynges.

And Salomon helde that same tyme an hye feast & all Israel with him / a myghtie congregacion / euen from the costes of Hemath vnto the ryuer of Egypte / before the Lord oure God / seuen dayes & yet seuen dayes / δ is

The ix. Chapter.

And when Salomon had fynished the byldyng of the house of þ. Lorde and of the kynges palace / & of all that his desyre & lust was to make: the Lorde appered vnto him agayne / as he appered to hym at Gabaon. And the Lorde sayd vnto hym: I haue hearde thy prayer and intercession þ. thourmadest before me / & haue halowed this house which thou hast bylt / to put my name there for euer & myne eyes and myne hert shall be there perpetuallye. And yf thou wilt walke before me / as Dauid thy father walched / in purenesse of hert & plaignesse / to doo all þ. I haue comaunded the / and shalt kepe myne ordynaunces & customes: then I will stablish þ. seate of thy kyngdom vpon Israel for euer / as I promised to Dauid thy father sayyng: *Thou shalt not be without one or other vpon the seate of Israel.

But & yf ye and poure chyldre shall turne awaye from after me / & shall not kepe myne ordynaunces which I haue set before you / but shall go & serue other Goddes & bowe poure selues vnto the: then I will weede Israel out of the lade which I haue geuen them. And this house which I haue halowed for my name / I will put out of my syght. And Israel shall be a prouerbe & a fable vnto all nacions. And hys house which is colyse / *all þ. passe by it shall be astonied & shall hye & saye: why hath the Lorde dealt on his manner in this lande & with this house? And it shall be answered the / because they forsoke the Lorde their God which brought their fathers out of the lād of Egypt / & haue take holde vpon other Goddes & haue stouped vnto hym & serued them: therefore hath the Lorde brought vpon the all this euell. *Then at the ende of twentye yeres in which Salomon had bylt the two houses / þ. is to wete / the house of the Lorde & the kyngs palace: because Hiram the kyng of Tyre had suppoorted hym w. Cedar / fyre & goulde / as moche as he desyred: therefore Salomon gaue Hiram. xx. cyties in the lande of Galilee. And when Hiram was come fro Tyre to se þ. cyties which Salomon had geue him / they pleased him not wherfore he sayde: what cyties are these which thou hast geue me / my brother? & he called them the land of Cabull vnto this daye. This Hiram had sent þ. kyng. vi. shoures hundred wayght of goulde. And this is þ. summe of þ. tribute / which kyng Salomon rayled / to bylde the house of the Lorde and his awne house / and Melo & the walles of Jerusalem / and Hezer / and Hagedo / and Gazer.

For Pharaos kyng of Egypt went by and toke Gazer & burnt it with fyre / and slue the Cananites þ. dwelt in the cytie / & gaue it for a present vnto his daughter that was Salomons wyfe. And Salomon bylt Gazer and Beth Horon the nether: and Baalath & Chamar in the wyldernesse þ. is in the lande: & all the floore cyties þ. Salomon had / & cyties for his charettes / & cyties for his horsemen & all þ. his lust was to bylde in Jerusalem and Libanon and in all the land of his kyngdom.

And all the people that were left of the Amorites / Hethites / Pherezites / Heuites & Jebusites / which were not of the chyldren of Israel / the chyldre of the sayde nacions that were left in the lande / because the chyldren of Israel were not able to destroye them / dyd Salomon make tributaries vnto this daye. And of the chyldren of Israel dyd Salomon make no bondemen. But they were men of warre & his seruantes and his lordes and Captaynes & rulers of his charettes & of hys horsemen. And these manye lordes & ouerlawe the worke had Salomon / fyue hundred and fyfthe / which ruled the people that brought in the worke.

And Pharaos daughter came by oute of þ. cytie of Dauid vnto the house which Salomon had bylt for her. And after that he bylt Melo. And thre yeres dyd Salomon offer burnt offerynges and peace offerynges vpon the altare which he had bylt vnto the Lorde / to burne the fette thereon: which altare is before the Lorde.

And when kyng Salomon had made the house perfecte / he made shippes in Azion Gaber which is besydeloth / on the byrynke of the red see / in the lande of Edom. And Hiram sent by shippe also of hys seruantes / that were shipmen and expert in the see / wyth þ. seruantes of Salomon. And they went to Ophir & fet from thence goulde / to þ. summe of. iiii. hundred and. xxiiij. talentes / & brought it to Salomon.

The Quene of Saba cometh from the uttermost partes of the land to heare and se the wysdom of Salomon. The perlye reuenues and rentes of Salomon. His thron / bellies of goulde / charettes / horsemen / and abundance of syluer.

The x. Chapter.

And the quene of Saba heard of the wysdom of Salomon concerning the name of the Lorde / and came to proue him with ryddelles. And she came to Jerusalem in a nightie great multitude of Camelles that bare swete odoures & goulde goulde exceeding moche / & precious stones. And when she was come to Salomon / she comuned with hym of all þ. was in her hert. And Salomon expounded her all her questios / that there was not one thyng hydd from the kyng whych he expounded her not.

And when the quene of Saba had sene all Salomons wisdom & the house that he had bylt / & the meate of his table / & the settinge of his seruantes / & the standinge of his seruantes / & the apperell / & his buttelers / and his sacryfice that he offered in the house of þ. Lorde / she was astonied. Then she sayd to the kyng: I wolde I hadde in myne awne lande of thy dedes and wisdom / is true. How be it I beleued it not / tyll I came & saw it with myne eyes. And se / the one halfe was not tolde me: for thy wisdom and goodnesse exceedeth the fame which I hearde. Happy are thy men: and happye are these thy seruantes / whych stande euer before the and heare thy wisdom. And blessed be the Lorde thy God whych had a lust to the / to sett the on the seate of Israel / because the Lorde loued Israel for euer / and therefore made the kyng / to do equite and ryghtwisnesse.

And she gaue the kyng an hundred and. xx. talentes of goulde / and of swete odoures exceeding moche / & precious stones. There came neuer after soche aboundance of swete odoures as þ. Quene of Saba gaue to kyng Salomon. And therto the shippes of Hiram that brought goulde from Ophir / brought from Ophir great plentye of *Almuge tre & precious stones. And kyng Salomon made of the Almuge trees pillars in the house of þ. Lorde & in the kynges palace / & made harpes & psalteries for syngers. There came no moare Almuge tre so / nor was anye moare sene vnto this daye. And kyng Salomon gaue vnto þ. Quene of Saba all her desyre that she asked of hym: besydes þ. he gaue her w. hys awne hand. And so she returned vnto her awne countrey wyth her seruantes.

The weyght of goulde that came to Salomon in one yere / was. vi. hundred thre shoures and. vi. talentes of goulde / besydes that he had of chapmen and of merchautes of Potycaryes / & of all the kyngs of Arabia & of þ. Lordes of þ. countrey. And kyng Salomon made two hundred boukelers of beate goulde / vi. hundred sick of goulde wett to a boukeler. And he made thre hundred shylles of beate goulde / thre pound of goulde goyng to a pece / & put them in the house of the wood of Libanon.

And þ. kyng made a great seate of Iuorpe and couered it with precious golde. And the seate had fyre steppes. And þ. toppe of þ. seate was rounde behinde his backe wyth pomelles on ether syde on the place where he satte / and two Lyons standinge betwixt þ. pomelles. And there stode. xiiij. Lyons on the steppes / vi. on a syde. Ther was none lyke sene in any kyngdome. And all kynges Salomons dynyng bellies were of goulde / & all the bellies of the house of the wood of Libanon were of pure goulde. And as for syluer it was no thyng worthe in the dayes of Salomon. For the see shippes whych the kyng had in the see / wyth the shippes of Hiram / came euery thre yere laden wyth goulde / syluer / Iuorpe / apes and peccokes. *And so kyng Salomon exceeded all the kynges of þ. erthe in richesse & wisdom. And all þ. world resorted to Salomon / to heare his wisdom / which God had put in his hert. And brought him euery man his present / bellies of syluer and of goulde / and of rayment / harnesse / swete odoures / horses and Mules / yere by yere. And Salomon gathered together charettes and horsemen: so that he had a thousand and. iiii. hundred charettes / and. xiiij. thousand horsemen / whych he bestowed in the charett cyties and wyth the kyng at Jerusalem.

*And the kyng made syluer in Jerusalem as plenteous as stones / and Cedar as plenteous as the mulberry trees that grow in the baleys. And Salomons horses came out of Egypte from Beua: the marchautes sett the from Beua at a pryce. A charet came out of Egypte for. vi. hundred sicles of syluer / & an horse for an hundred and fiftie. And euen so by the handes of the sayde marchautes / horses were brought out for all the kynges of þ. Hethites and for the kynges of Siria.

Salomon hath seue hundred Quenes and the hundred Concubynes / which bring him to Idolatrye. His aduersaries rebell agaynst hym. He dyeth / & Jeroboam bys sonne raygneth in hys steade.

The xi. Chapter.

At kyng Salomon loued many outlandish women: the daughter of Pharaos & of þ. Moabites / Ammonites / Edomites / Sidonites & Hethites / eue of nacions of which þ. Lorde sayde vnto þ. chyldre of Israel / se ye come not at the nor let them come to you: for surely they will turne poure hertes after their Goddes. Nevertheless to soche Salomon claued & fell in loue w. the. *And he had seue hundred *bery Quenes & thre hundred concubynes / which turned awaye his hert. For wher Salomon was olde / his wyues turned his herte after other Goddes: so þ. hys hert was not perfecte w. the Lorde his God / as was þ. hert of Dauid his father.

And Salomon folowed Ashtaroth the God of the Sidons / & Milcom the abhominacion of the Ammonites. And Salomon wrought wickednesse in the syght of the Lorde & continued not after the Lorde as did Dauid his father. After þ. Salomon bylt an alter for Chemosh the ab-the abhominacion of the Moabites in þe hill that standeth before Jerusalem: & vnto Mo- loch the abhominacion of the chylde of Am- mon. And yf he wylde dyd he for all his outlan- dythe wyues which burnt censle and offered vnto their Gods. Then was the Lorde angrye with Salomon because hys hert turned fro the Lorde God of Israel which appered vnto him twise / & gaue him a charge of this thyng that he shulde not folowe other Gods. But he kept not that whiche the Lorde com- maunded him: wherupon the Lorde sayde to Salomon: for as moche as this is done of þe / and thou hast not kepte myne appoyntment and myne ordynaunces which I haue coma- unded the: therfore I will rent the kyngdome from the / & will geue it to thy seruauit. Not withstanding in thy dayes I wyl not do it / because of Dauid thy father: but wyl take it from thy sonne. Now be it I wyl not take awaye all: But wyl geue one trybe to thy sonne / because of Dauid my seruauit & be- cause of Jerusalem whiche I haue chosen.

ij. Reg. viij. d.

And þe Lorde stered by an aduersarye vnto Salomon / one Hadad an Edomite & of the kynges bygnage of Edom. For whē Dauid was in Edom / & Joab þe capytayne of the hoste was gone by to burie the þe were slayne: & had slay- ne all þe mē chylde in Edom. For bi. monethes dyd Joab remayne there & all Israel / tyl he had destroyed all þe men chylde in Edom. And this Hadad fled & certē other Edomites of his fathers seruantes with him / to go to Egypt Hadad beyng yet a lytle lad. And they arose out of Hadad and went to Pharan / & toke men with them out of Pharan and came to Egypte vnto Pharaos kyng therof / whych gaue him an house / and apoynted him bita- les and gaue him landes.

And Hadad gat great fauoure in þe syght of Pharaos / so that he gaue hym to wyfe the syster of his awne wyfe / the syster of Chaba- phnes the Quene. And þe syster of Chaba- phnes bare hym Semubath hys sonne. And Chabaphnes wened him in Pharaos house. And he was in Pharaos house amonge the sonnes of Pharaos. And when Hadad heard saye in Egypte þe Dauid was layde to slepe with his fathers / and that Joab the capytayne of the hoste was deed also / he sayde to Pharaos let me departe / þe I maye go to myne awne countreye. Then sayd Pharaos vnto him: what lackest thou heare with me / þe thou woldest go to thyne awne countreye? And he sayde / nothing: how be it let me go. And God stered by an other aduersarye / one Razon the sonne of Eliada / whych fled from Hadadezer kyng of Zobah his master. Whych Razon geathe- red men vnto him & he came capytayne ouer the companye / when Dauid sue them. And they went to Damasco and dwelt therin / & raygned in Damasco. And he was an aduer- sarye to Israel all the dayes of Salomon / to the euell þe Hadad dyd / whych aboyred Israel and raygned in Siria.

And Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat an Ephraimite of Zaredah (whose mother was called Teruah & was a wydowe & he Salomons seruauit) * lifte by his hand agaynst the kyng. And herof cam it / that he lifte by his hand agaynst the kyng. Salomon bylt Melo & mended broken places in the cite of Dauid hys father. And this felowe Jeroboam was an active man. And whē Salomon saw the younge man / that he wought so lustelye in the worke / he made hym ruler ouer all the charges of the house of Ioseph. And it cha- ced at þe ceason / as Jeroboam was gone out of Jerusalem / that the prophet Abiah þe Si- lonite mett him by the waye / hauyng a newe mantell on him / & they two alone in þe felde. And Abiah caught the newe mantell that was on him & a rent it in twelue peces / & sayde to Jeroboam: take the ten peces. For this sayth the Lorde God of Israel: behold / I wyl rent the kyngdome out of the handes of Salomon and wyl geue ten trybes to the / and he shall haue one / for my seruante Dauid sake & for Jerusalem the cite whiche I haue chosen out of all the trybes of Israel: because they haue forsaken me / and haue bowed them sel- ues vnto Astaroth the God of the Sidons / & to Camos the God of the Moabites / and to Milcom the God of the chylde of Ammon / & haue not walked in my wayes / to do that please me / and myne ordynaunces and cu- stomes / as dyd Dauid hys father.

Now be it I wyl take none of the kyng- dome out of his hād: but wyl make him che- asse all his lyfe longe / for Dauid my seruante sake / whiche I chose: because he kept my comaundementes & ordynaunces. But I will take the kyngdome out of his sonnes hand & will geue vnto the ten trybes of it: and wyl geue his sonne one / that Dauid my seruauit maye haue a lyght allwaye before me in Je- rusalem / the cite whych I haue chosen me / to put my name there. And I will take the / & thou shalt raygne vpon all that thy soule de- syreth / & shalt be kyng ouer Israel. And yf thou shalt herken vnto all that I comaunde the / & shalt walke in my wayes and do that is right in my syght / that thou kepe myne or- dynaunces & comaundementes as Dauid my seruauit dyd: then wyl I be with the and byld the an house that shall contynue / as I bylt for my seruauit Dauid / & will geue Israel vnto the. And therewith wyl I bere the seede of Dauid / but not for euer.

And Salomon sought to kyll Jeroboam wherfore wherfore Jeroboam arose & fled in to Egypte vnto Setai kyng of Egypte and continued there vntill the deeth of Salomon. And the rest of the Actes of Salomon and all that he dyd / & his wysdome are wyrtten in the booke of the Actes of Salomon. And the tyme that Salomon raygned in Jerusalem vpon all Is- rael / was fourtie yere. And then he layd hym to rest with his fathers / and was buried in þe cite of Dauid hys father / and Rehoboam his sonne raygned in hys steade.

¶ The kyngdome is deuyded: and Rehoboam rayg- neth ouer. ij. trybes / and Jeroboam ouer. x. Aduram is stoned. Jeroboam maketh goulde calues.

¶ The. xij. Chapter.

¶ And Rehoboam wet to Sichem: for all Israel were come to Sichem to make him kyng. And when Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat heard of it beyng yet in Egypte: for he fled to Egypte for feare of Salomon / & dwelt in Egypte. And they sent & called him: and so Jeroboam & all the congregaciō of Israel came & spake vnto Rehoboam sayng: thy father made oure pouche greuouse / but now make thou the greuouse seruyce of thy father and hys soze pouche whych he put vpon vs / lyghter / & so we will serue the. And he sayde vnto the: de- part yet for the space of thre dayes / & then co- me agayne to me. And the people departed.

And kyng Rehoboam toke counsell with the olde men that stode before Salomon his father / while he yet lyued / & sayde: what coun- cell geue ye to answer this people with all? And they sayd vnto hym: If thou shalt be a seruauit vnto this people this daye and serue them & answer the & speke kynde wordes to the: they will be thy seruantes for euer. But he lette the counsell þe the olde men had gaue him / & consiled with the younge men þe were nourished by with him & had wayted on him.

And he sayde vnto them: what counsell geue ye / to answer this people w all whych haue comūed with me sayng: make the pouche whych thy father dyd put vpon vs / lyghter? And the younge men that were brought by with hym / answered him sayng this people that haue sayde vnto the: thy fa- ther made oure pouche heuie / make thou it leys lyghter: thus answered them. My lytle cynger shalbe wayghtier then my fathers loynes. And now where my father put a greuouse pouche vpon you / I wyl make it heuier. For where my father corrected you with scourges / I wyl chastise you w scour- ges. And when Jeroboam: and all þe people were come to Rehoboam the thyrde daye / as the kyng apoynted them / sayng / come to me agayne this daye thre dayes: the kyng answered the people churlyshly and lette the adulter that olde men gaue him: and spake to f them after the counsell of the younge men sayng. My father made poure pouche gre- uouse / but I wyl make it greuouler. For where my father chastised you w whippes / I will chastise you with scourges. And so the kyng herkened not vnto the people: for the turning awaye was of þe Lorde / to perforce his sayng / whych the Lorde sayde by Abiah þe Silonite vnto Jeroboam & sonne of Nabat.

And when all Israel saw that the kyng regarded them not / the people answered the kyng & gayne sayng: we haue no parte in Dauid / nor inheritaunce in þe sonne of Daf. ¶ To poure scies therfore Israel / & now se to thine awne house Dauid. And so Israel de- parted vnto their tentes. Now be it ouer the chylde of Israel whiche dwelt in the cite of Juda / dyd Rehoboam raygne tyll. Then kyng Rehoboam sent Aduram the receauer of the tribute. And all Israel stoned him to deeth w stones. But kyng Rehoboam made spede & gatt him by to his charet & fled to Jerusalem. And so Israel departed fro the house of Da- uid vnto this daye. And whē all Israel heard that Jeroboam was come agayne / they sent and called hym vnto the congregacyon and made hym kyng ouer Israel: so there folo- wed the house of Dauid / but the trybe of Juda only. ¶ And when Rehoboam was co- me to Jerusalem / he geathered all the house of Juda and the trybe of Beniamin an hun- dred and foure skore thousandes of chosen men and good warryoures / to fygth agaynst the house of Israel / and to byngne the kyng- gedome agayne to Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon.

Then came the worde of the Lorde vnto Semetah the man of God sayng: speake vnto Rehoboam & sonne of Salomon kyng of Juda / and vnto all the house of Juda and Beniamin / and the remnant of the people & saye. Thus saythe the Lorde: go not nor yet fygth agaynst poure brethren the chylde of Israel / but retorne euery man to hys house / for this doinge is of þe Lorde. And they obeyed the worde of the Lorde and returned and de- parted accordyng to the worde of the Lorde. Then Jeroboam bylt Sichem in mount Ephraim / and dwelt therin. And went from thence and bylt Phaniel.

And Jeroboam thought in hys hert: now might the kyngdome retorne to the house of Dauid agayne. For yf thys people shall go by a do sacrifice in the house of the Lorde at Jerusalem / then shal their hertes turne agayne vnto their Lorde Rehoboam kyng of Juda. And so shall they kyll me and go agayne to Rehoboam kyng of Juda. ¶ Wherupon þe kyng toke counsell and made two calues of golde and sayde and sayde vnto the people: ye shall not neede to go any moare to Ierusalem. Beholde poure Gods Israel whych brought you out of the lande of Egypt. And he put the one in Bethel and the other in Dan. And that doyng was a cause of synne. And the people went before the one as farre as Dan. And he made houses of hillaultares / & made of the lowest of the people preastes which were not of the sonnes of Leui. And Jeroboam made a feast the xv. daye of the viij. moneth / lyke vnto the feast that was in Iuda / and offered on the aultare. And so did he in Bethel / to offer vnto the calves that he had made. And he put in Bethel preastes of the hillaultares / whych he had made. And he offered vpon the alter whych he had made in Bethel / the xv. daye of the viij. moneth / which he had imagened of hys awne hert: and made a solemne feast vnto the chyldre of Israel / and went by to the aultare to burne sacryfice.

Jeroboam sacrificyng vnto calves is reprehended of the prophete. His hand dyeth vpon while he putteth it oute agaynst the prophete. The prophete is killed and buryed.

The xliij. Chapter.

And beholde / there came a man of God out of Iuda with the woorde of God / to Bethel / as Jeroboam stode by the aultare to offer / & cryed agaynst the aultare at the comaundement of the Lorde and sayde: aultare / aultare / thus saythe the Lorde. Beholde a chyld shall be borne of the house of David / Josiah by name / which vpon the shall offer the preastes of the hillaultares that sacrificy vpon the / & shall burne mennes bones vpon the. And he gaue them the same tyme a sygne sayinge: this is the sygne of that the Lorde hath promysed. Behold the aultare shall rent and the ashes that are in it shall falle out.

And when the kyng hearde the saying of the man of God whych he cryed agaynst the aultare in Bethel / he stretched out his hande from the aultare sayinge: hold him. And hys hand whych he put forth toward him / dyed by / & he coude not pull it in agayne to hym. & the aultare claued and the ashes rane out of the aultare accordyng to the token whych the man of God had geuen at the comaundement of the Lorde. And the kyng answered & sayde vnto the man of God: Oh praye vnto the Lorde thy God & make intercession for me / that my hand maye be restored me agayne. And the man of God besought the Lorde / & his hande came to him agayne as well as before.

Then sayde the kyng vnto the man of God: come home with me and refreche thy selfe / & I will geue thee a rewarte. But the man of God answered & sayde: I will not do so. me halfe thynne house / I would not go with the nether wood I ate meate or dryncke water in this place. For so was it charged me / thou the woerde of God & sayd to me: eate no bred nor dryncke water nor turne agayne by the same waye thou wentest. And so he went a nother waye and returned not by the waye he came to Bethel. And there dwelt an olde prophete in Bethel / whose sonnes came and tolde him all the woordes that the man of God had done that daye in Bethel / and the woordes which he spake vnto the kyng they tolde their father also. And their father sayde to them: what waye went he? for hys sonnes had sene what waye the man of God went whiche came from Iuda. Then sayde he to his sonnes: saddle mine Asse. And they saddled him an Asse. And he gatt him by the waye and went after the man of God / and founde him sittynge vnder an Oke & sayde vnto hym: art thou the man of God that camst fro Iuda? And he sayde: yee.

Then he sayde to him: come home with me and eate breade. And the other sayde agayne: I maye not retorne with the / to go with the / nether maye I eate breade or dryncke water with the in this place. For it was sayde to me by the comaundement of the Lorde: eate no bred nor dryncke water in this place / nor turne agayne by the waye thou wentest. And the olde prophete sayde vnto him: I am a prophete as well as thou / & an Angel spake vnto me with the woerde of the Lorde sayinge: bringe him agayne with the to thyne house / and lett him eate bred and dryncke water / & yet lyed vnto him. And so the other went agayne with him & ate bred in his house & dryncke water.

And as they late at the table / the woerde of the Lorde came vnto the prophete & brought him agayne. And he cryed vnto the man of God that came fro Iuda / sayinge: thus sayth the Lorde: because thou hast disobeyed the mouth of the Lorde / & hast not kept the comaundement which the Lorde thy God comaunded the / but camest backe agayne & hast eate bred and dryncke water in the place in whiche he bade the thou shouldest eate no bred nor dryncke water: therfore thy carthasse shall not come vnto the sepulchre of thy fathers.

And when he had eaten bred & dryncke / he saddled an Asse for the prophete whiche he had brought agayne. And as he iourneyed a litle mett him by the waye and sue him / a his carthasse laye a longe in the waye & the Asse stode therby / & the Lyon stode by the coorte also. And men that passed by / saw the carthasse cast a longe in the waye and the Lyon standynge therby / and went and tolde it in the towne where the olde prophete dwelt. And when the prophete brought him backe agayne fro the waye / hearde therof / he sayde: it is the man of God.

of God whiche disobeyed the mouth of the Lorde. And therfore the Lorde hath deliuered hym vnto the Lyon whiche hath rent him & layne hym / accordyng to the woerde of the Lorde / whiche he sayde to hym. And he sayde to hys sonnes: saddle me an Asse: & so they did. And he wet & founde the bode cast alonge in the waye and the Asse and the Lyon standynge therby. And the Lyon had not eaten the carthasse nor hurt the Asse. And he toke by the bode of the man of God & put it vpon the Asse & brought it agayne / & came to the cytye of the old prophete to lament hym / and to burye him. And he layde his bode in hys awne graue / & lamented ouer him. Oh my brother. And when he had buryed hym / he spake to hys sonnes sayinge: when I am deed / se that ye burye me in the sepulchre wherin the man of God is buryed / and laye my bones by his. For I sayng whiche he cryed at the byddynge of the Lorde agaynst the aultare in Bethel / and agaynst all the houses of hillaultares which are in the cities of Samarie / shall come to passe.

Now be it for all that / Jeroboam turned not fro hys wicked waye: but turned awaye & made of the lowest of the people preastes of the hillaultares. Whosoever wolde / he killed their hand / & they became preastes of the hillaultare. And this doyng was synne vnto the house of Jeroboam / eue to destroye it and to put it awaye from the face of the erthe.

Jeroboams wyfe asketh counsell of Ahiah the prophete which prophesied vnto her the death of her chyld & the destruccio of all the Reaulme. Jeroboam dyeth. Sejak kyng of Egypt robbeth the house of the Lorde. Rehoboam dyeth and Abiam succedeth him.

The xliij. Chapter.

At that tyme Ahiah the sonne of Jeroboam fell sicke. And Jeroboam sayde vnto his wyfe: by a felowship & change thynne apparell & thou be not knowen to be the wyfe of Jeroboam / and get the to Siloh. For ther is Ahiah the prophete whych tolde me that I shoulde be kyng ouer this people. And take with the ten lounes and cracknelles and a cruse of honye / and go to him: for he will tell the what shall come of the lad. And Jeroboams wyfe did so: she arose and went to Siloh and came to the house of Ahiah. But Ahiah coude not see / for his eyes were waxen dymme for age.

And the Lorde sayde vnto Ahiah: beholde / the wyfe of Jeroboam cometh / to questyon with the about her sonne whych is Iche. This wyfe and thys wyfe answered her. And when she came / she feyned her selfe to be a nother woman. But when Ahiah hearde the sounde of her fete as she came to the doze / he sayde: come in thou wyfe of Jeroboam / why feynest thou thy selfe to be a nother? I am sent to the a cruel messenger.

Go and tell Jeroboam / thus saythe the Lorde God of Israel: for as moche as I exalted the from amonge the comen people and made the prince ouer my people Israel / and dyd set the kyngdome awaye from the house of David and gaue it the: and thou hast not bene as was my seruaunt David / whych kept my commaundementes and folowed me with all hys herte / to do that onlye whych semeth ryght in myne eyes: but hast done euell aboute all that were before the / and hast gone and made the other Gods and images of metall / to prouoke me / and hast cast me behynde thy backe: therfore beholde I will byynge euell vpon the house of Jeroboam / and will styke from Jeroboam all that pisseth agaynst the wall / and what soeuer is in prison or forsaken in Israel / and will take awaye the remnaunt of the house of Jeroboam / as men take awaye a dong hyll / till it be consumed. And whosoever of Jeroboams house dye in the towne / hym shall the dogges eate / and hym that dyeth in the felde / shall the fowles of the ayre eate: for the Lorde hath sayde it / by and gett the to thyne house / and as lone as thy fore entere the cytye / the lad shall dye. Now be it all Israel shall mourne hym and burye hym / for thys onlye of all Jeroboam shall come to the sepulchre / because in hym there is founde goodnesse toward the Lorde God of Israel in the house of Jeroboam.

Whosoever the Lorde shall stee hym by a kyng ouer Israel whych shall destroye the house of Jeroboam in that daye. And what is that that is now in hande? And the Lorde shall smyte Israel / as a reede that groweth in the water is shaken / and will wode Israel out of this good lande whiche he gaue to their fathers / and will shatter the beyonde Euphrates / because they haue made them groves to angre the Lorde. And he will geue Israel by / because of the synne of Jeroboam wherwith he dyd synne and made Israel synne therto.

And Jeroboams wyfe arose and departed and went to Cherzah / and be that she was come to the trefholde of the doze / the lad was deed. And all Israel buryed hym and lamented hym / accordyng to the woerde of the Lorde whych he spake by the hand of his seruaunt Ahiah the prophete. And the rest of the dayes of Jeroboam / how he warred and how he raygned / are wyrtte in the booke of the stories whych Jeroboam raygned / were. xliij. yere. And then he rested with his fathers / and Ba-dab hys sonne raygned in hys steade.

And Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon raygned in Juda and was .xli. yere olde whē he beganne to raygne / and raygned .xlii. yere in Jerusalem the cite whych the Lorde had chosen out of all the trybes of Israel / to put his name there. His mothers name was Naamah an Ammonite. * And Juda wꝛought wickednesse in the syght of the Lorde and angered hym aboue all þe their fathers dyd / with their synne whych they synned. For they also made the hill aulters & images & groues on euery hye hyll & vnder euery grene tre. And therto there was a stues of male childꝛe in þe lande / & they dyd accordynge to all þe abhominacions of þe nacions whych þe Lorde cast out befoꝛe þe childꝛe of Israel. And the fyfte yere of kyng Rehoboam came Sefach kyng of Egypte vnto Jerusalem / & toke awaye the treasure of the house of the Lorde / and the treasure of the kynges house and all that was to be had. And he toke awaye þe childꝛe of goulde * whych Salomon made. In whose steade kyng Rehoboam made brazen childꝛe & put them in þe keepinge of the captaynes of the garde whych wayted at the doꝛe of the kynges house. And as ofte as the kyng went into the house of the Lorde / they of his garde bare the / & euery brought them agayne into the garde chāber.

The rest of the Actes of kyng Rehoboam and all he dyd / are wꝛyten in the boke of the Actes of the kynges of Juda. And there was warre betwene Rehoboam & Jeroboam all their lyues. And Rehoboam layde him to rest with his fathers / and was buried wꝛth his fathers in þe cite of Dauid. And his mothers name was Naamah an Ammonite. And Abiam his sonne raygned in his Rome.

Wicked Abiam raygneth ouer Juda / and rightwes Asa succedeth in his rowme. The battell betwene Asa and Baasa. Jehosaphat succedeth Asa. Nadab succedeth Jeroboam. Baasa killeth Nadab.

The .xv. Chapter.

In the .xlii. yere of kyng Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat / raygned kyng Abiam ouer Juda / & ruled thye yere in Jerusalem. His mothers name was Naamah þe daughter of Abesalom. And he walked in all þe synnes of his father whych he dyd befoꝛe hym / and his hert was not whole with the Lord his God / as the hert of Dauid his father. Neuerthelesse for Dauids sake dyd þe Lorde his God geue him a lyght in Jerusalem / that he sett vpon his sonne after hym / to continewe Jerusalem. Because that Dauid dyd that whych pleased þe Lorde & turned from nothyng that he commaunded him all the dayes of his lyfe / * save only in the matter of Baasas the Bethite. And there was warre betwene Rehoboam & Jeroboam as longe as he lyued. And the rest of þe deades of Abiam & all that he dyd / are wꝛyten in the boke of the deades that were done in the dayes of þe kynges of Juda. And ther was warre betwene Abiam and Jeroboam. And Abiam rested wꝛth his fathers / & they buried hym in þe cite of Dauid. And Asa his sonne raygned in his steade.

The .xx. yere of Jeroboam kyng of Israel beganne Asa to raygne ouer Juda / and ruled in Jerusalem .xli. yere. And his mothers name was Maacah the daughter of Abesalom. And Asa dyd that seemed right in the eyes of þe Lorde / like Dauid his father. And he made the stues of males departe the lande / and put awaye all the ydoles þe fathers had made. And therto he put downe Maacah hys mother fro berynge rule / because she had made an ydole in a groue. And Asa destroyed her ydole and burnt it by the broke Cedron. But he put not downe the hillaulters. Neuerthelesse Asas herte was whole with þe Lorde all his dayes. And he brought in that his father had dedicat / and the thynges dedicat vnto the house of the Lord / syluer / golde / & Jewelles. And there was warre betwene Asa & Baasa kyng of Israel all their dayes.

And Baasa kyng of Israel wēt vpon agaynst Juda & built Ramah / because that he wolde let none of Asas people kyng of Juda / go in or out. Then Asa toke all þe syluer & goulde that was left in the treasure of the house of the Lorde / and all the treasure of the kynges house and deliuered it vnto his seruantes / and sent them to Benhadad the sonne of Tazemmon the sonne of Hezion kyng of Siria that dwelt at Damasco / sayinge : there is a bonde betwene the and me as was betwene thy father and myne. Therfoꝛe I sende the bothe golde and syluer for a gyfte / that thou go and bꝛeake the appoyntment betwene þe and Baasa kyng of Israel / that he maye departe fro me. And Benhadad herkened vnto kyng Asa and sent þe capitaynes of þe hostes whych he had agaynst the cytyes of Israel / & smote Abion / Dan / Abel called Beth Maacah and all Ceneroth wꝛth all the lande of Nephtali. And when Baasa heard that / he lefte buyldinge of Ramah & dwelt in Thersah. Then kyng Asa made a proclamacyon thowout all Juda / that none shuld be excused. And they toke the stones of Ramah & the tymber wherwꝛth Baasa had buylt / and kyng Asa bylt therwꝛth Gabaah in Benjamin and Masphah.

And the remnant of all the deades of Asa and of all his might and of all that he dyd / and the cities whiche he bylt / are wꝛyten in the chronicles of the actes done in the dayes of þe kynges of Juda. Neuerthelesse in his olde age he was diseased in his fete. And Asa layde him to rest wꝛth his fathers / & was buried with with his fathers in the cite of Dauid his father. And Jehosaphat hys sonne raygned in his rowme. And Nadab the sonne of Jeroboam beganne to raygne vpon Israel the seconde yere of Asa kyng of Juda / and raygned vpon Israel two yere. And he dyd euell in the syght of the Lorde and walked in the waye of hys father & in his synne wherwꝛth he made Israel synne. But Baasa the sonne of Ahiah of the house of Isaac conspired agaynst him / & slue him at Gebethon a cite of þe Philistines for Nadab & all Israel laye at seage befoꝛe Gebethon. And it was the thirde yere of Asa kyng of Juda / when Baasa slue him / and raygned in his steade. And as sone as he was kyng / he slue all the house of Jeroboam and leste him naught that byethed / but yll he had put him cleane out / agreyng vnto the saying of the Lorde whych he spake by his seruant Ahiah þe Silonite / for the sinne of Jeroboam wherwꝛth he synned and made Israel synne / and for hys angeryng wherwꝛth he angered the Lorde God of Israel.

The rest of the deades of Nadab / and all he dyd / are wꝛyten in þe chronicles of the kynges of Israel. And there was warre betwene Asa and Baasa kyng of Israel all their dayes.

In the thirde yere of Asa kyng of Juda / Baasa the sonne of Ahiah beganne to raygne ouer all Israel in Thersah / and continued .xxiii. yere. And he dyd that whych displeased the Lorde / for he walked in the waye of Jeroboam and in hys synne wherwꝛth he made Israel synne.

Jehu prophete agaynst Baasa / of whom he is sayne. Elah succedeth Baasa. Amri killeth his master Elah / and destroyeth the house of Baasa. He is rekte and Amri chosen. Amri burneth hym selfe and hys house. Wyched Ahab succedeth Amri / and taketh to wyfe wyched Jezabel.

The .xvi. Chapter.

When came the woꝛde of þe Lorde to Jehu the sonne of Hanani agaynst Baasa sayinge : for as moche as I exalted the out of the dust & made þe capitayne ouer my people Israel / and thou hast walked in the waye of Jeroboam & hast made my people Israel synne / to angre me wꝛth their synne : therfoꝛe I will make cleane riddance of Baasa & of all his house / and will make his house like the house of Jeroboam & sonne of Nabat. * And he þe dyeth of Baasa in the cite / him shall dogges eat : and him þe dieth in the felde / shall the fowles of the ayre eat.

The rest of the deades of Baasa / & what he dyd / and his power / are wꝛyten in the boke of the histories of the kynges of Israel. And Baasa fell on slepe wꝛth his fathers & was buried in Thersah. And Elah his sonne raygned in hys steade. And therto thowout the Prophete Jehu the sonne of Hanani / the woꝛde of the Lorde came agaynst Baasa and agaynst hys house / because of all the wychednesse that he dyd in the syght of the Lorde / in angeryng hym wꝛth the woꝛkes of his handes / that he shuld be lyke þe house of Jeroboam / because he had kyled Nabat.

The .xxvi. yere of Asa kyng of Juda beganne Elah þe sonne of Baasa to raygne ouer Israel in Thersah / and continued two yere. And hys seruant Samri capitayne of halfe hys charettes / conspired agaynst hym / as he was in Thersah dꝛynkyng of stronge dꝛynke / in the house of Arza stuard of hys house in Thersah. And Samri came and smote hym and kyled hym the .xxvi. yere of Asa kyng of Juda / and raygned in his steade. And as sone as he was kyng and * satt on hys seate / he slue all the house of Baasa and leste not a piffer agaynst a wall.

And therto he slue all hys kynne and frendes / and so Samri destroyed all the house of Baasa / accordynge to the woꝛde of the Lorde whych he spake to Baasa thowout Jehu the Prophet / for all the synnes of Baasa and synnes of Elah hys sonne / wherwꝛth they synned & made Israel synne / to angre þe Lorde of Israel wꝛth their vanities. The rest of the deades of Elah & all he dyd / are wꝛyten in the chronicles of the kynges of Israel.

The .xxvii. yere of Asa kyng of Juda / Samri raygned .viii. dayes in Thersah / the people besegging Gebethon a cite of the Philistines. And when the people that laye in the seage / heard saye how Samri had conspired / and how he had slayne the kyng also : then all Israel made Amri the captayne of the men of warre kyng that same daye ouer Israel euen in the hoſte. And Amri departed from Gebethon and all Israel wꝛth hym / and besegged Thersah. And when Samri saw that the cite must nedes be take / he went into the palayse of the kynges house / and set the kynges house a fyꝛe vpon hym selfe and there dyed / for hys synnes whych he synned in doynge wychednesse in the syght of the Lorde / and for walkynge in the waye of Jeroboam and in hys synnes whych he dyd and made Israel synne.

The rest of the Actes of Samri and the treason that he wꝛought / are wꝛyten in the boke of the chronicles of the kynges of Israel. Moreover that same reason was Israel deuyded in twayne / for halfe the people folowed Chebni the sonne of Gineith / to make hym kyng. And the other halfe folowed Amri. But the people that folowed Chebni the sonne of Gineith / and so Chebni dyed and Amri raygned.

The .xxviii.

The. xxii. yere of Aha kyng of Iuda, beganne Amri to raygne ouer Israel. xii. yere & he ruled. vi. yere in Cherzab. And he bought the hill of Samaria of one Semar for two hundred talentes of syluer / & bylt in the hill / and called the name of the cite whych he had built Samaria after the name of Semar & Lorde of Ihill. And this Amri wrought wickednesse in the eyes of the Lorde worthe then all that were before him / and walked in all the wayes of Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat / and in his synne wherwith he made Israel sinne / to angre the Lorde God of Israel with their banyties. The rest of the actes of Amri which he did / and his power that he bled / are wyttē in the chronicles of the kynges of Israel. And Amri layde him to rest with his fathers / and was buried in Samaria / and Ahab his sonne raygned in his steade.

The. xxxiii. yere of Aha kyng of Iuda / beganne Ahab the sonne of Amri to raygne ouer Israel / and raygned in Samaria. xxiij. yere. And he displeased the Lorde aboute all the wayes before him. For it semed him a lyght thyng to walke in the synne of Jeroboam. But toke Jezabel the daughter of Ethbaal kyng of the Sidonites to wyfe / and wēt & serued Baal and bowed vnto him. And he reared an altare to Baal in the house of Baal whych he had made in Samaria. And Ahab made a groue / and proceded further in angeryng the Lorde God of Israel / then all the kynges of Israel that were before hym.

iiij. Reg. x. d.

In his dayes Hiel of Bethel bylt Jericho. And it cost him Amra his eldest sonne whē he layde the foundacyon / and his youngest sonne when he lett by the gates / agreying vnto the woorde of the Lorde whych he spake by Josua the sonne of Nun.

Eliah is nouryshed and fedde of rauens / and after is send to the woman of Sarephtha / whose childe he rayseth to lyfe.

The. xliij. Chapter.

And Eliah the Thersbite which was of the inhabitants of Galaad / saide vnto Ahab: *as truly as the Lorde God of Israel lyueth / before whome I stode / there shalbe nether dewe nor rayne these yeres / saue as I appoynt it.

iiij. Reg. xliij. c. Jacob. v. d.

And the woorde of God came to him saying: gett the hence and turne the eastwarde / & hyde thy selfe in the brooke Karith that lyeth before Jordan: & dryncke of the ryuer for I haue comaunded the rauens to fede the there. And he went and dyd accordyng vnto the woorde of the Lorde: he went & dwelt by the brooke Karith that lyeth before Jordan. And the rauens brought hym bred and flesch euery morning and euery euening / and he drank of the brooke. And it chaunced after a while that he brooked / dyed by / because ther fell no rayne vpon the erth. Then came the woerde of the Lorde vnto him saying: *by and gett the to Sarephtha a cite of Sidon / & dwell there. Beholde I haue comaunded a wydowe there to sustayne the. And he arose & went to Sarephtha. And whē he came to the gate of the cite / there was a wedow there geathering stiches. And he called to her & sayde: *set me a pottage. And she sayde: I praye the / a lytle water in a dyshe that I maye dryncke. And as she went to fette it / he cryed to her and sayde: brynge me a pottage the / a morsell of bredd in thine hande. And she answered: as surely as the Lorde thy God lyueth / I haue no bredd / but euen an handfull of Mele in a picher / and a lytle Oyle in a cruse. And se / I haue geathered a few stiches for to go and bake it for me and my sonne / & we maye eate it and then die.

And Eliah sayde vnto her: feare not / but go and do as thou hast sayde: but make me therof a lytle cake fyrst of all / and brynge it out to me: and afterwarde make for the and thy sonne. For thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel: the picher of Mele shall not be wasted nether shall thy oyle cruse be wyth out oyle / vntyll the Lorde haue sent rayne vpon the erthe. And she wēt and dyd as Eliah bad. And she and he & her house dyd eate a good space / & the picher of mele wasted not nether was the oyle cruse without oyle accordyng to the woorde of the Lorde whych he spake thowto Eliah.

And after these thynges / it happened that the sonne of the wyfe of the house fell sicke. And his sicknesse was so sore / that there was no breath left in him. Then saide she vnto Eliah what haue I to do with the / O thou man of God: art thou come vnto me / that my synne shulde be thought on & my sonne slayne? And Eliah sayde vnto her: geue me thy sonne. And he toke him out of her lappe and carped hym by into a losse wher he laye / & layde hym vpon his awne bed / and called vnto the Lorde and sayde: O Lorde my God / hast thou bene so euell vnto the wedowe with whome I sojourn / that thou hast slayne her sonne? And he stretched hym selfe vnto the lad thre tymes / and called vnto the Lorde and sayde: O Lorde my God / let the laddes soule come into hym agayne. And the Lorde heard the voyce of Eliah / and the soule of the lad came into hym agayne and he reuyned. And Eliah toke the boye and brought hym downe out of the chambze into the house and deliuered hym vnto his mother and sayde: se / thy sonne lyueth. Then the wyfe sayde to Eliah: now I know that thou art Gods man / and that the woorde of the Lorde in thy mouth / is truthe.

The

Abdiah
Jezabel

Eliah is send to Ahab. Abdiah hyeth an hundred prophetes and sauech them. Baal can not heare although the people crye very loude. Eliah killeth all Baals prophetes: and after obtayneth rayne.

The. xliij. Chapter.

And at the last y woorde of the Lorde came to Eliah the thyrde yere saying: go shew thy selfe vnto Ahab / that I may sende rayne vnto the. And Eliah wēt to shew hym selfe vnto Ahab / for ther was a great famythemēt in Samaria. Wherfore Ahab called Abdiah the gouernor of his house: whych Abdiah feared God greatly: in so moche that when Jezabel destroyed the prophetes of the Lorde / he toke an hundred of the prophetes & hid the / litle in one caue & fytte in a nother / & prouyded bred & water for the. And Ahab sayde vnto Abdiah: walke thowto the lande / vnto all fountaynes of water and vnto all brookes / to se whether any grasse maye be founde / & we maye saue the horses and the Mules / that we destroye not the bestes. And they deuyded the lande betwene them to walke thowto it. Ahab wēt one waye by hym selfe / and Abdiah went a nother by hym selfe.

And it chaunced as Abdiah wēt in the waye that Eliah mett him. And Abdiah knew hym & fell on his face and sayde: art not thou my Lorde Eliah. And he sayd vnto him: I am he. Go and tell Ahab that Eliah is here. And the other answered: what haue I synned / & thou woldest deliuer me into the hand of Ahab / to sleyme? As surely as the Lorde thy God lyueth there is no nacyō of kyngdome / whether my Lorde hath not sent / to seke the. And when they sayde thou wast not there / he tooke an othe of the kyngdome & nacyō / because he founde the not. And now thow sayest: goo tell thy Lorde / Eliah is here. And as sone as I am gone fro the / & I spy te of the Lorde shall carpe the awaye whether I shal not knowe: & then when I haue gone & tolde Ahab / & then he ca not fynde the / he shal sleyme. And yet I the seruant haue feared the Lorde fro my yowthe age. Was it not tolde my Lorde / what I dyd / when Jezabel slue the prophetes of the Lorde how I hydde an hundred of the Lordes prophetes / fytte in one caue & as many in another / & prouyded them of bredd & water: And yet now thou sayest: goo shew thy Lorde / & Eliah is here / that he shulde sleyme.

Then Eliah sayde: as truly as the Lorde of Hostes lyueth / before whome I stode: I will shew my selfe vnto hym this daye. And ther vpon Abdiah wēt to Ahab & tolde hym. And Ahab went agaynst Eliah. And when Ahab sawe Eliah / he sayd vnto him: art thou he that troubleth Israel? And he sayde: it is not I that troubleth Israel / but thou & thy fathers howse / in that ye haue forsaken the comaundementes of the Lorde / & hast folowed Baal. But now sende and geather to me all Israel vnto mount Carmel & the prophetes of Baal foure hundred and fiftie / & the prophetes of the groues foure hundred / whiche eate of Jezabels table. And Ahab sent for all the chyliden of Israel / and geathered the prophetes vnto mount Carmel.

And Eliah came vnto all the people and sayde: why haite ye betwene two oppnyngs? If the Lorde be very God / folowe hym: or if Baal be he then folowe hym. And the people answered hym not one woerde. Then sayde Eliah vnto the people: I only remayne of the Lordes prophetes / & Baals prophetes are foure hundred and fytte. Let two oxen be geuen vs / and let them chose the one & cut hym in peces and laye hym on wood / and put no fyre vnder / And I will dresse the other & put hym on wood / & I will put no fyre vnder. And call ye on the name of youre God / & I will call on the name of the Lorde. And then the God that answereth by fyre / he is the very God.

And all the people sayde: it is well spokē. Then sayd Eliah vnto the prophetes of Baal / chose you an oxen and dresse hym fyrst (for ye are many) and call on the name of youre God / but put no fyre vnder. And they toke the oxen that was geue them & drested it / & called on the name of Baal from morning to none saying: O Baal heare vs. But there was no boyce nor answer. And they lepte aboute & auter & they had made. And at none Eliah mocked them and sayde: call lowde (for he is a God: but he is talkyng or occupied / or in the waye / or happely he slepeth) that he may awake. And they cryed lowde / and cut them selues / as their maner was / with knyues & launcers / tyll the bloude folowed on them. And whē myddaye was passed / they prophesied vntyll it was tyme to offer. But there was nether boyce ner answer ner any that regarded them.

Then Eliah sayde to all the folke: come to me. And all the people came to hym. And he mended the auter of the Lorde that was broken. And he toke xiiij. stones accordyng to the nombre of the cryes of the sonnes of Jacob / vnto whom the woorde of the Lorde came saying: *Israel shalbe thy name. And with the stones he made an altare in the name of the Lorde. And he made a gutter rounde about the auter / able to receaue two peckes of come. And he put the wood in order / and hewed the oxen in peces / and put hym on the wood / & sayde: fyll foure pichers with water and powze it on the sacryfyce and on the wood. And he sayde: do so agayne. And they dyd so agayne. Then he sayde: do it the thyrde tyme.

tyme. And they did so þ̄ thirde tyme. And the water ranne rounde about the aulter / & the gutter was full of water also.

And whē offeryng tyme was come / Elijah the prophete went to & sayde: Lorde God of Abraham / Isaac & of Israel / let it be knowē this daye / that thou art the God in Israel / & I am thy seruaut / & I do all these thyngs at thy commaundement. Heare me O Lorde / heare me / that this people maye knowe / that thou Lorde art þ̄ God / & that thou hast turned their hertes backward. And there fell fire fro the Lorde & consumed the sacrifice & the wood & the stones & the dust / & licked up the water that was in the gutter. And whē all þ̄ people saw þ̄ / they fell on their faces & sayde þ̄ Lorde he is God / þ̄ Lorde he is God. Then sayde Elijah vnto the / laye handes on þ̄ prophete of Baal / let not one of the escape. And when they had taken the / Elijah brought the downe vnto þ̄ brooke Bason / & flue the there.

Then Elijah sayde vnto Ahab / gett the by and eate and dryncke / for ther is a sounde of moche rayne. And when Ahab wēt by to eate and to dryncke / Elijah went by to the toppe of mount Carmel. * And bowed him selfe to þ̄ erthe / and put his face betwene his knees / & sayde to his seruaut: go by & looke towarde the see. And he went by and looked / and sayde: here is nothing. And he sayde go agayne. vii tymes. And the seventh tyme he sayde: beholde / there ariseth a lytle cloude out of the see / lyke the palme of a mannes hande. Then he sayde: go and saye to Ahab / put the hories in the charet / and gett the downe that the rayne stoppe þ̄ not. And within a lytle while / heuē was blacke with cloudes and winde / & there was a great rayne. And Ahab rode & went to Jezrahel. And the hand of the Lorde was on Elijah / & he gyrded by his loynes & rāne before Ahab / tyll they came to Jezrahel.

Elijah being from Jezabel is nourished of the Angell of God. he complayneth that he is left a lone / and that they seke his life too. he is commaunded to annoynte Ahabel / Jehu and Eliseus.

The xix. Chapter.

And Ahab tolde Jezebel / all þ̄ Elijah had done / and all to gether how he had slayne the prophetes with the swerde. Then Jezebel sent a messenger vnto Elijah sayinge: * so do God to me & so therto / except I make thy soule like one of theirs / by to morow this tyme: whē he saw þ̄ / he arose & wēt for his life / & came to Bersabe in Iuda / & left his iad there. And he wēt a dayes journey into the wyldernesse / & whē he was come satt downe vnder a cinaper tree / & desired for his soule / þ̄ he might die / & sayde: * it is now ynough O Lorde / take my soule / for I am not better then my fathers.

And as he laye and slepte vnder the cinaper tree: beholde / there came an Angell & touched hym / & sayde vnto him: by and eate. And he looked aboute hym: and se / there was a losse of brylled breade and a cruse of water at his heed. And he ate and drāke and layde hym downe agayne to slepe. And the Angell of the Lorde came agayne the seconde tyme and touched hym / & sayde: by & eate / for thou hast a longe journeye to go. And he arose & dūd eate & dryncke and went in the strenght of that meate fourtye dayes & fourtye nyghtes / vnto Horeb the mount of God / & entred there into a caue & lodged there all nyght.

And then þ̄ woorde of þ̄ Lorde came to him & sayde what doest thou here / Elijah: And he answered: I haue bene * thow angre for þ̄ Lorde God of Hostes sake. For the chyldren of Israel haue forsake thy couenant / & haue broke downe thine alters / & slayne thy prophetes with the swerde / & I only am left / & they seke my soule to haue it too. And he sayd come out & stande before the Lorde. And he holde / the Lorde went by & a mightie strōge wynde that rent the mountaynes & brake þ̄ rockes before him. But þ̄ Lorde was not in the wynde. And after the wynde came an erthquake. But the Lorde was not in the erthquake. And after the erthquake / came fire: but the Lorde was not in the fyre. And after the fyre / came a small still boyce. And when Elijah hearde it / he couered his face with his mantle / & went out & stode in the mouth of þ̄ caue. And se / there came a boyce vnto hym & sayde: what doest thou here Elijah: And he answered: I was gelouse for the Lorde God of Hostes sake: because þ̄ chyldre of Israel haue forsaken thyne appoyntment and haue cast downe thyne alters / & slayne thy prophetes with þ̄ swerde / & I only am left / & they seke my soule to haue it. Then þ̄ Lorde sayde vnto him: go and turne thy waye to the wyldernesse of Damasco / & go and annoynte Hazael to be kyng of Siria. And Jehu the sonne of Namsi / annoynte to be kyng ouer Israel. And Eliseus the sonne of Saphat of Abel Mehulā annoynte to be prophete in thy rowme. And who so escapeth þ̄ swerde of Hazael / him shall Jehu slaye: & yf any mā scape the swerde of Jehu / hym shall Eliseus slaye. And therto I haue left me seuē thousande in Israel / of which neuer man bowed his knees to Baal nor killed him with his mouth.

And he departed thence and founde Eliseus the sonne of Saphat plowynge wyth twelue poche of oren before him / & he w the twelue. And Elijah wēt to him & cast his mātell upon hym. And he leste the oren & ranne after Elijah & sayde: let me I praye the / my father & mother / & then I will folow the.

And

And he sayde to hym: go backe agayne / for what haue I done to the? And he went backe agayne from after hym / and toke a poche of oren and flue them / and dressed the flethe wyth the instrumentes of the oren and gaue it the people / and they dyde eate. And then he arose and went after Elijah & mynistred vnto him. The first and seconde tyme that Samaria was besieged of Benhadad kyng of Siria.

The xx. Chapter.

And Benhadad kyng of Siria gathered all his hoste to gether / and xxxi. kynges with him / with horse and charet: and went by & besieged Samaria & warred agaynst it. And he sent messengers to Ahab kyng of Israel into the cytpe / and sayde vnto hym: thus sayth Benhadad. Thy syluer and thy goulde is myne / & the best of thy wyues / and the best of thy chyldren be myne. And þ̄ kyng of Israel answered and sayde: my Lorde kyng accorbyng to thy sayyng / I am thynne with all I haue.

And the messengers came agayne to Ahab and sayde: thus sayth Benhadad. I haue therefore sent vnto the / sayyng: deliuer me then thy syluer and thy goulde / and thy wyues / & thy chyldren. Or else I will sende my seruantes vnto the by to morow this tyme: & they shall serche thynne house / & the houses of thy seruantes / which shall take all that is glorious in thynne eyes / and bynge it awaye with them. Then the kyng of Israel sent for the elders of the lande and sayde: take hede I praye you & se / how thys selow goeth about my cheue. For he sent vnto me / for my wyues and my chyldren / and my syluer and my goulde: and I denyed hym nothyng of it. And all the elders of Israel & all the people sayde: herken not to him nor consent.

Wherupon he sayde vnto the messengers of Benhadad: tell my Lorde the kyng / all that he sent for the first tyme / that I will do: but this request I maye not do. And the messengers departed and brought hym woorde: Then Benhadad sent vnto hym and sayde: thus do the Gods to me and so therto / yf the dust of Samaria be ynoughe for all þ̄ people that folow me / that euery man maye haue an handfull. And the kyng of Israel answered and sayde: tell hym / let not hym that putteth on his harnesse bothe hym selfe / as he þ̄ putteth it of *. And when Benhadad hearde that tydynge / as he and the kynges were drynkyng in the pauillyons / he sayde vnto his seruantes: put ye in araye. And they put them selues in araye agaynst the cytpe.

And beholde there came a prophete vnto Ahab kyng of Israel / and sayde to him: thus sayth the Lorde. Serpēt thou all this great multitude: beholde / I will deliuer them into thynne hande this daye / that thou mayst knowe that I am the Lorde. And Ahab sayde / by whome? And he sayde thus sayth the Lorde: euen by the men of the gouernours of the shires. And Ahab sayde: who shall ioyne batayle? And he sayde / thou. Then he nombred the men of the gouernours of the shires: and they were two hundred and xxxi. And after them he nombred all the people / and all the chyldren of Israel were sauen thousande. And they went out at none when Benhadad was a drynkyng stronge dryncke in the pauillyons wyth the xxxi. kynges that holpe hym. And the men of the shires of the shires went out fyrst.

And Benhadad sent out / and they shewed him saying: there came me out of Samaria. And he sayde: yf they come out for peace / take the a lyue. And also yf they come for warre / take them yet a lyue. And when those me of the shires of the shires were come out of the cite and þ̄ host after the / they flue euery one of them his man. And the Siriens fled / and Israel folowed after them. And Benhadad the kyng of Siria scaped on a horse with his horemē. And the kyng of Israel went out and smote horse and charet / and flue a great slaughter of the Sirians.

Then there came a prophete to the kyng of Israel / and sayde to him: go forthe & playe the man / be wyse and take hede what thou doest: for when the yere is about / the kyng of Siria will come agaynst þ̄ agayne. Then sayde the seruantes of the kynges of Siria to him: the Gods of þ̄ hilles are theire Gods / and therefore they had the better of vs. But let vs fyght wyth them in the playne / and for what ye will / we shall haue the better of the. And this do: take þ̄ kynges awaye euery mā out of his place / & put dukēs in their rowm. And do thou nōbye þ̄ an hoste / like þ̄ host that thou hast losse / & horse for horse & charet for charet / & let vs fyght w the in þ̄ playne / & for a wager / we gett þ̄ better of the. And þ̄ kyng herkened vnto their boyce and dūd euen so.

And as sone as the yere was aboute / Benhadad nōbyed þ̄ Siriens & went by to Aphek to warre with Israel. And the chyldren of Israel were nombred & prouyded of bitayle / & went agaynst them / and pitched before them lyke two lytle flockes of kyddes: but the Sirians fylled the countrey. Then there came a man of God & sayde vnto þ̄ kyng of Israel thus sayth the Lorde. Because the Siriens saye / þ̄ the Lorde is but a God of the hilles / & not God of the vales: to therefore will I deliuer all this great multitude into thine hande that ye maye knowe þ̄ I am the Lorde. And they pitched one ouer agaynst the other. vii. dayes / and the seventh daye ioynd batayle.

And he sayde vnto & kyng / thus sayth & Lorde: because thou hast lett go a man that ought to haue dyed / thy lyfe shall go for his lyfe / & thy people for his. And & kyng of Israel wet to his house waywarde and heyre / and entred into Samaria.

Jezabel commaundeth to kyll Naboth / for & bynepard that he refused to sell Ahab. Eliab reproveth Ahab / and he repenteth.

The xxi. Chapter.

After these thynges were done / it chaunced that Naboth the Jezrahelite had a byneparde in Jezrahel harde by & palace of Ahab kyng of Samaria. And Ahab spake vnto Naboth sayinge: let me haue thy byneparde / to make me a garde of yerbes therof / because it lyeth so nye my house: and I wyll geue the a better byneparde for it: or yf it playse the I will geue the / the mothe of it in syluer. But Naboth sayde to Ahab: the Lorde forbydde that from me / that I shulde geue the enheritaunce of my fathers vnto the.

Then went Ahab vnto his house wayward and euell apayde / because of the woordes whych Naboth the Jezrahelite had spoken to hym sayinge: I wyll not geue to the / the enheritaunce of my fathers. And he layde hym downe vpon his beed and turned a waye his face / and wolde eate no meate. And then Jezabel his wyfe came to hym / and sayde vnto hym: why art thou so frowarde / that thou eatest no meate? And he sayde vnto her / I spake vnto Naboth the Jezrahelite / and sayde vnto him: geue me thy byneparde for syluer / or else yf thou wilt / I will geue the a nother byneparde for it. And he sayde: I wyll not geue the my byneparde.

Then sayde Jezabel his wyfe vnto hym: what a goodly kyngedome were thou able to make in Israel: by & eate meate & set thine hert at rest / for I will geue & the byneparde of Naboth the Jezrahelite. And she wrote a letter in Ahab's name & sealed it wth his seale / & sent it vnto the elders & chiefe men of his citie that dwelt where Naboth dwelt. And she wrote in & letter sayinge: proclaime fastyng and sett Naboth on hye amonge the people / and sett two bntziffes before hym / & let the testifie agaynst hym sayinge: thou dydest curse both God and the kyng. And byd that carpe hym out and ston him to deeth.

And & elders & nobles of his citie / whyche dwelt in his citie / did as Jezabel had sent vnto the / & as it was writte in & letter which she had sent vnto them. They proclaime fastyng / & sett Naboth an hye amonge the people / & there came in two bntziffie persones & sate before him. And & two bntziffie person / witnessed agaynst Naboth before & people sayig Naboth did curse God & & kyng. And byd they caried him out of & citie & stoned him to deeth. And then they sent to Jezabel sayinge: Naboth is stoned to deeth. And when Jezabel hearde that Naboth was stoned to deeth: she sayde to Ahab: by & take possession of the of the byneparde of Naboth / the Jezrahelite / whyche he denied to geue the for syluer / for Naboth is not a liue / but deed. And when Ahab hearde that Naboth was deed. He stode by to go downe to & byneparde of Naboth the Jezrahelite / to take possession of it.

And & woode of & Lorde came vnto Eliab the Chelbite sayinge: by & go downe to mete Ahab kyng of Israel which is in Samaria Beholde / he is in the byneparde of Naboth: for he is gone downe thither / to take possession of it. And saye vnto hym: thus sayth the Lorde / thou hast killed & therto gott possession. And saye mozeouer vnto him / thus sayth the Lorde: in & place where dogges lapped & bloude of Naboth / shall dogges lappe euen thy bloude also. And Ahab sayd to Eliab: hast thou founde me thyne enemye at any tyme? And he sayde yee / because thou art utterly geuen to worke wickednesse in the syght of the Lorde. Beholde / I will bynge euell vpon the / and will make cleane riddance of the / & will destroye vnto Ahab all & pyeth agaynst the walle / and yf ought be pzeloned or fortaien in Israel: I will make thine house / lyke the house of Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat / & lyke the house of Baasah some of Ahab / for the angering wherwyth thou hast angered / and made Israel synne.

Some made Naboth. So. Naboth.

2. Reg. xxiij. f.

And therto agaynst Jezabel came & woode of the Lorde sayinge: dogges shall eate Jezabel / vnder the walles of Jezrahel. And he & dyeth of Ahab in the towne / him shall dogges eate: and he that dyeth in the felde / him shall & foules of the ayre eate. For there was none at all like Ahab / that was so utterly geue to worke wickednesse in the syght of & Lorde and that because Jezabel his wyfe pyched hym forwarde. And therfore he dyd exceeding abhominable / in folowynge Idoles / in all thynges like as dyd the Ammorites which & Lorde cast out before the chyldren of Israel. When Ahab hearde those wordes / he rent his clothes & put sacke cloth about his fleshe and fasted / and laye in sack and went cōfortlesse. And & woode of the Lorde came to Eliab the Chelbite sayinge: seyst thou how Ahab humbleth himselfe before me? because he so submytteth hym selfe before me / I wyll not bynge & euell in his dayes: but in his comyn dayes / I will bynge euell vpon his house.

Four hundred falsse Prophetes do counsell Ahab and Jehosaphat to warre agaynst Ramoth: onely Micah prophesyeth the truthe / for which he is smytte and put in pzelon.

The xxij. Chapter.

And they continued thze yere with out warre betwene Syria and Israel. And & thirde yere Jehosaphat kyng of Iuda / came to the kyng of Israel. Then sayde & kyng of Israel vnto his seruantes / knowe ye not that Ramoth in Galaad is oures / and we syt stille & take it not out of the handes of the kyng of Syria? And he sayde vnto Jehosaphat: wilt thou go wth me to batayle / to Ramoth in Galaad? And Jehosaphat sayde vnto the kyng of Israel: I will be as thou art / & my people shall be as thyne / and my horses as thyne.

1. Reg. xij. a.

And Jehosaphat sayde vnto the kyng of Israel: aske counsell I praye the of the Lorde to daye. And then the kyng of Israel gathered of & Prophetes to gether / byd a foure hundred men / and sayde vnto them: shall I go to Ramoth in Galaad to batayle / or be still? And they sayde / go: for & Lorde shall deliuer it into the handes of the kyng. And Jehosaphat sayde: is there neuer a Prophet of the Lorde here moare / that we myght enquire of him? And & kyng of Israel sayde to Jehosaphat: there is yet one / by whome we maye aske counsell of the Lorde / one Michah the sonne of Jemilab. But I hate hym: for he neuer prophesyeth good vnto me / but euell. And Jehosaphat sayde: let not the kyng saye so. Then the kyng of Israel called vnto one of his chamberlains and sayde: sett Michah & some of Jemilab hyther at once.

And the kyng of Israel and Jehosaphat the kyng of Iuda satt ether in his seat and their apparell on them / in a boyde place besyde the entrynge of the gate of Samaria / & all the Prophetes prophesyenge before the. And Jechiah the sonne of Canaanah made hornes of yron & sayde / thus sayth & Lorde: with these hornes thou shalt wyndowe & Syrians vntyll thou haue made an ende of the. And all the Prophetes prophesied euen so sayinge: go to Ramoth in Galaad and prosper / for the Lorde shall deliuer it into the handes of the kyng.

And the messenger that was gone to call Michah / sayde vnto him: se / the wordes of the Prophetes speake good vnto the kyng with one boyce: let thy wordes I pray the / be like the wordes of one of them / and speake that is good. And Michah sayde: as surely as the Lorde lyueth / what the Lorde putteth in my mouthe / that will I speake. And when he was come to the kyng / the kyng sayde to him: Michah / shall we go to Ramoth in Galaad to batayle / or shall we be still? And he sayde vnto him: go and prosper / & Lorde deliuer it into the handes of the kyng. And the kyng sayde vnto him / how often shall I adiure & / that thou tell me nothyng but truthe / in the name of the Lorde?

master/let them returne / every man to his house in peace. Then sayde the kyng of Israel to Jeholaphat: dyd I not tell the / that he wolde prophete no good unto me / but euell? And Micheah sayde: here therfore the worde of the Lorde. I saw þe Lorde sitt on his seate and all the compaigne of heauen standynge about him / on his ryght hand & on his left. And þe Lorde sayde: * who shall deceaue Ahab that he maye go and be slayne at Ramoth in Galaad: and one sayde on this maner and another on that. Then came forth a spyte and rode before the Lorde and sayde: I will deceaue him. And the Lorde sayde / wherwith? And he sayde: I will go out & be a false spyte in the mouthes of all his prophetes. And the Lorde sayde / thou shalt deceaue him and also preuaile / go forth and do euen so. Now therfore beholde / the Lorde hath put a lyinge spyte in the mouth of all these thy prophetes: when in very dede the Lorde hath spoken euell towarde the.

Then Sebediah the sonne of Canaanah went to and smote Micheah on the cheke / & sayde: how is the spyte of the Lorde gonne from me / to speake in the? And Micheah sayde: beholde / thou shalt se in that daye / when thou shalt go from chambze to chambze to hyde the. And the kyng of Israel sayde: take Micheah and carpe hym backe agayne vnto Amon the gouernour of the cite / & vnto Iosab the kynges sone / and saye: thus sayth the kyng. Put ye this felow in the prison house and fede him with hyerd and water straytie / vntill I returne in peace. Then Micheah sayde / yf thou come safe agayne / the Lorde hath not spoken in me. And he sayde mozeouer / herken to ye people every one of you.

And so the kyng of Israel & Jeholaphat þe kyng of Iuda went vp to Ramoth in Galaad. And the kyng of Israel sayde to Jeholaphat * chaunge the and gett the to warre: but put on thyne awne apparell. And the kyng of Israel chaunged hym selfe / & went to battell also. But the kyng of Siria had commaunded the capitaynes of his charetes of which he had xxxij. sayinge: fyght nether with small nor greute / saue with the kyng of Israel onely. And when the capitaynes of the charetes sawe Jeholaphat / they thought he had bene the kyng of Israel / and therfore turned to him to fight. But Jeholaphat cried out. And when the capitaynes of the charetes saw that he was not the kyng of Israel / they turned backe from hym.

And a certen man drew a boowe * igno- rantlye and smote þe kyng of Israel betwene the ribbes of his harnesse. wherfore þe kyng sayde vnto þe dyuer of his charett / turne thy hande and carpe me out of the host / for I am

And there went a proclamacyon thozow out the hoste after the sonne was doونه sayinge: every man to his cite and to his awne countreye. And when the kyng of Israel was ded / they came to Samaria and buried hym there. And whyle they walshed the charet in the pole of Samaria / the dogges licked vp his bloude / and harlottes walshed hym accordynge vnto the worde of the Lorde whych he spake.

Only he dyd not put the hyllaulters out of the waye: for the people offered and burnt their sacryfices yet / in the hyllaultares. And he had peace with the kyng of Israel.

And the rest of the dedes of Jeholaphat / and the myght that he bled / and how he warred / are wyrtten in the boke of the chronicles of the kynges of Iuda. And the remnaunt of the stues of the males / whych remayned in the dayes of his father / he put cleane out of the lande. There was then no kyng in Edom / the kyng was but a debite. And Jeholaphat made wyppes in the se / to go to Ophir for gould / but they went not: for þe shippes brake at Azion Gaber. Then sayde Ohoziab the sonne of Ahab vnto Jeholaphat: let my seruantes go with thyne in the wyppes. But Jeholaphat wolde not. And Jeholaphat layde him to slepe with his fathers / & was buried with his fathers in the cytye of David his father. And Jehoia his sonne raygned in his rowme.

The fyrst Chapter.

Ohoziab the sonne of Ahab beganne to raygne vpon Israel in Samaria / the xxiij. yere of Jeholaphat kyng of Iuda / & was kyng ouer Israel two yere / and dyd euell in the sight of the Lorde / and walked in the waye of his father and in the waye of his mother / and in the waye of Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat whych he made Israel synne. And he serued Baal and bowed hym selfe to hym / & angered the Lorde God of Israel / in all thyng / as dyd his father. And þe Oobabites rebelled agaynst Israel after the deeth of Ahab.

The scriptu- re of some name the goddess of the gentyles by in- famous names as in the psal- m. Beelze- bus signifieth þe God of a flec- tur. p. 6.

And Ohoziab fell thozow a lattise win- dow out of an upper chambze þe he had in Sa- maria / and fell syche. Then he sent messen- gers sayinge vnto them: go and enquyre of Beelzebub the God of Akaron / whether I shall recouer of this disease. But the Angell of the Lorde spake to Eliab the Chelbite / by name and go agaynst the messengers of the kyng of Samaria & saye vnto them: Is it because there is no God in Israel / that ye go to aske thozow Beelzebub the God of Akaron. Therfore thus sayth þe Lorde: thou shalt not come downe fro the bedde on whych thou art gone vp / but shalt die. And Eliab departed.

And the messengers turned backe agayne vnto him. And he sayde vnto the: why are ye thus come agayne? And they sayde vnto him there came a man agaynst vs and sayde vnto vs: go and turne agayne vnto the kyng that sent you / & saye vnto him. Thus sayth þe Lorde: Is it because there is no God in Israel / that thou sendest to enquire thozow Beelzebub þe God of Akaron? Therfore thou shalt not come downe from the bedde on which thou art gone vp / but shalt surely die. And he sayd to the: what maner a man was that which mett you & tolde you these wordes? And they sayde vnto him: it was an heary man and gyrded w a gyrdle of a chymne aboute his loynes. And he sayd vnto them: it is Eliab the Chelbite.

Then the kyng sent vnto him a captayne ouer fyfthe w his fyfthe. And when þe captayne was come to him / beholde: he satt on þe toppe of an hyll. And the captayne sayde vnto hym:

man of God / the kyng biddeth þe come downe. And Eliab answered & sayde to the captayne ouer the fyfthe: yf I be a man of God / fyre come downe fro heauen & consume the and thy fyfthe. * And there came fyre downe fro heauen & deuoured hym & his fyfthe. And þe kyng wet agayne & sent to him a nother captayne ouer fyfthe with his fyfthe / which answered & sayde vnto him: O man of God / thus sayth þe kyng make hast & come downe. And Eliab answered & sayd vnto the: yf I be a man of God / then let fyre come downe fro heauen & consume the and thy fyfthe. And there came fyre downe from heauen and consumed hym & his fyfthe.

And the kyng sent agayne the thyrde cap- tayne ouer fyfthe. And when þe thyrde captayne ouer fyfthe was come by to him / he fell on his knees before Eliab and besought him & sayde vnto him: O man of God / let my life and the life of these fyfthe thy seruantes be precious in thy syght. Beholde there came fyre downe from heauen & burnt by the two fore cap- tynes ouer fyfthe with their fyfthes. But let my life now be precious in thy syght. Then sayde the Angell of the Lorde vnto Eliab: go downe with him / and be not afraid of hym. And he wet downe with him vnto the kyng.

And he sayde vnto the kyng / thus sayth þe Lorde: for as moche as thou sentest messen- gers to aske thozow Beelzebub the God of Akaron / as though there had bene no God in Israel to aske thozow his woorde: therfore thou shalt not come of þe bedde on which thou art ascended / but shalt surely die. And so he died according to þe worde of þe Lorde whych Eliab spake / & Jehoiam was made kyng in his steade / þe seconde yere of Jehoiam sonne of Jeholaphat kyng of Iuda / because he had no sone. The rest of the dedes of Ohoziab which he dyd / are wyrtten in the chronicles of the kynges of Israel.

And Eliab said to Elius / tary here I pray the / for the Lorde hath sent me to Bethel. But Elius sayde: * as surely as the Lorde liueth / & as thy soule lyueth / I will not leaue þe. And whē they came to Bethel / þe chyldre of þe prophetes þe were at Bethel came out to Elius and sayde to him: knowest thou not how þe Lorde will take awaye thy master fro þe this daye? And he sayde / I know it too / holde poure peace.

Then sayde Eliab to Elius: tary heare a while. I will shew the.

And then he toke by the mantell of Eliah tell of Eliah that fell from him / and smote the water and sayde: where is the Lorde God of Eliah where is he? And when he had smyte the water it deuided parte this waye & parte that waye / and Eliseus went ouer. And the chyliden of the Prophetes of Jericho whych saw him fro a farre / sayde: þe spyrte of Eliah bothe rest on Eliseus / and went agaynst hym & bowed to þe erthe vnto him. And they sayde vnto him: se / there be amōge thy seruauntes fiftie iustie men: let thē go and seke thy master: happye the spyrte of the Lorde hath taken him by & cast him vpon some mountayne

Newerthelesse yet they laye vpon him / tyll he was a shamed / & sayde: sende / and they sent fiftie men which sought him thre dayes and thre nyghtes / but founde him not. And they came agayne to hym / for he tarried at Jericho. And he sayde to them / did I not saye vnto you that ye shulde not go.

Then the men of Jericho sayde to Eliseus: beholde the cytie standeth pleasantly as my Lorde seyth / but the water is haught and the grounde baren. And he sayde: byyng me a new cruise & put salt therin. And they brought it to him. And he went vnto the spyng of þe water & cast the salt in thither / & sayde thus sayth þe Lorde: I heale this water / ther shall not come hēceforth ether deethe or barrenesse. And þe water was helthsome euer after according to the saying of Eliseus which he spake.

And he went from thence by to Bethel. And as he was going by in the way, there came little laddes out of the cytye and mocked hym / and sayd to hym: go by thou bald heed / go by thou balde heed. And he turned backe and looked on them and curst them in the name of J^{h} Lorde. And there came two Beares out of J^{h} wood & tare. xliij. of J^{h} boyes. And he went fro thence to mount Carmel / & from thence went agayne to Samaria.

But Jehosaphat sayde: is there heare no prophet of the Lordes/ that we maye enquire of the Lord by him? And one of the kyng of Israels seruantes answered and sayde: here is Eliseus y sonne of Saphat which * potored water on the handes of Eliab. And Jehosaphat sayde: y worde of the Lord is with him. And so the kyng of Israel/ and Jehosaphat and the kyng of Edom went downe to him.

And Eliseus sayde to the kyng of Israel: what haue I to do wth the? Set the to the prophetes of thy father & of thy mother. And the kyng of Israel sayde vnto him: Oh naye; but hath the Lord called these thre kynges to deliuer the into the handes of the Moabites? ¶ The.iii. Chapter.
And there cryed a certen woman of the wyues of the chyldre of ʒ prophetes vnto Eliseus sayig: thy seruauit my husbande is deed / a thou knowest that thy seruauit dyd feare ʒ Lorde.

And the creditoꝝ is come to sett my two to her: what shall I do foꝝ þe? Tell me / what hast thou in thyne house? And she sayde thine handmayde hath nothing at all in her house/saue a pytcher with oyle. And he sayde: Go & bozow the in other places/ of all thy neyhoures/ emptie vesselles & that not a fewe. And then go and shutt the doze to the and to thy sonnes/ & powze out into all those vesselles/and putt the full all waye a fyde.

And she went from hym / & wutt the doze to her & to her sonnes. And they brought to her / & she powzed out. And when the vesselles were full / she sayde to her sonne: brynge yet a vessel: And he sayde: there is no mo. And then the oyle ceased. Then she came and tolde the ma of God. And he sayde: go & sell the Oyle and paye thy creditoꝝ. And I tye thou & thy chylidzen of the reste.

And it fell on a daye/that Eliseus came to Sunam/where was a ryche woman & toke him in for to eate breed. And as ofte as he came that waye/ he turned in thither to eate breed. And she sayde vnto her husbande: se/ I chamber wth a lytle walle/ & let vs set hym there maye turne in thither/ whē he cometh to vs.

And it fortuned on a tyme þ he came thither & turned into the chambze & laye there. Then he sayde to Gihezi his seruaut: call this Sunamite. And he called her / and she came befoze him. And Eliseus sayde to him / saye to her I praye the: se / thou hast made all thy prouisioun foz vs / what shall we do foz the? woldest thou be spoken foz to the kyng oꝝ to the captayne of the Hoste? And she sayde* I dwelle amonge myne awne people. Then he sayde / what is to be done foz her? And Gihezi sayde: wterely she hath no childe / and her husbande is olde. And he sayde: call her. And he called her. And she came and stode at the ma of God / do not lye vnto thyne handmayd.

And the wyfe conceaued and bare a sonne & same reason that Eliseus had sayd vnto her / as lone as the frute could haue lyfe.

And when the ladd was grete / it fell on a daye / that he went out to his father / to h ueltme. And there he cōplained to his father / my heed / my heed. And his father sayde to a lad / carpe him to his mother. And he toke him & brought him to his mother. And he satte on her knees till none / & then died. And she caried hym by and layde him on the bedde of & man of God / and shut the doze to him / & went out / and came to her husbāde and sayde: sende me one of & younge men & an Ase that I maye runne to the man of God. And he sayde: wher foze wilt thou go to him to daye / while it is nether new mone nor Saboth daye. And she sayde: be content. Then she saddled an Ase & sayde to the lad: leade awaye and make me not cease rydyng / vntyll I byd the.

And to the went and came vnto the man of God saw her a farre / he sayde to Ghezi hys seruaunt: se / where oure seruaunte cometh.

Now runne agaynst her / & aske her / whether it be all well with her / and with her husbande and with the ladd. And she sayde: all is well. Then she went to the man of God vnto the hyll and caught him by the fete. And Ghezi wēt to her / to thrust her awaye. But the man of God sayde: let her alone / for her soule is beryd / and the Lord hath bidd it from me and haue not tolde it me. Then she sayde: byd

Then he sayde to Ghezi: gyde by thy loynes / and take my staffe in thyne hand and not. And yf any salute the / answer him not agayne. And put my staffe vpon the bove. Not withstandyng the mother of & chyld sayde:

as sure as the Lord lyueth / & as thy soule lyueth / I will not leaue &. And then he arose and folowed her. Ghezi went before them & put the staffe vpon the ladd. But there was nether bove nor attendyng. And then he wēt agayne agaynst hys master and tolde hym sayyng: it hath not a waked the ladd.

then went by & spredde him selfe vpon him. And then the ladd waked seue times and opened his

she was come to him / he said: take thy sonne

Then she went & fell at his fete & bowed her selfe to the ground / & toke by her sonne & wēt agayne / there was a darthe in the lande / and the chyldre of the prophetes dwelt with hym.

Then he sayde to his seruaunt / put on a great pot / & make pottage for the chyldre of & prophetes. And one went oute into the felde / to gather herbes / & founde as it were a wyde out for the men to eate. And when they had tasted of the pottage / they cryed out & sayde: there is deeth in the pot thou man of God / & coude not eate therof. Then he sayde: byrge meale. And he cast it in to the pot and sayde: fyll for the people that they maye eate / and there was no harme in the pot.

There came a man from Baalsalisa and brought the mā of God bzedde of fyrt frut / the people that they myght eate. Then hys mynter sayde: what shuldest thou set this before the people and lett them eate. For thus sayth the Lord: they shall eate and leaue. And he sett it before them / and they ate and lette / ac-

Naaman the Syre is healed of his leprosy. Ghezi is stricken with a leprosy because he toke money and rayment of Naaman.

The. v. Chapter.

Naaman capitayne of the Hoste to the kyng of Siria / was grete to his master & well taken: for thozout him the Lord saued Siria. And he was an actiue mā / & yet a leper. And ther had gone a compaigne of Soudyours oute of Siria a runnyng / and had brought oute of the contreye of Israel a lytle mayde / which was with Naamā's wife. And the Damasell sayd vnto her ladye: I wolde my master were with a prophet that is in Samaria: he wold deliuer him of his leprosy. And she went & tolde her husbande sayyng: thus & thus sayth the mayde that is out of the lande of Israel.
And the kyng of Siria sayde: go thy waye / and I will sende a letter vnto the kyng of Israel. And he went and toke with hym ten talentes of siluer and. vi. thousande peces of goulde / and ten chaunge of raymentes. And he brought & letter to the kyng of Israel cota:nyng this tenoure. Now when this letter is come by to the: Beholde I haue sent Na-man my seruaunt to the / that thou shuldest ryde him of his leprosy. And when the kyng of Israel had reade & letter / he rent his cloth & sayde: * am I God / to sleie & to make a lyue / that he shuld sende to me / for to deliuer a mā fro his leprosy. But consyder I praye you & se / how he ppheth quarelles to me. And when Eliseus the man of God / had heard how that the kyng of Israel had rent hys clothes / he sent to the kyng sayyng: wherfore hast thou rent thy clothes? let him come to me / that he maye knowe & there is a prophet in Israel.

And Naaman came with his hōdes & his Charett / and stode at & doze of Eliseus. Then Eliseus sent a messenger sayyng: go & washe the in Jordan seue tymes / and thy fleth shall come agayne to the as before / and thou shalt be cleane. And Naaman was wroth and wēt awaye / and sayde: Beholde / I thought in my felle / he wolde haue come out / & stand & call on the name of the Lord his God / & put his hande on the place of the diseale / and so take awaye & leprosy. Are not Abanah & Pharphar / ryuers of Damasco / better then all the waters of Israel? Whyght I not rather washe in the & be cleane? And so he turned & departed in an angre. Then came his seruautes & comuned to him & sayd: father yf & prophete had bydd & done some great thyng / oughtest thou not to haue done it? Now moche rather then shuldest thou do it / while he sayth to the onise / washe & be cleane. * Then he wēt doune & washed seue tymes in Jordan / as the man of God bade / & his flethe chaunged / lyke vnto the fleth of a lytle bove / and he was cleane.

16. Reg. xviii.

Then he turned agayne to the mā of God & all his compaigne with him / and came and stode before hym & sayde. Beholde I knowe that there is no God in all the worlde / but in Israel. And now I praye the take a blessing of thy seruaunt. But he sayde * as surely as & Lord lyueth before whome I stande / I will receaue none. And the other wold haue con-strayned him to receaue: but he wolde not do it. And Naaman sayde: yf thou wilt not: yet I praye the / maye there not be geuen to thy seruaunt the burthe of two mules of erthe.
For thy seruaunt will henceforth offer nether burntacrifice nor offeringe vnto any other God / then to the Lord. But herin the Lord be mercyfull to thy seruaunt / for whē my master goeth into the house of Remon to worshipp there / he leaneeth on myne hād / and I must worshipp in & house of Remon / let the Lord I praye the be mercyfull vnto thy seruaunt in this case. And he sayde to him:

go in peace. And when he was departed from him a furlonge of ground / Ghezi the seruaunt of Eliseus the mā of God / sayde: se / my master hath kepte of / this Siria Naaman that he wolde not receaue of his hande & he offered.
As surely as the Lord lyueth I will runne after him and take somewhat. And so Ghezi went after Naaman. And when Naamā sawe him come runnyng after him / he came downe of & charet agaynst him & sayd: * is all well? 16. Reg. xviii. d.
And he sayde yee.

But my master hath sent me sayyng: se / there be two younge men come to me out of Ephraim of the chyldre of & prophetes: geue the I praye the / one talēt of syluer & a couple of good garmētes. And Naamā sayde: auen-ture and take two talentes of syluer in two bagges / with two goodlye garmentes / & de-liuered them vnto two of his seruautes / to beare it before him. And he went in & darthe & toke it of their handes & bestowed it in the house / and let the men go / and they departed.

Then he went & stode before hys master.
And Eliseus sayde to hym: whence comest Ghezi? And he sayde: thy seruaunt went no whether. And he sayde: wēt not myne hert to the / whē the mā turned & came of his charet agaynst the? Is it a tyme to receaue syluer & to receaue garmentes / olyuetrees / vineyard / oren / shepe / menseruautes and mayde ser-uautes? The leprosy therfore of Naaman cleaue vnto & / vnto thy seede for euer. * And he wēt out fro him a leper as white as snow.

* Para. xviii.

Eliseus maketh prou to swymme about the water.
The Siria belege Israel / so that. y. went agree

The. vi. Chapter.

Then sayde the chyldren of the prophetes vnto Eliseus: se / the place where we dwelle to the / is to lytle for vs. Let vs there take euery mā a beame and byde vs a place there / to dwell in. And he sayde: goo ye. And one sayde: begyne I praye the / & go with thy seruaunt.
And he sayde: I will / and so went with them.

And when they came to Jordan / they cutte downe wood. And as one was hewyng of a beame / the axe heed fell into & water. And he cryed out & sayde: Alasse master / for it was lent me. And the mā of God sayde: where fell it? And he shewed him & place. And he cut an helue and cast it in thycher / and made the axe heed swimme. And he sayde: take it by to the.
And the other stretched his hād & caught it.

And the kyng of Siria fought agaynst Israel / & toke counsell with hys seruautes sayyng: In soche a place and in soche a place will I ptyche. And the man of God sent vnto the kyng of Israel sayyng: Beware thou go not go not by coche a place/for there are the Sirians gone downe. And the kyng of Israel sent to the place which the man of God tolde him and warned him of / and saved him selfe there moare then once or twyse.

1 Reg. xxv. b.

And the hert of the kyng of Siria was troubled therewith / & he sent for his seruants & sayde to them: * wyl ye not shewe me whych of vs telleth & kyng of Israel. And one of his seruantes sayde maye my Lorde kyng: Eliseus the prophet that is in Israel / he telleth the kyng of Israel & wordes that thou speakest in thy slepyng chambze. Then he sayde: Go and spye where he is / that I maye sende & fette him. And one tolde the kyng sayinge: se / he is in Dothan. And he sent thither horse & charettes & a great Hoste. And they came thither by nyght & compassed & towe aboute.

And when the seruant of the men of God rose by eyle and was gone oute: Beholde / there was an Host round about the towne wth horses and charettes. Then sayde hys ladd to him: Alasse master / what shall we do? And he sayde: feare not / there are mo with vs then wth them. And Eliseus prayed and sayde: Lorde open the eyes of the younge man / & he sawe. And beholde / & mountayne was full of horses and charettes of fyze rounde aboute Eliseus: And when the soudyars came downe to him / Eliseus prayed vnto the Lorde & sayde. Smyte this people with byndnesse. And he smote the wth byndnesse accordyng to the besyde of Eliseus. Then Eliseus sayde vnto the wth: this is not the waye / nor this is not & towne: But folow me and I wyl byynge you to the man ye seeke. And he ledd the to Samaria.

1 Reg. xxv. a.

When they were come to Samaria / Eliseus sayde: Lorde / open their eyes & let the se. And the Lorde opened their eyes & they sawe. And beholde they were in the myddes of Samaria. And then sayde the kyng of Israel vnto Eliseus when he sawe them: * shall I smyte them / shall I smyte the father: And he sayde: smyte them not. But smyte them thou takest wth thynne awne swerde & wth thynne awne bowe. But set bread and water before them / and let them eate & dryncke / and go to their master. And he made great ordinaunce before them. And when they had eate and droncke / he sent them awaye / and they went to their master. And so the soudyours of Siria came no moare into the lande of Israel.

* Cab was a certen vessel used at tyme as we now use chontelles or coche lyke.

After this Benhadad kyng of Siria gathered all the Hoste / and wet a beleged Samaria. And there arose great darthe in Samaria: for they had beleged it / untill an Asses heed was worth foure thozze cycles of siluer / and the fourth part of a Cab of dones donge worth fyve cycles. And as the kyng of Israel walked vpon the walles there cryed a womā to him / saying: helpe / my Lorde kyng. And he sayde: Hape / the Lorde helpe the. But wherewith shulde I helpe the: wth corne or wth wyne? Then sayde the kyng to her: what ayleth the? And she answered: this woman here sayde to me / byynge thy sonne and lett vs eate hym to daye / and we will eate myne to morow. And she sayde to her another daye / byynge thy sonne that we maye eate him. But she hath byd her sonne. When the kyng hearde the wordes of the womā / he rent his clothes euē as he was walkyng on the walles. And when & people looked vpon him: se / he was clothed in sack vnder. Then he sayd: God do to and so to me / yf & herd of Eliseus the sonne of Saphat tarpe on him this daye. And as Eliseus satte in his house and the elders with him / the kyng sent one from him. But yf the messenger came at him / he sayde to the elders: se you not how & sonne of this murthrer hath sent / to take of myne heed: be circumspect therfore when the messenger cometh / and shut the doze / and thrust him backe therwith: for the sounde of his masters fete foloweth him. And while he yet talked with them: Beholde the messenger was come vnto him. And he sayde: beholde this euell is of the Lorde / what moare shall we lōke for of the Lorde.

Eliseus propheseth plenteuousnes of bytalles and other thyngs to Samaria. The Sirians rāne awaye and haue no man folowynge them. The Lorde & wolde not beleue the wordes of Eliseus is troden to deeth.

The. vii. Chapter.

Ben Eliseus sayde: heare & worde of the Lorde: for thus sayth & Lorde: to morow this tyme a bouhell of fyne flour shalbe tolde for a cycle / & two bouhelles of barley for a nother in & gates of Samaria. Then a great Lorde on whole hande & kyng leane / answered & mā of God & sayd: though the Lorde wold make windowes in heuen / yet wolde not this be. And he sayde agayne: Beholde / thou shalt se it wth thynne eyes and shalt not eate therof.

And there were foure lepers sett wth oute the Gate of Samaria. And they sayde eche to hys companion / what sytt we here vntyll we dye: though we thought that we myght come into the cytie / yet is the darthe so great in & cytie / that we shall there dye. And yf we tarpe here / we are but deed also. Now therfore come & lett vs flee to the Hoste of the Sirians: If they saue oure lyues / we shall lyue: And yf they kyll vs / then are we deed. And so they arose in & darthe to go to & Hoste of & Sirians. And when they were come to the syde of the Hoste of Siria: se / there was no man there.

For the Lorde had made the Host of the Sirians rians heare a noyse of charettes & a noyse of hostes / and the noyse of a great Host. In so moche & they sayde one to another: se / the kyng of Israel hath byzed agaynst vs / the kynges of the Bethites & the kynges of Egipte / to come vpon vs. And vpon & they arose & fled in the darthe / & lefte their tentes / their hostes / their Aldes and the selde they had pitched euen as it was / and fled for their lyues. And when these lepers came to the edge of the Host / they went into a tent and dyd eate & dryncke and carped thence syluer / Gould and rayment / & went & hidd it: and came agayne and entred in to another / and carped thence also / and went and hidd it.

Then they sayde one to another: it is not well & we do / for this daye is a daye to byynge tydynge. And yf we holde oure peace / & tarpe till it be daye light / we shall fynde a mischeue. Now therfore come / lett vs god and tell the kynges housholde. And so they went & called to the porter of the citie and tolde the saying: we came to the pauplyons of the Sirians: & se / there was no man there / nether boyce of man / but hostes and Aldes tyed / & the tentes euen as they were.

Then the porters called & tolde the kyngs house within. And the kyng arose in & nyght and sayde to his seruantes: I wyl shewe you / how the Sirians haue serued vs. They know that we are oppzessed with hungre / and therfore are gone out of their pauplyons to hyde the selues in the selde sayng: They will come out of the cytie / and then we shall catch them a lyue and get into the cytie. And one of hys seruantes answered and sayde: Let men take fyue of the hostes that remayne and are lefte in the cytie. Beholde they are as good as all the multitude that are lefte in the cytie: and as good as all the multitude of the citie that are consumed / and lett vs send & se. And they toke two charettes of hostes / and the kyng sent after the Hoste of the Sirians sayinge: go and se. And they folowed after them euen vnto Jordan: and se / all the waye was full of clothes and bestelles which the Sirians had cast from them for haste.

And the messengers returned and tolde the kyng. And then the people went oute & robbed the tentes of the Sirians. And so a bouhell of flowze was tolde for a cycle / & ii. bouhelles of of barley for a cycle / accordyng to the worde of the Lorde. And the kyng / lett & Lorde on whole hande he leane / to kepe the gate. And the people troade him in the gate / that he dyed / accordyng to the sayinge of the man of God which he sayde / when the kyng came downe to him. And it came to passe accordyng to the worde of the man of God to the kyng sayng: two bouhelles of barley for a sicke & a bouhell of barley for another shalbe to morow this tyme in the gates of Samaria. And the Lorde answered the man of God and sayde: though the Lorde made windowes in heuen / yet wolde this not be. And & other sayde: Beholde / thou shalt se it wth thynne eyes / & shalt not eate therof. And so it chaunced: for the people troade hym vnder fete in the gate / that he dyed.

Eliseus propheseth vnto the Sunamite the darthe of vij. yere. After the deeth of Benhadad ragneth Hazael in Siria. Jehozam the sonne of Jeholaphat ragneth in Iuda. Edom falleth from Iuda. Jehoiah succedeth Jehozam.

The. viii. Chapter.

Ben spake Eliseus vnto the womā wth whose sonne he had restozed to lyfe agayne / sayinge: bp & go both thou and thynne house / & sojourn where thou thinkest best / for the Lorde wyl call a darthe whych shall come on the lande seven yere. And the womā arose and dyd after the sayinge of the man of God / and wet bothe she and her housholde and sojourned in the lande of the Philistines seven yere. And at the leue yeres ende / whē & womā was come agayne oute of the lande of the Philistines she went out to speake to the kyng for her house & for her lande. And the kyng was talkyng wth Giezi the seruant of the man of God sayng: tell me I praye the / all & great deades whych Eliseus dyd. And it chaficed as he was tellinge the kyng how he restozed a ded boye to lyfe agayne that the womā whose sonne he reupued / cryed to the kyng for her house and lande. Then sayde Giezi: My Lorde kyng / this is the womā and this is her sonne whych Eliseus brought to lyfe agayne. And the kyng asked the womā / and she tolde him. And so the kyng sent wth her one of his chambzelaynes sayng: restoze all that pertayneth to her / wth all the frutes of the selde / sence the daye she lefte the land / vnto this tyme.

After that Eliseus went to Damasco / Benhadad the kyng of Siria beyngde syche. And one tolde the kyng sayinge: The man of God is come hither. Then sayde the kyng to Hazael: * take a present wth the and goo agaynst the man of God and aske the Lorde by him whether I shall recouer of this my dease or no. And Hazael went to mete hym and toke presentes wth hym / euen of all the good thynges of Damasco / as moche as fourtye Cameles coulde beare / and came & presented hym selfe before hym and sayde: thy sonne Benhadad kyng of Siria hath sent me to the / sayinge: Shall I recouer of this my dease.

1 Reg. xxiij. a.

And Eliseus sayde to hym: go and saye to hym

Ohosiah. him/thou shalt recover/how be it the Lorde hath shewed me that he shall surely dye. And the man of God beganne * to loke earnestlye/ in somoche that he was a shamed: and the ma of God wepte. And Hazael sayde: why wepeth my Lorde? And he answered: for I know that thou shalt do euell vnto the chyldren of Israel: their stronge cyties thou shalt lett on fyre/ & their younge men thou shalt sle with the swerde/ and shalt dash out the brynes of their suchynge chyldren/ and all to teare their women with chylde.

And Hazael sayde: what is thy seruauunt which am but a dogge/ that I shulde do this great thyng? And Eliseus sayde: for the Lorde hath shewed me/ that thou shalt be kyng of Siria. And so he departed from Eliseus and came to his master/ which sayd to him: what sayde Eliseus to the? And he sayde: he tolde me that thou shuldest recover. And on the morrow he toke a rowgh clothe and dypt it in the water and spredde it on his face/ & he died/ and Hazael raygned in his steade.

The fyfte yere of Jehozam sonne of Ahab kyng of Israel/ Jehosaphat beyng yet kyng of Iuda/ Jehozam the sonne of Jehosaphat/ beganne to raygne. xxxij. yere olde was he when he beganne to raygne/ and he raygned. liij. yere in Jerusalem. And he walked in the waye of the kynges of Israel/ as dyd the house of Ahab for the daughter of Ahab was his wyfe/ and he dyd that displeased the Lorde. Neuerthelater the Lorde wolde not destroye Iuda because of Dauid his seruauunt/ as he promysed hym to geue hym a lyght in his chyldren all waye.

And in his dayes Edom fell awaye fro vnder the hand of Iuda/ and made them a kyng of their awne. And Jehozam went to Seir/ & all his charettes with him. And he rose by nyght & layde on the Edomites/ which compassed him in/ & the captaynes of his charet & the people fled into their tentes. And so the Edomites slippe awaye from vnder the hande of Iuda vnto this daye. And then Lobnah clipt awaye to/ euen that same tyme.

The rest of the dedes of Jehozam and all he dyd/ are writte in the chronicles of the kynges of Iuda. And Jehozam rested w his fathers & was buried with his fathers in the cytie of Dauid. And Ohosiah his sonne raygned in his steade. The xij. yere of Jehozam sonne of Ahab/ kyng of Israel/ dyd Ohosiah the sonne of Jehozam kyng of Iuda beginne to raigne two & twentie yere olde was Ohosiah when he beganne to raygne/ & raygned one yere in Jerusalem/ his mothers name was Achaliah daughter of Amri kyng of Israel. And he walked in the waye of the house of Ahab: for he was a sonne in law to the house of Ahab.

And Jehozam the sonne of Ahab went to warre with Hazael kyng of Siria/ at Ramoth in Galaad/ and the Sirians wounded him. Wherefore kyng Jehozam went backe agayne/ to be healed in Jezrahel of the weedy which the Sirians had geue him at Ramoth/ where he fought with Hazael kyng of Siria. And Ohosiah the sonne of Jehozam kyng of Iuda went downe to se Jehozam sonne of Ahab in Jezrahel because he was sycke.

Jehu is made kyng of Israel/ and killeth Jehozam the kyng thereof/ and Ohosiah kyng of Iuda also: and thereto causeth Jezabel to be cast downe forth of a wyndowe/ whom dogges eate.

The ix. Chapter.

And Eliseus the prophete called vnto one of the chyldre of the prophetes/ and sayde to him: gyde by thy loynes & take this boxe of oyle in thyne hand & get the to Ramoth in Galaad. And when thou comest thither/ thou shalt there se Jehu the sonne of Jehosaphat the sonne of Namsi/ and go to him/ & make him a ryle by from amonge his bzyethen/ and carpe him to a secret chambze. And take the boxe of oyle and powze it on his heed & saye/ thus sayth the Lorde: I haue anoynted the to be kyng ouer Israel. And then open the doze & flee/ & tary not. And the seruauunt of the prophet get him to Ramoth in Galaad/ & when he came/ the captaynes of the hoste were syttinge to geather. And he sayde: I haue an errande to the Sir captayne. And Jehu sayde/ vnto which of all ys? And he sayd: to the Sir captayne. And he arose and went in to the house.

And the other powzed the oyle on his heed and sayde to him/ thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel: I haue anoynted the to be kyng ouer Israel the people of the Lorde/ that thou sle the household of Ahab thy master. For I sayth the Lorde/ I will aduenge the bloude of my seruantes the prophetes/ and the bloude of Jezabel (for the whole house of Ahab shall be destroyed) and I will destroye vnto Ahab what pisseth agaynst the wall/ and so moche as the pyned of that is forsaken in Israel/ & I will make the house of Ahab lyke the house of Jeroboam sonne of Nabat/ and lyke the house of Baasa the sonne of Abiah. And as for Jezabel the dogges shall eate her in the feld of Jezrahel/ & none shall burye her. And he opened the doze and fled.

And when Jehu was come out to the seruantes of his Lorde/ they sayde to him: is all peace? Wherefore came this mad fellow to the? And he sayde to him: ye know the person and his comunicacyon. And they sayde: it is not so. But tell vs a fellowshype. And he sayde/ thus and thus spake he to me sayinge. Thus sayth Jehabel. sayth the Lorde: I haue anoynted the to be kyng ouer Israel. And they hastened and toke euery man his mantell & put vnder hym on an hye beche at the toppe of steyppes/ & blew a trompet and sayde: Jehu is kyng. And so Jehu the sonne of Jehosaphat the sonne of Namsi conspired agaynst Jehozam. And Jehozam had bene wayting at Ramoth Galaad/ and all Israel with him/ for feare of Hazael kyng of Siria/ and was returned to be healed in Jezrahel/ of the woundes which the Sirians had geuen hym as he fought with Hazael kyng of Siria.

Then sayde Jehu: If it be your myndes/ then let no man escape out of the cite/ to goe and tell in Jezrahel. And Jehu rode and wnt to Jezrahel: for Jehozam laye there/ & Ohosiah kyng of Iuda was come to Jehozam. And the watchman that stode on the towze in Jezrahel/ spied the company of Jehu as he came/ and sayde: I se a company. And Jehozam sayde: take an horsman & sende agaynst them/ and let him aske whether it be peace. And there went one on horsebacke agaynst him & sayde: thus sayth the kyng: is it peace? And Jehu answered: what hast thou to do w peace? turne & come after me. And the watchman tolde sayinge: the messenger came to the but he cometh not agayne.

Then he sent out another on horsebacke/ which came to them & sayde/ thus sayth the kyng: is it peace? And Jehu answered/ what hast thou to do w peace? turne & come after me. And the watchman tolde sayinge: he came to the/ but he cometh not agayne/ & the dzyung is lyke the dzyung of Jehu the sonne of Namsi/ for he dzyueth as he were mad.

Then sayde Jehozam/ make readye. And they made ready his charet. And Jehozam kyng of Israel/ & Ohosiah kyng of Iuda wnt out ether in his charet agaynst Jehu/ and mett him in the furlonge of Naboth the Jezrahelite. And when Jehozam sawe Jehu/ he sayd: is it peace Jehu? And he sayde/ what peace shulde there be/ so long as the whozdomes of thy mother Jezabel & her witchcraftes are so great? And Jehozam turned his hand & fled/ & sayde to Ohosiah/ there is falsched Ohosiah. And Jehu toke a bowe in his hande & smote Jehozam betwene the shoulders/ & the arrow came out at his breast. And he fel downe the feld in his charet. Then he sayde to Bada-hara a lorde of his/ take & cast him in the plat of ground of Naboth the Jezrahelite. For I remembre as I & thou rode to gether after Ahab his father/ how the Lorde spake these wordes agaynst him: I haue sene yesterday the bloude of Naboth & of his sonnes/ sayd the Lorde/ and I will quyte hym in this ground/ & sayth the Lorde. Now therfore take and cast him in the plat of grounde accordyng to the worde of the Lorde. And when Ohosiah the kyng of Iuda sawe that he fled the waye to the garden house. And Jehu folowed after him & sayde: smyte him also. And they smote him in his charet at the going by to Sur by Gebaam/ & he fled to Bagedo & there dyed. And his seruantes caried him to Jerusalem/ & buried him in his sepulchze w his fathers in the cite of Dauid. And in the xj. yere of Jehozam sonne of Ahab/ beganne Ohosiah to raygne ouer Iuda. And when Jehu was come to Jezrahel/ Jezabel heard of it/ & starched her eyes & tyred her heed & looked out at a wyndow. And as Jehu entered at the gate she sayde: had Samri peace which slew his master? And he left by his eyes to the wyndow & sayde/ who is of my side who? And there looked out to him two of the lordes that were chamberlaynes. And he sayde: throw her downe. And they threw her downe. And he spynkled of her bloude vpon the walles & on the horses/ and troade her vnder fote.

And then when he was come in & had eate & dronche/ he sayde: goo & bylet I praye you/ ponder curst creature/ & burye her/ for she is a kynges daughter. And when they came to burye her/ they founde no moare of her/ then the skulle & the two fete & the two handes. And they came agayne & tolde hym. And he sayde: it is the worde of the Lorde which he spake by the hand of his seruauunt Eliah the chelbite sayig: in the feld of Jezrahel shall dogges eate the flesh of Jezabel/ & the carcas of Jezabel shall be donge vpon the erthe/ in the feld of Jezrahel/ & men shall not saye/ this is Jezabel.

Jehu causeth the lxx. sonnes of Ahab to be slayne/ after that. xij. of his bzyethen. He synneth a meane also to kyll all the whorres of Baal. After his deeth his sonne raygneth in his steade.

The x. Chapter.

And he had lxx. sonnes in Samaria. And Jehu wrote letters/ & sent to Samaria vnto the elders & were lordes of Jezrahel/ & to them that were noursed by Ahabs chyldren sayinge: now at the coming of these letters to you/ ye haue w you your masters sonnes/ & ye haue w you charettes & horses/ & a strong cite & harnesse. Therefore chole the best/ & him the most pleaseth you of your masters sonnes/ & put him vnto the charettes/ & fight for your lordes men wealth: be howse. And they were exceedingly astrapde/ & sayde: se/ two kynges were not able to stande before him/ how shall we then stande? And the thinges as gouernour of the kynges howse & of the cite of the elders and the nourses sent to Jehu sayinge: we are thy seruantes & will do all that thou shalt byd vs: we will make no mā kyng: but do thou what semeth good in thyne eyes. Then

Then he wrote another letter to the sayg:
If ye be myne & wyll obeye my boyce / then take the heedes of poure masters sonnes and come to me to Jerzabel / by to morow thys eyme. And the kynges sonnes were. lxx. personnes with the great men of the cytie which nourysshed the. And when the letter came to them / they toke the kynges chyldre and slue the in nombze. lxx. personnes / and put their heedes in cophines and sent them to hym to Jerzabel. And there cam a messenger & tolde him saying: they have brought the heedes of the kynges sonnes. And he sayde: lett the put the on two heapes in the entereng of the gate/till it be daye.

And in the mornynge he went out & stode & sayde to all the folke / ye be righteouse: for se /
I conspired agaynst my master and slue him:
But who slue these? * cōspyre now how there is nothyng of the Lordes worde fallē to the erthe / which he spake agaynst the house of Ahab: for the Lord hath done that he spake to his seruaunt Eliah. And so Jehu slue all the remayned of the house of Ahab / in Jerzabel / & all that were great with him / & his companyons & his preastes / untill he had left hym naught remayne. And he arose and departed & went to Samaria. And as Jehu was come eue to the house where the sheperdes* bynde their shepe by the waye syde / he met with the brythren of Dhoziah kyng of Iuda / and he sayde: what are ye? & they sayde: the brythren of Dhoziah are we / and go to salute the children of the kyng and of the quene. And he sayde: take them a lyue. And they toke them a lyue / & slue the at the well besyde the house where the shepard bynde their shepe / in nomb-ze. xliij. personnes / that he left none of them.

And when he was departed thence he mett Jehonadab the sonne of Rechab comynge agaynst hym. And Jehu saluted hym & sayde to him: is thyne hert ryghte / as myne hert is with thyne. And Jehonadab sayd: yee that it is. If it be / then gyue me thyne hand. And he gaue his hand / & the other toke him: by to him into the charet & sayde: go w me & se the zeale I haue to the Lord / & made him ryde w him in his charet. And whē he came to Samaria / he slue all the remayned vnto Ahab in Samaria / till he had wypte him out / accorpyng to the sayg of the Lord which he spake to Eliah.

After that Jehu geathered all the people to geather & sayde to the: * Ahab seued Baal a litle: But Jehu shall serue him a good. Now therfore call vnto me all the prophetes of Baal & all his seruantes & all his preast / none be lackyng. For I haue a great sacrefyce to do to Baal: & if any be missed he shall not lyue. But Jehu dyd it for a soteltye / to de-stroye the seruantes of Baal. wherfore Jehu sayde: Apoynte a solempne feast for Baal / & they proclaimed it. Then Jehu sent thowow out all Israel. And all the seruantes of Baal came / that there was not a man left behinde that came not. And when they were come in to the temple of Baal / the temple was full from one ende to another.

Then he sayde to the keeper of the bestre / brynge forth garmentes for the seruantes of Baal. And he brought the out garmentes.
And Jehu went to Jehonadab sonne of Re-chab into the house of Baal: and sayde to the seruantes of Baal: seache and loke that there be none here w you of the seruantes of the Lord / but the seruantes of Baal onlye.
And they went in / to offer sacrefyce & burntofferenges. But Jehu appoynted him foure choze men without & sayde: If any of the men which I shall brynge vnto poure hand escape / he that letteth him go shall dye for hym.

And as lone as he had made an ende of offeryng of burnt sacrefyce / he sayde to them of the garde & to the Lordes: go in & slep the / let none come out. And they smote the w the edge of the swerde. And the garde & the Lordes cast them out / & went vnto the cytie of the house of Baal / & set out the Image out of the house of Baal & burnt it. And they brake the Image of Baal / & brake the house of Baal / & made a lege of it euer after. And so Jehu destroyed Baal out of Israel. But from the synnes of Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat whych made Israel synne with the goulden calves in Bethel and Dan / Jehu departed not.

Then the Lord sayde to Jehu / because thou hast lustely done that pleaseth me / and hast done to the house of Ahab all that was in myne hert / therfore shall thy chyldren in the fourth generacion syt on the seate of Israel. But Jehu cared not to walke in the law of the Lord God of Israel with all his hert: for he departed not from the synnes of Jer-oboam which made Israel synne.

In those dayes the Lord beganne to cut Israel thowte / for Hazael slue them in all the coostes of Israel / from Jordan Eastwarde: euen all the lande of Galaad / the Gadites / the Rubenites and the Manassites / from Arcon vpon the ryuer of Arnon / with Galaad and Basan. The rest of the actes of Jehu / and all he dyd / & all his potyze / are wyttē in the chronicles of the kynges of Israel. And when Jehu was layde to rest w his fathers / they buryed him in Samaria / & Jehoahaz his sonne raigned in his stead. And the tyme the Jehu raig-ned vpon Israel in Samaria / was. xliij. yere

And Athaliah the mother of Dho-

And the seuenth yere Jehoiada sent & set the house of the Lord / and made a bonde with them / and toke an othe of them in the house of the Lord / & shewed the the kynges sonne.

And he commaunded them saying: this is that ye must do: one thirde parte of you shall come on the Saboth daye and kepe the watche of the kynges house: And another thirde parte that is / all that goo oute the Saboth daye /

And the captaynes ouer the hundredes did all thyngs as Jehoiada the preast commaunded: & toke euer y mā his men / that is / the came in the Saboth daye with them that wēt out the Saboth daye / and went to Jehoiada the preast. And the preast gaue to the captaynes ouer hundredes the speares & shyldes & were kyng Dauides & had remayned in the tēple.
And the garde stode euer y mā w his wepen in his hand round aboute the kyng / fro the ryght corner of the tēple to the lefte a long by aulter & the tēple. And he brought oute the sonne of the kyng & put the crowne vpon him / and deliuered him the * witness / & made him kyng & anoynted him. And they clapte their hādes and sayde: God saue the kyng.

That is / the

Deut. xxiij. d.

And when Athaliah heard the noyse of the rummyng of the people / she came to the people into the house of the Lord. And whē she saw the kyng stāde by a pyler (as the maner was) & the syngers & the trompettes by the kyng / & all the people of the lande reioysyng / and the blowyng of the trompettes / she rent her clothes & cryed / treason treason. And Jehoiada the preast commaunded the Captaynes of the hundredes & had the rule of the house / and sayde to the: haue her out without the ranges /

& slay any folow her / let hym dye w the swerde: for the preast sayde / she may not be slayne in the house of the Lord. And they layde hādes on her / & she wēt the waye that the howles of the kynges went out & was slayne there.

And Jehoiada made abonde both betwene the Lord & the kyng / & betwene the people and the Lord / that they shuld be the Lordes people: & also betwene the kyng & the people.
Then all the people of the land wēt into the house of Baal / & destroyed his altars / and brake downe his Images lustely / & slue Ma-than the preast of Baal before the aulter. And the preast set watche men in the house of the Lord / & toke the rulers ouer hundredes & the captaynes & the gard & all the people of the land: And they brought the kyng from the house of the Lord & went the waye of the gate of the garde of the kyngs house. And he sat him downe on the seate of the kynges. And all the people of the Land reioysed / and the cytie was in quiet.
And they slue Athaliah with the swerde in the house of the kyng.

Jehoas maketh prouysson for the repayyng of the temple. He is kyled by. ij. of his seruantes / and Amasiah rayneth in his steade.

The. xij. Chapter.

Jehoas was seue yere olde when he was made kyng. And he beganne to raygne the seuenth yere of Jehu / & raygned fourty yere in Jerusalem. His mothers name was Zebiah Berla-be. And he dyd that pleased the Lord / as long as Jehoiada the preast enformed hym. But they toke not awaye the hillalters / for the people slue & offered styll in the hillalters.

And Jehoas sayde to the preast: all the syluer that is dedicat & brought to the house of the Lord in curraūt moneye / that is to saye / the moneye that euer y mā is set at / with all the moneye that euer y mānes hert geueth him to brynge into the house of the Lord / let the preast take it to the / euer y mā of his aquayntaunce / & let the repayre the broke places of the tēple in all places where ought is found decayed.

Neuer the later the preastes had not meded vnto the. xliij. yere of Jehoas / the was decayed in the temple. Then kyng Jehoas called for Jehoiada the preast & for the other preastes also / & sayde to the: why repayre ye not the broke places of the tēple? Now therfore se ye receaue no moare moneye of poure aquayntaunce / but deliuer it to repayre the temple withall. And the preast consented to receaue no moare moneye of the people: But that it shulde go to the mendyng of the temple.

Then Jehoiada the preast toke a cofre & bozed an hoale in the yd of it / & put it besyde

And they gaue the money by sommes into the handes of the worke men & had & ouer-lyght of the house of & Lord: & they brought it out to & carpenters & buylders & wrought bypon the house of the Lord/ & to masons and hewers of stone/ to bye tymbre & fre stone/ to repaire the decay in & house of the Lord/ & all & that needed repayre in the house: how be it there was not made in the house of the Lord/ booles of siluer/ shredynng knyues/ basens crotyckes/ or any other instrumentes of goulde or syluer/ of & money & was brought for the house of the Lord. For they gaue & to the worke men/ to repaire therewith & house of the Lord. Moreover they rehered not w the men/ into whose handes they deliuered & money to be bestowed on worke men: But they did it euyl of ffolite. How be it trespas money & synne money might not be brought into & house of & Lord/ for it was & preast.

Then came Hazael kyng of Siria/ and fought agaynst Beth & toke it/ & appoynted him self to go by to Jerusalem. But Jehoas kyng of Iuda toke all the dedicat thynges & Jeholaphat/ Jehoah & Ohoziab his fathers kynges of Iuda/ had dedicat/ & & he him self had dedicat/ & all & goulde & coulde be found in the treasure of the house of the Lord/ & of the kynges house/ & sent it to Hazael kyng of Siria: & so he departed from Jerusalem.

The remnaunt of & actes of Jehoas & all he dyd/ are writte in & chronicles of & kyngs of Iuda. And his awne seruantes arose and wrought treason/ & slue Jehoas in the house Melo/ in & waye downe to Sela. Jozabab & sonne of Semaath & Jehoabab & sonne of Somer hys seruante/ smote him/ & he dyed. And they buried him with his fathers in the cite of Dauid. And Amaziah his sonne raigned in his steade.

Jehoahaz the sonne of Jehu is deliuered into the handes of the Sirians/ and dyeth. Joas his sonne raigned in his steade. Eliseus dyeth.

The. xlii. Chapter.

In .xxiiij. yere of Jehoas sonne of Ohoziab kyng of Iuda/ Jehoahaz & sonne of Jehu was made kyng ouer Israel in Samaria/ & continued. xvi. yere. And he wrought wickednesse in the syght of the Lord: for he folowed the synne of Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat which made Israel synne/ & departed not ther fro. Wherefore the Lord was angry with Israel/ and deliuered them into the hande of Hazael kyng of Siria/ and into the hand of Benhadad the sonne of Hazael all their dayes.

But Jehoahaz besought & Lord/ & & Lord heard him. For he had sene & oppremid of Israel/ how the kyng of Siria oppressed them. And therefore & Lord gaue Israel a deliuerer & they wet out fro vnder & handes of the Sirians. And & chylde of Israel dwelt in their tentes as before tyme. Nevertheless they departed not fro the synne of & house of Jeroboam which made Israel synne/ but walked therein. And there remayned a groue also in Samaria. The rest of the actes of Jehoahaz/ & all he did & his powre are writte in the chronicles of the kynges of Israel. And Jehoahaz rested with his fathers/ & they buried him in Samaria/ & Joas his sonne raigned in hys steade. In the. xxxv. yere of Jehoas kyng of Iuda/ begane Joas & sonne of Jehoahaz to raigne ouer Israel in Samaria/ & continued. xvi. yere/ & did unhappely in & syght of the Lord & departed in nothing fro the synnes of Jeroboam & sonne of Nabat that made Israel synne/ but walked therein.

When Eliseus was fallen sycke of & synne/ neede wherof he dyed/ Joas kyng of Israel came to him & wepte to him/ & sayd: O father father & charet of Israel & the horsmen of & same. And Eliseus sayde vnto hym/ bynge boow & arowes. And he brought to him boow & arowes. And he sayde to & kyng of Israel: put thine hand bypon & boowe/ & when he had put his hande bypon the boow/ Eliseus put his handes bypon & kyngs hand. Then he sayde/ open & wyndowe eastward: & he opened. And Eliseus sayde: shote/ & he shotte. And he sayd: the arowe of helpe of & Lord/ & the arowe of helpe agaynst the Syriass/ for thou shalt bete & syriens in Aphek tyll thou haue consumed the.

Then he sayde: take arowes: and he toke. Then he sayde to the kyng of Israel/ smyte the grounde: & he smote thysse & ceased. And the ma of God was angry with him & sayde: thou shouldest haue smytte slue or syre tymes/ and then thou haddest smytten the Syriens tyll thou haddest consumed them: where now thou shalt bete them but thysse.

And Hazael oppressed Israel/ al the dayes of Jehoahaz. But the Lord had merce on the & pytyed them & turned to the/ because of his appoyntmet made with Abrahā/ Isaac & Jacob/ & wolde not destroye them/ ether cast the from him as yet. And when Hazael kyng of Siria was deed/ Benhadad his sonne raigned in his steade. And then Joas the sonne of Jehoahaz wet agayne & toke out of the hande of Benhadad sonne of Hazael/ the cyties which he had taken awaye out of the handes of Jehoahaz his father/ w warre. And thre tymes dyd Joas beate hym and brought the cyties of Israel agayne.

His mothers name was Jehoabab/ & was of Jerusalem. And he dyd that pleased the Lord/ yet not lyke Dauid his father: but dyd in all thyngs as Joas his father dyd. Neither toke they awaye the hillaulters: But & people slue and offered tyll in & hillaulters. And as sone as the kyngdom was setteled in his hande/ he slue his seruantes that killed the kyng his father. But the chylde of those murtherars he slue not/ as it is writte in the booke of the lawe of Moyses/ where the Lord comaunded sayig: * the fathers shall not dye for the chylzens cause/ nor the chylzen for the deades of their fathers: But every man shalbe slayne for his awne synne.

And he slue of & Edomites in the saltbalepe ten thousand/ and toke the towne Sela with strenght of battell/ and called the name of it Jehtheel euer after.

After & Amaziah sent messengers to Joas the sonne of Jehoahaz sonne of Jehu kyng of Israel sayinge: come/ let vs se eche other. But Joas kyng of Israel sent agayne to Amaziah kyng of Iuda sayig: A thistle in Libanō sent to a cypresse tree in Libanō sayig: geue thy daughter to my sonne to wyfe. But & wyde beastes in Libanō wet and troade downe the thistle. Because thou hast beaten the Edomites/ therfore thyne hert ryfeth. Be gloriouse: but tarpe at home. For what nearest thou to prouoke to myscheue/ that thou shouldest be ouerthrowen & Iuda with the.

But Amaziah wolde not heare. And so Joas kyng of Israel went by/ & he and Amaziah kyng of Iuda sawe ether other at Bethlames in Iuda. And Iuda was put to the worke before Israel/ & they fled euery man to his cite. And Joas kyng of Israel toke Amaziah kyng of Iuda/ sonne of Jehoas sonne of Ohoziab/ at Bethlames. And then he wet to Jerusalem/ and brake downe of the walle of Jerusalem from the gate of Ephzaim to & corner gate/ foure hundred cubytes. And he toke all the goulde & siluer & all the vesselles that were founde in the house of the Lord/ and in the treasure of the kynges house/ and hostages therto: & then returned to Samaria agayne.

The rest of & actes of Joas which he dyd/ and his powre/ & how he fought with Amaziah kyng of Iuda/ are writte in the chronicles of the kynges of Israel: & Joas layde him to rest with his fathers and was buried at Samaria amonge the kynges of Israel: & Jeroboam his sonne raigned in his rowme.

Amaziah the sonne of Jehoas kyng of Iuda/ lyued after the deeth of Joas sonne of Jehoahaz kyng of Israel/ fytte yere. And the remanaunt of & deades of Amaziah/ are writte in the chronicles of & kynges of Iuda. And they conspired great treason agaynst him in Jerusalem/ & he fled to Lachis. And they wet after hi to Lachis & slue him there. And they brought him on an horse & he was buried at Jerusalem w his fathers in & cytie of Dauid. * And all the people of Iuda toke Azariah/ which was. xvi. yere olde/ & made him kyng for hys father Amaziah. And he fflyt Ailath and brought it agayne to Iuda/ after that the kyng was layde to rest with his fathers.

The. xv. yere of Amaziah sonne of Jehoas kyng of Iuda/ was Jeroboam sonne of Joas made kyng ouer Israel in Samaria/ and raggued. xli. yere/ and wrought wychednesse in the syght of the Lord: for he turned in nothyng fro the synne of Jeroboam & sonne of Nabat which made Israel synne. He restored & coltes of Israel fro the enterynge of Hemath vnto the see/ in the wyde feldes/ accordyng to the worde of the Lord God of Israel which he spake thowow his seruante Jonah the sonne of Amithai & prophete/ which was of Geth Opher. For the Lord had sene & how that the affliction of Israel was exceeding better/ in so moche & the plesoned & the forsake were at an ende. And there was no helpe vnto Israel. In the. xvij. yere of Phahetiah sonne of Rome-liah kyng of Israel / Ahas sonne of Josham kyng of Juda / beganne to raygne. xx. yere olde was he / when he was made kyng: & raygned xvi. yere in Jerusalem / and dyd not that was ryght in the eyes of the Lorde his God / lyke Dauid his father: But went in the waye of the kynges of Israel / & therto he offered his sonne in fyre / after the abomynacion of the hethen whych the Lorde cast out befoze the chyldren of Israel. And he offered a burnt the fat in the hyllaulters & on the hylls & vnder euery grene tree. ¶ Then Razin kyng of Syria & Phahetiah sonne of Rome-liah kyng of Israel came by to Jerusalem to fight. And they beseged Ahas / but coude not ouercome him. At the same tyme Razin kyng of Syria brought Tilath agayne to Siria / & ryd the Jewes thence. ¶ iij. Reg. x. f.

¶ Then Ahas sent messengers to Teglat Phalasar kyng of Assyria / saying: I am thy seruaunt & thy sonne / come & deliuer me out of the hand of þe kyng of Syria / & out of the hand of the kynges of Israel which are rylen agaynst me. And Ahas toke the syluer & the goulde that was founde in the howse of the Lorde & in the treasure of the kynges howse / & sent it for a rewarde to þe kyng of Assyria. And the kyng of Assyria herkened to hym / & went to Damasco / & toke it / and caried the people awaye to Kir / and slue Razin.

¶ And kyng Ahas went agaynst Teglat Phalasar kyng of Assyria / to Damasco. And when he sawe a certen autler þe was at Damasco / he sent to Azariah the Priest þe patern of þe autler & þe sacry of all the workmanship therof. And Azariah the Priest made an autler in all poyntz lyke to þe patern which kyng Ahas had sent fro Damasco / & had synified it by þe kyngs comyng fro Damasco. And whē the kyng was come fro Damasco & sawe þe autler / he went to it & offered thereon. And he burnt his burnt offering / and sprynckled the blood of his peaceoffryng / and powzed his peaceoffrynges vpon the sayde autler. And the brazen autler þe was befoze the Lorde / * he sett fro befoze the howse / fro betwene þe autler & the howse of the Lorde / & put it on the north syde of the sayde autler.

¶ And the kyng comaunded Azariah þe Priest saying: vpon the great autler set on fyre / in the euē meate of the offerynges / & the kynges burnt sacrifice and his meatoffryng / & the burnt offerings of all the people of the lande & their meatoffryngs & their drynkeoffrynges / & powze thereon all the blood of all maner offrynges. But þe brazen autler shalbe for me / to enquyre with. ¶ And Azariah þe Priest dyd all thyngs as kyng Ahas comaunded hym. And kyng Ahas brake þe sydes of þe botomes & toke þe lauvers fro of the / & toke downe the see fro of þe brazen oxen þe were vnder it / & put it vpon a pavement of stone. And therto the pulpit for the Saboth that they had made in the howse / & þe kynges entrie without turned he to the howse of the Lorde / for feare of the kyng of Assyria. The. xvij. Chapter.

In the. xij. yere of Ahas kyng of Juda / Hosea sonne of Elah beganne to raygne in Samaria vpon Israel / & continued. ix. yere / & dyd þe displeased the Lorde / but not so euell as dyd þe kynges of Israel that were befoze hym. And Salmanasar kyng of Assyria came vpon him / & Hosea became his seruaunt & gaue him presentes. And the kyng of Assyria founde treason in Hosea / because he had sent messengers to Sua kyng of Egypte / & sent no presentes vnto þe kyng of Assyria / as he was perely wont to doo. thre yere. And in the nyntyth yere of Hosea / kyng of Assyria toke Samaria & caried Irael awaye vnto Assyria & put the in Gala-in Babor on the ryuer of Gozan / & in the cities of the Medes. For the chyldre of Israel had synned agaynst the Lorde their God which brought the out of the land of Egypt / fro vnder the hand of Pharaon kyng of Egypt / and feared other Gods. And they walked in the ordinance of the hethen which the Lorde cast out before the chyldre of Israel / & in the things which the kynges of Israel had made. And the chyldre of Israel wrapte the selues in thinges that were not well toward the Lorde their God. And they bylt them highalters in all their cyties / bothe in the towncs where they kept watch and also in the stronge townes.
 And they made them Images & groues on euery hye hill & vnder euery grene tre. And there they sacrificed in the highalters / as did the hethen which the Lorde caried awaye at their comynge / & wrought wicked dedes / to angre the Lorde with all. And they serued Idoles / wherof the Lorde had sayde to them:
 ye shall not do so.

* In the Colones where it is that is in all places / both great and small.

And the Lorde testified to Israel & to Iuda / by all the prophetes & by all the sears saying: Turne fro youre wicked wayes & kepe my commaundementes & myne ordynaunces according to all the lawes which I commaunded youre fathers / & as I sent to you by my seruauntes the prophetes. Notwithstandyng they wolde not heare / but hardened their neckes / lyke to the neckes of their fathers & dyd not beleue the Lorde their God. And they refused his ordynaunces & his appoyntment & he had made in their fathers / & the wynter whych he had wynterred to the / & folowed banys & became bayne / lyke to the hethen that were round aboute them / of which the Lorde had charged the / that they shuld not do lyke the.
 But they lette the commaundementes of the Lorde their God & made the Images of me-tall / euen of calues: & made groues & bowed them selues vnto all the Hoste of heauen / & serued Baal. And they sacrificed their sonnes & their daughters in fyre / & bled wythcraft & enchauntemēt / & were sold to worke wickednesse in the sight of the Lorde / for to angre hit.

* That is / Barres / or planetes

Wherfore the Lorde was exceeding wroth with Israel & put the oute of his sight / that there was left but the trybe of Iuda only / and thereto Iuda kept not the commaundementes of the Lorde their God / but walked in the ordnances of Israel which they had made. Therfore the Lorde cast vnto all the seed of Israel & bered the and deliuered them into the handes of spoylers / vntill he had cast the oute of his sight. And Israel deliuered them selues from the house of Dauid / and made Jeroboam &

sonne of Nabat kyng. which Jeroboam thrust Israel awaye from the Lorde and made the synne agreat synne. And so the chyldre of Israel walched in all the synne of Jeroboam which he had sett by / and departed not ther-from / vntill the Lorde had put Israel awaye oute of his sight / as he sayde by all his seruauntes the prophetes. And so he translated Israel out of their land to Assyria / euen vnto this daye.

And the kyng of Assyria brought fro Babylon & fro Cutha / & fro Aua & fro Demath and from Sepharuaim / and put them in the cyties of Samaria in steade of the chyldren of Israel. And they possessed Samaria and dwelt in the cyties therof. But at the begyn-nyng of their dwelling / they feared not the Lorde. Wherfore the Lorde sent Lyons vpon the which slue the. When men tolde the kyng of Assyria / saying: The nacyns which thou hast translated & put in the cyties of Samaria / knowe not the maner of the God of the lande / and therfore he hath sent Lyons vpon them / which slay them / because they know not the maner of the God of the lande.

Then the kyng of Assyria commaunded sayng: carpe thether one of the prestes which ye brought thence / & let him go & dwell there / & teache the the saccon how to serue the God of the contrey. And then one of the prestes which they had caried thence / wēt & dwelt in Bethel / & taught the how they shulde feare the Lorde. How be it euery naccon made their awne Gods & put the in the houses of the hi-lalters which the Samaritans had made / euery naccon in their cyties where they dwelt.
 The men of Babilon made Socoth / Benoth.
 The men of Cuth made Dergel. They of De-math made Alima. The Euites made Rebahaz / and Charthak. And the Sepharuaites burnt their chyldre in fyre vnto Adramelech and Anamelech / the Gods of the Sepharuaites.
 And though they feared the Lorde / yet they made them prestes of the lowest of the people / for the highalters / which sacrificed for them in the houses of the highalters. And so they feared the Lorde / and yet serued their awne Gods after the maner of the people fro whence they were brought.

Vnto this daye they do after the olde maner: they nether feare the Lorde / nether do after their awne ordynaunces and customes / and after the lawe & commaundement which the Lorde commaunded the chyldren of Israel / and made the appoyntment with them & charged them sayng: feare not any other Goddes / nor bow
 your selues to the / nor serue them / nor sacrifice to them: but to the Lorde which brought you out of the land of Egypt in great powre
 and

& a stretched out arme: hym feare & to hym bowe & to hit do sacrifice. And ordynaunces / customes / lawe & commaundement which I wrote for you / se that ye be diligent to do for euermore / & feare not any other goddes. And the appoyntment & I haue made with you / se ye forget not / and that you feare none other Goddes: but the Lorde your God ye shall feare / & he shall deliuer you out of the handes of all youre enemyes. Now be it they hearde not / but dyd after the olde maner. And eue so dyd these naccons feare the Lorde & serue their ymages therto: & so dyd their chyldren & their chyldrens chyldren to. Euen as dyd their fathers / so do they vnto this daye.

Hezekiah kyng of Iuda putteth downe the brasen

The xliij. Chapter.

In the thirde yere of Hosea sonne of was Abi the daughter of Zachariah / & he dyd that pleased the Lorde in all thyng / lyke to Dauid his father. He put awaye the highalters & brake the ymages & cut downe the gro-ues / & all to brake the brasen serpent & Hoses made. For vnto those dayes the chyldre of Israel dyd burne sacrifice to it / & called it Nethustan. He trusted in the Lorde God of Israel / so that after him came none lyke him amonge all the kynges of Iuda / nether amonge them that went before him. He claue to the Lorde & departed not fro hym / but kept his commaundementes which the Lorde commaunded Moyses. And the Lorde was with hym.

 And whatsoever he toke in hand he dyd it wi-selly. And he rebelled agaynst the kyng of Assyria & serued him not. He bett the Philistines euen vnto Azah & the costes therof / bothe in castles of garisons and stronge cities to.

 kyng of Iuda.

And the fourth yere of kyng Hezekiah / which was the seuenth yere of Hosea sonne of Ela kyng of Israel / came Salmanasar kyng of Assyria vnto Samaria & beseged it.
 And they toke it at the ende of thre yere / which was the sixte of Hezekiah: that is to saye the nyntyth yere of Hosea kyng of Israel / was Samaria wonne. And the kyng of Assyria dyd carie awaye Israel vnto Assyria / & put the in Gala & in Babor on the ryuer of Gozan / & in the cyties of Medes: because they wolde not herke vnto the voyce of the Lorde their God. But trasgessed his appoyntment / & all that Moyses the seruaunt of the Lorde commaunded / & wolde nether heare nor do.

The xliij. yere of kyng Hezekiah came Sennacherib kyng of Assyria agaynst all the stronge cities of Iuda & toke them. Wher vpon Hezekiah kyng of Iuda sent to the kyng of Assyria to Lachis sayng: I haue offended.

 But depart fro me / & what thou puttest on me that wyl I beare. And the kyng of Assyria appoynted vnto Hezekiah kyng of Iuda thre hundred talentes of syluer & thirtie ta-lentes of gould. * And Hezekiah gaue him all the syluer that was founde in the howse of the Lorde and also in the treasure of the kynges howse. And he sayde reason Hezekiah rent of lers / which he sayd Hezekiah kyng of Iuda co-

And the kyng of Assyria sent Tharshan &

 Hezekiah in a great Hoste to Jerusalem. And they went by & came to Jerusalem / & wēt & stode by the conduyte of the hyppermost pole which is in the waye to the fullers felde / and called to the kyng. And there came out to the / Eliakim sonne of Helkiah stuarde of hous-holde & Sobnah the scribe / & Joah the sonne of Asaph / the recorder. And then Rabshakeh sayde to the. Tell ye Hezekiah I praye you: thus sayth the great kyng the kyng of Assyria. What confidence is this that thou hast? thou wilt haply speake a lyght worde / that thou hast counsell & powre to make warre.
 On whome then dost thou trust / that thou rebellest agaynst me: doste thou truste to the staffe of this broke rede Egypte / on which if a man lene it will rene into his hand & perce it. For eue so is Pharaon kyng of Egypte vnto to all that trust on him. * If ye saye vnto me / we trust in the Lorde our God. Is not he whose highalters & other alters / Hezekiah hath put downe / & hath sayde to Iuda & aulter here in Jerusalem.

And now I praye the to my lord & kyng of Assyria / & I wyl deliuer the two thousand horsen / if thou be able to sett ryders vpon the:
 (and if thou be not) how then art thou able to resist one of the leste Dukens of my masters seruauntes? or trustest thou to Egypte for charettes and horsmen? Whoreouer thinkest thou that I am come without the hyddynge of the Lorde to this place to destroye it: naye: the Lorde sayde to me / goo by to this land & destroye it. Then sayde Eliakim the sonne of Helkiah & Sobnah & Joah / to Rabshakeh: speake we praye the to thy seruantes in the Sirians language / for we vnderstande it: & talke not with vs in the Jewes tonge / in the eares of the people that are on the walles. And Rabshakeh sayde vnto them: hath my master

And so Rabshakeh stode and cryed wyth a layinge: heare the saying of the great kynge / the kynge of Assyria. Thus sayth the kynge: let not Hezekiah begyle you / for he is not able to kiah make you trust to the Lorde sayinge: the Lorde shall surely rydd vs / and this cytie shall not be delyuered into the handes of the for thus sayth the kynge of Assyria.

Deale kynndely with me / & come out to me.
And then eate every man of his awne vyne / herke not vnto Hezekiah for he wyll begyle you / sayinge: the Lorde shall delyuer vs. For haue the Gods of the nacyns delyuered any God his lande / out of the hande of the kynge of Assyria: where are the Gods of Hemath & of Arphad: where are the Gods of Sepharuaim of Ana and Auah: did they delyuer Samaria out of myne hand: what God of any land hath delyuered his land out of myne hand: the Lorde shulde delyuer Jerusalem out of myne hand.

But the people helde their peace and answered not him a worde: for the kynge had commaunded sayng: and were hi not. Then Eliakim the stuard of household & Sobnah the scribe and Joah the sonne of Asaph the recorder / came to Hezekiah with their clothes rent & tolde him the wordes of Rabshakeh.

The Angell of the Lorde killeth an hundred foure score and fyue thousand men of the Assyrians. Sennacherib is killeth of his awne sonnes.

The xix. Chapter.

When kynge Hezekiah hearde / he rent his clothes & put on sacke & went to the house of the Lorde. Furthermore he sent Eliakim stuard of household / and Sobnah the scribe / and the elders of the Priestes clothed in sacke / to Isaiah the prophete the sonne of Amoz. And they sayde to hym / thus sayth Hezekiah: this daye is a daye of tribulacion / rebukynge and rapiynge. Euen as whē the chyldre are readye to be bozne / and the mothers haue no power to be delyuered. Whē the Lorde thy God wold heare all the wordes of Rabshakeh whom the kynge of Assyria his master hath sent to rayle on the Lorde thy God / and to rebuke him with wordes which the Lorde thy God hath hearde.
Wherfore lyfte vp thy prayer for the remnant that are left. When the seruantes of kynge Hezekiah were come to Isaiah: Isaiah sayd to the.

So shall ye saye to your master. Thus sayth the Lorde: be not afrayde of the wordes thou heardest / in which the younge men of the kynge of Assyria haue rayled on me. For I will sende him a blast that he shall heare tydings / & so returne to his awne lande: And I wyll ouer-throw him wth the swerde / euē in his awne land.

And Rabshakeh went backe agayne and founde the kynge of Assyria fyghting agaynst Lobnah: for he had hearde how he was departed fro Lachis. And he hadde tydings of Sennacherib kynge of the blacke Moyses / how he was come out to fyght agaynst him. And there vpon he departed & sent messengers vnto Hezekiah saying. Thus saye to Hezekiah kynge of Iuda: let not thy God carpe the out of the waie / in whō thou so trustest sayinge: Jerusalem shall not be delyuered into the hand of the kynge of Assyria. Beholde / thou hast heard what the kynge of Assyria haue done to all landes / how they haue bitterly destroyed them. And how then shuldest thou escape: hath the Gods of the hethen delyuered them which myne aunfreties haue destroyed: as Gozan / Haran / Rezeph / and the chyldren of Eden which were in Chelasar: where is the kynge of Heniath / the kynge of Arphad / the kynge of the cytie of Sepharuaim / and the kynge of Ana and the kynge of Auah.

When Hezekiah had receaued the letter of the hand of the messengers and had redd it: he went into the house of the Lorde and layde it abroade before the Lorde. And Hezekiah prayed before the Lorde & sayde: Lorde God of Israel which dwellest betwene the Cherubes / thou art God alone ouer all the kyngdomes of the earth / & thou hast made bothe heuē & erthe.
Lorde / bow thine eares & heare the word of Sennacherib which hath sent to rayle on the Lorde thy God. But of a truthe Lorde / the kynge of Assyria haue destroyed nacions & their land / & haue sett fyre on their Gods. For they were no Gods / but the worke of the handes of man: euē wood & stone. And therfore they destroyed the. Now therfore Lorde oure God / saue thou vs out of his hand / for all the kyngdomes of the earth maye knowe / that thou Lorde art God alone. And Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sent to Hezekiah saying: thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel: that thou hast prayed to me concernynge Sennacherib kynge of Assyria / I haue hearde it. This is the thyng the Lorde sayth of him: he hath despised the / & his virgine daughter of Sion: he hath mocked his heed at the / thou daughter of Jerusalem: whome hast thou rayled on / and whom hast thou reuiled: Agaynst whom hast thou exalted thy boyce / and hast lyfte vp thyne eyes to hye: Euen

By the hand of the messengers thou hast rayled on the Lorde and sayde: with the multitude of my charettys
I am come by to the height of the mountaynes Euen along by the sydes of Libanon / & haue cut of the Cedartrees & the lustie fyre trees therof euen to the wood of Carmel & belongeth therto. I haue digged a dyoncke straunge waters / and haue dreyed vp with the sooles of my fete poles enclosed.

But hast thou not heard how I haue o-deyned such a thyng a great whylle ago / & haue prepared it from the begynnyng: And now I byrnye it forth & it shalbe to destroye and to byrnye stronge cities in to rude heape of stones. And the inhabitants of them shalbe of litle power / and saynt herted & confounded.
They shalbe lyke the grasse of the felde and grene erbes / and as the hepe on the toppes of the houses which wetherth or it come to any herght. I wote where thou dwellest / and thy cominge out and going in know I to / & how thou settest vp thy byrtelles agaynst me.
And because thou settest vp thy byrtelles agaynst me / and that thy racyng is come vp to myne eares: therfore I will put a rarynge in thy nose and a bytt in thy lippes / and will byrnye the backe agayne the same waye thou camest.

And this shalbe a sygne vnto the: eate this perce of the frutes of the leade that fell out / & the thyde perce some ye and reape / plant vyneyardes & eate the frut therof. For the daughter of Iuda that is escaped and lefte / shall yet agayne take rotynge downewarde & beare frute vppwarde. For out of Jerusalem shall go a remnant / and a nombze that shall escape out of mount Sion: the zeile of the Lorde of Hostes shall byrnye this thyng to passe.

Wherfore thus sayth the Lorde / of the kynge of Assyria: he shall not come to this cytie / nor shote arowe into it / nor come before it / wylde nor cast any bancke agaynst it: but shall go backe agayne the waye he came / & shall not come at his cytie sayth the Lorde. For I will defende this cytie and saue it / for myne awne sake and for Dauid my seruantes sake.

And the selfe same nyght the Angell of the Lorde went out & smote in the hoste of the Assyrans an hundred foure score & fyue thousand And when they were vpperlye in the mornynge: beholde / they were all deed corpes. And so Sennacherib kynge of Assyria auoyded and departed & went agayne / & dwelt at Ninueh.
And as he was in his deuocyn knelyng in the house of Nisroch his God / Adramelech and Sarasar smote him with the swerde. And they escaped into the lande of Ararat / & Asarhadon his sonne racyned in his steade.

Hezekiah is sycke & receaueth the sygne of hys healeth by the dyall of Ahaz. He receaueth rewardes of Berochach / and is repched of Isaiah because he shewed hym the treasure. He dyeth and Manasseh hys sonne racyneth in hys steade.

The xx. Chapter.

Aboute the tyme Hezekiah was sycke vnto the deeth. And the prophete Isaiah sonne of Amoz came to him and sayde to hym. Thus sayth the Lorde: put thine household in an ordze / for thou shalt die & not lyue. And Hezekiah turned his face to the walle & besought the Lorde sayinge: Oh Lorde / remembre yet how I haue walked before the trulpe and with a perfecte herte / & haue done that which is good in thy syght / and wepte a great pace.

And Isaiah was scarce gone out into the middle of the cytie / but the worde of the Lorde came to hym sayinge: turne agayne and tell Hezekiah the capitayne of my people. Thus sayth the Lorde God of Dauid thy father. I haue herd thy prayer & sene thy teares. Beholde I will heale the / & this daye the dayes thou shalt go vp into the house of the Lorde. And I will lengthen thy dayes yet fyftene yere / and will delyuer bothe the and this cytie out of the hand of the kynge of Assyria / & I will defende this cytie for mine awne sake / and for Dauid my seruantes sake. And Isaiah sayde: byrnye a lumpe of fygges. And they brought & put it on the soze / and he recovered.

Then sayde Hezekiah to Isaiah: what is the sygne / the Lorde will heale me / & I shall go vp into the house of the Lorde the thirde daye.
And Isaiah sayde: this sygne shalt thou haue of the Lorde / that the Lorde will do the he hath spoken: shall the shadow go forwarde ten degrees / or go backe agayne ten degrees: And Hezekiah sayde: it is a light thyng for the shadow to go downe ten degrees. Wherfore I will not that: but let the shadow go backewarde ten degrees. And Isaiah the prophete called to the Lorde / & he brought the shadow ten degrees backward by which it had gone downe in the dyall of Ahaz.

The same ceason Berodach Baladan the sonne of Baladan kynge of Babilon sent letters & present vnto Hezekiah / for he hearde how Hezekiah was sycke. And Hezekiah harkened vnto them and shewed them all that was in the spyce house / and his syluer and goulde & odoures & precious oymntes and his armorye & all that was founde in his treasure: there was nothinge in his house or in all his realme / that he shewed them not.

Then came Isaiah the prophete vnto kynge Hezekiah and sayde to him: what saye these men and from whence come they to the: And Hezekiah sayde: they be come fro a farre coun-tree / euen from Babilon. And he sayde: what haue

haue they sene in thy house? And Hezekiah sayde: all that is in my house haue they sene: there is nothyng amonge my treasure that I haue not shewed them. And Josiah sayde to Hezekiah: heare the worde of the Lorde. Beholde the daye shall come / that all that is in thyne house & that thy fathers haue layde by in store vnto this daye / shall be carryed to Babylon / & nothyng shall be left sayth the Lorde. And of thy sonne that proceeded out of the / whych thou begattest / shall there be carryed awaye / & shall be made chambrelayne in the palace of the kyng of Babylon. And Hezekiah sayde to Josiah: wellcome be the worde of the Lorde which thou hast spoken: so that peace and truthe be kept in my dayes.

The remnant of the deades of Hezekiah & all his power / and how he made a pole and a conduite and brought the water into the cytye / are wrytten in the boke of the chronicles of the kynges of Iuda. And Hezekiah layde hym to rest with his fathers / & Manasseh his sonne raygned in his steade.

¶ Whych Manasseh restoreth agayne the Idoles & after dyeth in whole steade: And his sonne succeedeth / which is kyllid of his awne seruantes: After hym raygneth sayth full Josiah.

The xxi. Chapter.

Manasseh was twelue yere olde when he beganne to raygne and raygned fyfte and fyue yere in Jerusalem: his mothers name was Haphzibah. And he did & displeased the Lorde / euen after the abhominacions of the Bethen which the Lorde cast out before the chyldre of Israel. And he went and built the hillalters agayne / whych Hezekiah his father had destroyed. And he rered by alters to Baal and made groues / as dyd Ahab kyng of Israel. And he bowed hym selfe vnto all the hoste of heuen & serued them. And he built alters in the beryhouse of the Lorde / of whych the Lorde had sayde: in Jerusalem I will put my name. And he built alters vnto all the hoste of heuen / euen in two courtes of the house of the Lorde. And he offered his sonne in fyre / & obserued dymall dayes / & used witchcraft and mayntened workers with spites / & tellers of fortunes: & wrought moche wychednesse in the syght of the Lorde to angre hym.

¶ And he put an ymage of a groue that he had made / euen in the bery temple of whych the Lorde had sayde to Dauid & to Salomo his sonne: in this house & in Jerusalem which I haue chosen out of all trybes of Israel / will I put my name for ever. Neither will I make the sete of Israel moue any moare out of the lande which I gaue their fathers: so that they wilbe diligent to do all I haue commaunded them / and all the law that my seruant Moses commaunded them. But they herkened not: for Manasseh had led them out of the waye / to do moare wychedye then did the he-then people which the Lorde destroyed from before the chyldren of Israel.

And the Lorde spake by his seruantes the Prophetz sayinge: because Manasseh kyng of Iuda hath done soche abhominacions / and hath wrought wychedye aboute all that the Amozites which were before him did: & hath made Iuda synne also in his Idoles. Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel: Beholde / I will bringe soche euell vnto Jerusalem & Iuda / & the eares of all that heare it / shall tynge at it. And I will stretch ouer Jerusalem the squarynge lyne of Samaria & the plometh of the house of Ahab. And I will wype out Jerusalem / as a man wolde wype a dyshe / and when he hath wypped it turneth it vpsidowne. And though I leue a remnant of mine enheritaunce / yet I will deliuer the into the handes of the that hate the / & they shall be robbed and spoyled of all their enemyes: eue because they haue done wychedye and haue angred me / since the tyme their fathers came out of Egipte vnto this daye.

And thereto Manasseh shedd innocent blood exceeding aboundant / in so moche that he replenished Jerusalem in all corners / beside his synne wherewith he made Iuda synne & to do euell in the syght of the Lorde.

The rest of the actes of Manasseh & all he did & his synne that he synned / are wrytten in the boke of the chronicles of the kynges of Iuda. And Manasseh layde hym to slepe in his fathers / and was buryed in the garde of his awne house / euen in the garde of Oza: & Amon his sonne raygned in his steade.

Amon was xxi. yere olde when he beganne to raygne / and he raygned two yere in Jerusalem. His mothers name was Heslemeth the daughter of Haru of Jathbah. And he did that displeased the Lorde as his father Manasseh dyd. And he walked in all the waye & his father walked in / and serued the Idoles that his father serued / & bowed hym selfe to them. And he forsoke the Lorde God of his fathers & walked not in the waye of the Lorde.

And the seruantes of Amon conspired agaynst hym / & slue him in his awne house. But the people of the lande slue all that conspired agaynst kyng Amon / & made Josiah his sonne kyng in his rowme. The rest of the actes of Amon which he did are wrytten in the Chronicle of the kynges of Iuda. And they buried hi in his sepulchre in the garden of Oza / & Josiah his sonne raygned in his steade.

¶ After Josiah heard of the boke of the lawe that was founde in the temple / he sendeth to Eldah the Prophetesse for counsell.

The xxii. Chapter

Josiah

Josiah was xiiij. yere olde when he beganne to raygne / & he raygned xxi. yere in Jerusalem. His mothers name was Jedidah & daughter of Adaiah of Bezecath. And he did & seemed right in the syght of the Lorde / & walked in all the wayes of Dauid his father / & bowed nether to the right hande or to the lefte.

And the xviij. yere of his raygne kyng Josiah sent Saphan the sonne of Azaliah the sonne of Mesulam the scribe to the house of the Lorde / sayinge: go to Helkiah the hie preaste / & let hym summe the syluer that is brought into the house of the Lorde / whych the keepers of the doores haue gathered of the people / and let them deliuer it into the handes of the workmen that haue the ouersyght of the house of the Lorde / whych shall geue it to them that worke vpon the house of the Lorde / to repayre the decayed places therof / euen vnto carpenters and masons / and for to bye tymbre and fre stone to repayre the house. Now be it let no rekenyng be made with them of the monye that is deliuered into their handes / but let them do it of their confyence.

And Helkiah the hie preaste sayde to Saphan the scribe. I haue founde the boke of the lawe in the temple of the Lorde / and Helkiah gaue the boke to Saphan / and he red it. And then Saphan the scribe went to the kyng and brought him woorde agayne / and sayde: thy seruantes poyzed out the syluer that was founde in the temple / and haue deliuered it vnto the workmen that haue the ouersyght of the house of the Lorde. Furthermore Saphan the scribe shewed the kyng sayinge: Helkiah the preast hath deliuered me here a boke. And Saphan red it before the kyng.

And the kyng as sone as he had heard the wordes of the boke of the lawe / he rent his clothes and commaunded Helkiah the preast and Ahikam the sonne of Saphan & Achobor the sonne of Michaiah / and Saphan the scribe / and Ashabiah a seruant of the kynges / sayinge: go ye and seeke of the Lorde for me and the people and for all Iuda / concerninge the wordes of this boke that is founde. For it is a great wrath of the Lorde that is kindled vpon vs / that oure fathers haue not herkened vnto the wordes of this boke / to do in all poyntes as it is wrytten therein.

And Helkiah the hie preaste and Ahikam / Achobor / Saphan / Ashabiah went vnto Eldah & Prophetesse wyfe of Selum the sonne of Tekuah the sonne of Haraham keeper of the robes / whych the Prophetesse dwelt in Jerusalem in the seconde warde / and communed with her. And she sayde to the: thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel. Tell the man that sent you to me: thus sayth the Lorde: beholde I will bringe euell vpon this place and on the dwellers therein: euen all the wordes of the boke whych the kyng of Iuda hath red / because they haue forsake me and haue burnt offerynges vnto other Gods / to angre me in all the wordes of their handes. Therefore is that is / my wrath kindled agaynst this place / and their images. Shall not be quenched.

But to the kyng of Iuda which sent you to enquire of the Lorde / so shall ye saye: thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel / as touchyng the wordes whych thou hearest. Because thyne hert dyd melt and thou mekedest thy selfe before me the Lorde / whē thou hearest what I spake agaynst this place and the inhabitants of the same / how that it shuld be destroyed and made a cursed: and tarest thy clothes and wepest before me: of that also I haue hearde sayth the Lorde. And therefore I will receaue the vnto thy fathers & will sett the vnto thy graue in peace / thyne eyes shall see none of the euell which I will bringe vnto the same ge vpon this place. And they brought the kyng woorde agayne.

¶ Josiah readeth Deutoronimye before the people. The fathers are re- putted downe the Idoles / after he had kyllid the created too: preastes therof. He kepeth passouer. He was kyllid in whych may be sayde: and his sonne Jehoaz raygneth in his stea. called the bolso: after he was taken / his sonne Jehoahim was made me of Abraham kyng. Luc. xvi. f.

The xxiii. Chapter.

Ad then the kyng sent and gathered vnto hym all the elders of Iuda and of Jerusalem. And the kyng went by into the house of the Lorde / and all the men of Iuda and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem with hym / & the preastes and the Prophetes and all the people bothe smalle and greate. And he red in the eares of the all the wordes of the boke of the couenaunt / whych was found in the house of the Lorde. And the kyng stode by a pillar & made a couenaunt before the Lorde that they shuld walke after the Lorde / and kepe his commaundementes and his wyntnesses and his ordynaunces with all their hertes and all their soules / and make good the wordes of the sayde apoyntment & were wrytten in the forsayde boke. And all the people consented to the apoyntment.

And the kyng commaunded Helkiah the hie preaste and the inferioure preastes & the keepers of the doore / to bringe out of the temple of the Lorde / all the bestelles that were made for Baal & for the groue & for all the hoste of heuen. And he burnt them without Jerusalem in the felde of Cedron & caried the ashes of them in to Bethel. And he put downe the Camarites which the kynges of Iuda had cladded with set to blacke clothes set to burne offeringes in the hilauters in the cytyes of Juda round about Jerusalem and also the that burnt sacrifices unto Baal to the sonne & to the mone & to the planetes/& to all the Hoste of heauen. And he brought out the groue from the temple of the Lorde without Jerusalem vnto the broke Cedron/& burnt it at the broke Cedron & stampet it to powder & cast the dust thereof vpon the graues of the people of the countrey. And he of the that had brake downe the celles of the malehoyses that were in the house of the Lorde/where the we-men woue lytle houses for the groue.

And he brought all the prestes out of the cities of Juda/ & defiled the hilauters where the prestes did burne sacrifice/euen fro Ga-baa to Berlabee. And he brake downe the hil-auters of the Gates/ that were in the enterynge of the gate of Josua & gouernoure of the cite/whiche were on the lefte hande of the gate of the cite. Neuerthelesse the prestes of the hillautares myght not come at the aulter of the Lorde in Jerusalem/ saue onely they did eate of the swete breade amonge their brethren.

And he defyled Copheth also/ which is in the valeye of the children of Bennom/ because no man shoulde offer hys sonne or hys daughter in fyre to Moloch: he put downe the holtes that the kynges of Israel had geue to the sonne at the entrynge of the house of the Lorde/ in the chambze of Nathannelech the chamber-place npe vnto Jerusalem in the layne which was of Baruarim/ & burnt the charettes of the sonne with fyre. And the aulters that were on the toppe of the parloure of Ahaz which the kynges of Juda had made/and the aulters whych Manasseh had made in the two courtes of the house of the Lorde/the kynges brake downe/ & ranne thence and cast the dust of the in to the broke Cedron.

And the hilauters that were before Jerusalem on the right hand of the moiste Magith/whiche Salomo kyng of Israel built to Ashtaroth the abhominacio of the Sidons and to Chamos the abhominacio of the Moabites/ & to Milchom the abhominacio of the children of Ammon/ the kynges defiled: & brake the ymages & cut downe the groues and spll-lyp doles in. led the places with the bones of men.

Moreouer the aulter that was at Bethel/the hilauter made by Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat whych made Israel synne: bothe the aulter and also the hyl he brake downe and burnt the hyl and stampet it to powder / and burnt the groue. And as Josiah turned hym selte/ he spied the graues that were in the moiste and sent a fett the bones out of the graues & burnt them vpon the aulter & polluted it ac-cordinge to the worde of the Lorde that the man of God had proclaymed/whiche openlye had denounced the same thynges.

Then the kynges sayde: what meaneth pou-der graue stone that I se. And the men of the cytie tolde him/ it is the sepulchze of the man of God/whiche came from Juda and openlye denounced the selfe same thynges that thou hast done to the aulter of Bethel. And he sayde let hym be: se that no man moue hys bones.
And to his bones scaped with the bones of a Prophete that came out of Samaria.
And therto all the houses of the hilauters of the cities of Samaria whych the kynges of Israel had made/ to angre with all: Josiah put out of the waye & dyd to the in all poyntes as he did in Bethel. And he sacrificed all the prestes of the hilauters that were there euen vpon the aulter/ & burnt mennes bones vpon the/ and returned to Jerusalem.

And the kynges commaunded all the people saying: kepe the feast of passouer vnto the Lorde your God/ as it is wrytten in the booke of this covenant. For there was no passouer holden lyke that/ from the dayes of the iudges that iudged Israel/ and thow out all the dayes of the kynges of Israel and of Juda. And in the .xxviii. yere of kyng Josiah was this pas-souer holden to the Lorde in Jerusalem.

And therto workers in sprites/soothsayers ymages of witchcraft/ & doles and all other abhominacions that were tpyed in the lande of Juda and in Jerusalem/ Josiah put out of the waye/ to make good the woordes of the lawe/whych were wrytten in the booke that Helkiah the preaste founde in the house of the Lorde: like vnto him was there no kyng before hym/ that turned to the Lorde with all his herte/ with all his soule & all hys myght/accordinge to all the lawe of Moyses/ nether after him arose there any soche.

Not withstandinge the Lorde turned not from his fearce and great wrath wherewith he was angrie agaynst Juda vpon all the pro-uocations that Manasseh prouoked hym.
But the Lorde sayde: I will put Juda too/ out of my syght/ as I haue done Israel/ & will cast of this cytye Jerusalem whych I haue chosen/ and the house of which I haue sayde/my name shalbe there.

The rest of the dedes of Josiah and all he did are wrytten in the booke of the Royses of the kynges of Juda.

In his dayes Pharaos Decoh kyng of Egypt went agaynst the kyng of Assyria to the ryuer of Euphrates. And kyng Josiah went agaynst him/ and was slayne of him at Magedo when he had sene him. And his seruants carped him deed from Magedo and brought him to Jerusalem & buried him in his stone se-pulchze. And the people of the lande toke Jehoahaz the sonne of Josiah & anoynted him & made him kyng in hys fathers towne.

And Jehoahaz was .xiii. yere olde when he beganne to raygne and raygned thye monethes in Jerusalem. Hys mothers name was Hamital the daughter of Jeremiah of Lobnah. And he dyd that displeased the Lorde/ in all thynges as his fathers had done. And Pha-raos Decoh put him in bondes at Reblah in the lande of Hemath/ in the tyme of hys raygne in Jerusalem/ and put the lande to a tribute of an hundred talentes of syluer and a talent of golde. And Pharaos Decoh made Eliakim the sonne of Josiah/ kyng in the rowme of Josiah his father/ and turned hys name to Je-hoakim/ and toke Jehoahaz awaye whych he when he came to Egypte dyed there.

And Jehoakim gaue the syluer & the golde to Pharaos: how be it he taxed the lande/ to geue the moneye at the commaundement of Pharaos.
And as euery man was set at / so he required the syluer and the goulde of the people of the lande/ to geue Pharaos Decoh. Jehoakim was .xxv. yere olde when he beganne to raygne/ & he raygned .xi. yere in Jerusalem. Hys mother was named Zedbah the daughter of Pha-dajah of Ramah. And he dyd that was euell faoured in the syght of the Lorde/ like in all thynges as did his fathers.

Jehoakim dyed/ and after him succedeth Jehoacin Jerusalem is beleaged of the Babylonians. Jehoacin yeldeth him selfe to the kyng of Babylon. And in hys rowme cam Mathaniah/ which was called Zedekiah.
The .xxiii. Chapter.
In his dayes came Nabuchodonozor kyng of Babylon/ & Jehoakim became his seruant thye yere / and then turned and rebelled agaynst him. And the Lorde sent vnto him men of warre out of Caldey/ out of Siria/ out of the Moabites/ and fro the children of Ammon: & sent them into Juda/ to destroye it / accordinge to the sayinge of the Lorde which he spake by his seruantes the Prophetes. Only at the bydyng of the Lorde happened it so to Juda/ to put the out of his syght/ for the synne of Manasseh accordinge to all he dyd: and for the in-

And he did that displeased the eyes of the Lorde

And the kyng of Babylon toke hym / in the

And he carped out thence all the treasure bilon. And all the me of actiuite to the nūbre of seuen thousande/ & craftsmen and ioyners & thousand/ all stronge & apte for warre/ did the kyng of Babylon bringe to Babylon to dwell.

And the kyng of Babil made Mathaniah hys fathers brother/ kyng in his steade/ and chaunged his name & called him Zedekiah.

Zedekiah was .xxi. yere olde when he be-ganne to raygne & he raygned .xi. yere in Je-

2. Reg. 59. a.

A As David dwelt in his house he sayde to Nathan the prophete: loo / I dwell in an house of Cedar tree: and the Arche of the Lordes couenant dwellyth vnder curtaynes. And Nathan sayde to David: do all that is in thyne herte / for God is with the.

But the same nyght & worde of God came to Nathan saying: go and tell David my seruante / thus sayth the Lorde / thou shalt not buyde me an house to dwell in. For I haue dwelt in no house sence I brought out & chyldren of Israel vnto this daye: But haue gone from tent to tent & from one tabernacle to a nother. Nether in anye place wherfoeuer I haue walked thowow out all Israel / spake I euer one worde to anye of the iudges of Israel which I commaunded to fede my people / saying: why buyde ye me not an house of Cedar tree? Now therfore thus saye vnto my seruant David: thus sayth & Lorde of Hostes

I toke the out of the pasture fro after shepe / & thou shuldest be capitayne ouer my people Israel. And I haue bene with the in all thou tokest in hand / and haue wedded out all thyne enemyes out of thy syght / and haue made & a name lyke the name of the greatest men of the erthe. And I wyll ordayne a place for my people Israel and wyll make it faste / & they shall dwell vnder it & shall moue no moare. Nether shall the chyldre of wickednesse bere them any moare as at the begynnyng / and sence the tyme I commaunded iudges to be ouer my people Israel / & wyll bypunge vnder all thyne enemyes / for I tolde the & the Lorde wold buyde the an house.)

But when thy dayes be expired / & thou must go after thy fathers / I wyll sett by thy lead after the / which shall be of thy sonnes & wyll settle his kyngdome. He shall buyde me an house / and I wyll stablye the hys seate for euer. I wyll be hys father and he shall be my sonne / and I wyll not put my mercede awaye from him as I dyd from him that was before the. But I wyll sett him in myne house and in my kyngdom for euer / and his seate shall be sure for euer.

When Nathan had tolde David accordyng to all these wordes / & to all this vision / kyng David wet & sate him before & Lorde & sayd: what am I O Lorde God & what is myne householde / that thou hast promoted me thus ferre. And yet this seemed lyttel in thyne eyes O God. But that thou shuldest speake of thy seruantes house for a great whyle to come: & hast looked vpon me as vpo a ma of hye degree O Lorde God. What can David desyre moare of the / wherin thou shuldest make thy seruant moare gloriouse? Thou knowest thy seruant: And Lorde for thy seruantes sake / eue accordyng to thyne atone hert thou hast done all this magnificence / to shew all bounteousnesse Lorde / there is none lyke the / no / anye God saue thou / accordyng to all & we haue hearde in oure eares. Moreouer what nacjon on the erth is lyke thy people Israel / which God wet and redeemed to be hys atone people / and to make the a name of excellencie and terriblenesse / with castyinge out nacjons from before thy people / for euer / and thou Lorde art become their God.

And now Lorde the thyng thou hast spokē concernyng thy seruante & his house be true for euer / and do as thou hast sayde. And thy name continue & waxe great for euer / that it be sayde: the Lorde of Hostes / & God of Israel is God in Israel / and the house of David thy seruante be stable before the. For thou Lorde hast tolde thy seruante / & thou wilt buyde him an house. And therfore thy seruant hath founde in his herte to praye before the. And now now Lorde thou arte the very God / and hast promysed this goodnesse vnto thy seruante. Now therfore go to and blesse & house of thy seruante / that it maye contynue before the for euer. For what thou blessest O Lorde & is blessed for euer.

And he bett the Moabites / and the Moabites became Davids seruantes and payde hym tribute. And David bett Hadadezer kyng of Zobah vnto Hemath / as he wet to bypunge his domynyon vnto the ryuer Euphrates. Then sayde David / I wyll shew kyndnesse vnto Hanon & sonne of David / because hys father dealt kyndlye wyth me: And therupon David sent messengers to comforte him ouer the deeth of his father. And when the seruantes of David were come into the land of & chyldre of Ammon to Hanon to comforte him / the Lordes of the chyldre of Ammon sayde to Hanon: thynkest thou that David dothe honoure thy father in thy syght / & he hath sent comforters vnto &? Naye / but it is to seache & ouerthrow & to spee out the land / & his seruantes be come vnto the. Wherupon Hanon toke David seruantes & shaued them / and cut of their cootes harde by their bottoches & sent them awaye. And there went & tolde David how the men were serued. And the kyng sent to mete them / for the men were excedynge a shamed / and sayde: tarpe at Jericho vntill poure beerdes be growen / and then returne.

And when the chyldren of Ammon saw & they stanke in the nose of David / Hanon / & the chyldren of Ammon sent a thousand talents of syluer to hye them charettes and horsemen out of Mesopotamia & out Siria Maacah & out of Zobah. And they hyed xxxij. thousande charettes / & & kyng of Maacah & his people / which came & pyched before Madaba. And the chyldre of Ammon gathered the selues to geather fro their cyties & went out to battel. And as sone as David hearde of it / he sent Joab with all & hoste of stronge men. And & chyldre of Ammon came out and put them in araye to battell before & gate of the cytye. And the kynges that were come kepte the by them selues in the felde.

When Joab saw that & fronte of the battell was before him and after / hechole out of all the youthe of Israel and put the in araye agaynst & Sirriens. And & rest of & people he despyered vnto Abisai his brother / & they shulde put them selues in araye agaynst the chyldre of Ammon / & sayde: If the Sirriens be to stronge for me / succoure me / and if the chyldren of Ammon be to good for the / I will helpe the. Lucke by thyne herte and lett vs playe the men for oure peoples sake and for the cyties of oure God / & the Lorde do what semeth him beste. ¶ The people are punnyshed wth pestilence/ because David caused them to be nombred: so that there dyed lxx. thousand men.

¶ And Satan stode by agaynst Is- rael/ & perswaded David to num- bze Israel. And David sayde to Joab & the rulers of þe people/ go ye and numbre Israel fro Bersabe to Dan/ and bynge it to me that I maye knowe the numbre of the. And Joab answered the Lord make thy people an hundred times so manye mo as they be. But my Lord kyng/are they not all my Lord's seruantes? why then doth my Lord requyre this thyng? why shulde my Lord be a cause of trespass to Israel?

¶ Neuerthelater the kyng's word p̄sualed agaynst Joab. And Joab toke hys waye and went thozow out all Israel/and came to Je- rusalem and gaue the numbre of the counte of þe people vnto David. And all Israel were in numbre. a thousand thousande & an hun- dred thousande men þe due swerde: and Ju- da was. cccc. lxx. thousand me þe due swerde. But the Leuites and Beniamin he counted not among the. For the kynges deade semed abomynable to Joab. And the Lord was dis- pleased with this thyng/ and smote Israel. Then sayde David to God: I haue synned excedyngly in doyng this thyng. Neuer- thelesse yet do a waye the wekednesse of thy seruante/ for I haue done aboute measure folyshe.

¶ And the Lord spake vnto Gad Davids fear of byssons sayinge: goo and tell David sayng. Thus sayth the Lord: I geue the þe choise of thre thynges:chose the one of them/ that I maye do vnto the. And Gad came to David & sayd vnto him: Thus sayth þe Lord. Chose the eiber thre yeres famyngment/ or thre monethes to be consumed of thyne ad- uerlaries/ the swerde of thine enemies ouer- takynge the: or else the swerde of the Lord thre dayes and pestilence in the lāde/ the An- gell of the Lord destroyng thozow out all þe costes of Israel. And now aduyle thy selfe what worde I shall bynge agayne to hym that sent me. And David sayde to Gad/ I am in an excedyng straitte. But let me fall in to the hand of the Lord/ for passynge great is his mercye/and lett me not falle into the handes of men.

¶ And the Lord sent pestilence vpon all Is- rael/so þe there were overthzowen of Israel lxx. thousande men. And God sent the Angell to Jerusalem to destroye it. And as he was about to destroye/ the Lord behelde and had compassion on the wretchednesse/and sayde to the Angell that destroyed/ it is ynoughe/ now cease thyne hand. And the Angell of the Lord

¶ The Lord stode by the thresynge floure of Dy- nan þe Jebusite. And David lyfte by his eyes & saw þe Angell of the Lord stāde betwene the erthe and heauen w a drawen swerde in his hande stretched out towarde Jerusalem. Then fell David & the elders of Israel clo- thed in sacke vpon their faces. And David sayde vnto God: Is it not I that comaunded to numbre þe people? And I am he that haue synned & done euell in dede. But what haue these thepe done? let thyne hande therfoze O Lord God/ be on me & on my fathers house/ and not on thy people to destroye them.

¶ And the Angell comaunded Gad to saye to David/that David shulde go & reue by an auter vnto the Lord/ in the thresynge floure of Dynan the Jebusite. And David went at the sayng of Gad which spake in the name of the Lord. And Dynan turned aboute and saw the Angell/ & his foure sonnes with him/ & hyd the selues: for Dynan was thresynge whete. And David came to Dynan. And whē Dynan loked and saw David/ he wēt out of þe thresynge floure & bowed hym selfe to Da- uid with his face to the grounde.

¶ And David sayde to Dynan: geue me the place of the thresynge floure/ that I maye buyde an auter therein vnto þe Lord. Let me haue it for as moche money as it is worthe/ that the plage maye cease fro þe people. And Dynan sayde to David: take it to the/ and let my Lord kyng do that semethe good in hys eyes. Se/ I geue the oxen for a burnt sacre- fyce/ & the thresynge fleades for wodde/ & wheate for meate offering: I geue it all. But kyng David sayde to Dynan: not so/ but I will bye it for as moche moneye as it is worthe. I will not take þe which is thyne/ for þe Lord/ & offer burnt offryngs without coste.

¶ And so David gaue to Dynan for þe place cycles of goulde. vi. hundred by waight. And David buyt there an auter vnto the Lord & offered burnt offrynges & peace offrynges/ & called vnto the Lord & he hearde hym fro heauē in fyze vpon the auter of burnt offe- ryng. And the Lord comaunded þe Angell to put by his swerde agayne into þe sheathe of it. At that tyme whē David saw/ þe Lord had hearde him in the thresynge floure of Dynan þe Jebusite: he bled to offer there for þe tabernacle of þe Lord which Moles made in the wyldernesse/ & the auter of burnt offe- ryng were at that ceason in the byll at Ga- baon. And David coude not go before it to seke God/ because he was aferde of þe swerde of the Angell of þe Lord. And David sayde: this is the house of the Lord God/ and thys is the burnt offryng auter for Israel.

¶ David willeth his sonne Salomon to bylde þe temple of þe Lord/ which thyng he him self was forbydden to do.

¶ The. xxii. Chapter.

¶ And David comaunded to geather all the straungers þe were in the land of Israel/ and sett hewers to hew stone/ to buyde the house of God. And David prepared p̄ctie of yron for nay- les to the dozes of the gates & to ioyne w all/ & abundance of bzaile without waighte/ & of Cedar trees without numbre. For the Zi- dons and they of Tyre brought moche Cedar wood to David. For David thus thought/ Salomon my sonne is younge & tender/ and the house that is to be buyt for the Lord/ must excede in greatnesse/ that it maye be spoken of and prayled in all landes. I will therfoze make ordinaunce for it. And so Da- uid prepared abundance before his deathe.

¶ And he called Salomō hys sonne & char- ged him to buyde an house for þe Lord God of Israel: And David sayd to Salomō: my sonne/ I had in myne hert to buyde an house vnto þe name of the Lord my God. But the worde of the Lord came to me sayinge: thou hast shed moche bloude/ and hast made many battelles/ thou shalt not buyde an house for my name/ for thou hast shed moche bloude to þe erthe in my syght. Beholde a sonne shalbe bozne þe which shalbe a mā of reste/ for I will geue him rest from all hys enemyes rounde about. And his name shalbe Salomō: for I will sende rest & peace vnto Israel i his dayes. He shal buyde an house for my name/ & he shalbe my sonne/ & I will be his father/ & I will stablishe þe seate of his kyngdom vnto Israel for euer. Now my sonne/ the Lord be wth the/ & thou mayste prosper & buyde þe house of þe Lord thy God/ as he hath sayde of þe. And the Lord geue the wyldome & vnderstanding/ & make the gouerner of Israel/ and to kepe the lawe of the Lord thy God. For then thou shalt prosper: If thou shalt be diligent to do the ordinaunces & lawes which the Lord charged Moles w to deliuer to Israel. Bluc- ke by thyne hert & be strōge/ dread not nor be discouraged. Beholde in myne aduersite I haue prepared for the house of the Lord an hundred thousand talentes of goulde & a thou- sand thousand talēt of syluer/ & as for bzaile & yron it canot be numbred/ it is so moche. And I haue prepared timbre & stone/ & thou shalt proude moare therto. Whereouer thou hast workemen pnowe & masons & carpenters to worke in stone & timbre/ & all maner of wise mē for whatsoeuer worke it be. And of goulde syluer/ bzaile & yron there is no numbre. Wp therfoze & set by the/ & þe Lord shalbe w the.

¶ And David comaunded all the Lordes of Israel/ to helpe Salomō hys sonne sayinge/ Is not þe Lord youre God w you? & hath he not geue you rest on euery syde? for he hath geue þe inhabytours of þe lād into myne had.

The .xxiiii. Chapter.

The deupyon of þe sonnes of Aar: Nadab / Abihu / Eleazar and Jthamar. * But Nadab and Abihu dyed by the Lord / before their father and had no chyldren. And Eleazar and Jthamar were the prestes. And David ordered them on this maner: Zadock of the sonnes of Eleazar and Ahimelek of the sonnes of Jthamar to be in office by course. And there were moightie heedes founde of the sonnes of Eleazar then of the sonnes of Jthamar. And they deuyded them into .xvi. heedes of auncient householdes of the sonnes of Eleazar / & eight of þe sonnes of Jthamar. And they put them in order by lott / one with another that there shulde be rulers in the sanctuarie and Lordes before God as well of the sonnes of Jthamar as of the sonnes of Eleazar. And Semei the sonne of Nathaneel the scribe of the Levites wrote them before the kynge & þe Lordes / & before Zadock the preste and Ahimelek the sonne of Abiathar / & before the auncient heeds of þe prestes / & of þe Levites: one prync pall household for Eleazar & one for Jthamar.

They came and brought out of Egypt a charet for syre hundred cycles / and an horse for an hundred & a cycle. And so brought they to all þe kynges of the Hethites and to the kynges of Siria thow the handes of the sayde marchautes. Salomon sendeth to Hiram the kyng of Tyre for wood and workmen. The. seconde Chap.

And Salomon determined to builde an house for the name of the Lord / & an house for his kyngdome: and to orde out thre thore and ten thousande men to beare burdens and foure thousande to heve in the mountayne / & thre thousande and syre hundred to ouer se them.

ij. Reg. v. a

* And Salomon sent to Hiram kyng of Tyre sayyng: As thou dydest deale w Dauid my father & dydest send him Cedar wodde / to bylde him an house to dwelle in / euen so deale with me now: that I may bylde an house for the name of þe Lord my God / to consecrat it to him to burne swete odoures & to sett shewbreed befoze him perpetuallye / & for burnt sacrifice moynynge & euenynge / & on the Saboth dayes / & the first daye of euery new mone / & in þe solempne fest of þe Lord oure God / so to cōsynew euer in Israel. And þe house which I bylde is great: for great is oure God aboue all Gods: So that who can be able to builde him an house: whē that heuē / nether heauen aboue all heauens is able to receaue hi / what am I then that I shulde bylde him an house? nay / but to burne sacrifice befoze him: sende me now therfore a conynng mā to worke in goulde / syluer / bzaile / yron / scarlet / cremosyn & facincte coloure / & þe can skille to graue / to be in the conynng men þare w me in Iuda and Ierusalem / which Dauid my father dyd prepare. And send me also Cedar trees / firre trees & * Algume trees out of Libanon. For I wote well thy seruantes can skille to heve tymbze in Libanon. And se / my men shalbe with thyne / þe they maye prepare me tymbze ynough. For þe house which I bylde is great & wonderfull. And beholde / I sent for thy seruantes the cutters & hewers of tymbze. xx thousand quarters of beate whete / & xx thousand quarters of barleye / & xx thousand bathes of wyne / & xx thousand bathes of oyle.

* Some reade.
For all of þe

And Hiram kyng of Tyre answered in wyrtynge & sent to Salomon: because þe Lord loueth his people / therfore he hath made the kyng ouer the. And Hiram sayde mozeouer: blessed be the Lord God of Israel which hath made bothe heauē & erthe / & he hath geuen Dauid þe kyng a wyfe sonne þe hath discrecion & vnderstandynge / to buylde an house for the Lord / & another for his kyngdom. And now I haue sent a wyfe mā & a mā of vnderstandynge called Hiram Abi / & is the sonne of a woman of the daughters of Dan (how be it his father was a Tyrian) & he can skille to worke in gould / syluer / bzaile / yron / stone / tymbze / scarlet / facincte / bylle & cremosyn: & graue all maner of grauings / & to fynde out all maner sotle worke þe shalbe sett befoze hym / w thy conynng men / & w thy conynng mā of my Lord Dauid thy father. And now the whete / barleye / oyle & wyne which my Lord hath sayde / let him sende his seruantes. And we will cut wood oute of Libane / as moche as thou shalt nede / & we will bynne it to þe in shippes by see to porthe Tappo: & thēce thou mayst carye the to Ierusalem. And Salomon numbred all the straungers that were in the lande of Israel / after the tyme his father Dauid had numbred the. And they were founde an hundred & a liij. thousande and syre hundred. And he set lxx. thousand of the to beare burthens / and lxxx. thousand to heve in þe mountayne / and thre thousande and syre hundred to couerage and to set the people a worke.

The temple of the Lord and the porche are bylde / with other thynges ther to belongyn.

The. iij. Chapter.

And Salomon begane to buylde þe house of the Lord at Ierusalem in the mount Moztah / which was shewed Dauid his father whē he prepared a place in the thredynge floure of Oman the Jebusite. And he began to builde the seconde daye of the seconde monethe þe fourth yere of his raygne. And this is þe foundation of Salomon in buyldynge þe house of God. The length was thre thore cubytes after þe olde cubyt / & þe bredeth. xx. And þe porche at þe ende was as large as the house bredeth. xx. cubytes: & the height was an hundred & a xx. cubytes. And he ouerlayed it on þe ynnere syde w pure goulde.

And the great house he tyld w fyre tree / & ouerlayde it w good gould / & graued therto paulmetrees and cheynes. And he paued the house w pectious stone goodlye. And it was goulde of Pharaunim. And he ouerlayde the house: bothe beames / postes / walles & dozes w gould / & graued Cherubes by þe walles.

And he made þe house moost holpe / whose length was. xx. cubits lyke to þe bredeth of þe house / & þe bredeth therof was also. xx. cubits. And he ouerlayde it w þe best gould / & dyne to þe summe of. vi. hundred talent. And þe waight of þe nayles of gould was therto fiftie cycles. And he ouerlayde þe upper chabres w gould.

And he made in the house moost holpe two Cherub of image worke / & ouerlayde the w gould. And þe wynges of þe Cherubes were

xx. cubytes longe. The one wyng was fyue cubytes & touched the walle of the house / & the other wyng was lyke wyse fyue cubytes & touched þe wyng of the other Cherub. And the one wyng of þe other Cherub was fyue cubytes / & touched the walle of the house / & þe other wyng was fyue cubytes also / and raught to þe wyng of the other Cherub. So þe wynges of the sayde Cherubes raught xx. cubits. And they stode on their fete & looked inward. And he made a fore hanging of facincte coloure / of scarlet / cremosyn & bylle: & caused Cherubes to be boudered thereon. And he made befoze the house two pylers of xxx. cubyt longe. And þe heed þe was aboue on the toppe of one of the was fyue cubytes. And he made loche chaynes as was in the quere / & put the on þe heedes of þe pylers / & made an hundred pomegranates & put the on þe cheynes. And he rered by þe pylers befoze þe temple: one on the ryght hand & another on þe lefte / & called þe ryght Jachin & þe lefte Boaz.

The alter of bzaile / the see / the vessels to walthe with / the candlestykcs. &c.

The. iij. Chapter.

And he made an alter of bzaile. xx. cubytes longe & xx. cubyt bzoade and ten cubyt hye. * And he cast a bzaile see of ten cubyt fro byrm to byrm / & rounde in copase & fyue cubytes hye: and a lyne of. xxx. cubytes myght haue copaled it rounde aboute. And the facyon of oren dyd compase it rounde aboute vnder it: that is to wete / two rowes of oren cast when it was caste dyd copase that see whych was ten cubyt wyde / rounde aboute. And it stode also vpon twelue oren: of whych thre looked North / thre west / thre Southe & thre West / and the see vpon them aboue an hye / and the hinder partes of the inward. And þe thickest of it was an hand bredde / & the byrme lyke þe byrm of a cuppe / w floures of sylues. And it receaued & helde the thousande bathes.

And he made ten lauers: & put fyue on the ryght hand & fyue on the lefte / to walthe with all. And in them they thrust the fleshe of the burntofferynge. But the see was for the preastes to walthe in. And he made ten candlestykcs of goulde in their facyons / & put them in the temple: fyue on the right hande & fyue on þe lefte. And he made also ten tables and put them in the temple: fyue on þe ryght syde and fyue on the lefte. And he made an hundred balens of goulde. And he made the courte of the preastes / and the great courte and dozes to it: and ouerlayde þe dozes of the w bzaile. And he set the see in the ryght syde of the West ende / to warde the Southe. And Hiram made postes / houelles and balens.

And Hiram fyned the worke he made for kyng Salomon vnto the temple of God: The two pylers with their scalpes of þe two heedes that were on the toppes of þe pylers: and the two wynges to couer þe two scalpes of the heedes that were on the toppes of the pylers: and foure hundred pomegranates for the two wynges / two rowes of pomegranates for euery wyng / to couer þe two scalpes of the heedes that were on the pylers. And he made bottomes / and lauers vpon the bottomes: and þe see with twelue oren vnder it. And therto postes / houelles / flesch hokes / & all their vessels dyd Hiram Abi make for kyng Salomon for the house of the Lord / of bryght bzaile. In the playne of Jordā dyd þe kyng cast the / in the thicke erthe / betwene Socoth & Jaredatha. And made of all these vessels so myghtye greete aboundaunce / þe weight of bzaile coude not be rekenede.

And Salomon made all the vessels that pertayned to the house of God: the goulde aulter and the tables with the shew breede vpon the / the candlestykcs with their lampes to burne after the maner befoze the quere / & that of pure goulde / and the floures and the lampes / and the snuffers were goulde / & that perfecte goulde: and the bryngynge knyues / balens / spones and centers of pure goulde. And the ynnere dozes of þe place moost holpe / and the dozes of the temple to / were goulde. And so was all the worke that Salomon made for the house of the Lord fyned.

And when the worke þe Salomon made in the house of the Lord was fyned: then Salomon brought in the gyftes dedycat by Dauid his father / the syluer and the goulde and all the Jewelles / and put them amonge the treasure of the house of God.

After the fore houses and the Arche were put in þe temple: the glope of the Lord fylled the temple.

The. v. Chapter.

And Salomon geathered the elders of Israel to geather and all þe heedes of the trybes and auncient. ij. Reg. v. g. And he called the Lordes amonge the chyldre of Israel vnto Ierusalem: to bynne the Arche of the couenant of the Lord oute of the cytie of Dauid which is Zion. And all the men of Israel resorted vnto the kyng in the feast of the seuen the monethe. And whē all the elders of Israel were come / the Leuites toke by þe Arche. And þe preastes & the Leuit brought away the Arche & þe tabernacle of witness / and all the holy vessels that were in the tabernacle. And kyng Salomon and all the cōgregacion of Israel that were assembled vnto him befoze the Arche / offered shepe and oren / so manye that they coude not be tolde or numbred for multitude.

And the preastes brought þe Arche of the

x. liij. appoynt.

appoyntmēt of the Lorde vnto his place in the quere of the temple & place most holpe: eue vnder the wyngs of the Cherubes/ & the Cherubes stretched out their wynges ouer the place of the Arche & covered the Arche & her stauers aboue on hye. And the stauers of the Arche were so longe/ & they were sene alytle before the quere/ but not farre without. And there it remaineth vnto this daye. Moreover there was nothing in the Arche saue the two tables which Moyses put therein at Horeb/ when the Lorde made a couenaunt wth the chyldre of Israel/ after they were come out of Egypt. And whē the prestes were come out of the holy place (for all the prestes were founde sanctified the selues & wold not wayte by courtie) But the Leuites euerie one of the that were vnder Asaph/ Heman and Iudithun/ & amonge their chyldren & byethen/ were arrayed in bylle and lange with Symbales/ Psalteries & harpes standyng east from the aulter/ & with the an hundred and xx. prestes blowyng tropettes. And the trompette blowers & the syngers so agreed/ that it semed but one voyce in pray- syng & thankyng the Lorde. And as the voyce of the trompettes/ symbales & instrumentes of melodye arose/ & as they prayed the Lorde/ howe he was good & his mercede lasteth euer/ the house of the Lorde was fylled wth a cloude: so that the prestes coude not endure to mynister by the reason of the cloude. For the glorie of the Lorde had fylled the house of God. The wordes of Salomon to the people/ & the prayer he made to God.

The. vii. Chapter.

When Salomon sayde: the Lorde hath spokē it/ howe he will dwell in darcknesse. And I haue buyt an habytacyon for the Lord/ & a place to dwell in for euer. And the kynge turned his face & blessed the hole congregacion of Israel/ and all the congregacion of Israel stode. And he sayde: blessed be the Lorde God of Israel which spake wth his mouth to my father Dauid & hath fulfilled it wth his handes/ for God sayde: sence the tyme I brought my people out of the lande of Egypt/ I chose no citie amonge all the trybes of Israel to buyde an house in/ & my name myght be there/ neither chose I any man to be a ruler ouer my people Israel. But now I haue chosen Ierusalem to haue my name there/ & haue chosen Dauid to be ouer my people Israel.

And it was in the herte of Dauid my father to buyde an house for the name of the Lorde God of Israel. But the Lorde sayde to Dauid my father: for as moche as it was in thy herte/ to buyde an house for my name/ thou dydest well that thou haddest it in thyne hert. Notwithstandyng thou shalt not buyde the house/ but thy sonne which shall I call out of thy loynes/ he shall buyde an house for my name. And the Lorde hath made good his sayyng & he hath spoken. For I arose in the towne of Dauid my father/ & sate on the seate of Israel/ as the Lorde promysed/ & haue buyt an house for the name of the Lorde God of Israel. And therein I haue put the Arche wherein the couenaunt of the Lorde made wth the chyldre of Israel is. And he stepte forth before the aulter of the Lorde in the presence of all the congregacion of Israel/ & stretched out his handes/ now Salomon had made a brasen pulpyt of syue cubytes longe & syue cubytes broad/ and thye of height/ and had set it in the myddes of the great court/ by the septe & kneled downe by his knees before all the congregacion of Israel & stretched out his handes to heauen & sayde: Lorde God of Israel there is no God lyke the ether in heauen or in erthe/ which kepeth couenaunt and sheweth mercede vnto thy seruantes that walke before the Lord in all their hert. Which hast kepte wth Dauid my father that thou promysedest him: thou saydest it wth thy mouth and hast fulfilled it wth thyne hande/ as it is to se this daye.

Now Lorde God of Israel kepe wth thy seruaut Dauid my father/ & thou promysedest him sayyng: thou shalt not be without one or other in my syght & I shall sytte by the seate of Israel. Of this condicion yet/ yet thy chyldre wyl take heade to their wayes to walcke in my lawe/ as thou hast walched before me. Now Lorde God of Israel lett thy sayyng be true/ which thou saidest vnto thy seruaut Dauid. How be it in very dede/ can God dwell wth mā on erthe? Beholde/ neither heauen or heauen above all heauens is able to contayne the Lord/ howe shal I house then which I haue buyt for the Lord? But turne to the prayer of thy seruante & to his supplicacion (O Lorde my God) to herke vnto the voyce & prayer which thy seruaut maketh before the Lord. That thyne eyes be open ouer this house daye & nyght/ & ouer the place of which thou hast sayde/ & thou woldest put thy name there: to herke vnto the prayer which thy seruante prayeth at this place: herken therfore vnto the prayers of thy seruaut & of thy people Israel/ which they praye in this place. But heare thou it out of thy dwelling place heauen: & whē thou hearest it be mercifull. For a mā synne agaynst his neybour/ & an aduersion be laydeto his charge/ to aduise him wth all/ & the aduersion come before thine aulter in this house: then heare thou fro heauen/ & worchie & iudge thy seruantes/ that thou rewarde euell & bypunge his waye by his heed/ & iustefye the righteous & geue him accordyng to his rightwelsnesse.

Likewyse yet thy people Israel be put to the worse before their enemyes/ because they haue haue synned agaynst the: yet yet they turne & confesse thy name/ and make intercession and praye before the Lord in this house: then heare thou from heauen and be mercifull vnto the synne of thy people Israel/ and bypunge the agayne vnto the lande whych thou gauest to them and to their fathers.

If heauen be shutt by/ that there be no praye/ because they haue synned agaynst the: yet yet they praye at this place and confesse thy name and turne from their synnes at the scorpyng: then heare thou from heauen and be mercifull vnto the synne of thy seruantes and of thy people Israel/ that thou shewest a good waye to walke in/ & sende rayne vpon thy lande whych thou hast geuen vnto thy people/ for an inheritaunce.

If there chaunce darthe in the lande/ pestilence/ burnyng or smytynge of come/ grasshoppers or caterpillers/ or that their enemyes besedge the in the cytyes of their awne lande/ or what soeuer plage or synchensse it be. Then all the supplicacions and prayers that shalbe made of all men amonge all thy people Israel/ whych shall knowe euery man his awne soze and his awne greffe/ and shall stretch out their handes towardes this house: thou shalt heare from heauen thy dwelling place/ and thou shalt be mercifull/ & geue euery man accordyng vnto all his waye/ euen as thou shalt knowe euery mannes herte: for thou onely knowest the hertes of the chyldre of Adam: that they may feare the and walke in thy wayes as longe as they lyue vpon the erthe/ whych thou gauest to oure fathers.

Therto a straunger whych is not of thy people Israel/ yet he come from a farre lande for thy greates sake and thy myghte hande and stretched oute arme/ and therfore come & praye at this house: thou shalt heare hym fro heauen/ thy dwelling place/ & shalt do accordyng to all that the straunger cal- leth to the Lord. That all the nations of the erthe maye knowe thy name/ & feare the/ as doeth thy people Israel: and that it maye be knowen how that this house whych I haue buyt/ is called after thy name.

When thy people shall go out to warre/ agaynst their enemyes the waye that thou shalt sende them. If they praye to the Lord the waye towardes thy cytye whych thou hast chosen/ and house which I haue buyt for thy name: then heare fro heauen/ their supplica- cion & prayer/ & helpe them in their ryght.

If they shall synne agaynst the (as there is no man but that he shall synne) & thou be angrie with them and despyer them to their enemyes/ and they leade the awaye captiue vnto a lande ferre or neare/ yet yet their hertes come to them agayne in the lande where they

be in captiue/ and turne and praye vnto the Lord in the lande where they be in captiue/ sayyng: we haue sinned & haue done euell & wekedye & turne agayne to the Lord wth all their hertes & all their soules/ in the lande of their capti- uitye where they be kepte in bondage/ and so praye towardes their lande which thou gauest vnto their fathers/ and citie which thou hast chosen/ and to this house which I haue buyt for thy name: Then heare from heauen thy dwelling place/ their supplicacion & prayers & iudge their cause/ & be mercifull vnto thy people/ though they haue synned agaynst the.

So now my God let thyne eyes be open and thyne eares attē vnto the prayers made in this place. And now by Lorde God in thy dwelling place: both thou and the Arche of thy strength/ and let thy prestes put on victorie and thy sayntes reioyse in goodnesse. And Lorde God turne not awaye the face of thyne anoynted: But remembre the mercedes promysed to Dauid thy seruante.

The sye continueth the sacryfice. The Lorde ap- peareth to Salomon the second tyme.

The. viii. Chapter.

When Salomon had made an ende of praye/ there came downe the fyre from heauen and consumed the burnt offeringe and the sacri- fices. And the glorie of the Lorde fylled the house: & the prestes coude not go in to the house of the Lorde/ because the glorie of the Lorde had fylled the house of the Lorde. And all the chyldren of Israel saw how the fyre came downe and the glorie of the Lorde vpon the house/ & they stouped with their faces to the erthe vpon the pauement and bowed them selues & confessed vnto the Lorde/ that he was good and that his mercede lasted euer.

And the kynge and all the people offered offeringes before the Lorde. So that kynge Salomon offered, xxiij. thousand oren/ and an hundred and twenty thousand shepe. And to the kynge and all the people halo- wed the house of God. And the prestes way- ted on their offces/ and the Leuites wth instrumentes of musycke of the Lorde which kynge Dauid made to confesse vnto the Lorde that his mercede lasteth euer/ when Dauid gaue praye thowow their handes. And the prestes blew trompetes fast by them: and all Israel stode. Moreover Salomon halo- wed the myddle of the court & was before the Lorde: for there he offered burnt offeringes and the fatt of the peace offeringes/ because the brasen aulter which Salomon had made/ was not able to receaue the burnt offeringes and the meate offeringes and the fatte.

And Salomon kepte a feast the same ceason of seuen dayes/ and all Israel wth hym/ an exceeding

And the Lorde apered to Salomon by night and sayde to him: I haue heard thy petition & haue chosen thys place for my selfe to be an house of sacryfice. The cyries that Salomon bylded after the house of God was synysfied.

The. viij. Chapter.

And after. xx. yere when Salomon had had buyt the house of the Lorde & iij. Reg. ix. b. his awne house: he built the cities that Hiram gaue hym/ & put of the children of Israel in the. And Salomon wet to Hemath Zobah and strenghted it. And he built Chadoz in the wilderness and all the stozie cities which he buyt in Hemath. And he buyt Bethhoron the upper & Bethhoron the nether/ and made them stroge cities with walles/ gates & barres. And Baalath & all the stozie cities & the cities of Hozemen/ & all the Salomon had lust to builde in Ierusalem and Liban & thozowout all the lande of his dominiō.

And all the people & were lesse of the Hethites/ Amozites/ Pherezites/ Heuites & Jebusites/ which were not of the children of Israel: euen the childre of the/ which were lesse after the in the lande/ & were not consumed of the childre of Israel/ the did Salomon make tributaryes vnto this daye. But of the childre of Israel dyd Salomon make no bondemen in his worke: but they were men of warre & rulers & great Lordes with him/ & capitaynes ouer his charetes and Hozemen. And kyng Salomons officers that ouersawe & ruled the people/ were two hundred and fiftye.

And Salomon brought the daughter of Pharao out of the cite of Dauid into the house & he had made for her. For he sayde: my wife shall not dwelle in the house of Dauid kyng of Israel/ for it is holy/ because the Arche of the Lorde came into it.

And from thenceforth Salomon offered burnt offerynges vnto the Lorde on the auter of the Lorde which he had built befoze the porch to offer daye by daye accordynge to the comaundement of Moses/ & in the sabbotes & newmones/ and the thre solempne feastes of the yere/ the feast of swete breeche/ the fest of weekes and the feast of bothes.

And Salomon put the sortes of prestes in companyes as Dauid hys father had ordered the/ vnto the offices/ & the Leuites vnto their wayte/ for to prayse & synysfye befoze the prestes daye by daye/ & the porters by course at every gate. For so had Dauid the man of God comaunded. And the comaundement of the kyng vnto the prestes & the Leuites concerninge whatsoeuer cause it was/ & concerninge the treasures/ was not disobeyed.

And all the worke of Salomon went lustely forwarde eue vnto the daye of the foundacyon of the house of the Lorde was layde: & from thence till he had synysfied it/ that the house of the Lorde was perfecte. And then went kyng Salomon to Zion Gaber and to Elath & to the sees syde in the lande of Edom. And Hiram sent him by the hande of hys seruantes uauntes/ shippes and seruantes that coulde skille of the see: whych went wth the seruantes of Salomon to Ophir/ & brought thence foure hundred and fiftye talentes of gould/ and brought it to kyng Salomon.

And the quene of Saba hearde of the fame of Salomō and came to proue him with ryddelles at Ierusalem/ with a very great companye/ and wth camelles that bare swete odoures and plentie of gould & pzeious stone. And when she was come to Salomon/ she communed with him of all that was in her herte. And Salomon coyled her all her questions/ that there was nothinge hid from Salomō/ which he tolde her not.

And when the quene of Saba had sene the wisdom of Salomon and the house that he had built/ and the meate of hys table and the syttinge of hys seruantes and the standynge of hys wayters/ and their apparell/ and hys buttelars with their apparell/ & his parloure out of which he wot into the house of the Lord/ there was no more in her.

And then she sayde to the kyng: the sayinge which I hearde in mine awne lande/ of thine actes and of thy wysdome/ is trueth. But I beleued not the wordes of the/ vntill I came & myne eyes had sene it. And se/ the one halfe of thy wysdome was not tolde me: thou exceedest the fame that I hearde/ happye are thy men/ & happye are these thy seruantes which stande befoze the all waye & heare thy wisdom. Blessed be the Lorde thy God which had lust to the/ to make the kyng on hys seate/ vnto the Lorde thy God. Because thy God loued Israel/ to make them contynue euer/ therfore made he the kyng ouer them to do ryght and equyte.

And he gaue the kyng an hundred and xx. talentes of gould/ and of swete odoures exceedinge great aboundance with pzeious stones/ & there was no soche swete odoures as the quene of Saba gaue kyng Salomon. And therto the seruantes of Hiram & the seruantes of Salomon which brought gould from Ophir/ brought also * Algume wood and pzeious stones. And the kyng made of the Algume wood steyares in the house of the Lorde and in the kynges palace/ and harpes and psalteries for syngers. And there was no soche wood sene befoze in the lande of Iuda. And kyng Salomon gaue to the quene of Saba all her desyre & she asked aboute & she brought vnto the kyng. And so she turned & wet a waye to her awne lande wth her seruantes

The summe of gould & came to Salomō in one yere/ was syxe hundred. lxxvi. talentes of gould/ besydes that whych chapmen and marchauntes brought/ and all the kynges of Arabia and dukes of countreyes brought gould & siluer to Salomon. And kyng Salomō made two hundred bokelars of gould/ bi. hundred sicles of Beten gould to a bokelar: & thre hundred wyldes of Beten gould/ thre hundred sicles of gould to a shilde/ & he put the in the house of the forest of Libanon.

And the kyng made a great seate of Iuorie and ouerlayde it with pure gould. And there were syxe steypes to the seate wth a fote stole of gould fastened to the seate: & pomelles on eche syde of the syttinge place/ & two tyos stadinge by the pomelles. And xij. tyons stode on the one syde & on the other. vpon syxe steypes/ & there was no soche in any kyngedome.

And all the drynckynge beuelles of kyng Salomon were gould/ & all the vessels of the house of the forest of Libanō/ were pure gould. And as for syluer/ it was counted nothyng woth the in the dayes of Salomon. For the kynges shippes went to Charlis wth the seruantes of Hiram euer thre yere once. And the shippes of Charlis brought gould/ siluer/ & tethe of elephantes/ apes and pecokes.

And kyng Salomon passed all the kynges of the erthe in rycheesse and wisdom. And all the kynges of the erthe sought the presence of Salomon/ to heare the wysdome that God had put in his herte. And they brought euer man his present in beuelles of syluer & beuelles of gould/ and rayment/ harnesse/ swete odoures/ horses and mules yere by yere.

And Salomō had foure thousande mangers of horses & charetes for the/ & twelue thousande hozlemē. And he bestowed the in the charet cities & with the kyng at Ierusalem. And he raygned ouer all the kynges fro Euphrates vnto the land of the Philistines & so to the borders of Egypte. * And the kyng made syluer in Ierusalem as plenteous as stones/ & Cedar trees as plenteous as the mulberry trees that growe in the baleyes. And Salomō had horses brought him out of Egypte & out of all lād.

* And the rest of the actes of kyng Salomō both fyrst and last are wrytten in the boke of Nathan the Prophete and in the prophesye of Ahiah the Silonite and in the bysyons of Iadi the fear of bysyons agaynst Ieroboam the sonne of Nabat. And whē Salomon had raygned in Ierusalem vpon all Israel fourtye yeres/ he layed him to rest wth hys fathers/ & was buried in the cite of Dauid hys father/ & Rehoboam hys sonne raygned in his steade.

ii. Reg. xi. g.

And Rehoboam went to Sichem: for to Sichem were all Israel come to make him king. And when Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat/beinge in Egypte hearde it (for he was fled for feare of Salomon the kynge) he returned out of Egypte. And they sent and called him. And so Jeroboam & all Israel came & comuned with Rehoboam & sayde. Thy father made vs a greuous pouche: but remytte thou somewhat of the greuous seruice of thy father & of his heuie pouche that he put vpon vs: & we will serue thee. And he sayd to them: come agayne after thre dayes to me. And the people departed.

And kynge Rehoboam counceiled with the elders that stode before Salomon his father: while he layde: what counsell geue ye me/to answer this people agayne? And they tolde him saying: If thou shalt be kinde to this people & please them and shalt speake lownges wordes to the/they will be thy seruantes for euer. But he left the counsell which the elders gaue him/ & tooke counsell with the youngemen that were nurced by hym & had stande in his presence/ & sayde to them: what aduise geue ye to me? & they answered this people whych haue comuned with me sayinge: Abate some what of thy pouche which thy father dyd put vpon vs.

And the younge men that were nurced by hym talked with hym sayinge: thus answered the people that spake to the sayinge. Thy father made oure pouche heuie: But make thou oure pouche somewhat lychter. Thus wyle answer them: my litle synger shall be heuier then my fathers loynes. For where my father put a heuie pouche vpon you I will put moare thereto/ & where my father chastised you with whippes/ I will chastyce you with scorpions.

And when Jeroboam and all Israel were come to thre dayes/ as the kynge bade sayinge: come agayne to me to thre dayes. The kynge answered the cruelly/ for kynge Rehoboam lette the counsel of the aged men/ & answered the after the aduise of the younge men saying. If my father made poure pouche greuous/ I will adde therto/ & where my father chastised you with whippes/ I will chastyce you with scorpions. And so the kynge hearkened not vnto the people/ for the turnynge awaye was of God/ that the Lorde myght make good his sayinge whych he spake by the hand of Abiah the Sionite to Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat.

And when all Israel saw that the kynge wolde not heare them/ the people answered the kynge/ sayinge: what parte haue we with Dauid or enheritaunce with the sonne of David? let every man of Israel go to his tent. And now Dauid se to thynne stone house. And therupon all Israel get them to their tentes/ so the Rehoboam raygned ouer no moore of the children of Israel then dwelt in the cytyes of Iuda. Then kynge Rehoboam sent to the Haduram that was ouer the tribute/ & the childre of Israel stoned him with stones that he died. But kynge Rehoboam made speede and gat hym by to his charet to fflye to Jerusalem. And so Israel departed from the house of Dauid vnto this daye.

Rehoboam is forbidden to feyght agaynst Jeroboam. He hath. xviij. wyues and thre shoure concubynes: & by them. xxviij. sonnes/ and. iij. shoure daughters.

The. xi. Chapter.

And when Rehoboam was come to Jerusalem/ he gathered of the house of Dauid & Benjamin to the numbre of thre score thousande choise men of warre to feyght with Israel/ for to byngge the kyngdom. agayne to Rehoboam. But the worde of the Lorde came to Semetiah the man of God sayinge: speake vnto Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon kynge of Iuda & to all Israel that are in Iuda/ and to Benjamin and say: thus sayth the Lorde. Go not nor fight with your brethren: But retorne euery man to his house/ for this thynge is done of me. And they obeyed the wordes of the Lorde & returned from goynge agaynst Jeroboam.

And Rehoboam dwelt in Jerusalem/ and builde stronge cyties in Iuda: as Bethlehem/ Etam & Chekua: Bethzur/ Socho & Adolam: Beth/ Marek & Ziph: Aduraim/ Lachis and Alekah: Sarah Aialon and Hebron. which were the stronge cyties of Iuda & Benjamin. And when he had repayed soche stronge cyties/ he put capytaynes in the and store of vitaille/ & of oyle & of wine. And he ordeined in all cyties wyldes & speares/ & made them exceedynge stronge. And so Iuda and Benjamin were vnder hym.

And the prestes & the Leuites that were in all Israel resorted to hym/ out of all their costes. In so moche the Leuites lette their Suburbs & possessions and came to Iuda and Jerusalem: for Jeroboam & his sonnes had cast them oute from ministringe vnto the Lorde. And he ordeyned hym prestes of hylls/ & alters bothe to felde deuilles and also to the calves which he had made. And after the ther came of all the trybes of Israel (soche as their hertes moued them to seke the Lorde God of Israel) to Jerusalem to offer vnto the Lorde God of their fathers. And so they strengthened the kyngedome of Iuda & made Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon myghtye thre yere longe/ for thre yere they walked in the waye of Dauid and Salomon.

And Rehoboam toke hym Maathath the daughter

Abiath daughter of Terimoth the sonne of Dauid to wyfe/ and Abihail the daughter of Eliah the sonne of Iai/ whych bare hym childre: Jeus/ Samariah and Saham. And after her he tooke Maacah the daughter of Absalom whych bare hym Abiah/ Ethai/ Ziza & Salumith. But Rehoboam loued Maacah the daughter of Absalom aboue all his other wyues & concubynes/ for he toke. xviij. wyues & thre shoure concubynes/ and begat thre shoure daughters and. xxviij. sonnes. And Rehoboam made Abiah the sonne of Maacah the chiefe ruler amonge his brethren/ for to make hym kynge. And he played wisely & shatered of all his childre thowout all the countreys of Iuda & Benjamin in euery stronge citie. And he gaue them aboundaunce of vitaille/ and asked manye wyues.

Selach kynge of Egypt robbeth the temple of the Lorde. Rehoboam dieth and Abiah his sonne succedeth hym.

The. xii. Chapter.

And when Rehoboam had stablyshed the kyngedome/ & made it stronge he forsoke the lawe of the Lorde/ & all Israel with hym/ wherefore the kynge of Egypte came by agaynst Jerusalem because they had trasgressed agaynst the Lorde with twelue hundred charetes and thre shoure thousande horsemen. And the people were without numbre that came with him out of Egypt/ with the of Libia/ & the Succites & the blackemores. And they toke the stronge citie that were in Iuda & came to Jerusalem.

Then came Semetiah the Propete to Rehoboam & to the Lordes of Iuda & were gathered to Jerusalem for feare of Selach/ & sayde to the: thus sayth the Lorde/ ye haue lette me/ & therfore wyl I leue you also in the handes of Selach. Whereupon the Lordes of Israel and the kynge humbled them selues & sayde: the Lorde is righteous. And when the Lorde sawe that they submitted the selues/ the worde of the Lorde came to Semetiah sayinge: they meke them selues/ and therfore I wyl not destroye them. But I wyl deliuer them somewhat/ and my wrath shall not falle vpon Jerusalem. Neuerthelater they shall be his seruantes/ to knowe what difference is betwene my seruice and the seruice of the kyngedomes of other landes.

And Selach kynge of Egypte came to Jerusalem and toke awaye the treasures of the house of the Lorde/ and the treasures of the kynges house/ & thowt he toke all. And he toke also the shildes of goulde which Salomon made. In steade of which kynge Rehoboam made shildes of brasse/ and put the in the keepinge of the capytaynes of his garde whych wayted in the gate of the kynges house. And as ofte as the kynge wet to the house of the Lorde/ he garde wet & felt the/ & brought the agayne vnto the garde chabze. And so because he humbled him selfe/ the wrath of the Lorde turned fro him/ & destroyed not all together. And therto ther were many good thynges yet in Iuda.

And kynge Rehoboam waxed myghtye in Jerusalem & raygned. And Rehoboam was. xli. yere olde when he was made kynge/ and he raygned. xli. yeres in Jerusalem the cytye which the Lorde had chosen out of all the trybes of Israel to put his name there. And his mothers name was Maamah an Ammonite. And he dyd euil: for he prepared not his herte to seke the Lorde.

The actes of Rehoboam fyrst and last are written in the saynges of Semetiah the Propete & of Aho the sear of byssons/ so moche as his genealogye and the perpetuall warre was betwene Rehoboam & Jeroboam during their life. And Rehoboam layde hym to slepe in his fathers & was buried in the citie of Dauid/ and Abiah his sonne raygned in his steade.

The byctorye of Abiah agaynst Jeroboam.

The. xiii. Chapter.

And the. xliij. yere of kynge Jeroboam I began Abiah to raygne ouer Iuda/ & he raygned thre yere in Jerusalem. His mothers name was Michajah the daughter of Uriel of Gabaah. And there was warre betwene Abiah and Jeroboam. And Abiah made a battell with an hoste of fyghtynge men of foure hundred thousand chosen men. And Jeroboam put in aray to feyght agaynst him/ with. vij. hundred thousand pecte men and stronge.

And Abiah stode by the Jemaraia an hill in mount Ephraim & sayde: heare me thou Jeroboam & all Israel. Becometh it not you to know how that the Lorde God of Israel gaue the kyngdome of Israel to Dauid for euer/ euil to hym & to his sonnes/ with a salted couenaunt. But Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat the seruant of Salomon the sonne of Dauid/ rebelled agaynst the Lorde. And there gathered to him lewde men and vnchystes/ and preuayled agaynst Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon: for Rehoboam was younge and tender hearted & not stronge ynough for the.

And now ye thinke to preuayle agaynst the kyngedome of the Lorde in the hande of his sonnes of Dauid/ because ye be a great multitude & haue with you the golde calves whych Jeroboam made you for Gods. And haue ye not cast out the prestes of the Lorde the sonnes of Aharon/ & the Leuites/ & haue made you prestes like the nacpons of other landes: euen who soeuer cometh and filleth his hande with an oile & leue rammes/ the same is made preste to them that are no Gods.

Abiah dyeth after whom succedeth Ala.

The. xliij. Chapter.

15. Reg. x. b.

And Ala did that was good & ryght in the eyes of the Lozde hys God/ & toke awaye the autlers of strangers & the hylaulters/ & brake the Images and cut downe the groues/ and commaunded Juda to seke p Lozde God of their fathers/ & to doo accordynge to the lawe & commaundement. And he put awaye out of all p cities of Juda/ the hylaulters & the ydoles: for the kyngedome was quyet before hym. And he built ströge cities in Juda: because p lande was in rest/ & he had no warre in those yeres. For the Lozde had geuen hym rest.

And therfore he sayde to Juda: let vs build these cypres & compase the w t walles and towres/ gates & barres/ whyle we haue the lande quyet. For we haue sought the Lozde oure God: & because we haue sought him/ he hath geue vs rest on euery syde. And so they built and prospered. And Ala had an Armie that bare shilde & speare/ out of Juda the hundred thousande/ & out of Benjamin that bare shilde & bowes two hundred & lxxx. thousande/ and were all stronge men.

And there came out agaynst the Zarah p Mozan w t an host of ten hundred thousande/ & the hundred charettes/ and came as ferre of Marela. And Ala went out to him/ & they put in aray to battell in the balke of Zephatah besyde Marela. And Ala cryed vnto p Lozde hys God and sayde: Lozde it is all one w t the to helpe them that haue no power/ w t few or w t manye: helpe vs p Lozde oure God/ for we trust to the/ & in thyne name be come agaynst this multitude. Thou art the Lozde oure God/ let not man preyayle agaynst the.

And p Lozde smote p blacke Mozes before Ala and Juda/ that they fled. And Ala and the people that was with him/ folowed after the as ferre as Gerar. And p blacke Mozes were ouerthrowen/ that there bode none a lyue of the/ but were destroyed of the Lozde & of his hoste. And they carped awaye a myghtye great praye. And they smote all the cypres rounde aboute Gerar. For p feare of p Lozde came vpon the. And they robbed all the cities for ther was excedynge moche to be robbed in them. And therto they smote the tentes of catell and carped awaye plentye of shepe & camelles/ and returned to Jerusalem.

Ala by the monicion of the prophet Azariah after he had put downe the ydoles/ iacryfeth to the Lozde. He deprieth his mother of her domnyon.

The. xlv. Chapter.

And p spirit of God came on Ala. Azariah the sonne of Obed. And he wēt out agaynst Ala and sayde to hym: heare me Ala & all Juda and Benjamin. The Lozde is with you/ whyle ye be with hym/ and yf ye shall seke him/ he wyl be founde of you: but yf ye shall forsake hym/ he wyl forsake you. There will come many dayes in Israel/ in whiche there shalbe no true God noz preste p teacheth/ noz any law. And in their tribulacyō they shall turne vnto the Lozde God of Israel and shall seke hym/ & he shalbe founde of the. And in those dayes there shalbe no peace to the that go out & in. But great vexacion vpon the inhabytors of all landes Jeholaphat. all landes. For one nacyon shall destroye a nother/ and one cypre a nother: for God wyl browne the w t all aduersyte. But pluche you by youre herites & let not youre handes faunte/ for youre wothes shalbe rewarded.

When Ala hearde those wordes & the prophete of Azariah p sonne of Obed the prophete/ he toke courage & put awaye p abominacions out of all the lande of Juda & Benjamin/ & out of the cities whych he wāne in mount Ephraim/ & renued the autler of the Lozde that was before the porche of p Lozde. And he geathered all Juda & Benjamin/ and the straungers w t them out of Ephraim/ Manasseh and Simeon. For there fell many to hym out of Israel/ when they saw that God was w t hym. And they assembled at Jerusalem the thyrde monethe of the fyftene yere of the raygne of Ala. And they offered vnto the Lozde that same tyme of the spoyle whych they had brought. viij. hundred oxen & viij. thousande shepe.

And they made a couenaunt to seke the Lozde God of their fathers/ w t all their hert & all their soules: so that all that sought not p Lozde God of Israel/ shuld dye for it/ whether he were smalle or greute/ mā or womā. And they sware vnto p Lozde with a loude voyce and shoutynge & w t trompetes and hornes. And all Juda reioyled in the othe/ for they had sborne w t all their herites/ and sought hym w t all their lust/ & he was founde of them. And the Lozde gaue the rest rounde aboute.

And therto kyng Ala put Maacah hys mother out of auctoryte/ because she had made an ydole in a groue: & brake downe her ydole & stampet it and burnt it by the broke of p Lozde Cedron. But they put not the hylaulters out of Israel: neuerthelesse the hert of Ala was pure all his life. And he brought into p house of God the dedycat gyftes which he & hys father had dedicate/ in goulde/ syluer and other Jewelles. And there was no moare warre vnto the. xxxv. yere of the raygne of Ala.

Ala/ for feare of Baasa kyng of Israel/ maketh a couenaunt with Benhadad kyng of Siria.

The. xlvj. Chapter.

In the. xxxvi. yere of the raygne of Ala/ came Baasa kyng of Israel agaynst Juda & buylt Ramah/ to the entent that he wolde let none p pertayned to Ala kyng of Juda haue passage in and out. Whereupon Ala fet out syluer and goulde out of the treasures of the house of the Lozde and of the kynges house/ & sent it to Benhadad kyng of Siria that dwelt at Damasco/ & sayde. There is a cōfederaciō betwene me and the/ & so was betwene my father & thine/ wherfore I haue sent p syluer and goulde/ that thou go and brake thyn apoyntment with Baasa kyng of Israel/ & he maye departe from me. And Benhadad graunted vnto kyng Ala/ & sent p capitayn of his armie agaynst p cypres of Israel. And they bet Aion/ Dan/ Abelmain & all p store cities of Nephtali. And when Baasa hearde that/ he left buildynge of Ramah and let his woche cease. And then Ala the kyng toke all Juda & carped awaye stones & tymber of Ramah wherwith Baasa was a buildinge: & he buylt therewith Gabaa & Mazphah.

At that same tyme Hanani the sear/ came to Ala kyng of Juda & sayde to him: be cause thou trustest in p kyng of Siria/ & trustest not in the Lozde thy God/ therfore is p hoste of the kyng of Siria escaped out of thyn hande. Were not p blacke mozes and they of Libia a great hoste w t excedynge many charettes and hoysmen? And yet because thou trusteddest in the Lozde/ he deliuered the in to thyn handes. For p eyes of p Lozde beholde all the erthe/ to strength the herites of the that are hoale with him. Herein thou hast done folysly/ and therfore from henceforth thou shalt haue warre. Whereupon Ala was wroth w t the sear & put him in the conuertynge house/ for he was dyspleased w t hym because of that. Whereouer Ala oppressed certayne of the people the same season.

The dedes of Ala both fyrst and last/ are written in the boke of the kynges of Juda & Israel. And the. xxxv. yere of hys raygne Ala fell sycke of his fete/ and that hys dyscase excedid. And therto in his sicknesse he asked no counsell of the Lozde/ but of Phylisyons. And at the last Ala fell on slepe w t hys fathers and died when he had raygned. xli. yere. And they buryed hym in hys awne sepulchre whych he had made in the cypre of Dauid/ and layed hym in the bed whych he had fylled w t swete odoures of dyuerse kynd/ made by p crafte of p potecaryes. And they dyd excedynge great coste aboute buriēge of him.

Jeholaphat succedeth after Ala/ whych causeth the feare of the Lozde to be renued amonge the people.

The. xlvj. Chapter.

And Jeholaphat his sonne raygned in hys steade & was myghtyer then Israel. And he put souldyours in all the stronge cypres of Juda/ and set rulers bothe in the lande of Juda and also in the cypres of Ephraim whych Ala his father had wonne. And the Lozde was w t Jeholaphat/ because he walked in the olde wayes of hys father Dauid/ and sought not Baals: But sought the Lozde God of his father and walked in hys commaundementes & not after the doynges of Israel. Therfore p Lozde stablyshed p kyngdome in his hande/ and all and all Juda brought hym presentes/that he became excedynge ryche & gloriouse. And hys hert was corageous in the wayes of the Lorde / and he put downe yet moare of the hilaunters and groues out of Juda.

And the thirde yere of hys raygne he sent of his Lorde: Benhail/ Abdiab/ Zachariah/ Nathanael/ Michaah to teache in the citie of Juda: and wyth them/ Semeliah/ Nathaniah/ Sabadiah/ Alahel/ Semiramoth/ Jehonathan/ Aboniah/ Chobiah and Chobodoniah Leuites: & wyth the Elisama & Joiam prestes. And they taught in Juda/ & had the boke of the lawe wth the / & w^{et} aboute thowout all the cyties of Juda & taught the people.

And the feare of the Lorde fell vpon all the kyngedomes of the landes that were rounde aboute Juda / that they durst not warre wth Jehosaphat. And the Philistines brought Jehosaphat giffes & tribute syluer. And therto the Arabiens brought hym of shepe / seven thousande & seven hundred rammes/ & seven thousande & seven hundred he gottes. And so Jehosaphat prospered & grue by on hys. And he built in Juda/ castels and stowe citie. And he had great substaunce in the citie of Juda/ & fygthinge men & m^e of myght in Ierusalem.

And this is the order in the houses of their fathers/ of the capitaynes ouer thousandes in Juda: Ednah the capytayne and wyth him of fygthinge men thye hundred thousande. And nexte to hym Jehohanan a capytayne & wth hym two hundred & lxxx. thousande. And by hys syde Amariah the sonne of Zechi wyllynge vnto the Lorde/ & wth hym two hundred thousande mightie men. And of the chyldren of Beniamin/ Eladab was a m^a of myght/ and had wth hym armed wth bowes and shyldes two hundred thousande. And by hys syde Jehosabad wyth whome were an hundred & lxxx. thousande trimmed for warre. These wayted on the kyng/ besydes those which the kyng had put in strouge citie thowout all Juda.

After Ahab had asked counsell of the foure hundred prophetes/ he put Michiah in prison. he dyeth wth the shot of an Arrow.

And Jehosaphat became verypreche and gloriouse/ & ioyned affinitie wth Ahab. And after certayne yeres he went downe to Ahab to Samaria. And Ahab shue shepe & oxen plenteouslye for hym & for the people that came wth hym/ & entreated hym to go by vnto Ramoth in Galaad. And Ahab kyng of Israel sayde to Jehosaphat kyng of Juda: wylt thou go wyth me to Ramoth in Galaad? And he answered hym/ I wylbe as thou / and my people shalbe as thine and we wyl be wth the in the warre. But Jehosaphat sayde vnto the kyng of Israel: aske the Lorde the woide of the Lorde. And the kyng of Israel geathered to gether of the prophetes foure hundred men/ & sayde vnto the: Shall we go to Ramoth in Galaad to fyght/ or shall we cease? And they sayde/ go: the Lorde shall deliuer it into the kyngs hande. And Jehosaphat sayde / is there yet here neuer a prophete moze of the Lordes/ that we myght aske of hym? And the kyng of Israel sayde to Jehosaphat/ there is yet one / to aske the Lorde by hym: But I hate hym/ for he neuer prophesyeth me good/ but allwaye euell/ one Michiah the sonne of Jemla. And Jehosaphat sayde: let not the kyng saye so.

Then the kyng of Israel called one of hys chabzelaynes & sayde: fetch heether quychly Michiah the sonne of Jemla. And the kyng of Israel and Jehosaphat kyng of Juda late ether of the on hys seate in their apparell/ in a thyrse hyng floure besyde the gate of Samaria/ & all the prophetes prophesyng befoze the. And one Zedekiah the sonne of Chananah made hym hoines of yron and sayde/ thus sayth the Lorde: wyth these thou shalt wynowe Siria vntyll thou hast brought the to nought. And all the prophetes prophesied euil so sayinge: Go by to Ramoth in Galaad and prosper / for the Lorde shall deliuer it into the hande of the kyng.

And the messenger that went to call Michiah/ spake to him sayinge: beholde/ the woide of the prophetes are pleasaunt to the kyng with one assent/ let thy woide be praythe/ be lyke one of thes / & speake the which is pleasaunt. And Michiah sayde: as truly as the Lorde lyueth/ euil what my God sayeth/ that will I speake. And when he was come to the kyng/ the kyng sayde to hym: Michiah/ shall we go to Ramoth in Galaad to fyght/ or shall I be in rest? And he answered: go ye & prosper / for the Lorde shall deliuer it into your hand. But the kyng sayde to him: how oft tymes shall I adiure the / thou saye no thinge but trueth to me/ in the name of the Lorde.

Then he sayde: I se all Israel shatered in the mountayn/ as shepe that haue no sheparde. And the Lorde sayde: these haue no master/ let the prophetes retorne euery m^a to his house in peace. Then sayde the kyng of Israel to Jehosaphat/ did I not tell the / that he wolde not prophesye good vnto me/ but euell?

And he answered: therfoze heare ye the woide of the Lorde. I saw the Lorde syt vpon his seat/ and all the cōpāye of heauen standynge on his ryght hande & on his lefte. And the Lorde sayde: who shall deceaue Ahab kyng of Israel/ that he maye go & be ouerthrowen at Ramoth in Galaad. And whyle one sayde thus & a nother that/ there came out a spyrte and stode befoze the Lorde and sayde: I will deceaue Jehosaphat. deceaue him. And the Lorde sayde to him/ how? And he sayde: I will go out & wylbe a lyng spyrte in the mouth of all his prophetes. And the Lorde sayde/ thou shalt deceaue him & shalt preyayle/ go out & do euil so. And now beholde the Lorde hath put a lyng spyrte in the mouth of all these thy prophetes/ & yet the Lorde hath spokē euell agaynst the. And Zedekiah the sonne of Chananah/ wēt to & smote Michiah vpon the cheke/ & sayde: by what waye wēt the spyrte of the Lorde fro me/ to speake in the? And Michiah sayde: thou shalt se the daye when thou shalt rine fro chabze to chambze/ for to hyde thy selfe. Then sayde the kyng of Israel/ take ye Michiah & deliuer him to Amos the gouernour of the cite/ & to Joas the kyngs sonne & saye/ thus sayth the kyng: put this felow in prison/ and fede him wth breade & water of tribulaciō/ vntyll I come agayne in peace. And Michiah sayd: yf thou come agayne in peace/ the hath not the Lorde spokē in me. And Michiah saide mozeouer/ herken to ye people euery one of you. And so the kyng of Israel & Jehosaphat the kyng of Juda went by to Ramoth in Galaad. Then sayde the kyng of Israel to Jehosaphat: chaunge the & get the to battell/ but se the thou haue thine awre apparell vpon the. And the kyng of Israel chaunged hys selfe/ & they went to battell. But the kyng of Siria comaunded the capytaynes of hys charetes sayinge: se the yf ye fyght not agaynst small or great/ saue agaynst the kyng of Israel on ly.

And whē the capytaynes of the charetes saw Jehosaphat/ they had wēt he had bene the kyng of Israel/ & therfoze cōpased aboute him/ to fyghte. But Jehosaphat cryed out/ & the Lorde holpe him / & God tyled the awre from him. For whē the capytayn of the charetes perceaued that it was not the kyng of Israel/ they turned backe agayne fro hym. And a certē mā dzew his bowe ignorantly & smote the kyng of Israel betwene the Joyntes of his habergyne. And he sayde to the charet mā/ turne thine hand and carpe me out of the hoste/ for I am hurte. And the battell arose that daye. How be it the kyng of Israel contynued standynge in his charet agaynst the Siriens vntyll euen. And about the sonne goynge downe he dyed.

After Jehosaphat was rebuked by the prophet Jehu/ he called agayne the people to the honourynge of the Lorde God.

The. xix. Chapter.

And Jehosaphat kyng of Juda returned to hys house safe & sounde to Ierusalem. And Jehu the sonne of Hanani the sear/ wēt out agaynst him & sayde to the kyng Jehosaphat: oughtest thou to helpe the wycked/ & to loue the hate the Lorde. In this verely is the wrath of the Lorde vpon the. Neuerthelater there are good thynges founde in the / in the thou hast put awaye grouis out of the lande/ & hast prepared thine herte to seke God. And as Jehosaphat dwelt at Ierusalem/ he wēt to agayne & wēt amōge the people fro Ierusalem to mouite Ephraim/ & brought the agayne vnto the Lorde God of their fathers. And he set Judg in the lande/ thowout all the strouge citie of Juda/ cite by cite/ & saide to the Judges: take hede what ye do/ for ye be not Judges in the lawe of mā/ but of God/ whych is wth you in the woide of the lawe. Wherfoze let the feare of the Lorde be wth you/ & take hede and do it. For there is no vnryghte/ & wisnesse in the Lorde oure God/ noz regardynge of persones/ noz takynge of rewardes.

Mozeouer in Ierusalem did Jehosaphat set of the Leuites/ & of the prestes & of the auctiet heeds of Israel/ ouer the custome of the Lorde & causes of stryfe. And then they returned agayne to Ierusalem. And he charged the sayinge: do euil so in the feare of the Lorde wth trueth & pure herte. And whatsoeuer come to you of youre brethren/ the dwell in their citie/ betwene bloud & bloude/ lawe/ cōmattemēt/ ordynances & customes: se that ye warne the / the they treypace not agaynst the Lorde/ lest the wrath come vpon you & on youre brethren. Thus do ye shall not offende. And se here Amariah the prest which is bred ouer you in all matters of the Lorde/ & Sabadiah the sonne of Ismael a ruler in the house of Juda/ he is ouer all causes concerninge the kyng/ wth officers of the Leuites befoze you. Take courage to you and go by it/ and the Lorde shalbe wth the good.

The meruelous victorie that the Lorde gaue Jehosaphat kyng of Juda agaynst the Moabites / and the chyldren of Ammon/ and them of Sir.

The. xx. Chapter.

After the came the chyldre of Moab & the chyldre of Ammon & wth the of Ammonit/ agaynst Jehosaphat to battell. And ther came the tolde Jehosaphat sayinge: ther cometh a great multitude agaynst the fro the other syde/ se out of Siria. And se they be in Dalaton Chamar whych is Engadi. And Jehosaphat feared & set him self to seke the Lorde/ & proclaymed fastynge thowout all Juda. And Juda geathered them selues to gether for to aske the counsell of the Lorde. And therto there came out of all the cyties of Juda to seke the Lorde. And Jehosaphat stode in the cōgregaciō of Juda & Ierusalem in the house of the Lorde befoze the new court & sayde: Lorde God of oure fathers/ art not thou God in heaue/ & raygnest not thou on all the kyngedomes of the hethen? And in thine hand is power & might/ & no mā can stande befoze the. Art not thou oure God which dydest cast out the inhabytors of this lande befoze thy people Israel/ & gauest it to the seed of Abraham thy louer for euer?

ever. And they dwelt therein and have built a temple therein unto thy name. / & sayde: whē euell cometh vpon vs / as the swerde of iudgement / pestilence or hongre: then yf we stande before thy house & before the (for thy name is in thys house) & shall cry vnto the in oure tribulacion / thou shalt heare and helpe.

And now beholde / the children of Ammon & Moab & mount Seir / by which thou woldst not let Israel go / when they came out of Egypt: but they departed fro the & destroyed the not. And se / how they rewarde vs / to come for to cast vs out of thy possession which thou hast possessed vs wth all. O our God / wylt thou not iudge them? for we haue no myght agaynst thys great compaignie that cometh agaynst vs. Nether wot we what to do: but oure eyes be vnto the.

And as all Juda stode before the Lorde in their yonge ones / their wiues & their childre: the spirit of the Lorde came vpon Zachariah sonne of Zachariah the sonne of Banaias & sonne of Jiel & sonne of Bathaniah a Leuite of the sonne of Asaph / euē as he was in the midd of the congregaciō. And he sayde: herke all Juda & the enhabitors of Iherusalem / and also kynge Jehosaphat. Thus sayth the Lorde vnto you: be not afeide or fayne hearted by reason of thys great multitude. For the warre is not yours / but Gods. And to morow ye shall go downe to the: se / they come by at Siz / and ye shall mete the in the flagg of y broken before the wilderness of Ieruel. Whereouer it belongeth not to you for to fight in this quarell: but stepe forth & stande & beholde the helpe of the Lorde which is w you: feare not / nor let your heart fayle you / O ye of Juda and of Iherusalem. To morow go out to the: for the Lorde is w you.

And Jehosaphat bowed him selfe with his face to the cite / & all Juda & the enhabitors of Iherusalem fell before the Lorde / to bowe the selfe vnto the Lorde. And the Leuite & the childre of the Cahathites & of the Corahites stode by / to praye the Lorde God of Israel w a loude voyce on hie. And so they arose eue in the mornynge & get the out vnto the wilderness of Thekua. And as they wēt out Jehosaphat stode & said: heare me Juda & ye enhabitors of Iherusalem.

Beleue in the Lorde your God / & so shall ye continue: & beleue his prophet / & so shall ye prosper. And he gaue the people coucell / & set the singers of the Lorde & the y praped in holy apparel / to go out before the armie & to saye: praise the Lorde for his mercie lasteth euer. And what tyme they began to laude & praye / then the Lorde set layes awayte agaynst the childre of Ammon & Moab & mount Seir / to destroye the utterly & to wype the out. And whē they had made an ende of the enhabitors of Seir / then they holpe to destroye eche other.

And when Juda came to Hazephah in the wilderness / they looked vnto the multitude. And beholde / they were deed carcases falle to the erthe / and none escaped. And Jehosaphat & his people wēt to robbe a waie the spoyle of the & founde amonge the aboundance of goodes & raymes of pleasaunt Jewelles / & caught fro them more then they coude cary awaye: so the they were thre dayes in geatheringe of the spoyle / it was so moche. And the fourthe daye they asssembled in the valeye of blessinge / for there they blessed the Lorde. And therfore they called the name of the place the valeye of blessinge vnto this daye. And so all the men of Juda & Iherusalem returned & Jehosaphat amonge the thycheft of the / for to go agayne to Iherusalem w gladnesse: for the Lorde had made them to reioyce of their enemyes. And they came to Iherusalem w psalteryes & harpes & trogetes / euē vnto the house of the Lorde. And the feare of God fell in the kyngedomes of all landes / when they had heard that the Lorde fought agaynst the enemyes of Israel. And so the realme of Jehosaphat was in tranquillite: for his God had geuen hym rest on every tyme.

And Jehosaphat raygned vpon Juda / and was .xxv. yere olde whē he began to raygne & raygned .xxv. yere in Iherusalem. And his mothers name was Ashuba daughter of Silhi. And he walked in the waye of Asa his father & bowed not therfro / to do the was pleasaunt in the syght of the Lorde. Now be it they put not downe the hillalters / nether dyd the people yet prepare their hertes vnto the God of their fathers. The rest of the actes of Jehosaphat fyrst and last are wyrtten in the booke of Jehu the sonne of Hanani / whych noted the in the boke of the kynges of Israel.

After this / Jehosaphat king of Juda toynd him selfe with Ohoziab kynge of Israel / whych was a wyched doer. And he coupled him selfe with him / to make shippes to go to Charis. And they made the shippes in Azio Gaber. And Eliel sonne of Dodanah of Maresha prophesied agaynst Jehosaphat / sayg: because thou hast toynd thy self w Ohoziab the Lorde hath broken thy work. And the shippes were broken & they were not able to go to Charis.

Jehosaphat dyeth & Jehozam succedeth him which puttech to death his wythens / and is oppressed of the Philistines / and dyeth of the syr.

The .xxi. Chapter.

Jehosaphat sayde him to rest w his fathers / & was buried w his fathers in the cite of David. Jehozam his sonne raygned in his roune: which Jehozam had other brythre / son of Jehosaphat: Azariah Jehiel Zachariah Azariah Michael & Sephatiah. All these were the sonne of Jehosaphat king of Juda. And theire father gaue the manye Ohoziab. the manye great giffes in syluer / goulde and other ppreciouse thinges wth stronge cities in Juda: but the kyngedome he gaue to Jehozam / because he was the eldest. And whē Jehozam was by by the kyngdome of his father & setelde he slue all his other brythre w the swerde / & the duerte of the Lorde of Israel therto. Jehozam was .xxij. yere olde whē he began to raygne / & he raygned .xxij. yere in Iherusalem. And he walked in the wayes of the kynges of Israel / like as dyd the house of Ahab / for a daughter of Ahab was his wife / & he wrought euell in the eyes of the Lorde. Now be it the Lorde wolde not destroye the house of David / because of the couenaunt the he had made w David / & as he promesed to giue a lyght to him & to his sonnes for euer. In his dayes the Edomites departed fro vnder the hād of Juda & made the a kyng. And Jehozam wēt forth w his lord & all his charety w him & roale by night & layde on the Edomites / which copased him in a capitaynes of his charety. And so Edom departed fro vnder the hād of Juda vnto this daye. That same tyme also dyd Iobnah departe fro vnder his power / because he lette the Lorde God of his fathers. Whereouer he made hillalters in the mountaynes of Juda / & caused the enhabitors of Iherusalem to comitt adulterye / & he thrust Juda out of the waye.

And ther came a wytinge to him fro Eliah the prophete of this tenoure. Thus sayth the Lorde God of David thy father: because thou walkedst not in the wayes of Jehosaphat thy father & in the wayes of Asa king of Juda / but walkedst in the wayes of the kynges of Israel & hast made Juda & the dwellers of Iherusalem go a whozinge / like to the whozinge of the house of Ahab / & hast therto slayne thy brythre & were thy fathers house / whych were better then thou: therfore beholde the Lorde will smyte the wth a myghtie plage in thy folke / in thy childre / in thy wiues and in thy goodes. And thou shalt haue moche dyscase thowow in thymittie in thy bowelles / vntill thy bowelles fall out by reason of thy synnes / daye by daye.

And the Lorde stered by agaynst Jehozam the spirit of the Philistines & the Arabians & border on the blacke mox. Which came agaynst Juda & all to tare the lande / & caried awaye all the substance the was foude in the kyngs house / & therto his sonnes & his wiues: so there was neuer a sonne left him saue Jehoahaz his yongest sonne. And after all the Lorde smote him in his bowelles w an incurable dyscase. And in processe of tyme / euē about the ende of two yere his gutt fell out by reason of his sicknesse: & so he died of euell dyscaies. But they made him no bonesyre / like the bonesyres of his fathers. Whē he began to raygne / he was .xxij. yere olde / & raygned in Iherusalem .xxij. yere. And he walked not pleasauntly / & they buried him in the cite of David: but not in the sepulchre of the kynges. Ohoziab raygneth in the roune of Jehozam: Jehu kyng of Israel killeth Ohoziab. Athaliah putteth to death all the kynges by name / onely Joas escapeth.

The .xxii. Chapter.

And the enhabitors of Iherusalem made Ohoziab his yongest sonne kyng in his stede. For the me of warre that came to the Arabians in the holte / had slayne all his elder sonne. And so Ohoziab the sonne of Jehozam king of Juda / was made kyng. Two & fourtie yere olde was he when he beganne to raygne / & raygned one yere in Iherusalem. His mothers name was Athaliah daughter of Amri. And he walked also in the wayes of the house of Ahab / for his mother was his couceller for to do euell. Wherefore he dyd the displeased the Lorde like to the house of Ahab for they were his coucellers after the deeth of his father / to his destrucciō. And he also walked after their coucell. And Jehozam sonne of Ahab kyng of Israel wēt to fight w Hazael kyng of Siria at Ramoth in Galaad: & they of Ramoth wounded him. Wherefore he returned to be healed in Iezrael of the wound which were geue him at Ramoth / whē he fought w Hazael king of Siria. And Ohoziab the sonne of Jehozam king of Juda wēt downe to se Jehozam sonne of Ahab at Iezrael / because he was oileased. For it was thrust into Ohoziab of God to go to Jehozam / & the whē he was come he shuld go out w Jehozam agaynst Jehu the sonne of Namsi whome the Lorde had appointed to destroye the house of Ahab.

And as Jehu was executynge iustice vpon the house of Ahab / he founde the Lorde of Juda & the sonnes of the brythren of Ohoziab that wayted on Ohoziab / & he slue them. And he sought Ohoziab / & they caught hym where he was hid in Samaria / and brought him to Jehu. And whē they had slayne him they buried him: because (sayde they) he was the sonne of Jehosaphat which sought the Lorde w all his hert. And there was none of the house of Ohoziab / that coude obtayne to be kyng.

For Athaliah the mother of Ohoziab / whē she saw her sonne was deed / arose & spake w all the seed of the kyngedome of the house of Juda. But Jeholab beath the daughter of the kyng toke Jehoas the sonne of Ohoziab and stole hym fro amonge the kynges sonnes & were slayne / & put him & his nourse in a sleepinge chābre. And so Jeholab beath the daughter of the kyng Jehozam & wife of Jeholab & psette (because she was the syster of Ohoziab) hid him fro Athaliah & she slue him not. And he was wth them hid in the house of God syre yere. And Athaliah raygned ouer the lande.

Jehoas the sonne of Ohoziab is made kyng. Athaliah is put to death. The .xxiii. Chapter.

For it was thrust of god. vnder stande / to thynent that he coming to Jehozam might be ouerthrowe of Jehu.

p.ij. And

ii. Reg. xi. a.

And in the fourth yere Jehoiada toke hert/ & made a bonde with the capitaynes of hundredes Azariah the sonne of Jeroham/ Jismael the sonne of Johana/ Azariah the sonne of Obed/ Maasiah the sonne of Adajah and Elisaphat the sonne of Zechri. And they went aboute in Juda and gathered the Levites out of all the cyties of Juda and the auncient heedes of Israel: and they came to Jerusalem. And all the congregacion made a bonde with the kynge in the house of God. And Jehoiada sayde to them: beholde/ the kynge's sonne must raygne ouer the chyldren of Dauid/ as the Lorde hath sayde.

B This is it therfore ye shall do. The thirde parte of you prestes & Levites which come in the Saboth daye/ shall kepe the doores: & a nother thirde parte shall be in the king's house: & a nother thirde parte shall be in the gate of the foundacyon/ & all the people shall be in the court of the house of the Lorde. And ther shall none come into the house of the Lorde/ save the prestes & the Levites & the minstre. They shall go in/ for they are holy: & all the people shall kepe the watche of the Lorde. And the Levites shall copase the kynge rounde aboute/ & every man his wepō in his hande: & whatsoever other man come into the house of the Lorde/ he shall dye for it: and they shall be with the kynge/ as he cometh in and as he goeth out.

And the Levites & all Juda did in all things as Jehoiada the preste commaunded/ & toke every man his men: bothe the that came in and the that went out the saboth daye: for Jehoiada the preste did let none of the companies departe. And Jehoiada the preste delivered to the capitaynes of hundredes spears & shields & bowels & pertayned to kynge Dauid & were in the house of God. And he set all the people & every man his wepō in his hande/ fro the right corner of the house to the left corner of the house/ alonge by the aulter and the house rounde about the kynge. And they brought out the kynge's sonne and put upon hym the crowne and the testymonye/ and made hym kynge. And Jehoiada & his sonnes annointed hym and sayde: God save the kynge.

When Athaliah hearde the noyse of the people runnyng & prayyng the kynge/ she went amonge the people in to the house of the Lorde. And when she saw the kynge stande at his pyler in the enterynge/ and the Lordes and trompetes about the kynge/ and all the people of the lande reioysyng & blowinge with trompetes/ and the syngers with instruments of musycke teachinge to prayse. Then she rent her clothes and cryed: treason treason. And Jehoiada the preste went out with the capitaynes of hundredes that were apointed to gouverne the hoste/ and sayde to them: haue her out without the arayes and whosoever foloweth her/ let hym be slayne with the swerde. For the preste sayde: sleigh her not in the house of the Lorde. And they layde handes on her/ and when she was come out to the enterynge of the horgate in the kynge's house/ they slue her there.

And Jehoiada made a bonde betwene hym and all the people and the kynge/ to be the Lordes people. And all the people went to the house of Baal and destroyed it/ & brake his alters and his ymages/ and slue Maathan the preste of Baal before the alters. And Jehoiada put the offyces of the house of the Lorde in the handes of the prestes the Levites/ which Dauid had deuyded in companyes for the house of the Lorde/ to offer burntofferynge unto the Lorde/ as it is wyrtten in the law of Moyses/ with reioysyng and syngyng/ as it was ordeyned by Dauid. And he set porters unto the gates of the house of the Lorde/ that none that was uncleane in any poynte shulde entre in.

And he toke the capitaynes of hundredes and the nobles/ and the gouernours of the people & all the folke of the lande/ & brought the kynge downe out of the house of the Lorde/ and they went thowow the hye gate in the kynge's house/ and set the kynge upon the seate of the kynge dome. And all the people of the lande reioysed/ & the cytie was in tranquillite: but they slue Athaliah with the swerde.

Jehoas durynge the tyme of Jehoiada kept the lawe: but after his deeth he regardeth it not. He killeth Zachariah the prophete. Jehoas is kyled of his awne seruantes/ and after hym raygneth Amaziah.

The xxiij. Chapter.

Jehoas was leue yere olde when he beganne to raygne/ and he raygned fourty yere in Jerusalem. His mothers name was Zebiah of Beersabe. And Jehoas dyd & pleased the Lorde all the dayes of Jehoiada the preste. And Jehoiada gaue hym two wyues/ and he begat sonnes and daughters.

It chaunced after that/ that Jehoas was mynded to mende the house of the Lorde. And upon that he gathered to gether the prestes and the Levites and sayde to them: go out thowow the cyties of Juda and gather of all Israel syluer/ to strengthe the house of youre God/ yere by yere/ & se that ye haue the thynge: how be it the Levites were slacke. Then the kynge called Jehoiada that was the chiefe/ and sayde to hym: why requyrest thou not of the Levites to byng in/ out of Juda and Jerusalem the summe appointed by Moyses the seruaut of the Lorde/ and by and by the congregaciō of Israel/ for the tabernacle of wyne. For wicked Athaliah & her chyldre had broken the house of God/ & had therto bestowed all the dedicat gyftes of the house of the Lorde/ aboute Baals.

Wherfore at the kynge's commaundement/ they made a cofer/ and set it at the gate of the house of the Lorde: and made proclamacyon thowow Juda and Jerusalem to byng in to the Lorde/ the taxaciō of Moyses the seruaut of God/ which he set upon Israel in the wilderness. And the Lordes and all the people reioysed and brought in and cast in to the cofer untill it was full. And when the tyme came that the chiefe shulde be brought in by the handes of the Levites at the apoyntment of the kynge/ when they saw that there was moche moneye: then came the kynge's scrbye & one apointed by the hye preste/ and powred out that was in the cofer/ & then toke it & carped it to his place agayne/ & thus they dyd daye by daye/ and gathered moche moneye.

And the kynge and Jehoiada gaue it to worchemen that wrought upon the house of the Lorde/ and hyred Masons & carpenters to redresse the house of the Lorde/ and soddy they artifycers in yron and brasse/ to repayre the house of the Lorde. And the worchemen wrought & the worche mended thowow their handes: and they made the house of God as it ought to be/ and strengthed it. And when they had synished it/ they brought the rest of the moneye to the kynge and Jehoiada/ & therewith were made vessels for the house of the Lorde: euen vessels to mynstre with all and to serue for burntofferynge as labelles and vessels of goulde and syluer. And they offered burntofferynge in the house of the Lorde continuallye all the dayes of Jehoiada. And Jehoiada waxed olde and full of yeres and dyed. An hundred and thirte yere olde was he when he dyed. And they buried hym in the cite of Dauid amonge the kynge's because he had done good in Israel/ and on God and on his house. And after the deeth of Jehoiada/ came the Lordes of Juda & made obeysaunce to the kynge. And then he herened unto them. And so they leste the house of the Lorde God of their fathers/ and serued groues and ymages. And then came there wrath by Juda & Jerusalem/ for thys their trespass sake. Not withstandinge yet God sent prophetes to the byng the agayne unto the Lorde. And they testified unto them. But they wolde not heare.

And the spirite of God came upon Zachariah the sonne of Jehoiada the preste/ and he steyt by aboue the people and sayde to them. Thus sayth God: why transgresse ye the commaundementes of the Lorde/ ye shall therfore not prosper/ but as ye haue forsake hym/ so shall he forsake you. Wherupon they conspired agaynst him and stoned hym with stones/ at the commaundement of the kynge: euen in the court of the house of the Lorde. And so Jehoas the kynge remembred not the kyndenes which Jehoiada his father had done to him/ but slue his sonne. And when he dyed/ he sayde: the Lorde se and requyre a reconyng.

And when the yere was out/ the host of the Sircians came agaynst hym: and they came to Juda and Jerusalem/ and destroyed all the Lordes of the people fro amonge the people and sent all the spoyle of them unto the kynge to Damasco. And though the armie of Syria came with a smalle companye of men/ yet the Lorde deliuered a very great hoste into their handes/ because they had forsaken the Lorde God of their fathers. And therto they serued Jehoas accordyng.

And as soon as they were departed from hym/ though they left hym in great diseases: yet his awne seruantes conspired agaynst him for the bloude of the chyldre of Jehoiada the preste/ & slue him on his bed. And when he was deed/ they buried hym in the cytie of Dauid: but not in the sepulchres of the kynges. And these are they that conspired agaynst hym: Sabad the sonne of Samaath an Ammonite and Jehosabad the sonne of Simriah a Moabite. And his sonnes and the summe of the tax that came to him/ and the foundaciō of the house of God/ are wyrtten in the storie of the booke of kynge's. And Amaziah his sonne raygned in his steade.

Amaziah ouercometh the Edomites. And Joas kynge of Israel ouercometh and killeth Amaziah.

The xxv. Chapter.

Amaziah was xxv. yere olde when he beganne to raygne/ & he raygned xxv. yere in Jerusalem. His mothers name was Jehoiada of Jerusalem. And he did that pleased the Lorde: but not with the hoale hert. And as soon as he was seate in the kynge dome/ he slue the that killed the kynge his father. But he slue not their chyldren as it is wyrtten in the law/ euen in the boke of Moyses to whome the Lorde commaunded sayyng: the fathers shall not dye for the chyldrens causes/ nor the chyldren for the fathers/ but every man shall dye for his awne synne. And Amaziah gathered Juda to gether & made capitaynes ouer thousand & ouer hundred in houses of their fathers thowowout all Juda and Benjamin. Israel for an hundred talents of silver.

But there came a man of God to him and sayde: kynge/ let not the armie of Israel go with the: for the Lorde is not with Israel neither with any of the house of Ephraim. Or elles if thou neades wilt/ then go & do it/ & make thy selfe stronge to battell: & thou shalt see/ & God shall make thee fall before thine enemies. For God hath power to helpe or to cast doune. And Amaziah sayde agayne to the man of God/ what shall we do then/ for the hundred talents which I haue geue into the hoste of Israel? And the man of God sayde: the Lorde is able to geue the moche more then that.

And then Amaziah leuere the armie that was come to hym out of Ephraim/ to go whome agayne. Wherfore they were exceedinge wrothe with Juda/ & returned to their awne whome in great angre.

ii. Reg. xiiij.

And Amaziah toke herte & carped out his host & went to salt daie. * Where he slue of the childe of Seir ten thousande. And other ten thousande & childe of Juda toke alpye/ and caried the vnto the toppe of a rocke & cast the downe fro the toppe of the rocke/ that they al to burst: but the me of the armie which Amaziah had turned backe & wolde not let go with his people to battell/ ranne vnto the cities of Juda from Samaria vnto Bethhoron & slue thre thousande of them and wanne moche spoyle.

And it chaunced/ after that Amaziah was come from the slaughter of the Edomites/ & had brought the Gods of the children of Seir/ he set the by to be his Gods/ & bowed hym selfe before the & burned cense vnto the. Wherfore the Lord was wroth w Amaziah & sent to him a prophete/ & sayde to him: why sekest thou the Gods of the people which were not able to deliuer their awne people out of thyn hand? And as the prophete spake to him/ he saide to the prophete: haue men made the of the kynges counsell: cease/ lest thou be beaten. And the prophete ceased & sayde: I am sure that God hath take counsell to destroye the/ because thou hast done this/ & obeyest not my counsell.

ii. Reg. xiiij.

Then Amaziah kyng of Juda toke aduise & sent to Joas the sonne of Jehoahaz & sonne of Jehu kyng of Israel & sayde: come/ & let vs see ether other. And Joas kyng of Israel sent agayne to Amaziah kyng of Juda sayig: a thistle in Libanon sent to a Cedar tree of Libanon/ & troade doune the thistle. Thou thinkest: se/ I haue beate the Edomites/ wherfore thynne hert aryleth to glorifye thy selfe. Now hyde at home: what neadeth the to prouoke to euell/ that thou perishe and Juda with the.

But Amaziah rested not: for it came of God/ eue to deliuer the into the hands of their enemies: & that because they had sought the Gods of the Edomites. And Joas kyng of Israel came by: & they saw ether other/ both he & Amaziah kyng of Juda at Bethlames in Juda. And Juda was put to the worse before Israel/ & fled euery man to his tent. And Joas kyng of Israel toke Amaziah kyng of Juda & sonne of Jehoas & sonne of Jehoahaz at Bethlames: & brought hym to Jerusalem/ & tare the walle of Jerusalem fro the gate of Ephraim vnto the corner gate/ foure hundred cubytes longe. And he toke all the goulde & silver & all the iuelles that were founde in the house of God wyth Obed Edom & the treasure of the kynges house and hostages/ and returned to Samaria.

And Amaziah & sonne of Jehoas kyng of Juda lyued after the deethe of Joas sonne of Jehoahaz kyng of Israel. xviij. yere. The rest of the actes of Amaziah fyrst & last are writte in the booke of the kynges of Juda and Israel. And after that tyme that Amaziah dyd turne awaye from the Lorde/ they conspired treason agaynst hym in Jerusalem: and he fled to Lachis. Wherfore they sent after hym and slue hym there/ and brought hym by wyth hoyses and buried hym wyth his fathers in the cytye of Juda.

After the deeth of Amaziah raygneth Oziah wyth which the lepre/ and Joatham raygneth in his rowme.

The. xviij. Chapter.

Then all the people of Juda toke Oziah which was. xviij. yere olde/ & made hym kyng in the rowme of his father Amaziah. And he buyt cloth and brought it agayne to Juda after the kyng was layde to rest with his fathers. Sixtene yere olde was Oziah when he began to raygne/ & he raygned. liij. yere in Jerusalem. His mothers name was Jecaliah of Jerusalem. And he dyd that pleased the Lorde/ in all poyntes as dyd his father Amaziah. And he sought God whyle Zachariah the teacher to se God lyued: and as longe as he sought the Lorde/ God made hym prosper.

And he went to battell agaynst the Philistines & brake doune the walles of Geth/ & the walles of Jabneh & the walles of Adod/ and built cities aboute Adod & amonge the Philistines. And God holpe him agaynst the Philistines & agaynst the Arabians & dwelt in Gurbail/ & agaynst the Ammonites. And the Ammonites gaue tribute to Oziah/ and his name spredde abroade euen to Egypte: for he played the man & excelled. Moreover Oziah buyt towres in Jerusalem ouer the corner gate/ & ouer the balepe gate/ and ouer other corners/ and made the stronge. And he buyt towres in the wilderness & digged many wells/ for he Joatham.

For he had moche cattell/ bothe in the balepe and also in the playne: and plowmen and bynders in the mountaynes and in Char-mel/ for he loued husbandrye.

And Oziah had an host of fyghtynge men that went out to warre in the armie & were tolde & numbred by Jziel the scribe & Maasiah an officer/ vnder the hande of Hananiah one of the kynges Lordes. And the hoale numbere of the auncient herdes of the men of myght were. ii. thousande & fyre hundred and vnder the handes of the was the armie of the hoste/ thre hundred & foure thousand & fyue hundred that made warre wyth myght & strenght/ to helpe the kyng agaynst his enemies. And Oziah prouided the thowow oute all the hoste shields/ speares/ helmetes/ habergynnes/ bowes & synghes for stones. And he made engynes in Jerusalem by the crafte of artifcyers to be on the towres & corners/ to shote arrowes & great stones w all. And his name spredde farre abroade/ for he was wonderfyll holpe/ vntyll he was become myghty.

And in his greatnesse his hert arosc/ & he was marred: & transgressed agaynst the Lorde his God. For he went in to the temple of the Lorde to burne cense vpon the aulter of incense. But Asariah the preste went in after him with foure thore prestes of the Lorde & were bolde men. And they stepte to Oziah & sayde to him: it pertayneth not to the Oziah to burne cense vnto the Lorde/ but to the prestes the children of Aaron that are consecrate for to burne incense. Come out of the sanctuarie/ for thou hast trespassed/ and it shalbe no more to the before the Lorde God.

ii. Reg. xviij.

And Oziah was wroth & had cense in his hande to offer/ and in his indignacio agaynst the preste/ & he leprose spage in his forehead before the prestes in the house of the Lorde/ euen beyde the incense aulter. And Asariah the chiefe preste w all the other prestes looked vpon hym: & beholde he was a leper in his forehead/ & they bered him thence. And therto he was sayne to go out/ because the Lorde had plaged him. And Oziah the kyng continued a lepre vnto the daye of his deethe & dwelt in an house at lybertie: how be it/ he was cast out of the house of the Lorde. And Joatham his sonne had the gouernance of the kyngs house and iudged the people of the lande.

The rest of the actes of Oziah both fyrst and last/ did Asariah the prophete the sonne of Amos write. And when Oziah was layde to rest with his fathers/ they buried hym in his fathers in the felde of the buriall of the kynges. For they sayde: he is a leper. And Joatham his sonne raygned in his steade.

Joatham raygneth & ouer cometh the Ammonites. Ahas his sonne raygneth after hym.

The. xviij. Chapter.

Joatham was. xviij. yere olde when he beganne to raygne/ and raygned. xviij. yere in Jerusalem. His mothers name was Jerusah & daughter of Zadoc. And he dyd that pleased the Lorde in all poyntes as dyd his father Oziah: saue/ that he came not to the temple of the Lorde/ and that the people dyd yet corrupt them selues. He built the hie gate of the temple of the Lorde/ & on the walle Ophel he buyt moche. Moreover he built cytyes in the mountaynes of Juda/ and in the wood coultre he built castelles and towres.

And he fought with the kyng of the childe of Ammon/ and preuayled agaynst the. And the childe of Ammon gaue him the same yere an hundred talents of silver/ & ten thousande quarters of whete & as moche barleye. So moche also did the childe of Ammon geue him the seconde yere and the thirde too. And Joatham became mightie/ because he directed his waye before the Lorde his God.

The rest of the actes of Joatham & all his warres and his wayes are written in the booke of the kynges of Israel & Juda. He was. xviij. yere olde when he beganne to raygne/ & raygned. xviij. yere in Jerusalem. And when Joatham was layde to rest with his fathers/ they buried hym in the cytye of Dauid: and Ahas his sonne raygned in his steade.

The wychednesse of Ahas kyng of Juda. After him raygneth Hezekiah.

The. xviij. Chapter.

Ahas was. xx. yere olde when he beganne to raygne/ and raygned. xviij. yere in Jerusalem. And he dyd not that pleased the Lorde/ as dyd his father Dauid: but walked in the wayes of the kynges of Israel/ and made therto Baals of metall. And he offered cense in the balepe of the children of Hennon/ and burnt his childe in fyre after the abhominacyon of the nacyns which the Lord cast out before the childe of Israel. And he offered burnt cense in his aulters and on mountaynes & vnder euery grene tre.

Wherfore the Lorde his God deliuered him into the hand of the kyng of the Syrians: which bet hym & carped awaye a great multitude of his captiue in to Damascos. And therto he was deliuered into the hande of the kyng of Israel which slue of his a myghty slaughter. For Phalach & sonne of Romeliah slue in Juda an hundred & twety thousand in one daye/ & all fyghtynge men: & that because they had forsaken the Lorde God of their fathers. And Zechi a myghty man in moat Ephraim slue Maasiah the kynges sonne/ & Asiram the Lorde swarde of the household/ and Elcanah that was next to the kyng. And the children children of Israel toke prisoners of their brethren two hundred thousand wyues/sonnes & daughters/ & therto caried away moche spoyle of the/and brought it to Samaria.

But there was a prophete of the Lordes named Obed which went out to the host that came to Samaria & sayde to the/ because the Lord God of youre fathers was wroth wth Juda/ he deliuered the into youre hands. And ye haue slayne the with cruelnesse & reacheth vp to heauen. And now ye purpose to kepe vnder the children of Juda and Jerusalem & to make them bondemen and bondwomen. What other thyng do ye (ye vnhappye) then offend the Lord your God. But now heare me/ & deliuer the captiues agayne which ye haue taken of your brethren: for the great wrath of the Lord is vpon you.

And certayne of the heedes of the children of Ephraim/as Asariah the sonne of Iohanan Barachiah the sonne of Melchieloth/ Hekiah the sonne of Seim & Amata the sonne of Hadalai stode vp agaynst them that came fro warre/ and sayde vnto them: ye shall not bring in the captiues hither. For where we haue offended the Lord all readye/ ye entende to adde more to oure synnes & trespass. For oure trespass is great all readye/ & there is scarce wrath vpon Israel. And vpon the me of armes lette the captiues & the spoyle before the Lordes & all the congregacion.

And there arose certayne apointed therto by name/ & toke the prisoners & clothed all the were naked amonge the/ of the spoyle/ & arayed the & shod the & gaue the to eate & to drinke & anoynted the/ & caried all that were feble of them vpon asses & brought the to Jericho the cite of Paulmetrees fast by their brethren: and then returned to Samaria agayne.

And at that same tyme kynge Ahaz sent vnto the kynge of Assur to haue helpe. And the Edomites came yet agayne & slue of Juda & caried away some captiues. And the Philistines inuaded the cities in the lowe countrey and the south of Juda: and toke Bethlames/ Aialon/ Gaderoth & Socoh with the townes longynge therto/ & Chimna with the townes of the same. & Gimsa with her townes/ & dwelt therein. For the Lord brought Juda lowe/ because of Ahaz kynge of Juda which made Juda naked & transgressed agaynst the Lord. And Tiglath palneser kynge of Assur came vpon him and beseged him/ but preuayled not agaynst him. For Ahaz toke away out of the house of the Lord & out of the kynge's house & out of the Lordes houses/ & gaue vnto the kynge of Assur/ though it holpe him not. And therto in the very tyme of his tribulacion did kynge Ahaz trespass yet moare agaynst the Lord. For he offered vnto the Gods of them of Damasco which sette him a sayd/ because the Gods of the Siriens healte the/ therfore will I offer to the/ that they maye helpe me also. But they were his destruction & the destruction of all Israel. And Ahaz gathered to gether the vessels of the house of God and brake the/ & put vp the doores of the house of the Lord/ & made him altiers in all corners of Jerusalem. And in all the cities of Juda ctype by cite he made hylalters to burne incense vnto other Gods/ & angred the Lord God of his fathers. The rest of his actes & all his wayes bothe first & last are writte in the boke of the kinges of Juda & Israel. And wher Ahaz was layde to rest wth his fathers/ theye buried him in the ctype of Jerusalem: but brought hym not vnto the sepulchres of the kinges of Juda. And Hzekiah his sone reigned in his steade.

Hzekiah resteth vnto the temple of the Lord all the thyngs he had not bene regarded of bys predecessours.

The xxix. Chapter.

Hzekiah began to raygne wher he was. xix. yere olde/ & raygned. xix. yere in Jerusalem. And his mothers name was Abiah the daughter of Zachariah. And he dyd that was right in the sight of the Lord in all poyntes as did Dauid his father. He opened the doores of the house of the Lord in the first yere & the first moneth of his raygne/ & he repaired the. And he brought in the prestes & the Leuites & gathered the to gether in to the east strete/ & sayde vnto the.

Heare me ye Leuites: purifye youre selues & halow the house of the Lord God of youre fathers/ & bringe out the filthinesse out of the holy place. For oure fathers haue trespassed & done euell fauoredly in the eyes of the Lord our God: & haue forsake him/ and turned away their faces fro the habitacon of the Lord & turned to their backs. And besyde they haue put vp doores of porche & quethed the slapes & haue nether burned cense nor offered burnt-offryngs in the holy place vnto the God of Israel.

Wherfore the wrath of the Lord fell on Juda & Jerusalem: & he shatered the & made them to thynne that men hitte at it/ euē as ye se with youre eyes. For se/ oure fathers were ouerthrowne with the swerde & oure sonnes/ oure daughters & oure wyues were caried away captiue for the same cause. Now haue I in my hert to stryke a couenaunt wth the Lord God of Israel: the his wrath may cease. Now therfore my sonnes be not neglygent: for the Lord hath chosen you to stande before him/ and for to minstre and burne offerynges to him.

Then the Leuites arose: Mahath the sonne of Amasai & Joel the sonne of Asariah beyng of the children of the Kahathites: & the sonnes of Merari/ & the sonne of Abdi & Asariah the sonne of Jehaleleel: & of the Gersonites/ Joah the sonne the sonne of Simma & Eden the sonne of Joah: & of the sonnes of Elisaphan/ Simri & Jereel: & of the sonnes of Asaph/ Zachariah & Mahathiah: & of the sonnes of Beniam/ Gebiel & Semel: & of the sonnes of Jeduthun/ Semai & Ozziel. And they gathered their brethren & purified the selues/ & then wet at the commandement of the kynge by the worde of the Lord/ for to cleanse the house of the Lord. And the prestes wet into the house of the Lord to cleanse it/ & brought out all the unclennesse that they founde in the temple of the Lord/ & in the court of the house of the Lord. And the Leuites toke it & caried it out in to the broke Cedron. They began the first daye of the first moneth to purifye/ & came the eight daye to the porche of the Lord: so they had purged the house of the Lord in eight dayes and the xxi. daye of the first moneth they made an ende.

And then they wet in to Hzekiah the kynge & sayde: we haue cleansed all the house of the Lord/ & the altar of burnt-offryngs wth all his vessels/ & the shewbreede table with all his apparell: & therto all the vessels which kynge Ahaz dyd cast a syde when he raygned & trasgressed/ them we haue repayed & sanctified: & se/ they are before the altar of the Lord.

And Hzekiah the kynge rose erlye & gathered the Lordes of the ctype & went vp to the house of the Lord. And there were brought seue oxen/ seue rammes/ seue lammes & seue kiddes to be a synne-offeryng for the kynge-dome/ for the sanctuarie & for Juda. And he commanded the prestes the sonnes of Aaron to offer them on the altar of the Lord.

And they slue the oxen: & the prestes receaued the bloude & spynkled it on the altar: and they slue the rammes & spynkled the bloude vpon the altar: & they slue the lammes & spynkled the bloude vpon the altar. And then they brought forth the kiddes of the synne-offeryng before the kynge & the congregacion which put their handes vpon the. And the prestes slue the & offered the bloude of the vpon the altar/ to make satisfaction for all Israel: for the kynge sayde: the burnt-offryng & the synne-offryng shulde serue for all Israel. And they set the Leuites in the house of the Lord wthymbales/ psalteries & harpes accordyng to the commandement of Dauid & of Gad the kynge's sear of blysse & of Nathan the prophete. For so was the commandement of the Lord thow the hande of his prophetes. And so the Leuites stode with the instrumentes of Dauid/ and the prestes wth trumpettes. And Hzekiah commanded to offer the burnt-offryng vpon the altar. And wher the burnt-offryng beganne/ the sonne of the Lord beganne/ & the trumpettes with the instrumentes of Dauid kynge of Israel. And all the congregacion bowed the selues/ and the kyngers lange/ & the trumpettes blew/ & continued vntill the burnt-offryng was syned. And wher they had made an ende of the burnt-offryng/ the kynge & all the were wth him kneeled downe & bowed the selues & gaue praye & thanckes. And Hzekiah the kynge & the lordes bade the Leuites to praye the Lord wth the wordes of Dauid & of Asaph the sear of blysse. And the Leuites prayed & they reioyced agayne/ and the other stomped & bowed them selues.

And Hzekiah answered & sayd: now ye haue fylled youre handes to the Lord/ go to and bring in the sacrefices & thank-offeryngs in to the house of the Lord. And the congregacion brought in the sacrefices & thank-offerynges/ & all the were wyllynge brought burnt-offrynges. And the number of the burnt-offrynges which the congregacion brought in was. lxx. oxen & an hundred rammes & two hundred lammes: & all for burnt-offrynges to the Lord. And besyde they dedicated sixe hundred oxen & thre thousand shepe.

But the prestes were to few/ & were not able to sleue all the burnt-offrynges. Wherfore their brethren the Leuites holpe them till the worke was ended/ & vntill the prestes were sanctified. For the Leuites were purer herted to sanctifie the selues then the prestes. And therto the burnt-offrynges were manye in the fatte of the peace-offerynges & the dyne-offerynges they be longed to the burnt-offryng. And so the seruyce pertaynyng to the house of the Lord wet forthward. And Hzekiah reioyced & all the people/ the God had made the folche so readye: for the thyng was sodenly done. Hzekiah reneweth the feast of passeouer.

The xxx. Chapter.

Hzekiah sent to all Israel & Juda: & therto wrote letters to Ephraim & Manasse/ & they shulde come to the house of the Lord at Jerusalem/ to offer passeouer vnto the Lord God of Israel. And the kynge helde a counsell with his Lordes and all the congregacion at Jerusalem to kepe the feast of passeouer in the seconde moneth. For they coude not kepe it at the tyme: for there were not prestes ynowe sanctified/ nether was the people gathered to gether to Jerusalem. And the thyng pleased the kynge & all the congregacion. And they decreed that it shulde be proclaymed thorow out all Israel fro Bersabe to Dan/ & they shulde come & holde the feast of passeouer vnto the Lord God of Israel at Jerusalem: for they had not often done it/ as it is writte how they shuld.

And the messengers went with letters of the hand of the kynge & of his Lordes thow out all Israel and Juda/ at the commandement of the kynge which sayde: children of Israel/ turne agayne vnto the Lord God of Abraham/ Isaac and Israel/ and so will he turne to the remnant of you that are escaped out of the handes of the kyng of Assur. And be ye not lyke youre fathers and youre brethren which trespassed agaynst the Lord of youre fathers/ whych therfore gaue them by that they are wasted as ye be. Wherfore be not styfnecked lyke vnto youre fathers/ but yelde youre selues vnto the Lord/ & come to his holy place which he hath sanctified for euer/ and serue the Lord youre God/ that hys wrath maye turne fro you. For yf ye turne vnto the Lord/ then youre brethren & youre chyldren shall fynde compassion in the presence of the Lord that holde the captiue/ that they maye come agayne vnto this lande: for the Lord youre God is full of mercye and compassyō/ & wyl not turne hys face from you/ yf ye turne agayne to him.

And the postes went from ctye to ctye thozou oute the lande of Ephraim and Manasse & eue vnto Zabulon. But they laughed them to scorn & mocked the. Neuertheless yet dyuerse of Asser/ Manasse and of Zabulon meakened the selues & came to Jerusalem. And therto the had of God was in Juda/ to make the of one accorde to do the commaundement of the kyng & the capitaynes/ whych was accordyng to the worde of the Lord. And so there assembled to Jerusalem moche people & a myghtie great congregacion/ to holde the feast of swete breade in the seconde moneth.

And they arose and put away the altars which were in Jerusalem. And therto all the incense they dyd away & cast the into the broke Cedron. And they flue passeouer the fourtene daye of the second moneth. And the prestes & Leuites sanctified the selues for shame/ & brought in the burntofferings into the house of the Lord. And they stode in their standing after their maner accordyng to the lawe of Moyses the ma of God. And the prestes sprinkled the bloude receauynge it of the handes of the Leuites. And because there were many in the congregacion that were not sanctified: and therfore dyd the Leuites fley passeouer for all that were not cleane to sanctifye the to the Lord.

There was very moche people oute of Ephraim/ Manasse/ Issachar and Zabulon that were not cleane/ and therfore dyd eate passeouer otherwyle then wytyngge specyfeth. But Hezekiah prayed for the & sayd: O good Lord be mercifull to all that sett their hertes to seke the God that is the Lord God of their fathers/ though they do it not accordyng to the cleanness of the holy place. And the Lord heard Hezekiah & healed the people. And so the chyldren of Israel that were founde at Jerusalem/ helde the feast of swete breade seuen dayes with great gladnesse/ and the Leuites and the prestes prayed the Lord day by daye with lowde instrumentes.

And Hezekiah spake hertely vnto the Leuites that had good vnderstanding of the Lord. And they dyd eate that feast seuen dayes long & offered peaceofferings & thanked the Lord God of their fathers. And the hoale assemble toke counsell to kepe seuen dayes more: & they helde those seuen dayes with gladnesse. For Hezekiah kyng of Juda gaue for heaucofferings to the congregacion a thousand oxen & seuen thousand shepe. And the Lord gaue to the congregacion for heaucofferings a thousand oxen & ten thousand shepe. And the prestes sanctified them selues/ that they were ynowe.

And all the congregacion of Juda with the prestes & Leuites/ & all the congregacion that came out of Israel and the straungers/ both that came out of the lande of Israel and that dwelt in Juda/ reioysed: & there was great ioye in Jerusalem. For sence the tyme of Salomon the sonne of Dauid kyng of Israel it happened not so in Jerusalem. And the prestes & the Leuites arose & blessed the people/ and their voyce was heard/ & their prayer went vnto his holy dwelling place heauen.

After Hezekiah had called agayne the people vnto the worde of the Lord/ he ordeyned the prestes/ vnto whiche he commaunded to geue tythes.

The xxxi. Chapter.

And when they had finished all this: then all Israel that were founde in the ctyes of Juda/ went oute and brake the images & cut downe the groves/ and all to brake the highalters and other altars thozow out all Juda & Beniamin/ Ephraim and Manasse/ vntyll they had made an ende of the. And afterwarde all the chyldren of Israel returned euery man to his possession in their aowne ctyes.

And Hezekiah set the prestes and the Leuites in their ordre to waite by course/ euery man accordyng to his office whither preste or Leuite: for burntofferings & peaceofferings/ & to minstre & to thanke and to praye in the gates of the lodge of the Lord. And the kyng gaue a porcyon of his substance for burntofferings at moynyng & eue/ & for burntofferings on the Saboth dayes & new mones & other solempne feasts/ accordyng as it is wytyt in the lawe of the Lord. And he bade the people that dwelt in Jerusalem to geue the parte of the prestes & Leuites/ that they myght be maintained in the lawe of the Lord. And as sone as the worde came abroad the chyldren of Israel brought aboundance of fyrt frutes of corne/ wyne/ oyle & honye/ & of all maner of frutes of the feld: & the tythes of all maner of thyngs brought they in plentifully. And the chyldren of Israel and Juda that dwelt in the ctyes of Juda/ they also brought in the tythes of oxen & shepe/ & tythes of dedycate thyngs which which were dedicated to the Lord their God/ and put the on heapes. In the thirde moneth they beganne to laye the heapes/ & fynished them the seuenth.

And when Hezekiah and the Lordes came & saw the heapes/ they blessed the Lord and his people Israel. And Hezekiah questioned with the prestes & the Leuites concernyng the heapes. And Azariah the chiefe preste of the house of Zadock answered him and sayde sence they beganne to bringe the heaucofferings into the house of the Lord/ we haue eaten and had ynough/ and yet lefte aboundance/ for the Lord hath blessed his people/ and therof is this heape lefte. And Hezekiah bade drese by the store houses aboute the house of the Lord. And so they dyd/ and carped in the heaucofferings and the tythes and the dedycat gyftes euen of Tybelte.

Ouer which Chonaniah the Leuite had rule. Semai his brother next to him. And Jehiel/ Azariah/ Mahath/ Asael/ Jerimoth/ Josabab/ Eliel/ Jesmachim/ Mahath and Bananiah were ouer sears ordeyned by Chonaniah and Semai his brother/ at the appoyntement of Hezekiah the kyng/ and Azariah the ruler of the house of God. And Choze the sonne of Gemma the Leuite porter of the west doore had the ouersight of the frewillofferings of God/ to geue heaucofferings vnto the Lord/ and was ouer thynges most holy. And vnder him were Eden/ Miniamin/ Jesua/ Semai/ Azariah and Secheniah in the ctyes of the preste of their Tybelte/ to geue to their brethren their porcyons/ as well to the small as to the great.

And to the males also that were rehed from thye yere and aboue amonge all that wet in to the house of the Lord day by daye/ to do seruyce and to waite by course. And to the prestes that were rehed in the holdes of their fathers from twentie yere & aboue/ to waite when their courses came. And to them that were rehed thozow out all their babes/ wyues/ connes and daughters thozow out all the congregacion. For to the Tybelte of the dyd men comitt their sanctified gyftes. And therto amonge the chyldren of Aaron the prestes were men named by name in the felde of the suburbs of all their ctyes/ ctye by ctye/ for to geue porcyons to all the males of the prestes/ and to all that were rehed amonge the Leuites.

And of this maner dyd Hezekiah thozow out all Juda/ and dyd that was good/ ryghte and true/ before the Lord his God. And in all the workes that he beganne in the seruyce of the house of God/ to seke his God after the lawe and commaundement/ that dyd he with all his herte/ and prospered.

Sennacherib which shulde haue be seged Jerusalem is stricken of the Angell. Hezekiah dyeth after whiche succedeth Manasseh.

The xxxii. Chapter.

After these dead & true/ Sennacherib kyng of Assur came & entered in to Juda & pitched agaynst the stronge ctyes & thought to draw the to him. And when Hezekiah saw that Sennacherib was come and that he was purposed to fyght agaynst Jerusalem: he toke counsell with his capitaynes & men of might/ to stoppe the water of the fountaynes that were without the ctye: & they were content to helpe hym. And so there gathered moche people to geather & stoppe all the welles & the broke that ranne thozow the myddes of the lande/ entendinge that the kyng of Assur shulde not fynde moche water when they came. And he wet to luster/ & built by the walle where it was broken/ and made towres aboue vpon/ & yet another wall without/ and repayed the walle of David/ and made many dartes & shieldes.

And he sett Capitaynes of warre ouer the people & gathered the to geather into large strete of the gate of the cite & spake ientelye to them/ saying. Plucke by youre hertes and be strong: Be not afrayed or in any wyle discouraged for breade of the kyng of Assur/ & of great multitude is with him: for there is one greater with vs then with him. With him is an arme of flesh: But with vs is the Lord oure God for to helpe vs and to fyght oure batayles. And the people were well courage with the wordes of Hezekiah kyng of Juda.

After that Sennacherib kyng of Assur sent of his seruants to Jerusalem/ he hym self lyinge before Lachis & all his kyngdom with him/ vnto Hezekiah kyng of Juda & vnto all Juda that were at Jerusalem sayig. Thus sayth Sennacherib kyng of Assur: where in do ye trust? ye are be seged in Jerusalem: Hezekiah deceaueth you/ to deliuer you to deeth/ hōgre/ & thurst/ sayig: the Lord oure God shall rydde vs out of the hāde of the kyng of Assur. Is it not that Hezekiah hath put downe his highalters & his other altars/ & commaunded Juda and Jerusalem sayinge: before one altar ye shall bowe youre selues & vpon that offer also.

Moreouer haue ye not hearde what I & my fathers haue done vnto the people of all landes: were the Gods of the people of other landes able to saue their lādes out of my hāde? which of all the Gods of those nacjons that my fathers destroyed was it/ that coulde deliuer his people out of myne hand/ that youre God shuld be able to deliuer you out of myne hande: wherfore now lett not Hezekiah deceaue you ether perswade you of thys facyon/ nor yet beleue hym. For as no God amonge amonge so manye nacjons & kyngdomes / was able to rydde hys people out of myne hande & the handes of my fathers: eue so moche lesse shall poure God kepe you out of myne hande. And yet moare dyd his seruante speake agaynst the Lord God & agaynst his seruante Hezekiah. And thereto he wrote a letter to saile on the Lord God of Israel & spake therein sayng: as the Gods of the nacjons of other landes haue not deliuered their people out of myne hande / no moare shall the God of Hezekiah deliuer hys people out of myne hande. And they cryed wyth a lowde voyce in the serues speache vnto the people of Jerusalem & were on the walles / to feare them and to dysmaye them / that they myght haue taken the ctyte.

And they spake agaynst the God of Jerusalem / as agaynst the Gods of the nacjons of the earth / which are the worke of the handes of men.

But Hezekiah the kyng and the prophete Isaiab sonne of Amoz prayed concerning the chynge & cryed vnto heauen. And the Lord sent an angell & destroyed all the me of warre and the Lord & capitaynes of the hoste of the kyng of Assur / & he turned his face with shame towarde his awne lande. And whē he was come in to the house of his God / he was there ouerthrowen wth the swerde eue by the that issued out of hys bowelles. And so the Lord saued Hezekiah & the enhabytters at Jerusalem out of the handes of Sennacherib kyng of Assur & of all other / & mayntened the on all tyes. In so moche that manye brought presentes vnto the Lord to Jerusalem and pcciousse gyftes to Hezekiah kyng of Juda: so that he was magnified in the sight of all nacjons from thence forth.

In thole dayes Hezekiah was sycke vnto the death and besought the Lord: whych answered him & shewed him a wonderfull myracle. But Hezekiah dyd not accordyng to the curtesye shewed him / for his hert arose: and therfore came there wrath vpon hym & vpon Juda and Jerusalem. For wthstandyng Hezekiah mekened hym selfe for the a ryng of hys herte / bothe he and the enhabytters of Jerusalem. wherfore the wrath of the Lord fell not vpon them in the dayes of Hezekiah.

And Hezekiah had excedyng moche rychesse & honoure. And he geathered him treasure of syluer / goulde / pcciousse stones / spices / myldes & of all maner pleasaunt fuelles: & made stowe houses for the frutes of come / wyne & oyle: & stables for all maner of bestes / and foldes for shepe. And he made hym towynes because he had catell of shepe & oren great abundance. For God had geuen hym substance excedyng moche. And the sayde Hezekiah stopped the upper water sprynges of Syhon & brought them downe to the wast lyde of the ctyte of Dauid. And Hezekiah prospered in all his woorkes. But when the Ambassadors of the Lordes of Babylon were sent to him to enquire of the wonder & chaunced in the land / God lette him: to tempte hym & all that was in his hert myght be knowne.

The rest of the dedes of Hezekiah and his goodnesse are writte in the blyson of Isaiab the prophete the sonne of Amoz in the booke of the kynges of Juda and Israel. And then Hezekiah layde hym to rest wth hys fathers / and they buryed him in the best sepulchre of the sonnes of Dauid: and Juda & the enhabytters of Jerusalem dyd hym worshippe at his death. And Manasseh his sonne raigne in his steade.

Manasseh is taken prisoner / and after he cometh oute he destroyeth the Idoles. He dyeth / and after him succeedeth Amon. After Amon was kylled of his awne people / Josiah his sonne raggeth for him.

The xxiii. Chapter.

Manasseh was .xiiij. yere olde whē he was made kyng / & raigne in .xv. yere in Jerusalem. And he dyd wickedlye in the syght of the Lord / lyke vnto the abhominacions of the hethen which the Lord cast out befoze the chyldren of Israel. For he wet to & buyt agayne the hylaulteris which Hezekiah his father had broke downe. And he reared vp alters vnto Baals & made groues & bowed hym selfe vnto all the host of heauē and serued them. And he buyt alters in the house of the Lord: of which the Lord had sayde * in Jerusalem shall my name be for euer. And he made alters vnto all the host of heauen in the two courtes of the house of the Lord. And he burnt his chyldren in fyre in the valey of the sonnes of Hennon. And he obserued dysmalle dayes & occupied wythcraftes and soztery / and mayntened woorkes wth spirites & sears of fortunes: & wrought moche euell in the syght of the Lord / to angre hym wth all.

And he put the kerued Image of an Idole which he had made / in the house of God. Of which house God sayde to Dauid and to Salomon his sonne / in this house here in Jerusalem which I haue cholen out of all the tribes / * I will put my name for euer / & no moare byryng & seate of Israel fro of the land which I haue ordeyned for poure fathers. If so be they shalbe diligent to doo all I haue commaunded by Moyses in all the lawe ordinaunces and maners. But Manasseh made Juda and the enhabytters of Jerusalem to erre and to do worse then the heathē which the Lord destroyed befoze the chyldren of Israel. And when the Lord spake to Manasseh & to hys people / they attended not to him.

Wherfore the Lord brought vpon them the Capitaynes of the hoste of the kyng of Assur /

Assur / which toke Manasseh in an holde and bounde him wth chaynes & carped him to Babylon. And when he was in tribulacyon he besought the Lord his God / & humbled hym selfe excedynglye befoze the God of hys fathers / & made intercedyon to hym: & he was entreated of hym and hearde hys prayer and brought him agayne to Jerusalem into hys kyngdom. And then Manasseh knewe how the Lord was the very God.

After that he buyt a wall without the ctyte of Dauid on the west syde of Syhon in the booke & so forth to the gate & rōde aboute Ophel & brought it vp of very a great heygth / & put capitaynes of warre in all the stronge cities of Juda. And he toke awaye straunge Gods & the Idole out of the house of God / & all the alters that he had buyt in the mount of the house of God in Jerusalem / & cast the out of the ctyte. And he made an alter vnto the Lord & sacrificed thereon peaceofferynges & thankofferynges / & charged Juda to serue the Lord God of Israel. Neuerthelesse the people dyd offer still in the hylaulteris / howe be it vnto the Lord their God onlye.

The rest of the actes of Manasseh and his prayer vnto his God / & the wordes of the sears of byssions & spake to him in the name of the Lord God of Israel / are writte amonge the dedes of the kyngs of Israel. And his prayer & how that he was hearde / & all hys synne & trespase / & the places where he made hylaulteris & set vp groues & kerued Images befoze he was mekened / are writte amonge the dedes of the sears of byssions. And when Manasseh was layde to rest wth his fathers / they buryed him in his awne house: and Amon hys sonne raigne in his towne. Amon was .xxij. yere olde / when he beganne to raigne / & raigne two yere in Jerusalem. And he dyd displeased the Lord lyke vnto Manasseh his father / for Amon sacrificed to all the kerued Images which Manasseh his father made / & serued them / & mekened not hym selfe befoze the Lord as Manasseh his father had mekened hymselfe: But Amon trespassed greatly. Wherfore his awne seruantes conspired agaynst hym and slue him in his awne house. And the people of the land slue all that had conspired agaynst kyng Amon. And thereto the people of the lade made Josiah his sonne kyng in his towne.

Josiah destroyed the Idoles & restoreth the temple: in which is founde the booke of the lawe. He sendeth to Huldah the prophete for counsell.

The xxiiii. Chapter.

Josiah was made kyng when he was .vij. yere olde / & he raigne in Jerusalem .xxij. yere. And he dyd & pleased the Lord / & walched in the wayes of Dauid his father bowyng nether to the ryght hande or to the lefte. In so moche the eight yere of his raigne / whē he was yet a lad / he beganne to seke after the God of Dauid his father. And in the twelue yere he beganne to poure Juda & Jerusalem of hylaulteris / groues / kerued Images / and Images of metall: so that they brake downe the alters of Baals eue in his presence / & the ydoles that were vpon the / he caused to be destroyed. And the groues / kerued Images / and Images of metall he brake & made dust of the / & strawed it vpon the graues of the that had offered to the. And he burnt the bones of the prests vpon the alters / & cleded Juda and Jerusalem. And eue so dyd he in the ctytes of Manasseh / Ephraim / Simeon & of Nephthali thereto. And in the wyldernes of the rōde about he plucked a sondre the alters & the groues / and dyd beate the & stampe them to powder / and beate downe the ydoles thorow out all the lande of Israel: & then returned to Jerusalem agayne.

And in the .xviij. yere of his raigne whē he had purged the lade & the temple / he sent Saphan the sonne of Azaliah / and Maasiah the gouernour of the ctyte and Joah the sonne of Joahaz the recorder / to repayre the house of the Lord his God. And when they came to Hezekiah the hys preste / men deliuered the money that was brought in to the house of God / which the Levites that kept the enteries had geathered of the handes of Manasseh & Ephraim & of all that yet remayned in Israel & of all Juda & Benjamin & of the enhabytters of Jerusalem. And they put it in the handes of the woorkemen that had the ouersyght of the house of the Lord / which gaue it to the labourers that wrought on the house of the Lord / to repayre & mende it / & to masons and carpenters to bye heued stone & timbre for to make couplys & beams for the houses which the kyngs of Judah had destroyed: And the men wrought in the woorkes of fidelite.

And the ouer sears of the to courage them forwarde / were Jahath & Obadiah Levites of the chyldre of Merari: and Secharia and Meshulam of the chyldre of the Cahathites / & as manye other of the Levites as coude shille of instrumētes of Musick. And ouer the beaers of burthens & ouer all that wrought / in whatsoeuer woorkemanthipe it were / were there scribes / officers & porters of the Levites.

And as they brought out the money & was brought into the house / Hezekiah the preste founde the booke of the lawe of the Lord geue by Moyses. And Hezekiah answered and sayd to Saphan the scribe: I haue founde the booke of the lawe in the house of the Lord / & gaue the booke to Saphan. And Saphan carped the booke to the kyng / and brought the kyng moze agayne / sayng: all that was comitted to thy seruantes / that do they. And they haue powred powzed out the money that was founde in the house of the Lorde and haue deliuered in to the hādes of the ouer sears of the worckemen. And then Saphan the scribe shewed the kyng saying: Belkiah the preste hath geuen me a boke/ and he read it before the kyng.

And whē the kyng had hearde the wordes of the lawe/ he tare his clothes/ & comaūded Belkiah and Ahikam the sonne of Saphan and Abadon the sonne of Micah & the sayde Saphan the scribe & Aiaia a seruaunt of the kynges/ saying: go & enquire of the Lorde for me & for the kyng & are leste in Israel and Iuda/ concerning the word of the boke that is founde. For great is the wrath of the Lorde that is fallē bypon vs/ because oure fathers kept not the worde of the Lorde/ to do after all that is writtē in this boke.

And Belkiah the that pertayned to the kyng went to Holdah a propheticke wyfe of Selum the sonne of Chekiah the sonne of Hasarah keper of the wardrope (which propheticke dwelt in Ierusalem in the secōde warde) & they comuned so with her. And she sayde vnto the: thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel/ tell ye the man that sent you to me. And thus sayth the Lorde: I will brynge euell vpon this place and vpon the inhabitants therof/ euen all the curses that are writtē in the boke which they haue reade before the kyng of Iuda/ because they haue forsake me and haue offered vnto other gods to angre me in all maner worckes of their hand/ therfore is my wrath set on fyre agaynst this place & shall not be quenched.

And as for the kyng of Iuda which sent you to enquire of the Lorde/ so shall ye saye vnto him: thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel concerning the word which thou hast hearde. Because thyne hert dyd melt and thou dydest meke thy selfe before God/ whē thou heardest his wordes agaynst this place and agaynst the inhabitants therof/ & humbledst thy selfe before me/ and tarest thy clothes and wepest before me/ & haue heard also sayth the Lorde. Beholde I will take the to thy fathers & thou shalt be put in thy graue in peace/ and thyne eyes shall not se all the myscheue that I will brynge vpon this place & vpon the inhabitants of the same. And they brought the kyng worde agayne. When the kyng sent & geathered to geather all the elders of Iuda and Ierusalem. And the kyng went by in to the house of the Lorde/ & all the men of Iuda and the inhabitants of Ierusalem & the prestes & Leuites & all the people great and smalle: & reade all the wordes of the boke of the couenaunt that was founde in the house of the Lorde. And the kyng stode at his standynge & made a couenaunt before the Lorde/ to folowe the Lorde and to kepe his comaundementes/ his wytnesses and his statutes with all his herte and with all his soule & to fulfill the wordes of the appoyntment writtē in the sayde boke.

And he made to come forth all that were founde in Ierusalem and Benjamin/ & the inhabitants of Ierusalem promysed to kepe the couenaunt of the Lorde which was the God of their fathers. And Josiah put away all maner of abhominacions out of all landes that pertayned to the chyldren of Israel/ and brought all that were founde in Israel to serue the Lorde their God. And they turned not a syde fro after the Lorde God of their fathers as long as he lyued.

And Josiah holdeth passeouer. He fyghteth agaynst the kyng of Egypt/ and dyeth. The people bewaile hym.

The xxv. Chapter.

And Josiah helde the feast of passeouer vnto the Lorde in Ierusalem/ and they kepe passeouer in the xiiiij. daye of the fyrst moneth. And he set the prestes in their offces & adde them in the seruyce of the house of the Lorde. And he sayde to the Leuites that taught thorow out all Israel and were sanctified vnto the Lorde: put the holy arche in the house which Salomon the sonne of Dauid kyng of Israel did builde/ ye made not to beare it vpon your shoulders. Wherfore now serue the Lorde your God & his people Israel. And prepare your selues by your auncient householde & companyes/ accordyng to the wytyng of Dauid kyng of Israel/ and the wytyng of Salomon his sonne. And stande in the holy place accordyng to the deuyssions of the auncient householde of your brethren the chyldren of the people/ and after the deuyssion of the auncient householde of the Leuites/ & kepe passeouer/ sanctifye & prepare your brethren that they may do accordyng to the worde of the Lorde by the hand of Moyses.

And Josiah gaue to the comen people in lambes & kyddes/ for passeouer offerynges only vnto all that were present. xxx. thousande by tale/ & thre thousande oxen/ eue of the kyngs substance. And his Lorde gaue wyllenglye both vnto the people & also vnto the prestes & vnto the Leuites. Belkiah/ Zachariah & Jehiel/ rulers of the house of God/ gaue vnto the preste for passeouer offerynges two thousande & fyre hundred lambes & kyddes/ & thre hundred oxen. And Conaniah with Semeiah and Nathaneel his brethren/ and Hasabiah and Jaieel and Josabad Lordes of the Leuites/ gaue vnto the Leuites fyue thousande passeouer offerynges/ & fyue hundred oxen.

And so the seruyce went forwarde: and the preste stode in their places/ & the Leuites in their companyes at the kynges comaundement. And they kepe passeouer: & the preste sprinkled the bloude receauynge it of the Leuites/ and

and the Leuites stripte the beasts. And they sett awaye the burnt offerynges/ to geue the vnto the comen people as they were deuyded by auncient house/ for to offer vnto the Lorde/ lyke as it is wytten in the boke of Moyses. And so dyd they in the oren to. And they dressed the passeouer with fyre as the maner was. But the other halowed dedycat beastes they sodde in pottes/ caulderns & pannes & deuyded the quychlye amonge all the comen people. And afterwarde they made readye for them selues & for the prestes and for the chyldren of Aaron/ which were busied in offeryng of burnt offerynges & the fatt vntill nyght. And therfore the Leuites prepared for the selues and for the prestes the sonnes of Aaron. And the syngers the chyldren of Asaph stode in their standynge accordyng to the comaundement of Dauid and Asaph/ Herman & Judithun the kynges sear of visions: & the porters wayted at euery gate/ and might not departe from their seruyce. But their brethren the Leuites prepared for the. And so all the seruyce of the Lorde went forwarde the sayde daye/ in offeryng passeouer of burnt offerynges vpon the altare of the Lorde/ accordyng to the comaundement of kyng Josiah.

And so the chyldren of Israel that coulde be founde/ offered passeouer the same tyme and kepte the feast of swete bredde seuen dayes. And ther was no passeouer lyke to this/ kepte in Israel fro the tyme of Samuel the prophete: nether dyd anye of the kynges of Israel holde soche a passeouer feast as dyd Josiah and the prestes and Leuites & all Iuda/ & as moche of Israel as coulde be had/ & the inhabitants of Ierusalem. And this passeouer was holdē in the xviij. yere of the raygne of Josiah.

After all this/ whē Josiah had finished the temple/ Necho kyng of Egypt came by to fight agaynst Carcamis vpon Euphrates/ and Josiah wēt out agaynst him. And the other sent messengers to him/ saying: what haue I to do with the thou kyng of Iuda? I came not agaynst the now at this tyme/ but agaynst an house with whom I haue warre/ and God bade me haue. Leue of therfore and medle not with God which is with me/ leaste he destroye the. Neuerthelesse Josiah turned not his face fro him/ but made hym readye to fyght with him/ & hearkened not vnto the wordes of Necho out of the mouth of God. And when he was come to fyght in the balle of Megiddo/ the shoters shotte agaynst the kyng Josiah. And the kyng sayde to his seruaunt: carie me awaye/ for I am sore hurte. And his seruautes had him out of the charet and put him in a nother/ & brought him to Ierusalem where he dyed & was buried in the sepulchre of his fathers. And all Iuda & Ierusalem mourned for Josiah. And Jeremiah lamented Josiah/ & all syngynge men & syngynge women speake of Josiah to this daye/ & made it an ordinaunce in Israel: & they be wyttē in lamentacions. The rest of the actes of Josiah & his goodnes in folowynge the wytyng of the lawe/ & his deades fyrst & last are wyttē in the boke of the kynges of Israel and Iuda.

After Josiah raigneth Jehoahaz/ after Jehoahaz Jehoachim/ after Jehoachim Jehoacin/ after Jehoacin Zedekiah/ in whose tyme all the people were caried away to Babilon and were brought agayne. lxx. yere after/ by kyng Cyrus.

The lxxvi. Chapter.

And the people of the lande toke Jehoahaz the sonne of Josiah & made hym kyng for his father in Ierusalem. And Jehoahaz was. xiiij. yere olde whē he beganne to raigne/ & he raigned thre monethes in Ierusalem. For the kyng of Egypt put him downe at Ierusalem & merced the lande in an hundred talentes of syluer & a talent of goulde. And the kyng of Egypt made Eliahim his brother kyng vpon Iuda & Ierusalem/ & turned his name vnto Jehoachim/ but Jehoahaz his brother Necho toke & caried him to Egypt. And Jehoachim was. xxiij. yere olde whē he beganne to raigne/ & he raigned a xi. yere in Ierusalem: & he dyd & displeased the Lorde his God. Agaynst him came Nabucho donozor kyng of Babilon & bounde hym in fetters to carie him to Babilon. Therto the kyng Nabuchodonozor caried of the vessels of the house of the Lorde to Babilon and put them in his temple at Babilon. The rest of the actes of Jehoachim & his abhominacions/ and that was layde to his charge/ are writtē in the boke of the kynges of Israel: and Jehoacin his sonne raigned in his steade. Jehoacin was. viij. yere olde whē he beganne to raigne/ & he raigned thre monethes & ten dayes in Ierusalem: & dyd & displeased the Lorde. And whē the yere was out/ kyng Nabuchodonozor sent and fet him to Babilon with goodlye vessels of the house of the Lorde/ & made Zedekiah his brother kyng ouer Iuda & Ierusalem. is taken for vnto cle/ by a maner of speache of the Hebrew.

And Zedekiah was. xxi. yere olde when he beganne to raigne/ & raigned a xi. yere in Ierusalem. And he dyd that displeased the Lorde his God/ & humbled not him selfe before Jeremiah the prophete at the mouth of the Lorde. And therto he rebelled agaynst Nabuchodonozor which had receaued on othe of hym by God/ & was to styfe necked & to harde herted to turne vnto the Lorde God of Israel. Therto all the rulers of the prestes with the people trespassed a pace after all maner of abhominacions of the hethen & polluted the house of the Lorde which he had halowed in Ierusalem.

And the Lorde God of their fathers sent to the by his messengers/ sendynge the be tyme/ for the

for he had compassyon on his people and on his dwelling place. But they mocked the messengers of God and despised their words & myse used his prophetes/bntyll the wrath of the Lord so arose agaynst his people that it was past remedie. And so he brought vnto them the kyng of Caldeye & slue their young men with his swerde in their holy temple / & neither spared younge man nor mayden / nether olde man / nether so moche as hym he stowed for age: But gaue all into his hande.

And all the vessels of the house of God bothe great and smalle / & the treasures of the house of God / & the treasures of the kyng and his Lords he caried to Babilon euery whit. And they burnt the house of God & brake downe the walles of Jerusalem / and burnt all the palaces therof with fyre with all the goodly stoffe therof / and marred it. And he caried awaye them that had escaped the swerde / to Babilon / where they were seruantes to him & his chyldren / vntill the kyngdom of Persia beganne to rule / to fulfill the worde of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremias / bntyll the lande had her pleasure of her Sabothes: for as longe as she laye desolate / she kepte Saboth vntill she had fulfilled lxx. yeres.

* And the first yere of Cyrus kyng of Persia to synnise the worde of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremias / the Lord stered by the spirite of Cyrus kyng of Persia / he made a proclamation thozou out all his kyngdom / & thereto sett it by in wytyng / sayinge: Thus sayth Cyrus kyng of Persia / all the kyngdomes of the erthe hath the Lord God of heauen geue me / which hath charged me to builde him an house in Jerusalem that is in the land of Iuda. Wherfore whosoever is amonge you of all his people / the Lord his God be with him / and let him go by.

Cyrus sendeth agayne the people that was in captiuitie / and restored them their holy vessels: And commaundeth them to builde agayne the temple.

The fyrst Chapter.

1. Chron. i. c.

In the first yere of Cyrus kyng of Persia (that the worde of the Lord spake by the mouth of Jeremias myght be fulfilled) the Lord stered by the spere of Cyrus kyng of Persia / he caused it be proclaimed thozou out all his empyre / yee and by wytyng also / sayng: Thus sayth Cyrus the kyng of Persia: The Lord God of heauen hath geuen me all the kyngdomes in the lande * and hath commaunded me to builde him an house at Jerusalem in Iuda. Whosoever now amonge you is of his people / the Lord his God be wyth him / & let him go by to Jerusalem in Iuda / & builde the house of the Lord God of Israel. He is the God that is at Jerusalem. And whosoever remayneth yet in any maner of place (where he is a straunger) let the men of his place helpe him with syluer & goulde / with good & cattell / belyde which they wyllynge offer / for the house of God at Jerusalem.

Then gat by the pryncypall fathers of Iuda and Beniamin / & the preastes and Leuites / & all they whose spere God had rayled to go by / and to builde the house of the Lord at Jerusalem. And all they that were aboute them / strenghted their hand with vessels of syluer and golde / with good & cattell / and Jewels / belyde that which they gaue of their awne frewill. And Cyrus brought forth of the vessels of the house of the Lord / which Nabuchodonosor had taken oute of Jerusalem / & put in the house of his God. But Cyrus the kyng of Persia brought the forth by Mithridates the treasurer / & numbred the vnto Selbazar the prync of Iuda. i. Para. r. b. f. b.

And when the seventh moneth came / the chyldren of Israel were now in their cyties / the people came to geather euen as one man / vnto Jerusalem. And there stode by Iesua the sonne of Iosedec and his brethren the preastes / and Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel a his brethren / and buylded the aultare of the God of Israel / to offre burnt offerynges theron / as it is wyrtten in the lawe of Moyses the man of God / a the aultare set they vpon his sockettes (for there was a fearfulness amonge them because of the nations and landes) and offered burnt offerynges theron vnto the Lorde * in the mornynge and at euen. And helde a feast of Tabernacles as it is wyrtten / and offered burnt sacrifices daylie in order / accorpyng to the custome / daye by daye. Afterwarde the daylie burnt offerynges also / and of the new Moones & of all the feast dayes of the Lorde that were halowed / and all maner of frewill offerynges / which they dyd of their awne fre wyll vnto the Lorde.

Upon the fyrst daye of the seventh moneth beganne they to offre burnt sacrifices vnto the Lorde. But the foundation of the temple of the Lorde was not yet layed. Neuertheles they gaue money vnto the masons and carpenters / and meate and dryncke and oyle vnto them of Zidon and of Tyre / to bynge the Cedre tymbre from Libanus by See vnto Typpa / accorpyng to the comaundement of Cyrus the kynge of Persia.

In the seconde yere of their commynge vnto the house of God at Jerusalem in the seconde moneth / beganne Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel / and Iesua the sonne of Iosedec / a the remnaunt of their brethren the preastes and Leuites / and all they that were come out of the captiuite vnto Jerusalem / a appoynted the Leuites from twenty yere olde and aboue / to se that the worke of the house of the Lorde went forwarde. And Iesua stode with his sonnes and brethren / and Cadmiel with his sonnes / and the chyldren of Juda / to forther the workemen of the house of God / namely the chyldren of Henadad with their chyldren and their brethren the Leuites.

And when the buylders layde the foundation of the temple of the Lorde / the preastes stode in their arraye / with trompettes. And the Leuites the chyldren of Asaph with cymballes / to praye the Lorde * after the maner of Dauid kynge of Israel. And they sange to geather / geuyng praye and thankes vnto the Lorde / because he is gracious / and because his mercy endureth for euer vpon Israel. And all the people shouted loude in prayyng the Lorde / because the foundacyon of the house of the Lorde was layde. Many also of the olde preastes and Leuites and auncient fathers / which had sene the fyrst house / wher the foundacyon of this house was layed before their eyes / wepte with a loude voyce. And many shouted with loye / so that the noyse gaue a great sounde / in so much that the people coude not knowe the ioyfull sounde for the noyse of the wepyng amonge the people: for the people shouted with a loude crye / so that the noyse was herde farre of.

The buyldynge of the temple is hyndered / and let.

The.iii. Chapter.

And when the aduersaries of Juda and Beniamin hearde / the chyldren of the captiuite buylded the temple vnto the Lorde God of Israel / they came to Zorobabel and to the principall fathers / and sayde vnto them: We will buyde with you: for we seke the Lorde your God lyke as ye do. And we haue done sacrifice vnto him / sence the tyme that Asoz Hadon the kynge of Assyria broughte vs by hyther. But Zorobabel and Iesua and the other auncient fathers of Israel answered them: It belongeth not to you / but to vs to buyde the house vnto our God: for we are selues wyll buyde alone vnto the Lorde our God of Israel. * as Cyrus the kynge of Persia hath commaunded vs.

Then the folke of the lande hyndered the people of Juda / and made them afrayed to buyde / and hyndred counsellors agaynst them / and hyndered their deuyce / as longe as Cyrus the kynge of Persia lyued / vntill the raygne of Darius kynge of Persia. But wher Ahasuerus was kynge / in the begynnyng of his raygne wrote they vnto hym a complaynte agaynst them of Juda and Jerusalem.

And in the tyme of Artaxerxes wrote Bithellam / Mithridates / Tabeel and the other of their counsell vnto Artaxerxes the kynge of Persia. But the scripture of the letter was wyrtten in the Syrians speach / and was interpreted in the langage of the Syrians. Rehum the chaunceler / and Samtai the scribe / wrote this letter agaynst Jerusalem to Artaxerxes the kynge.

We Rehum the chaunceler / and Samtai the scribe / and other of the counsell of Babilon / of Arphasath / of Tarpat / of Persia / of Arbach / of Babilon / of Susan / of Deha / and of Elam / and other of the people / whom the greates and noble Menaphar broughte ouer / and set in the cyties of Samaria / and other on this syde the water / and * in Ceneeth. And this is the summe of the letter that they sent vnto kynge Artaxerxes.

kyng / that the Jewes are come by from the to vs vnto Jerusalem a cytie sedycious and frowarde / and buyde the same / and laye the foundation of the walles therof / and repayre them. Be it knowne now therfore vnto the kynge / that yf this cytie be buylded and the walles made by agayne / then shall not they geue trybute / tolle / and yearly custome / * a vnto the kynge. But now that we all are therby whych destroyed the temple / we wolde no longer se the kynge dishonoure. Therfore sent we out / a caused the kynge to be certifyed therof: That it maye be soughte in the Chronycles of thy progenitours / and so shalt thou fynde in the same Chronycles / a perceaue / that this cytie is sedycious / a noysome vnto kynge / a lade / and the cause other also to rebell of olde / a for the same cause was this cytie destroyed. Therfore do we certifie the kynge / that yf this cytie be buylded / and the walles therof made by / thou shalt kepe nothyng on this syde the water by the reason of it.

Then sent the kynge an answer vnto Rehum the chaunceler / and Samtai the scribe / a to the other of their counsell that dwelt in Samaria / a vnto the other beyonde the water. Peace & salutation. The letter which ye sent vnto vs / hath bene open red before me / and I haue comaunded to make search: and it is founde / that this cytie of olde hath made insurreccion agaynst kynge / a how the bytore a rebellion hath bene committed therein. There haue bene manyghte kynge also at Jerusalem which haue raigned ouer all that is beyonde the water / a tolle / trybute & yearly custome was geuen vnto them. Do ye now after this commaundement / for by the same men / that the cytie be not buylded / till I haue geue commaundement. Take hede now that ye be not negligent here in / lest the kynge haue harme there thowow.

Now when kynge Artaxerxes letter was red before Rehum the chaunceler and Samtai the scribe and their counsell / they wet by in all the haste to Jerusalem vnto the Jewes / a forbad the with byolence and power. Then ceased the worke of the house of God at Jerusalem / a continued so vnto the seconde yere of Darius kynge of Persia.

By the exhortacyon of Aggeus and Zachary the temple buylded agayne.

The. v. Chapter.

And the Prophetes / Aggeus and Zachary the sonne of Ido / prophesied vnto the Jewes that were in Juda and Jerusalem / in the name of the God of Israel. Then gat by Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel / and Iesua the sonne of Iosedec / and beganne to buyde the house of God at Jerusalem / and with them the Prophetes of God whych helpe them. At the same tyme came to them Hathanai the captayne on this syde the water / and Sathbuzanai / and their counsellors / and sayde thus vnto them: Who hath comaunded you to buyde this house / and to make by the walles therof? Then tolde we the names of the men / a made this buyldynge. But the eye of their God came vpon the Elders of the Jewes / that they coude not cause them to cease / till the matter was brought before Darius / and till they had answered by letters therunto.

This is the coppe of the letter that Hathanai the captayne on this syde the water / and Sathbuzanai / and their counsellors of Apharsach / which were on this syde the water / sent vnto kynge Darius. And this is the content of the wordes that they sent vnto hym: Vnto Darius the kynge / All peace. Be it knowne vnto the kynge / that we came into Jewry to the house of the greates God / which is buylded with roughe stone / a beames are layed in the walles / and the worke goeth fast forth / a prospereth in their handes. We asked therfore the Elders / a sayde vnto them: Who hath commaunded you to buyde this house / and to make by the walles therof? We asked their names also / that we myght certifie the / and haue wyrtten the names of the men that were their rulers.

But they answered vs with these wordes / and sayde: We are the seruantes of the God of heauen and erth / a buyde the house that was buylded many yeres ago * which a greates kynge of Israel buylded and set by. And after oure fathers had prouoked the God of heauen vnto wrath / he gaue the ouer in to the hande of Nabuchodonosor the kynge of Babilon / a Caldee / which brake downe this house / and carped the people awaye vnto Babilon.

But in the fyrst yere of Cyrus the kynge of Babilon / the same kynge Cyrus comaunded to buyde this house of God / for he beuelles of goulde & syluer in the house of God / which Nabuchodonosor toke out of the temple at Jerusalem / a brought the into the temple at Babilon / those dyd Cyrus the kynge take out of the temple at Babilon / a deliuered them vnto Sathbazar by name / who he made captayne / a sayde vnto him. Take these vessels / go thy waye and bynge them vnto the temple at Jerusalem / and lett the house of God be buylded in his place. Then came the same Sathbazar and layde the foundacyon of the house of God at Jerusalem. Sence that tyme hath it bene in buyldynge / and yet is it not fynished. Yf it please the kynge now / lett there be search made in the kynge's treasure house which is at Babilon / whether it haue bene

¶ When commaunded hyng Darius /

And what mā so euer he be that altereth these wordes / there shall a beame be takē fro his house / & set by / & he shalbe haged thereon / & his house shalbe pyyled for ydeade.

*And the chyldre of Israel the preastes / & the other chyldre of the captiuite helde the dedycacion of þe house of God wyth roye / & offered at the dedycacion of the house of God / an hundred calves / two hundred lambes foure hundred goates: & for the synofferynge for all Israel twelue he goates / accordeinge to the nombze of the trybes of Israel / a let þe preast in their courses / & þe Leuites in their offyces to mynister vnto God which is at Ierusalem as it is wyrtte in the booke of Moses.

And the chyldren of the captiuite helde Pascheouer bypō the fourteenth daye of the fyrst moneth: for the preastes and Leuites had purged the selues/ so that they were all cleane as one man; & killed Pascheouer for all the chyldren of the captiuite/ and for their brethren the preastes/ and for them selues. And the chyldren of Israel which were come agayne out of captiuite/ & all such as had separated the selues vnto them from the fylthynesse of the heathen in the lande/ to seeke the Lorde God of Israel/ ate & helde the feast of vniuenced brethren dayes with ioye: for the Lorde had made them glad/ & turned the hert of the king of Assur vnto them/ so that their handes were strengthened in the worke of the house of God/ which is the God of Israel.

3.iii. I gathered

I gathered the to geather by the water that renneth towarde Abaua/and there abode we the dayes. And whē I looked amonge the people and the preastes/ I founde no Leuites there. Then sent Eliezer/ Ariel/ Semeiah/ Elathan/ Jarib/ Elathan/ Nathan/ Zachary & Hosolam the rulers/ and Josarib and Elathan the teachers/ & those sent I bnto Edo the chiefeest at Casphia/ that they shulde fetch us mynisters for the house of oure God/ and I tolde the what they shulde saye vnto Edo and to his brythren the Bethinims at Casphia.

And (accoyng to the good hande of oure God vpon vs) they broughte vs a wyle man from amonge the chyldren of Moholi the sonne of Leui the sonne of Israel/ euē Sarabta with his sonnes and brythren/ eyghtene And Halabia/ and with him Isaiab of the chyldren of Merari/ with his brythren and their sonnes/ twentie. And of the Bethinims/ whō David & the Prynces gaue to mynister vnto the Leuites/ two hundred and twentie/ all named by name.

And euen there at the water besyde Abaua/ caused I a fastyng to be proclaimed/ & as the scripturē maketh mēcyon/ haue bene sommen humilipacions & supplicacions done of vs and hoymen/ to helpe vs agaynst the before God: our enemye in the waye. For we had sayde vnto the kynge: The hande of oure God is vpon all them that seke him in goodnes/ and hys brylence and wraoth vpon all them that forsake hym. So we fasted/ and soughte this at oure God/ and he hearde vs.

And I toke out twelue of the chiefe preastes/ Sarabia and Halabia/ and ten of their brythren with them/ and weyed them there the syluer and goulde and bestels for the heue-offeryng vnto the house of oure God/ which the kynge and the Lordes of hys counsell & prynces/ and all Israel that were at hande/ had geue to the heue-offeryng: & there weyed I them vnder their hande syxe hundred & fyftee talentes of syluer/ & in syluer bestel an hundred talentes/ and in goulde an hundred talentes/ twentie cuppes of goulde of a thousande bryames/ and two costly ornaments of good bryasse/ as cleare as goulde/ & sayde vnto them: Ye are holy vnto the Lord/ therfore are the bestels holy also/ and so is the syluer & goulde that is geuen of a good wyll vnto the Lord God of youre fathers: Watch ye therfore and kepe it/ tyll ye weye it downe before the chiefe preastes and Leuites/ and aunctif fathers of Israel at Jerusalem in the chestes of the house of the Lord. Then toke I preastes and Leuites that weyed syluer & goulde and bestel/ to bryng it to Jerusalem vnto the house of oure God. So we brake vp/ from the water of Abaua on the twelue daye of the fyrst moneth/ to go vnto Jerusalem: and the hande of oure God was vpon vs/ and deliuered vs from the hande of the enemyes & preyng waytinges by the waye. And we came to Jerusalem/ & abode there thre dayes. But on the fourth daye was the syluer and goulde/ and bestel weyed in the house of oure God vnder the hande of Meremoth the sonne of Aziah the preast/ and with him Eleazar the sonne of Phinehes/ and with them Josabab the sonne of Iesua/ and Moabiah the sonne of Benoi the Leuites/ accoynge to the nombres & weyght of euery one. And the weyght was all wyrtten by at the same tyme.

And the chyldren of the captiuite/ whych were come out of prysen/ offered burnt-offerynges vnto the God of Israel: twelue bullockes for all Israel/ syxe & nyntety rāmes/ seuen and seuentye lamibes/ & twelue goates for a syn-offeryng/ all to the burnt-offeryng of the Lord. And they deliuered the kynges commysyon vnto the kynges offycers/ & to the capytaynes on this syde the water. And they promoted the people and the house of God.

Eldras complayneth on the people that had turned them selues from God/ and married with the gentyles. The ix. Chapter.

When all this was perfourmed/ the rulers came to me/ and sayde: The people of Israel/ and the preastes/ and Leuites are not separated fro the nacpōns in the landes as touchyng their abhominacions/ namely of the Cananites/ Bethites/ Pheresites/ Jebusites/ Ammonites/ Moabites/ Egypcyans/ and Amozites. For they haue taken the daughters of the same/ and their sonnes/ and haue myrte the holy sede with the nacpōns in the landes: and the hand of the prynces and rulers hath bene pryncipall in this trespase.

Whē I hearde thys/ I rente my clothes and my rayment/ and plucte of the heare of my heade and of my beard/ and sate mourning. And there resorted vnto me all such as feared the worde of the Lord God of Israel because of the greates transgredyon. And I sate mourning vntill the eueninge sacryfyce. And aboute the eueninge sacryfyce I rose vp from my heuyenes/ and rete my clothes/ and my rayment/ and fell vpon my knees/ & spred out my handes vnto the Lord my God/ and sayde.

My God/ I am ashamed/ and darre not lifte vp myne eyes vnto the my God: for oure wyckednesses are growne ouer oure heede/ & oure trespases are wahren greates vnto the heauen. Hence the tyme of oure fathers haue we bene in greates trespase vnto this daye/ and because because of oure wyckednesses haue we and oure kynges bene deliuered into the hande of the kynges of the nacpōns/ in to the swerde/ in to captiuite/ in to spoyll/ and in to confu- sion of face/ as it is come to passe thys daye.

But now is there a lytle and sodayne gra- cioulnes come from the Lord oure God/ so that some of vs are escaped/ & he maye geue vs a naye in hys holy place/ that oure God maye lyghte oure eyes/ and geue vs a lytle lyfe in oure bondage. For we are bondmen/ & oure God hath not forsake vs in oure bon- dage/ and hath enclined mercy vnto vs in the syghte of the kynges of Persia/ & he shulde geue vs lyfe/ and promote the house of oure God/ & to sett by the desolacion therof/ & to geue vs an hedge in Iuda and Jerusalem.

And now oure God/ what shall we saye after this: for we haue forsake thy commaundemētes/ which thou hast comaunded by thy seruantes the Prophetes/ and sayde: The lande vnto which yego to possesse it is an vn- cleane land thowō the fythines of the people of the landes/ in their abhominacions wher- with they haue made it full of vncienness on uery syde. Therfore shall ye not geue pou- re daughters vnto their sonnes/ and their daughters shall ye not take vnto your sonns/ and seke not their peace and welth for euer/ that ye maye be stronge/ and entoye the good in the lande/ and that ye and youre chyldren maye haue the inheritaunce of it for euermore.

And after all thys that is come vpon vs (because of oure euell deades & greates trespase) thou oure God hast spared oure wyckednesses/ and hast geuen vs a deliuerance as it is come to passe this daye.

As for vs/ we haue turned backe/ & haue let go thy commaundementes/ to make con- tracte with the people of these abhominacions. Wilt thou then be wroth at vs/ tyll we be bet- terly consumed/ so that nothyng remayne/ and tyll there be no deliuerance? O Lord God of Israel/ thou art righteous/ for we re- maine yet escaped/ as it is this daye. Beholde in thy presence are we in oure trespase/ for because of it is there no standyng before the.

The people repente them and turne/ & put awaye their straunge wyues.

The ix. Chapter.

When Eldras prayed after this maner/ & knowleged/ wepte/ and laye before the house of God/ there resorted vnto hym oute of Israel a very greates cōgregacion of men and wemē/ and chyldren: for the people wepte very soze. And Sechaniah the sonne of Jehiel one of the chyldren of Elam/ answered/ and sayde vnto Eldras: We haue trespassed agaynst the Lord oure God/ in that we haue taken straunge wyues of all the people of the lande. Now there is hope yet in Israel cōcernyng thys therfore let vs make a couenaut now with oure God/ that we shall put awaye all the wyues (and such as are borne of them) acco- dyng to the counsell of the Lord/ & of them that feare the commaundemēt of oure God/ that we maye do accoynge to the lawe. Get the by therfore/ for the matter belongeth vnto the. We wyll be with the/ be of good com- forte/ and do it.

Then rose Eldras/ and toke an othe of the rulers/ preastes and Leuites/ & of all Israel/ that they shulde do accoynge to this worde: W and they swore. And Eldras stode by before the house of God/ and went in to the chāber of Iohanan the sonne of Elisab. And when he came thither/ he ate no bred/ nor dranke water: for he mourned because of the trans- gression of the that had bene in captiuite.

And they caused a proclamacion be made thowō Iuda and Jerusalem/ vnto all the chyldren which had bene in captiuite/ that they shulde geather the selues to geather vnto Jerusalem: And that whosoever came not with in thre dayes accoynge to the deuyce of the rulers and Elders/ all hys substance shulde be forfett/ and be put out from the cō- gregation of the captiue.

Then all the men of Iuda and Benjamin gathered them selues to geather vnto Jeru- salem in thre dayes/ that is on the twentie daye of the nyenth moneth: and all the people late in the strete before the house of God/ and trembled because of the matter/ and for the rayne. And Eldras the preaste stode by/ and sayde vnto them: Ye haue transgressed/ that ye haue taken straunge wyues/ to make the trespase of Israel yet more: cōfesse now ther- fore vnto the Lord God of youre fathers/ & do hys pleasure/ and separate poure selues from the people of the land/ & fro the straunge wyues. Then answered all the cōgregacion/ and sayde with a loude voyce: Lett it be done as thou hast sayde. But the people are many/ & it is a raine wether/ & they can not stande here without/ nether is this a worke of one daye or two/ for we are many that haue offen- ded in this transgredyon. Lett vs appoynte oure rulers therfore in all the cōgregacion/ & all they which haue takē straunge wyues in oure cyties/ maye come at the tyme appoy- nted/ & the elders of euery cytie & their Judges with them/ tyll the wraoth of oure God be turned awaye from vs for this offence.

Deut. 10. 16. Judic. 19. 1.

Then were appoynted Jonathan the sonne of Asahel and Jahasia the sonne of Cheluah ouer this matter: And Hosolam & Sabab that the Leuites holpe them. And the chyldre of the captiuite byd euen so. And Eldras the

And I hearde these wordes / I sat me downe

O Lord God of heauen / thou greates a ter-

And I & my fathers house haue synned al-

But y^e ye turne vnto me / and kepe my com-

After Nehemiah had obtayned letters of Artaxer-

The seconde Chapter.

In

In the moneth Nisan in the twetieth yere of kynge Artaxerxes / when the wyne stode before hym / I toke bp y^e wyne / & gaue it vnto y^e king & I was heuy in his presence. Then sayd y^e king vnto me: why lokest thou so sadly? Thou art not sicke / that is not the matter / but thou art heuy hearted. Neuertheles I was soze afrayed & sayde vnto the kynge: God saue the kynge life for euer / whildest I not loke sadly: the cite of my fathers buryall lyeth waste & the gates therof are consumed with fyre. Then sayde y^e kinge vnto me: what is the thy request: then made I my prayer to y^e God of heauen / & sayde vnto the kynge: yf it please y^e kynge / & yf thy seruant be fauoured in thy sighte. I beseech y^e sende me in to Iuda vnto the ctyte of my fathers buryall / that I maye buylde it.

And the kynge sayde vnto me / & so dyd the quene y^e sat by him: how longe shall thy iour-ney continue / & when wilt thou come agayne?
And it pleased y^e kynge to sende me / and I set him a tyme / & sayde vnto y^e kynge: yf it please the kynge / let him geue me letters to y^e capi-taynes beyonde the water / y^e they maye conueye me ouer / till I come into Iuda: & letters vnto Alaph the Lorde of the kynge's wood / y^e he maye geue me wood for beames to y^e gates of the palace / which are harde on the house & harde on the walles of the ctyte / and for the house that I shall entre in to. And the kynge gaue me accordyng to y^e good hande of God vpon me: And when I came to the captaynes beyonde the water / I gaue them the kynge's letters. And the kynge sent captaynes and horsemen with me.

But when Sanabalat the Hozonite and Tobiah the seruant of y^e Ammonites hearde y^e / it greued the kyng / y^e there was come a mā which soughte the welth of the chyldren of Irael. And when I came to Ierusalem / and had bene there thre dayes / I gat me bp in y^e night season / & a fewe men with me: for I tolde no man what God had geue me in my hert to do at Ierusalem: and there was not one beast w^{ch} me / saue it that I rode vpon. And I rode by nyghte vnto the halley porte before the Dragon well / and to the Dongeporte / and considered the walles of Ierusalem that were broke downe / and the portes therof consumed with the fyre. And I wet ouer vnto the wellpore / and to the kynge's condyte / and there was no roome for my beast / that it coude go vnder me. Then wete I on in the nyghte by y^e broke syde / & consydered the wall / and turned back and came home agayne to the halley porte.

And the rulers knewe not whither I wete or what I dyd: for hitherto had I not tolde y^e Jewes & the prestes / the counsellors and the Rulers / & y^e other y^e laboured in y^e worke. And I sayde vnto them: ye se the myserie y^e we are in / how Ierusalem lyeth waste / & how y^e gates therof are brent with fyre / come let vs buylde bp y^e walles of Ierusalem / y^e we be no moze a rebuke. And I tolde the of the good hande of my God whych was vpon me: and the kynge's wordes that he had spokē vnto me. And they sayde: then let vs get bp / & buylde: and their handes were strenghted to good.

But when Sanabalat y^e Hozonite / and Tobiah the seruant of the Ammonites / and Gesem the Arabian herde it / they laughed vs to scorn / & despised vs / & sayde: what is this that ye do? wyll ye fall awaye agayne from the kynge? Then answered I the / and sayde: the God of heauen he it is that causeth vs to prosper: & we be his seruantes. Let vs get bp and buylde. As for you / ye haue no porciō nor right / nor remembrance in Ierusalem.

When Sanabaiat hearde that we buylded the wall/ he was wroth the Jewes & sayde before hys bzethen and the hoite of Samaria: what do the impotent Jewes? shall they be thus suffred? shall they offre? shall they perfourme it in one daye? shall they make stones whole agayne that are brought to dust/ & bzent? And Tobiah the Ammonite beside him saide: let the bulde on/ yf a fore go by/ he shall breake downe their stonewall. Feare thou oure God/how we are despised/ turne their shame vpon their awne heade/ & thou mayest geue them ouer in to despisyng in the lande of their captivityte. Couer not their wickednesse/ & put not out their sinne fro thy presence: for they haue prouoked the buylders. Yet buylded we the wall/ and ioynded it whole together/ vnto the halfe heygth. And the people were well mynded to labour.

But when Sanabaiat/ & Tobiah/ & the Arabians/ & Ammonites/ & Asdodites hearde the walles of Jerusalem were made by/ and that they had begonned to stoppe by the gappes they were very wroth/ & conspired al to gether to come & fight agaynst Jerusalem/ & to make an hinderance therin. Neuertheles we made our prayer vnto oure God/ & set watchmen vpon the wall daye & nyght ouer agaynst the.
And Juda sayde: the strength of the beateris is to feble/ & ther is to moch dust/ we are not able to buyld on the wall. And oure aduer-saries thought: they shall not knowe nether se/ tyll we come in the myddes amonge the/ & slaye the/ and hynder the worke. But when the Jewes that dwelt belyde the/ came out of al the places where they dwelt aboute us/ and tolde us as good as ten tymes/ then set I the people after their kindreds with their swordes/speares & bowes beneth in the lowe places behynde the wall/ & looked/ & gat me by/ and sayde vnto the chiefe men & rulers/ and to the other people: be not ye afrated of the/ thinke vpon the grete Lorde which ought to be feared & fyghte for youre bryethen/ sonnes/ daughters/ wyues/ and houses. Neuertheles when oure

oure enemys hearde & we had gotte worde of it/ God broughte their counsell to noughte/and we turned all agayne to the wall/ euery one vnto his labour. And fro that time forth it came to passe/ & the halfe parte of the poe men dyd the labour/ & the other halfe parte helde the speares/ sheldes/ bowes/ and brest-plates: and the rulers stode behynde all the house of Juda/ which buylded on the wall/ & bare burthens/ from those that laded them/with one hande did they the worke/ and with the other helde they their weapen. And euery one that buylded/ had hys swerde girded by hys syde/ and so buylded they. And the trompetters stode belyde me.

And I sayde vnto the principall men/ and rulers/ and to the other people: the worke is grete & large/ & we are separated vpon the wall one farre from another. Loke in what place now ye heare the noyse of the trompet/ re-sorte ye thither vnto us. Oure God shall fight for us/ & we will be labouringe in the worke.
And the halfe parte of the helde the speares fro the morninge spryng/ till the starres came forth.
And at the same tyme sayde I vnto the people:
euery one abyde with hys seruauant at Jerusalem/ that in the night season we maye geue attendaunce to the watch/ and to labour on the daye tyme. As for me and my bryethen/ & my seruantes/ and the men of the watch behynde me/ we put neuer of oure clothes/ so moch as to washe oure selues.

The people are vexed with hangre. Nehemiah forgetheth Asurye. He requyeth not the luyng of a captayne.

The. v. Chapter.

When there arose a grete cōplante of the people/ & of their wiu/ agaynst their bryethen the Jewes. And ther were some that sayde: oure sonnes & daughters are to many/ let us take corne for the/ & eate/ & we maye lyue. Some sayde: let us set oure landes/ bynepardes and houses to pledge/ & take by corne in the darth. But some sayde: let us borrowe money of the kinges tribute for oure landes & bynepardes. Now are oure bryethens bodies as oure awne bodies and their chyldren as oure chyldren: els shulde we subdue oure sonnes and daughters vnto bondage/ and some of oure daughters are subdued already/ & no strength is there in oure handes/ & other men shall haue oure

But when I hearde their complante and such wordes/ it displeased me sore/ and I ad-uysed so in my mynde/ that I rebuked the con-sellers/ and the rulers/ and sayde vnto them:
Will ye requyre blury one of another? And I brought a grete congregacio agaynst the and sayde vnto them: we (after oure abylte) haue boughte oure bryethen the Jewes/ which were solde vnto the Hethen. And will ye sell your bryethen/ who we haue boughte vnto us? Then helde they their peace/ and coude fynde nothyng to answer.

And I sayde: It is not good that ye do.
Doughte ye not to walke in the feare of God/because of the rebuke of the Hethen oure enemys? I and my bryethen/ & my seruantes haue lent them money and corne: but as for blury/ let us leaue it. Therefore this same daye I that ye restore them their landes agayne/their bynepardes/ oyle gardens and houses/and the hundred parte of the money of the corne/wyne and oyle that ye haue wonne of them.
Then sayde they: we will restore the agayne and will requyre nothyng of them/ and wil do as thou hast spoken. And I called prest/ & and toke an ooth of them/ that they shulde do so. And I shoke my lappe/ and sayde: God shake out euery man after the same maner from hys house and labour/ that maynteyneth not thys worde: euen thus be he shaken out/ and voyde. And all the congregacion sayde: Amen/ and prayled the Lorde. And the people dyd so.

And from the tyme forth that it was committed vnto me to be a captayne in the lande of Juda/ namely from the twentye yeare vnto the two and thirtie yeare of kyng Arthaxerxes (that is twelue yeare) I and my bryethen lyued not of such sustenance as was geuen to a captayne: for the olde captaynes that were before me/ had bene chargeable vnto the people/ and had taken of them byed and wyne/ and fortye cycles of siluer: yee and their seruantes had oppressed the people.
But so dyd not I/ and that because of the feare of God. I laboured also in the worke vpon the wall/ and boughte no lande. And all my ser-uantes came thither to gether vnto the worke.
Moreover there were at my table an hundred and fyttye of the Jewes & rulers/ which came vnto me/ from amonge the Hethen/that are aboute us. And there was prepared me daylye an oxe/ and tyre chosen shepe/ and byrdes/ and euery once in ten dayes a grete summe of wyne. Yet requyred not I the lyuyng of a captayne for the bondage was greuous vnto the people. Chynche vpon me my God vnto the best/ accordyng to all that I haue done for thys people.

And all the people wete their waye to eate & drynke/ & to sende parte vnto other/ & to make greate myght/ because they had vnderstand the wordes that were declared vnto them.

And on the nexte daye were gathered together the chiefe fathers amonge all þe people and the prestes and Leuites/ vnto Eldras the scribe/ þe shulde teach them the wordes of the lawe. And they founde written in þe lawe *how þe Lorde had comaunded by Moyses that the chyldre of Israel shulde dwell in boches in the feast of the seventh moneth. The ix. Chapter.

In the foure & twentye daye of this moneth came the chyldre of Israel together with fastinge & sack cloth/ & they were separated from the seide of Israel fro all the strange chyldre and stode & knowleged their synnes/ and the wyckednesses of their fathers/ & stode vp in their place/ & red in the boke of the lawe of þe Lorde their God foure tymes on þe daye/ and they knowleged/ & worshipped þe Lorde their God foure tymes on the daye. And the Leuites stode on hye/ namely Iesua/ Bani/ Cadmiel/ Sabanah/ Buni/ Sarebiah/ Bani & Chanani/ & cryed loude vnto the Lorde their God. And the Leuites/ Iesua/ Cadmiel/ Bani/ Basabniah/ Serebiah/ Hodiah/ Sebaniah/ Phathahiah/ sayde: stande vp praye þe Lorde your God for euer: & let thankes be geue vnto the name of thy glozpe/ whych excelleth all thankesgeuinge & prayse. Lorde/ thou alone hast made heauē/ & the heauen of all heauē/ with all their host/ the erth & all þe is therein/ the see and all that is therein: thou geuest life vnto all/ & the host of heauen bowe the selu vnto the. Thou art the Lorde God/ that hast chosen Abrahā/ & broughtest hym out of Chaldea/ & calledst him Abrahā & foundest his hert saythfull befoze the * & made a couenaunt with him to geue vnto hys seide the lande of the Cananites/ Hethites/ Amozites/ Pheresites/ Jebusites & Gergesites/ and hast made good thy word: for thou art righteous/ & hast considered the mystry of our fathers in Egypte/ & hearde their cōplaynte by the reed see/ and shewed tokens and wonders vpon Pharaō/ & on all hys seruantes/ & on all the people of hys lande: for thou knewest þe they were presumptuous & cruell agaynst them/ and so made thou * the a name as it is this daye. And the reed see dydest thou drye in sunder befoze them/ so that they wete thyzow thyzow the myddes of the see drye shoed: and their persecuters threwest thou in to þe depe as a stone/ in þe mightie waters/ & leddest the on the daye tyme in a cloudy pyler/ & on the nyghte season in a pyler of fyre/ to shewe the lyghte in the waye that they wente.

Thou camest downe also vnto mount Sinai/ and spakest vnto them from heauē/ and gauest them righte iudgmentes/ true lawes good commaundementes and statutes/ and declaredst vnto them thy holy Saboth/ and commaundedst them preceptes/ ordinaunces/ and lawes/ by Moyses thy seruant: and gauest them bred from heauen when they were hongrye/ and broughtest forth water for the out of the rock when they were thyrstye: and promysedst them/ that they shulde go in/ and take possession of the lande/ ouer whych thou haddest yfte vp thyne hande for to geue the.

But our fathers were proude and hardnecked/ so that they folowed not the commaundementes/ and refused to heare/ & were not myndefull of the wonders that thou dydest for them: but became obstinate & heade in so moche that they turned backe to their bondage in their dishobedience. But thou my God forgauest/ and wast gracious/ mercifull/ pacient/ and of greate goodnesse/ and forsokest them not. * And though they made a moultē calfe (and sayde: this is thy God/ that broughte the out of the lande of Egypte) and dyd greate blasphemies/ yet forsokest thou them not in the wyldernes/ accordinge to thy greate mercy. * And the cloudy pyler departed not from them on the daye tyme to leade them the waye/ nether the pyler of fyre in the nyght season/ to shewe them lyghte in the waye that they wente.

And thou gauest them thy good sprete to enforme them/ & withheldest not thy Manā from their mouth/ & gauest them water when they were thyrstye. For thy peares longe madest thou proulyson for them in þe wyldernes/ so that they lacked nothyng: * their clothes waxed not olde/ and their fete swelled not. And thou gauest them kyngedomes and nacpons/ and partedst them accordinge to their porcions/ so that they possessed the lande of Schon kyng of Hesebon/ and the lande of Og the kyng of Basan. And their chyldren multipliedst thou as the starres of heauen/ and broughtest them in to the lande wherof thou haddest spoken vnto their fathers/ that they shulde go in to it/ and haue it in possession.

And the chyldren went in/ and possessed the lande/ & thou subdudest befoze the the inhabitants of the lande/ euen the Cananites/ & gauest them in to their hande/ & their kynges and the people of the lande/ that they myght do with the what they wolde. And they wane & their stronge cyties/ & a fat lande/ and toke a possession of houses þe were full of all maner goodes/ welles dygged out/ bynepardes/ & legardens/ and many frutefull trees: & they wote all good ate & were fylled/ & became fat/ and lyued in welth thyzow thy greate goodnesse. Neuertheles they were disobedient/ & rebelled agaynst the/ and cast thy lawe behynde their backs/ and slewe thy prophetes (which exhorted the to earnestly/ that they shulde couerte vnto) and dyd greate blasphemies. Therfore gauest thou them ouer in to the hande of their enemyes that vexed them.

And in the tyme of their trouble they cried vnto the/ and thou hardest them from heauen and thyzow thy greate mercy thou gauest them sauours/ whych helped them out of the hande of their enemyes. But whē they came to rest/ they turned back agayne to do euell befoze the: therfore lestest thou them in the hande of their enemyes/ so that they had the cryed vnto the/ and thou herdest them from heauen/ and many tymes hast thou deliuered them accordinge to thy greate mercy/ and testifiedst vnto them/ that they shulde turne agayne vnto thy lawe.

Notwithstandynge they were proude/ and herkened not vnto thy comaundementes/ but sinned in thy lawes (whyche a mā shulde do/ & liue in them) & turned the shoulder awaye/ & were stiffnecked/ & wolde not heare. And many yeares dydest thou forbeare them/ & testifiedst vnto them thyzow thy sprete/ eue by the offyce of thy prophetes/ and yet wolde they not heare. Therfore gauest thou the in to þe hande of þe nacions in the landes. But for thy greate mercyes sake thou hast not biterly consumed them/ nether forsaken the: for thou art a gracious and mercifull God.

* Now our God/ thou greate God/ mighty and terrible/ thou that kepest couenaunt and mercy/ regarde not a lytle all þe trauayle that hath happened vnto vs/ & our kynges/ princes/ prestes/ prophetes/ fathers & all the people/ sence the tyme of the kynges of Asur vnto this daye. The prestes and Leuites which came with Zerobabel to Jerusalem are numbered:& the wall is dedycate.

The .xij. Chapter.

These are the prestes and Leuites that wente by with Zerobabel the sonne of Salathiel & with Jesua: Saraiyah/Jeremy/Eldras/Amariah/Meluch/Hatus/Sechaniah/Rechum/Merimoth/Ado/Genthoi/Abiah/Shamir/Maasiah/Belgah/Semeiah/Josarib/Zadajah/Salu/Amok/Belkiah & Jadaiah. These were the heades amonge the prestes and their brethren in the tyme of Jesua. The Leuites were these: Jesua/Benui/Cadmiel/Sarabiah/Juda & Mathaniah ouer the offyce of thankesgeyng/they and their brethren: Bacbukiah and Gani and their brethren/were aboute them in the watches.

Jesua begat Joakim. Joakim begat Elisib. Elisib begat Joiada. Joiada begat Jonathan. Jonathan begat Jaddua. And in the tyme of Joakim were these the chefe fathers amonge the prestes: vnder Saraiyah Maasiah/vnder Jeremy Hananiah/vnder Eldras Mosolam/vnder Amariah Jehonathan/vnder Melico Jonathan/vnder Sebaniah Joseph/vnder Barim Cona/vnder Meraioth Belcai/vnder Adia Zachary/vnder Gentho Mosola/vnder Abia Zechi/vnder Shamir & Moadia Peltai/vnder Belgah Samuia/vnder Semeiah Jehonathan/vnder Josarib Mathnai/vnder Jadaiah Asai/vnder Selai Belai/vnder Amok Eber/vnder Belchiah chiah Sababiah/bnder Jadaiah Nathanael. And in the tyme of Eliasib Jofada/Johanan & Jadaiah were the chiefe fathers amonge the Leuites/and the prestes mytten bnder þe raygne of Darius the Persian. The chyl- dzen of Leui þe principall fathers were wri- ten in the Cronicles/bntyll the tyme of Jona- than the sonne of Eliasib. And these were þe chiefe amonge the Leuites/Sababiah/Se- rebiah and Jesua the sonne of Cadmiel/and their brythren ouer agaynst them/ to geue prayse and thanke/ a cōdyngge as Dauid þe man of God had ordeyned it/ one watch ouer agaynst another. Nathania/Balbukiah/Obadiah/Mosolam/Calmōn & Abub were porters in the watch at þe thersholdes of the gates. These were in the tyme of Josakim the sonne of Jesua the sonne of Josedec/and in the tyme of Nehemiah the captayne and of the preste Eldas the scribe.

And in the dedycacyon of the wall at Je- rusalem/were the Leuites soughte out of al their places/ that they myghte be broughte to Jerusalem/to kepe the dedicacion & glad- nesse/with thankesguynges/with syngeinge with tymbales/Psalteries and harpes. And the chyliden of the synners geathered them selues together fro þe playne countre aboute Jerusalem/and from the byllages of Betho- phathi/and from the house of Galgal/a out of the feldes of Geba and Bethanath: for the synners had buyded them byllages aboute Jerusalem. And the prestes and Leuites pur- rified them selues/ and censed the people/ the gates and the wall.

And I caused the princes of Juda to go bp bpō þe wall/a appoynted two greates queers of thankesguynges/which wente on þe righte hande of the wall towarde the Donggate/a after them wente Josiah/and halfe of the princes of Juda/a Maria/Eldas/Mosolai/Juda/Ben Jamin/Semeiah and Jeremy: and certayne of the prestes chyliden with tro- pettes/namely Zachary the sonne of Jona- than/the sonne of Semeiah/the sonne of Nathaniah/the sonne of Michaiah/the sonne of Zecur/the sonne of Asaph/and hys brythren/Semeiah/Asarel/Melalai/Ga- lalai/Maai/Nathanael and Juda and Na- nani/with the muscally instrumentes of Da- uid the man of God.

And Eldas the Scribe befoze them/to- warde the Wellgate/a they wente bp ouer agaynst them upon the steppes of the cyppe of Dauid at the goynge bp of the wall to the house of Dauid/bnto the Watergate Eastwarde.

The other queer of thankesguynges wet ouer agaynst them/and after the/and the halfe parte of the people upon the wall/to-warde the Fornacegate bpwarde/bntyll the bryde wall/and to the porte of Ephraim/a to the Oldgate/and to the Synagoge/and to the tower of Hananeel/and to the tower of Sheah/bntyll the Shepegate. And in þe pre- longate stode they styl/and so stode the two queers of thankesguynges of the house of God/and I and the halfe of the rulers wyth me/and the prestes/namely Eliakim/Ma- siah/Miniamin/Michaiah/Elioenai/Za- chary/Hananiah/with tropettes/and Ma- siah/Semeiah/Eleazar/Musi/Jehohanan/ Melchiah/Elam and Ser. And the synners sange loude/a Jeshiah was the ouerseeer.

And the same daye were there greates sa- crifyces offred/a they reioysed: for God had geue them greates gladnesse/so that both the wyues & chyliden were ioyfull/a the myrth of Jerusalem was heide farre of.

At the same tyme were there men appoy- nted ouer the treasure chestes/wherin were þe Heueofferynges/the fyrstlynges and the ty- thes/that they shulde geather them out of þe feldes aboute the ctytes/to distribute them bnto the prestes and Leuites acordinge to þe lawe: for Juda was glad of the prestes/and Leuites/that they stode and waityd upon þe offyce of their God/and the offyce of the pu- rification. And the synners and porters stode after the commaundement of Dauid and of Salomon his sonne: for in the tyme of Da- uid and Asaph/were the chiefe synners foun- ded/and the songes of prayse and thankesge- uynge bnto God. In the tyme of Zorobabel and Nehemiah/dyd all Israel/geue porciōs bnto the synners and porters/every daye his porcion/a they gaue thynges halowed bnto the Leuites/a the Leuites gaue thynges þe were sanctified/bnto the chyliden of Aaron.

Deuteronomy is read/and when they haue heard it/they separate from them all straungers &c.

The. xiiij. Chapter.

And what tyme as the boke of Mo- ses was red in þe eares of þe people there was founde wrytten therein/ that the Ammonites and Moa- bites shulde neuer come in to the congrega- cyon of God/because they mett not the chil- dzen of Israel wyth bryed and water/*and byred Balaam agaynst them/that he shulde curse them: neuertheless oure God turned the curse in to a blessinge. Now when they herde the Lawe/ they separated from Is- rael/ every one that had myrte hym selfe therein. And befoze thys had the Prest Elia- sib deliuered the chest of the house of oure God bnto hys kynsman Tobiah: for he had made hym a great chest/and there had they afore tyme layed the meatofferynges/fran- kensence/bessell/and the tythes of corne/ wyne and wyne and oyle/acordinge to the comaunde- ment geuen to the Leuites/ synners & por- ters/and the heueofferynges of the prestes.

But in all thys was not J at Jerusalem: for in þe two & thirtieth yere of Artaxerxes kynge of Babilon/ came I bnto the kynge/ and after certayne dayes obtayned I licence of the kynge to come to Jerusalem. And I gat knowlege of the euell that Eliasib dyd bnto Tobiah/ in that he had made him a chest in þe court of the house of God/and it greued me soze/and I cast forth all þe vessels of þe house of Tobiah out of the chest/a comaunded the to cense the chest. And thither broughte I agayne the vessels of the house of God/ the meatofferynges and the incense.

And I perceaued/that the porciōs of the Leuites were not geuen them/for the which cause þe Leuites & synners were fled/ every one to his huse for to worke. Then rejoyced I the rulers/and sayde: why forsake we the house of God? But I geathered them to ge- ther/a set them in their place. Then brought all Juda the tythes of corne/wyne and oyle bnto þe treasure. And I made treasures ouer the treasure/ even Semeiah the prest/ and Zador the scribe/ and of the Leuites Pha- daiah a bnder their hande Hanan the sonne of Zecur the sonne of Nathaniah: for they were counted fithfull/and their offyce was to distribute bnto their brythren. *Chynke upon me O my God here in / and wyte not out my mercy/that I haue shewed on þe house of my God/and on the officers therof.

At the same tyme sawe I some tredynge wyne prestes on the Saboth and brynginge in clusters/and asses laden wyth wyne/gra- pes/egges/and brynginge all maner of bur- thens bnto Jerusalem/bpon the Saboth daye. And I rebuked the earnestly the same daye that they solde þe bytacles. There dwelt men of Tyre also therein/ whych broughte fith and all maner of ware/and solde on the Saboth bnto the chyliden of Juda and Je- rusalem. Then rejoyced I the rulers in Ju- da/and sayde bnto the: what euell thyng is thys that ye do/a bryake the Saboth daye? Dyd not oure fathers euen thus/ and oure God broughte all this plage upon vs & bpō this cyppe? And ye make the wyath moze yet bpon Israel/ in that ye bryake the Saboth.

And it forned/that when the porters of Jerusalem made shadowe befoze þe Saboth/ I comaunded to shut the gates/a charged þe they shulde not be opened tyll after the Sa- both: and some of my seruantes set I at the gates/ þe they shulde no burthen be broughte in on the Saboth daye. Then remayned the chapmen and marchantes once or twyce out nyghte without Jerusalem with all maner of wares. Then rejoyced I them soze/a sayde bnto the: why cary ye all night aboute the wall? If ye do it once agayne/ I will laye handes bpō you. From that tyme forth came they no moze on the Saboth. And I sayde bnto the Leuites whych were cleane/ that they shulde come and kepe the gates/ to ha- lowe the Saboth daye. Chynke upon me O my God/ concernyng this also/ and spare me acordinge to thy greates mercy.

And at the same tyme sawe I Jewes/ that married wyues of Afsod/ Ammon & of Moab and their chyliden spake halfe in the speache of Afsod/ and coulde not speake in the Je- wes language/ but by the tonge myghte a man perceaue every people. And I rejoyced them/and cursed them/and smote certayne men of them/and plucked them bp/and toke an oath of them by God: Ye shall not geue youre daughters bnto their sonnes/ nether shall ye take their daughters bnto youre son- nes/or for youre selues. Dyd not Salomō the kynge of Israel synne therein? and yet amonge many þe then was there no kynge lyke hym/ and he was deare bnto hys God/ and God made him kynge ouer all Israel/a yet neuertheless outlandish women caused hym to synne: And shall we then obeie bnto you/ to do all thys great euell/ and to trans- gresse agaynst oure God/a marve straunge wyues?

And one of the chyliden of Jeholada the sonne of Eliasib the hye prest/ had made a cō- tracte wyth Sanabalat the Mozonite: but I chaced him fro me. O my God/ thinke thou bpon them that are quyte of the presthode/ and haue defyled the conenante of the prest- hode and of the Leuites. Thus censed I the from all such as were outlandish/ and ap- poynted the courses of the prestes and Leui- tes/ every one to his offyce/ and to offe the wod at tymes appoynted/ and the fyrst frutes. Chynke thou bpon me O my God/ for the best.

The boke of Esther

The kyng Ahasuerus/which is called Arthaxerxes maketh a roiall feast/wherunto the quene wasthi wyl not come:for which cause she is deuorced.

The fyrst Chapter.

In the tyme of Ahasuerus which raygned in India vnto Ethiopia/ouer an hundred & seuen & twety landes/what tyme as he late on hys seate roiall in the castell of Susan in the thirde yere of his raygne/he made a feast vnto all his princes & seruantes/namely vnto the mightie men of Persia & Media/to the capitaynes & rulers of hys countrees/that he might shewe the noble riches of his kingdome/and the glorious worshippe of his greatnesse/many dayes longe/euen an hundred & foure score dayes.

And when these dayes were expyred/the kyng made a feast vnto all the people that were in the castell of Susan/both vnto greate & small/seuen dayes longe in the courte of the garde by the kynges palace:where there hangd wythe/reed & palow clothes/fastened w coardes of linnen & scarlet in siluer rynges/ vpon pylers of Marble stone.

The beches were of goulde & syluer made vpon a pauement of grene/which/ palowe & black Marble. And the drinke was caried in vessels of goulde/ & there was euer chafage of vessel. And the kynges wine was moche acoordinge to the power of the kyng. And no man was appoynted what he shulde drinke: for the kyng had comaunded all the officers of his house/that euery one shulde do as it liked him. And the quene wasthi made a feast also for the women in the palace of Ahasuerus. And on the seuenth daye when the kyng was mery of the wyne/he comaunded Methuman/Bartha/Barbona/Bagatha/Abagatha/Zathar and Carcas/the seuen chamberlaynes (that dyd seruyce in the presence of kyng Ahasuerus/to fetch the quene wasthi with the crowne regal/that he might shewe the people & princes her fairnesse:for she was bewyfull. But the quene wasthi wolde not come at the kynges woide by hys chamberlaynes. Then was the kyng very wroth/ & his indignacion kyndled in him.

In the kyng spake to the wyse men that had vnderstandinge in the ordinaunces of the lande for the kynges matters must be handled before all such as haue knowlege of the lawe and iudgement:and the nexte vnto him were/Carlena/Sethar/Admatha/Charlis/Marres/Marlana & Mamucan/the seuen princes of the Persians/ & Meedes/which saue the kynges face/and sat aboue in the kyngdome/What lawe shulde be execute vpon the quene wasthi/because she dyd not acoordinge to the woide of the kyng by his chamberlaynes. Then sayde Mamucan before the kyng & the princes:the quene wasthi hath not onely done euell agaynst the kyng but also agaynst all the princes & all the people in all the landes of kyng Ahasuerus for this dede of the quene shall come abroad vnto all women/so they shall despyle their husbandes before their eyes/and shall saye:the kyng Ahasuerus comaunded wasthi the quene to come before him/but she wolde not. And so shall the princesses in Persia & Media saye likewise vnto all the kynges princes/when they heare of this dede of the quene/thus shall there arysedespitfulnes and wrath ynough. If it please the kyng/let there go a commaundement from him/and let it be wyrtten acoordinge to the lawe of the Persians & Medians (& not to be trasgreded) that wasthi come no more before kyng Ahasuerus/ & let the kyng geue the kyngdome vnto another that is better then she.

And that this wyrttinge of the kyng which shalbe made/be publyshed thorow out all his empyre (which is greate (that all wyues maye holde their husbandes in honoure/both amonge greate and smal.

This pleased the kyng and the princes/and the kyng dyd acoordinge to the woide of Mamucan. Then were there letters sent forth in to all the kynges landes/in to euery lande acoordinge to the wyrttinge therof/and to euery people after their language/that euery man shulde be lord in his awne house. And thys caused he be spoken after the language of hys people.

After the quene put awaye/certen goodly young damoelles are searched oute. Whilke other wyse called Esther/pleaseth the kyng/and is made quene. Mardocheus openeth vnto the kyng those that wolde betraye hym.

The ii. Chapter.

After these actes when the displeasure of kyng Ahasuerus was layed on wasthi/what she had done/and what was concluded concerninge her. Then sayde the kynges seruantes:Let there be sayre younge virgins soughte for the kyng/and let the kyng appoynte ouersers in all the landes of his empyre/that they maye byngge together all sayre younge virgins vnto the castell of Susan to the womens buyldinge/ vnder the hande of Hagei the kynges chamberlayne/that kepeth the women/and let hym geue them their apparell. And loke which damsell pleaseth the kyng/let her be quene in wasthis steade.

steade. This pleased the kyng/and he dyd so.

In the castell of Susan there was a Jewe/whose name was Mardocheus/ & sonne of Jair/the sonne of Semai/ & sonne of Cis/ & sonne of Gemini/which was caried awaye from Ierusalem/whan Jehoniah the kyng of Iuda was led awaye/(whom Nabuchodonozor the kyng of Babilon caried awaye) and he nozied Hadasah (that is Esther) hys vnckles daughter: for she had nether father nor mother/and she was a sayre and beautifull damsell. And when her father and mother dyed/Mardocheus receaued her as hys awne daughter.

Now when the kynges comaundement and commissyon was publyshed/ & many damells were broughte together vnto the castell of Susan vnder the hande of Hagei/Esther was take also vnto the kynges house vnder the hande of Hagei the keper of the women/ & the damsell pleased him/ & she founde grace in his sighte. And he caused her oymment to be geuen her/and her gyftes/ & gaue her. vij. notable getyl women of the kynges house/ & arayed both her & her gentyl women very ryche in the house of the women. But Esther shewed not her people nor her kyndred:for Mardocheus had charged her/that she shulde not tell it. And Mardocheus walked euery daye before the courte of the womens buyldinge/ & he might knowe how Esther dyd/and what shulde be come of her.

And when the appoynted tyme of euery damsell came that she shulde come to the kyng Ahasuerus/after that she had bene twelue monethes in the deckyng of the women (for their deckyng must haue so moche tyme/namely sixe monethes wyth Balme & Myrr/ & sixe monethes in good spyces/so were the women beautified)then wente there one dafell vnto the kyng/ & what so euer she requyred/ & must be geuen her to go wyth her out of the womens buyldinge vnto the kyngs palace. And when one came in the euenyng/ & the same wet fro him on the morow into the seconde house of women/vnder the hande of Salagas the kyngs chamberlayne/which kepeth the concubins. And she must come vnto the kyng nomore/excepte it pleased the kyng/and that he caused her to be called by name.

Now when the tyme came of Esther the daughter of Abihail Mardocheus vnckle (who he had receaued as hys awne daughter)that she shulde come to the kyng/ she despyed nothinge but what Hagei the kynges chamberlayne the keper of the women sayde.

And Esther founde fauoure in the syghte of all them that looked vpon her. And Esther was taken vnto kyng Ahasuerus in to the house roiall/ in the tenth moneth which is called Tebeth/in the seuenth yere of hys raigne.

And the kyng loued Esther aboue all the women/and she founde grace and mercy in his syghte before all the virgins:and he let the quenes crowne vpon hir head/and made her quene in steade of wasthi. And the kyng made a great feast vnto all hys princes and seruantes (whych feast was because of Esther) and let the landes be in quyetnes/and gaue roiall gyftes.

And whan the virgins were gathered together the seconde tyme/Mardocheus sat in the kynges gate. And as yet had not Esther shewed her kyndred and her people/ acoordinge as Mardocheus had hydden her:for Esther dyd after the woide of Mardocheus/like as whē he was her tutoure. At the same tyme whyle Mardocheus sat in the kynges gate/two of the kynges chamberlaynes Bagathan and Charas which kepte the doze/were wroth/ & sought to laye their handes on the kyng Ahasuerus:wherof Mardocheus gat knowlege/and tolde it vnto quene Esther/ & Esther certyfied the kyng therof in Mardocheus name. And when inquisycion was made/it was founde so. And they were both hangd on tre:and it was wyrtten in the Cronycles before the kyng.

Haman the Macedonian/after he was exalted/obtayne of the kyng that all the Jewes shulde be put to deeth/because Mardocheus had not done hym wozshipp/as other had.

The iij. Chapter.

After these actes dyd the kyng promote Haman the sonne of Amadatha the Agagite/and let hym be/ & set his seate aboue all the princes that were with him. And all the kynges seruantes that were in the gate/bowed their knees/and dyd reuerence vnto Haman:for the kyng had so comaunded. But Mardocheus bowed not the knee/and wrothipped hym not. Then the kynges seruantes whych were in the kynges gate/sayde vnto Mardocheus:why trasgreddest thou the kynges comaundement? And when they spake this daye vnto hym/ & he folowed the not/they tolde Haman/that they myghte se whether Mardocheus matters wolde endure:for he had tolde the/that he was a Jewe. And whē Haman saue/that Mardocheus bowed not the knee vnto hym/nor wrothipped hym/he was full of indignacion & thought it to lyttell to laye handes onely on Mardocheus:for they had shewed him the nacio of Mardocheus/but he sought to destroye all the Jewes the nacion of Mardocheus/that were in the whole empyre of Ahasuerus.

In the fyrst moneth (that is the moneth Nisan) in the twelue the yere of kynge Ahasuerus they cast Pur (p is a lott) before Haman, on what daye & what moneth this shuld be done: & it went oute the twelue the moneth that is the moneth Adar. And Haman sayde vnto kynge Ahasuerus: There is a people scattered abrode and disperfed amoge all people in all the landes of thyne empire: & their lawe is contrary vnto al people: & they do not after the kynges lawes/nether is it the kyngs profet to suffice the after this maner. If it please the kyng/let him wyte/that they maye be destroyed/ & so will I weye downe ten thousande talentes of syluer/ vnder the handes of the workmen/ to be brought into the kynges chamber. Then toke the kyng his ringe fro his hande/ & gaue it vnto Haman the sonne of Amadatha the Agagite the Jewes enemye. And the kyng sayde vnto Haman: Let the syluer be geuen the/ and that people also/ to do with all what pleaseth the.

Then were the kynges scribes called on the thirteenth daye of the fyrst moneth/ and there was written (acordynge as Haman commaunded) vnto the kynges prynces and to the captiues euery where in the landes/ and to the rulers of euery people in countreyes on euery tye/ acordynge to the wytyng of euery nacyon/ and after their language in the name of kynge Ahasuerus/ and sealed with the kynges rynge. And the wytynges were sent by postes in to all the kynges landes/ to rote out/ to kyll/ and to destroye all Jewes/ both yonge and olde/ chyldren and women in one daye (namely vpon the thirtenth daye of the twelue the moneth/ whych is the moneth Adar) and to spoyle their goodes.

Thys was the summe of the wytyng/ & there shulde be a commaundement geuen in all landes/ to be published vnto all people/ that they shulde be ready agaynst the same daye. And the postes wente in all the haste acordynge to the kynges commaundement. And in the castell of Susan was the commaundement deuyled. And the kyng and Haman late and dranche. But the cyrpe of Susan was disquieted.

¶ Harbocheus geueth the queene knowlege of the cruell decree of the kyng agaynst the Jewes.

¶ The.iii. Chapter.

When Harbocheus perceaued all that was done/ he rete his clothes and put on sack cloth/ and alshes/ and wente out in to the myddes of the cite/ and cried loude and lamentably/ and came befoze the kynges gate: for there might no man entre within the kynges gate/ that had sack cloth on. And in all landes and places/ as farre as the kynges worde and commaundement extended/ there was greates lamentacyon amonge the Jewes and many otheres and in alshes. So Esthers damels and her chamberlaynes/ came and toide it her. Then was the queene exceedingly astonied. And she sent rayment/ that Harbocheus shulde put them on/ and laye the sack cloth from hym. But Harbocheus wolde not take them. Then called Esther Hathath one of the kynges chamberlaynes (whyche stode befoze her) and gaue hym a commaundement vnto Harbocheus/ that he myght knowe what it were/ and wherfoze he dyd so. So Hathath wete forth to Harbocheus vnto the strete of the cyrpe/ whych was befoze the kynges gate.

And Harbocheus tolde him of all that happened vnto him/ and of the summe of syluer that Haman had promysed to weye downe in the kynges chaber because of the Jewes for to destroye them/ and he gaue him the cōpye of the cōmaundement/ that was deuyled at Susan to destroye them/ that he myght shewe it vnto Esther/ and to speake to her & charge her/ that she shulde go in to the kyng and make her prayer and supplicacion vnto hym for her people.

And whē Hathath came in/ & tolde Esther the wordes of Harbocheus/ Esther spake vnto Hathath/ and commaunded hym to saye vnto Harbocheus: all the kynges seruantes/ and the people in the landes of the kyng knowe/ that whosoever cometh within the courte vnto the kyng/ whether it be man or woman/ which is not called/ the cōmaundement is that the same shall dye immediatly/ excepte the kyng holde out the goulde scepter vnto hym/ that he maye lyue. As for me/ I haue not bene called to come in to the kyng now this thirtie dayes.

And when Harbocheus was certified of Esthers wordes/ Harbocheus had saye agayne vnto Esther: thinke not to saue thine awne life/ whyle thou art in the kynges house befoze all Jewes: for yf thou holdest thy peace at this tyme/ then shall the Jewes haue helpe and deliuerance out of another place/ and thou and thy fathers house shalbe destroyed. And who knoweth whether thou art come to the kyngdome/ for this tymes sake? Esther had geue Harbocheus this answer: Go thou thy waye then/ & geather together all the Jewes that are founde at Susan/ and fast ye for me/ & ye eate not & drinke not in thre dayes/ nether daye nor night. I and my damels will fast lyke wyse/ & so wyll I go in to the kyng contrary to the cōmaundement: yf I perishe/ I perishe. So Harbocheus wente his waye/ & dyd all that Esther had commaunded him.

¶ Esther

¶ Esther entreteth in to the kyng and byddeth him and Haman to a feast. Haman prepareth a gallouse for Harbocheus.

¶ The.v. Chapter.

When on the thirde daye put Esther on her royall apparell/ & stode in the courte of the kyngs palace within ouer agaynst the kynges house. And the kyng late vpon his royall seate in the kynges palace ouer agaynst the gate of the house. And when the kyng sawe Esther the queene standynge in the courte/ the founde grace in his syghte. And the kyng helde out the golden scepter in his hande toward Esther. So Esther stepte forth/ & touched the toppe of the scepter. Then sayde the kyng vnto her: What wilt thou queene Esther/ and what requyrest thou? aske euen the halfe of the empyre/ & it shall be geue the. Esther sayde: If it please the kyng/ let the kyng & Haman come this daye vnto the bancket that I haue prepared. The kyng sayde: cause Haman to make haste/ that he maye do as Esther hath sayde.

Now when the kyng & Haman came to the bancket that Esther had prepared/ the kyng sayde vnto Esther at the bancket of wyne/ Esther/ what is thy peticyō? and it shalbe geuen the. And what requyrest thou? If it be euen the halfe of the empyre/ it shalbe done. Then answered Esther and sayde: my peticion & desyre is/ yf I haue founde grace in the syght of the kyng/ & yf it please the kyng to geue me my peticion/ and to fulfill my request/ then let the kyng & Haman come to the bancket that I shall prepare for the/ and so will I do to morow as the kyng hath sayde.

Then went Haman forth the same daye forfull and mery in his mynde. And when he sawe Harbocheus in the kynges gate/ & he stode not vp and kneeled befoze hym/ he was full of indignacion at Harbocheus. Neuertheles he refrayned him selfe: and whē he came home/ he sent/ and called for his frendes/ and Zares his wyfe/ & tolde the of the glory of his riches/ & the multitude of his chyldren all to gether how the kyng had promoted him so greatly/ and how that he was take aboue the prynces and seruantes of the kyng. Haman sayde moreover: Yee & Esther the queene let no man come with the kyng vnto the bancket that she had prepared/ excepte me/ & to morow am I bidden vnto her also with the kyng. But in all thys am I not satisfied as longe as I se Harbocheus the Jewe syttinge at the kynges gate. Then sayde Zares his wyfe & all his frendes vnto hym: Let them make a gallouse of sylfye cubites hie/ and to morow speake thou vnto the kyng/ & Harbocheus maye be hanged thereon/ yf thou comest merely with the kyng vnto the bancket. Haman was well content with all/ and caused a gallouse to be prepared.

¶ The kyng turneth ouer the Chronycles & fyndeth the sydepytie of Harbocheus: & then to the cōfusiō of Haman/ commaundeth Harbocheus to be had in honoure.

¶ The.vi. Chapter.

The same night coulde not the kyng slepe/ and he commaunded to bringe the Chronycles and stoyes: whych when they were red befoze the kyng they happened on a place where it was written/ how Harbocheus had tolde/ that the kynges two chaberlaynes (whyche kepte the thershold) sought: to laye handes on kynge Ahasuerus. And the kyng sayde: what worshyppe & good haue we done to Harbocheus therfoze? Then sayde the kynges seruantes that ministred vnto him. There is nothinge done for hym. And the kyng sayde: Who is in the courte? (for Haman was gone in to the courte without befoze the kyngs house/ that he myght speake vnto the kyng to hange Harbocheus on the tre/ that he had prepared for him.) And the kynges seruantes sayde vnto him: beholde/ Haman standeth in the courte. The kyng sayde: let him come in. And when Haman came in/ the kyng sayde vnto hym: what shall be done vnto the man/ whom the kyng wolde saye bringe vnto worshyppe? But Haman thought in his hert: Whom shulde the kyng els be glad to bringe vnto worshyppe/ but me? And Haman sayde vnto the kyng: Let the man vnto whom the kyng wolde be glad to do worshyppe/ be broughte hyther/ that he maye be arayed with the royall garmentes whych the kyng vseth to weare: and the horse that the kyng rydeth vpon/ and that the crowne royall maye be set vpon his heed. And let this rayment and horse be deliuered vnder the hande of one of the kynges prynces/ that he maye araye the man withall (whō the kyng wolde saye honoure) and carry hym vpon the horse thozow the strete of the cite/ & cause it to be proclaimed befoze him: thus shal it be done to euery mā/ whom the kyng wolde saye honoure.

The kyng sayde: make haste/ and take as thou hast sayde/ the rayment and the horse: & do euen so with Harbocheus the Jewe that sytteth befoze the kynges gate/ & let nothinge fayle of all that thou hast spoken. Then toke Haman the rayment and the horse/ & arayed him/ and brought hym on horsebacke thozow the strete of the cite/ and proclaimed befoze hym: Euen thus shall it be done vnto euery man whom the kyng is disposed to honoure. And Harbocheus came agayne to the kynges gate/ but Haman gat him home in all haste mourninge with bare heade/ and tolde Zares his wyfe & all his frendes/ euery thyng that had happened him. Then sayde his wife men a Sares his wyfe vnto him: If it be Mardocheus of the sede of the Jewes/before whom thou hast begonne to fall/ thou canst do no-thinge vnto hym/ but shalt fall before hym.

Whyle they were yet talkinge with him/ came the kynge's chamberlaynes/ and caused Haman to make haste to come vnto the bac-ket that Esther had prepared.

The quene biddeth the king and Haman agayne/and prayeth for her selfe and her people. She accuseth Haman: and he is hanged on the gallows/ which he had prepared for Mardocheus.

The. vii. Chapter.

And when the kynge and Haman came to the banquet that quene Esther had prepared/ the kynge sayde vnto Esther on the seconde daye at the banquet of wyne: what is thy peticion quene Esther/ that it maye be geuen the? And what request thou? Yee/ aske euen halfe of my ppee/ a it shall be done. Esther the quene answered and sayde: If I haue founde grace in thy syghte (O kynge) a yf it please the kynge then graunte me my selfe at my desyre a my people for my peticions sake: for we are sold a my people bothe to be destroyed/ to be slaine a to perishe. And wolde God we were solde to mi.

to perishe. And wolde God we were solde to some reade. he bondmen and bondwomen/ then wolde I although the enemye shoulde not recompence
the kynge's har-
mi.

As for Haman/ he was exceedingly afrayed before the kinge a the quene. And the kynge arose from the banquet and from the wyne in hys displeasure and wente into the palace garden. And Haman stode by/ and besoughte quene Esther for hys lyfe: for he sawe that there was a myschance prepared for hym of the kynge already.

And when the kynge came agayne out of the palace garden into the parter where they had eaten/ Haman had layed hym vpon the bed that Esther sat vpon. Then sayde the kynge to/ in my presence.

To conerhys face / in to type of decty.

And Hamanah one of the chamberlaynes stode before the kynge/ sayde. Beholde/ there standeth a galowes in Hamans house fytte cubyttes hye/ whych he had made for Mar-docheus/ that spake good for the kynge. The kynge sayde: hange hym thereon. So they hanged Haman on the galowes that he had made for Mardocheus. Then was the kynge wroth pacified.

After the death of Haman is Mardocheus exalted/ & then are there countforable letters sent vnto the Jewes.

The. viii. Chapter.

In the same daye dyd kynge Ahasue. A rus geue the house of Haman the Jewes enemye/ vnto quene Esther.
And Mardocheus came before the kynge: for Esther tolde how that he beloged vnto her. And the kynge put of hys synger rynge/ which he had take from Haman/ and gaue it vnto Mardocheus. And Esther set Mardocheus ouer the house of Haman. And Esther spake yet more before the kynge/ and fell downe at hys fete/ a besought hym/ that he wolde put awaye the wyckednes of Haman the Agagite/ and his deuice that he had ymagined agaynst the Jewes. And the kynge helde out the goulden scepter vnto Esther.
Then rose Esther/ a stode before the kynge/ W and sayde: yf it please the kynge/ a yf I haue founde grace in his syght/ a yf it be couenient for the kynge/ a yf it be accepted in his syght then let it be wyrtten/ that the letters of the deuice of Haman the sonne of Hamadatha the Agagite/ maye be called agayne: whych letters he wrote/ to destroye the Jewes in all the kynge's landes. For how can I se the euell that shall happen vnto my people? a how ca
I loke vpon the destruction of my kynred?

Then sayde the kynge Ahasuerus vnto quene Esther/ and to Mardocheus the Je-we: Beholde/ I haue geuen Esther the house of Haman/ and him haue they hanged vpon a tre/ because he layed hande vpon the Je-wes. Wrote ye now therfore for the Jewes/as it lyketh you in the kynge's name/ a seale it with the kynge's ryng (for the wyrttinges that were wyrtten in the kynge's name/ and sealed with the kynge's ryng/ durst no man dysanulle.) Then were the kynge's scribbes called at the same tyme in the thirde moneth/that is the moneth Siuan/ on the thye and twentyeth daye.

And it was wyrtten (as Mardocheus comaunded) vnto the Jewes and to the pry-nces/ to the debyttes and captaynes in the landes from India vntill Ethiopia/ namely an hundred and seuen and twenty landes/vnto euery one accordyng to the wyrttynge therof/ vnto euery people after their speche/and to the Jewes accordyng to their wyrt-tynge and language.

And it was wyrtten in the kynge Ahasue-rus name/ and sealed with the kynge's ryng.
And by postres that rode vpon swifte yonge Mules/ sent he the wyrttynge/ wher in the kynge graunted the Jewes (in what cytyes soeuer they were) to geather them selues together/ and to stande for their lyfe/ and for to rote

to rote oute/ to slaye / and to destroye all the power of the people a lande that wolde trouble them/ with chyldren and women / and to wyrtte their good vnto one daye in all the landes of kynge Ahasuerus namely vpon the thye-tenth daye of the twelue moneth/ which is the moneth Adar.

The summe of the wyrttynge was / how there was a commaundment geuen in all landes to be published vnto all the people / that the Jewes shoulde be ready agaynst that daye to avenge them selues on their enemyes. And the postres that rode vpon the Mules/ made haste with all spede/ accordyng to the kynge's worde: and the commaundment was deuy-sed in the castell of Susan.

As for Mardocheus/ he wente oute fro the kynge in royal apparell of yelow a whyte/and with a greate crowne of goulde/ beyng arrayed with a garment of lynn and purple/and the cytye of Susan reioyced a was glad:
but vnto the Jewes there was come lyght a gladnesse/ and ioye a woshypp. And in all landes and cyties/ into what places soeuer the kynge's worde and commaundment reached/ there was ioye and myght/ prosperite a good dayes amonge the Jewes: in somoch that many of the people in the lande became of the Jewes belefe/ for the feare of the Jewes came vpon them.

At the commaundment of the kynge the Jewes put their aduersaries to decthy. The sonnes of Haman are hanged. The Jewes kepe a feast daye in remembraunce of their deliuerance.

The. ix. Chapter.

In the twelue moneth / that is the moneth Adar / vpon the thye-tenth daye/ which the king's worde and commaundment had appoy-nted/ that it shoulde be done/ euen vnto the same daye that the enemyes shoulde haue destroyed the Jewes to haue oppressed them/ it turned contrary wyse / euen that the Jewes shoulde subdue their enemyes. Then geathered the Jewes together in their cyties within all the landes of kynge Ahasuerus / to laye hande on such as wolde do them euell/ and no man coulede wythstand them: for the feare of them was come ouer all people. And all the rulers in the landes/ and prynces and debi-ttes/ and officers of the kynge promoted the Jewes: for the feare of Mardocheus came vpon them. For Mardocheus was greate in the kynge's house/ a the repute of hym was noyced in all landes/ how he increased a grewe.

Thus the Jewes smote all their enemyes with a sore slaughter/ and slewe a destroyed/and dyd after their wyll vnto such as were their aduersaries. And at the castell of Susan slewe the Jewes and destroyed fyue hundred men: a slewe Pharandatha/ Delpho/Alphatha/ Phozatha/ Adalia/ Aridatha/Pharmatha/ Arisai/ Aridai/ Marzatha/ the ten sonnes of Haman the sonne of Hamadatha the enemye of the Jewes: but on his good they layed no handes. At the same tyme was the kynge certified of the nombere of those that were slayne at the castell of Susan. And the kynge sayde vnto quene Esther: The Je-wes haue slayne a destroyed fyue hundred men at the castell of Susan/ a the ten sonnes of Haman: What shall they do in the other landes of the kynge? What is thy peticion/that it maye be geuen the? a what requyre thou more to be done? Esther sayde: If it please the kynge/ let him suffice the Jewes to mo-row also to do accordyng vnto this dayes comaundment/ that they maye hange Hamans ten sonnes vpon the tre. And the kynge charged to do so/ a the commaundment was deuy-sed at Susan/ a Hamans ten sonnes were hanged. And the Jewes geathered the selues together at Susan/ vnto the fourteenth daye of the moneth Adar/ and slewe thye hundred men at Susan / but on their goodes they layed no handes.

As for the other Jewes in the kynge's landes/they came together/ a stode for their lyues/a gat rest from their enemyes: and slewe of their enemyes fyue a seutye thousand/ how beit they layed no handes on their goodes.
This was done on the thirtenth daye of the moneth Adar/ a on the fourteenth daye of the same moneth rested they / whych daye they ordyned to be a daye of feasting a gladnesse.
But the Jewes at Susan were come together both on the thirtenth daye a on the fourtenth/ a on the fiftenth daye they rested/ and the same daye ordyned they to be a daye of feasting a gladnes. Therfore the Jewes dwelt in the villages and builded towres/ordyned the fourteenth daye of the moneth Adar/ to be a daye of feasting and gladnes/and one sent gyftes vnto another.

And Mardocheus wrote these actes/ and sent the wyrttynge vnto all the Jewes that were in all the landes of kynge Ahasuerus / both nye a farte/ that they shoulde yearly receaue a holde the fourteenth a fiftenth daye of the moneth Adar/ as the dayes wher in the Jewes cam to rest fro their enemyes/ a as a moneth wher in their payne was turned to ioye/ and their sorowe into prosperite: that they shoulde obserue the same as dayes of wealth a glad-nes/ and one to sende gyftes vnto another/ a to distribute vnto the poore.

And the Jewes receaued it that they had begonne to do/ and that Mardocheus wrote vnto them: how that Haman the sonne

Job is plagued of God by the losse of his goodes and chyldren.

The fyrst Chapter.

In the lade of bus there was a man called Job: an innocent & vertuous man, soch one as feared God exchued euell. His mā had. viij. sonnys / and. iij. daughters. Hys substance was. viij. M. shepe. iij. M. camels. v. C. pouck of oxen. v. C. she asses / and a very greate housholde. so that he was one of the most principall men amonge all them of the east countre. And his sonnys went / & made banchettes: one daye in one house / another daye in another / & sent for their. iij. syccis to eate & drinke with them. So when they had passed ouer y tyme of their banchettyng rounde aboute / Job sent for them / & cleded them agayne / and gat by early / & offered for euery one a bzentofferyng. for Job thought thus: peradventure my sonnys haue done some offence / and haue bene vnthankfull to God in their hertes. And thus dyd Job euery daye. Now bypō a tyme / when y seruantes of God^a cam & stode befoze the Lorde / & a here vndersta. de not onely angelles by who he ordereth the course & woiches of the world: but also the godly & chosen / whom he continually careth and prouydeth for. Job. ii. a.

^a By the seruantes of God de not onely angelles by who he ordereth the course & woiches of the world: but also the godly & chosen / whom he continually careth and prouydeth for. Job. ii. a.

^b I am & stode befoze the Lorde. Chynck not that God some tyme appeareth to the angelles / and some tyme not / for the good angelles do all wayle se the face of God: & ether commeneth God ether with the angelles or with the deuill with bodely speache but the holy ghoost in the scriptures speaketh many thynges vnto vs as cōdyng to oure fealyng / and bleth a maner of speakyng famylar to vs / attriptyng tynge apperyng / speakyng enquerpyng and answeryng to God and to angelles / which thynges mā onely vseth / to thynke that we ther by maye the rase lypar percreue his meanyng. The commyng of the angelles here is no nother thyng than to geue accountes of the offyce inioyned them: which they geue / knowyng that God seyth with what trust they dyd it: and to geue thanckes / and wayte for their reward. They came (sayth Origen) honouryng / magnifyng / prayng / geuyng thanckes. Of Sathan also wyrteth he this. He cam methys with goyng to / or cōdyng in / but he cam in thought / counsell / a most wyched desyre to accule the ryght welle befoze God. Hys thought and desyre are take as a cōdyng. The deuyl then is countid to haue come into the syght of God / not that the most wyched / am in deade in the syght of the good God / but because his cruell / a most wyched thoughtes cam into the syght of God. And thus euery now a dayes also cometh the deuyl with them in to the syght of God / in that he dayly accuseth / synneth / faulte / vereth / persecuteth & troubleth the godly.

than cam

than cam also amonge them. And the Lorde sayde vnto Sathan: from whence comest thou? Sathan answered the Lorde / & sayd: I haue gone aboute the lande and waiched thow it.

Then sayde the Lorde vnto Sathan: hast thou not cōsidered my seruaunt Job / how he is an innocent and vertuous mā: soch one as feareth God / and extueth euell / and that there is none lyke him in the lande? Sathan answered / and sayde vnto the Lorde: Doe the Job feare God for nought? hast thou not pferued him / his house / and all his substance on euery tyme? hast thou not blessed the woiches of his handes? Is not his possession encreased in the lande? But laye thyne hande vpon him a lytle / touche once all that he hath / and (I holde) he shall curse the to thy face. And the Lorde sayd vnto Sathan: lo all that he hath / be in thy power: only vpon hym selfe let that thou laye not thyne hande. Then went Sathan forth from the Lorde.

Now bypō a certayne daye whē his sonnys and daughters were eatyng / and drynking wyne in their eldest bzothers house / there came a messenger vnto Job / & sayde: Whyle the oxen were a plowynge / & the asses going in the pasture besyde them: the Sabees cam in violently / and toke the all awaye: & they haue slayne thy seruantes with the swerde / and I only ranne my waye / to tell the.

And whyle he was yet speakyng / there came another / and sayde: The fyre of God is fallen from heauen / it hath consumed / and bynt by all the shepe and seruautes: and I only ranne my waye / to tell the. In y meane season whyle he was yet speakyng / there cam another / and sayde: The Caldees made thre armys / & fell in vpon thy camels / which they haue caried awaye / & slayne thy seruantes with the swerde: and I only am gottē awaye / to tell the: Whyle he was speakyng / there cam yet another / & sayde: A by sonnys and daughters were eatyng & drynking wyne in their eldest bzothers house / & suddenly there came a mightie greite wynde out of the south / & smote the. iij. corners of the house / & fell vpon thy chyldren / so that they are dyd: and I am gottē awaye alone / to tell the.

Then sayde the Lorde by / and rente hys clothes / & sayde: Naked came I out of my mothers wombe / & naked shall I turne thither agayne. The Lorde gaue / and the Lorde hath taken awaye. Now blessed be y name of the Lorde. In all these thynges dyd Job not murmure / & nermurmured solyly agaynst God.

Job is plagued by sore byles / & afterwarde is mocked of his wyfe. His frendes visyte him / & haue compassion on hym.

The. ii. Chapter.

It happened also bypō a tyme / that when the seruautes of God cam here described & stode befoze the Lorde / Sathan aspyng & de- came amōge them / & stode befoze him. ^a And he Lorde sayde vnto Sathan: from whence comest thou? Sathan answered and sayde: I haue gone aboute the lande / and waiched thow it.

Then sayde the Lorde vnto Sathan: hast thou not cōsidered my seruaunt Job / how he is an innocent and vertuous mā: soch one as feareth God / and extueth euell / and that there is none lyke him in the lande? But thou moudest me agaynst hym / to punysh him: yet is it in bayne / for he contynieth still in his godlynesse. Sathan answered y Lorde / and sayde: Shynne for shynne: yee a man will geue all y euer he hath / for his lyfe. But laye thyne hande vpon him / touche him once bypō the bone and flesch / and (I holde) he shall curse the to thy face. Then sayde the Lorde vnto Sathan: lo / there hast thou him in thy power / but spare his lyfe.

So went Sathan forth from the Lorde / and smote Job with maruelous sore byles / from the sole of the foze vnto hys crowne: so that he sat vpon the grounde in the ashes / and scraped of the fylch of hys sores with a potsherde.

Then sayd his wyfe vnto him: Wofte thou contynue in thy perfectnes? curse God / and dye. But Job sayde vnto her: Thou speakest lyke a folysh woman. Sevyng we haue receaued prosperite at the hande of God / wher foze shulde we not be content with aduersyte also? In all these thynges / dyd not Job synne with his lypes.

Now when Jobs frendes herde of all the trouble / that happened vnto hym / there came thre of them / euery one from hys awne place: namely / Eliphaz the Chamanite / Baldad the Subite / and Zophar the Naamathite.

for they were agreed together to come / to shewe their compassion vpon him / and to comforte hym. So when they lyfte by their eyes a farre of / they knewe him not. Then they cryed / and wepte: then euery one of them rente hys clothes / and spyncked dust vpon their heades in the ayre. They sat them doune by him also bypō the grounde viij. dayes and. viij. nightes. Nether was there any of them that spake one worde vnto hym / for they sawe that hys payne was very greate.

of Hamadatha all the Jewes enemye / had deuyed to destrope all the Jewes / & caused to cast Phur (that is Lot) for to put them in feare / & to byngne them to naughte: and how Hester wente and spake to the kynge / that thow letters his wyched deuyce (which he ymagined agaynst the Jewes) might be turned vpon his awne heede / and how he & hys sonnys were hanged on the tre. for y which cause they called this daye Phurim after the name of Phur / accordyng to all the wordes of this wyrtynge: and what they them selues had sene / and what had happened vnto them.

*Thaf is Lot.

And the Jewes set it by / and toke it vpon them and their seide / & bypō all soch as ioyned them selues vnto them / that they wolde not mysse to obserue these two dayes yearly / accordyng as they were wyrtten and appoynted / how that these dayes are not to be forgotten / but to be kepte of chylders chyldre and ge all kyndes in all landes & cytyes. They are the dayes of Phurim / which are not to be ouerslyte amonge the Jewes / & the memoryall of them oughte not to perlysh from their seide.

And quene Hester the daughter of Abihail & Haradocheus the Jewe wrote wyth all auctozite / to confirme this seconde wyrtynge of Phurim / and sent the letters vnto all the Jewes in the hundreth & leue & twentye landes of the empyre of Ahasuerus / wyth frendly and faythfull wordes / to confirme these dayes of Phurim / in their tyme appoynted / accordyng as Haradocheus the Jewe and Hester the quene had ordeyned cōcernyng them: lyke as they bypō their soule and vpon their seide had confirmed the actes of the fastynges and of hir cōpiaynte. And Hester cōmaunded to stablish these actes of this Phurim / and to wyrtte them in a boke.

The. i. Chapter.

And the kynge Ahasuerus layed tribute vpon the lande / and vpon the fles of the see. As for all y woike of his power and auctozyte / & the greate worshippe of Haradocheus / whych the kynge gaue him / beholde / it is wyrtte in the Cronycles of the kynges of Media and Persia. for Haradocheus the Jewe was the seconde nexte vnto kynge Ahasuerus / and greate amōge the Jewes / & accepted amōge the multitude of his bzythzen / as one that sekerh y welth of his people / and speaketh the best for all his seide.

The booke

The wordes of Job/ wherein he declareth that thys present lyfe is myserable: & that the deeth of the ryghteous is ioyous and fortunable

The.iiij. Chapter.

After this opened Job hys mouth/ and curst his daye/ and sayde: lost be that daye/ wherein I was borne: and the nyght/ in the whych it was layde: there is a mā chylde conceaued. The same daye he turned to darcknesse/ and not regarded of God from aboue/ neither he thyned wth lycht: but he couered with darcknesse/ and the shadowe of deeth. Lett the dynme cloude fall vpon it/ and let it be lapped in with sorowe. Let the darcknesse overcome that nyght/ lett it not be reckened amonge the dayes of the yere/ ner counted in the monethes. Despyed be that nyght/ & discomended: let the curse the daye/ & those that be ready to rayse vp mourninge vnto them: & geue it also their curse. Lett the starres be dymme thozow darcknesse of it. Let it loke for lycht/ but let it se none/ neither the ryfing phenyng and bp of the fayre moynng: because it shutt not out lycht/ but the wombe that bare me/ ner hnd these sorowes fro myne eyes.

Alas/ why dyed I not in the byrth? Why dyd not I perishe/ as sone as I came oute of the comen people/ whych impute their miserie to the influence of the starres/ to the as the hynges and lordes of the erth/ which daye of their byrth/ curst they be: whych they haue speyall places: As the pynces & haue greute substance of gould/ and their houses full of syluer. O that I be as they: how they had no beyng/ or were as a thynge bytter a lyfe he lyueth/ & vnto how great myseries he was. There must the wycked cease from their tyborne/ as we do/ ranny/ there loch as are ouerlaboured be at malytaye/ in an rest: there are those lett out fre/ whych haue bene in pison/ so that they heare nomore the voyce of the oppresseure: There are men repenting small and greute: the bonde man/ and he that is fre from his master.

Wherfore is the lycht geuen to him that is in miserie/ and lyfe vnto them/ that haue heuphetes? Whych longe for deeth/ yf it come not: & search for it moare then for treaure which also wolde be exceeding glad/ & reioyce yf they founde their graue. That shuld be tope to a man whose waye is lycht/ which God kepeth backe from him. For my syghes come befoze I eate/ & my roaynges fall out like flowyng water. For I thynge I feared/ is come vpon me: and the thynge that I was afrayed of/ is happened vnto me: Was I not happy? Had I not quyetnesse? Was I not in rest? And now cometh loch myserie vpon me.

Job is reprehended of impacience and iniustice/ and of the presumption of his awne rightewesnes.

The.iiij. Chapter.

Eben answered Eliphaz the Temanite and sayd vnto him: Yf we begyne to comen with the peradventure thou wylt be dyscontent/ but who can withholde him self from speakeyng? Beholde/ thou hast bene a teacher of many/ and hast comforted the weery handes. Thy wordes haue set by those that were fallen/ thou hast refreshed the weake knees. But now that the plage is come vpon the thou thynkest awaye: now that it hath touched thy self/ thou arte saynt harted. Is not this thy feare/ thy stedfastnesse/ thy pacience/ and the perfectnesse of thy wayes? Confyde (I praye the) whoeuer perswaded beyng an innocēt: O/ why were the godly destroyed? As I haue sene them that plowe banysse & sowe malicie reape the same. With the blast of God they perishe/ and with the bryth of his anger consumed they awaye. The roayng of the lyon/ the voyce of the lyoness/ and the teeth of the lyons whelpes are bryke. The lyon perissheth/ for lacke of praye & the lyons whelpes are scattered abrode.

And vnto me was I worde hyde/ & myne eare hath receaued a lytell therof. In I phantasies and thoughtes of the bysions of the nyght/ when slepe cometh on men: feare cam vpon me and drede & made my bones to shake. And when the wynd passed by befoze my pynt/ lence it made the hearres of my fleshe stand vpon. He stode there and I knew not his face/ an ymage ther was befoze me and ther was stynges/ so that I heard thys voyce. Shall man be puter than this maker? Beholde ther is no trust to his seruantes/ & in his aungelles hath he founde frowardnes. How moche moare in them that dwell in houses of claye/ whose foundation is but erth: which shalbe consumed by the Moth. They shalbe smytte fro the moynng vnto the euenyng: yee they shal perishe euerlastyngly/ & no man thynketh therof. Is not their dignitie take a maye/ them/ they shal dye and not in wysdome.

moare ryghtwelle and pure than God/ but this is impossible/ for the contrarye is shewed vnto me by reuelacion. Beholde ther is no trust. He labourerth in coufymyng that which he had befoze propounded. The summe of the reason is/ aungelles are not puter than God/ ergo not men. Dignitye/ signifieth here whatsoener they haue wherein they excell other/ whether it be ryche/ or honoure/ or power/ or comynge. For none of these shal redeame them from deeth.

The.v. Chapter.

The ende of a fole. The ryghtwelles of God. The Loyde chasteneth his/ and deliuereth them agayne. Name.

Of Job

Lxi.

Nime me one els/ yf thou canst fynde any: yee loke aboute the/ vpon any of the holymen. As for the folyshe man/ displeasure kylleth him and anger slayeth the ignoraunt. I haue sene my self/ when the folyshe was depe roted/ that hys bewty was sodenly destroyed/ that hys chyliden were without prosperite or health: that they were slayne in the doze/ and no man to deliuer them: that his haruest was eaten by of the hungrye: that the weakened man had spoyled it/ and that the thurstie had dronche by his ryches. It is not the earth that bringeth forth trauayle/ neither cometh sorow out of grounde: but it is mā/ that is bozne vnto myserye/ lyke as the byrde for to fle.

But now wyl I speake of the Loyde/ and talke of God: whych doth thynge/ that are vnsearchable/ and maruelous without nombre: Which geueth rayne vpon the earth/ and poureth water vpon all thynge/ which setteth vpon them of some degre/ and sendeth prosperite/ to those that are in heuynesse: which destroyeth the deuyces of the soryll/ so that they are not able to perfozme I thynge/ that they take in hande: whych compaseth the wyle in their awne craftynesse/ and ouerthroweth the counsell of the wycked. In so much I they runne into darcknesse by fayre daye/ & a grope about them at the none daye/ lyke as in the nyght.

And so he deliuereth the pooze from the swearde/ from their mouth/ and fro the hnde of the cruell/ that I pooze maye haue hope/ and that the mouth of the oppresseure maye be stopped.

Beholde/ happye is the man/ whom God punysheth: therfore/ despyse not thou I chastenynge of the Almighty. For though he make a wound/ he geueth a medicine agayne: though he smyte/ hys hande maketh whole.

He deliuereth the oute offyre troubles/ so I in the tyme there can no harme touch the. In the myddest of hunger he saueh the from deeth: and when it is warre/ from the power of the swearde.

He shal kepe the from the perious tonge so that when trouble cometh/ thou shalt not nede to feare. In destruction & derth thou shalt be meepe/ & shalt not be afrayed for the beastes of the earth: But the castels in the lande shal be confederate with the/ and the beastes of the selbe shal geue the peace.

Yee thou shalt know/ that thy dwellyng place shalbe in rest: thou shalt beholde thy substance/ & be nomore punyshed for synne. Thou shalt be also/ that thy sede shal increashe/ and that thy posterite shalbe as the grasse vpon the erth. Thou shalt come to thy graue in a fayre age/ lyke as the corne theues are brought in to I barne in due season. Lo/ this is I matter/ as we our selues haue proued by experience. Therfore now that thou hearest it/ take better hede to thy self.

Job answered/ that his payne is moare greuousse/ then his faute/ yet not withstanding he deliureth therein

The.vi. Chapter.

Eben answered/ and sayde: O I my misery were weyed/ & my punishment layed in the balaunces: for then shulde it be heuyer/ then the sande of the see. This is the cause/ that my wordes are so sorowfull.

For the arrowes of the Almighty are in me/ whose indignacion hath dronche by my some menes sprete/ and the terryble feares of God fyght agaynst me. Both the wyde asse roare when he hath grasse: O cryeth the ore/ when he hath fodder ynough: That which is vnfaue/ ry/ shal it be eaten with oute salte/ or is ther any taste in I wyte of an egge. The thynge that sonie tyme I myght not awaye withal/ are now my meate for very sorow. O that I myght haue my desyre: O that God wolde graunte me the thynge/ that I longe for: That he wolde begynne & smyte me: that he wolde let his had go/ & hew me downe. Then shulde I haue some coforte: yee I wolde desyre him in my payne/ that he shulde not spare/ for I wyl not be agaynst I wordes of I holy one.

What power haue I to endure? O/ what is myne end/ that my soule myght be paciet? Is my strength the strength of stones? Is my flethe made of brasse? Is it not so that ther is in me no helpe: & that my substance is taken from me. He that is in tribulacion ought to be coforted of his neyghbour: But the feare of the Loyde is cleane awaye. Myne aune brythen passe ouer by me as the water bryke/ that hastely runneth thozow the balleyes. But they that feare the Loyde frost/ the snowe shal fall vpon them.

When their tyme cometh/ they shalbe destroyed and perishe: and when they be set on fye/ fearfully sayde agaynst him. Eliphaz in the begynnyng of the fourth Chapter had sayde/ that the plage was come vpon him & had touched him. With this (saye they) meateh he nowe. Beholde it not onely toucheth me/ but woundeth me with Arrowes/ and those venommed with venoume/ hapely with the gall of dragons/ with which touchyng/ both my bloud warreth woode/ and all my sprete is supped by. Mozeouer/ God hath not onely throwe these darts vpon me/ but also his dredefull feares/ that is/ whatsoener he hathe that is terryble/ slayeth he on me. What my substance is taken fro me. The Chalde interpr. hathe. My doome is departed from me/ and that/ after Job. For the wyl/ dyne of dyspynge iudging a tryng of thynge. As though he shuld saye/ so soare is my grete/ lyke the my helpe is taken from me/ that I am not permitted to breathe so longe/ tyl I maye call to remembrance what is most acceptable to God. Some reade. Is not all the strenght of myne iustice/ comēt gone from me.

But the feare of the Loyde &c. As though he sayd. But alas/ now a dayes/ ther is no feare of the Loyde least/ and therfore it is no maruell/ yf charitie also which is toynd to the feare of God/ be not in use.

theye/they shalbe remooued out of their place/for þe pathes that they go in/are crooked:they haste after vayne thynges/and,shall perishe.
Confyde the pathes of Cheman/ & þe wayes of Saba/wherin they haue put their trust.
Confounded are they, that put eny confiden ce in them: for when they cam to opteyne þe thynges þe they looked for, they were brought to confusion.

¶ Euen so are ye also come vnto me: but note that ye see my mysery / ye are astrayed. Wyldest thou / to come hyther? Wyldest thou to geue me eny of youre substance? To deliuer me fro the enemyes hande / or to saue me from the power of the myghtie? Teach me and I will holde my tounge: and yf I do erre / shewe me therein.

Wherfoze blame ye then the wordes / & are well and truly spoken: which of you can reprove them? Saying only that ye are so: tyll to check mens sayinges / and can speake many wordes in the wynde. Ye fall upon the fatherlesse / & go about to overthrowe youre atone frende. Wherfoze loke not only upon me / but upon youre selues: whether I lye / or no. Turne into youre atone selues (I praye you) be indifferent iudges / and cōspoyse myne longpylesnesse: whether there be any vnrpgh- tuousnesse in my tonge / or bayne wordes in my mouth.

E Job sheweth that this lyfe is but a battaile or war fare.

The. vii. Chapter.

Not the lyfe of man vpon earth a very batayll: Are not hys dayes lyke the dayes of an hyred seruante:
for lyke as a bonde seruauant delyveth the shadowe / as an hyrelinge wolde fayne haue an ende of his worke: Euen so haue I laboured whole monethes longe (but in vayne) and many a carefull nyght haue I tolde. When I layed me downe to slepe / I sayde: O whē shall I ryle: Agayne / I longed to ryle for the night. Thus am I full of sorowe / till it be darcke. My flethe is clothed with wormes / my thynne is and dust: my skynne is wythered / and cromptled together: my dayes paste ouer more speedely / then a weeuier can weue out his webbe: and are gone / or I am a warte. O remembre / that my lyfe is but a vayne / and that myne eye shall nomore se the pleasures therof / yee & that none other mans eye shall se me any more: For yf thou fasten thine eyes vpon me / I come to naught lyke as a cloude is consumed & banished a waye / euen so he that goeth downe to hell / cometh nomore by / ner turneth agayne into hys house / nether shall his place knowe hym any more.

Therefore I will not spare my mouth, but will speake in the trouble of my spere/in þ bytternelle of my mynde will I talke. Am I a see or a whalfeþh/that thou kepest me so in pyslon? When I thynke: my bedde shall com-forte me. I shall haue some refrefþynge by talckinge by my self vpon my couche: When troublest thou me wyth dremes / & makest me so afrayed thorow visions/that my soule wylfeth rather to be strangled/& my bones to be deed.

I can see no remedy / I shall Ioue no more: D
 Spare me then / for my dayes are but bayne
 What is man, that thou hast him in such repufacion / and setteft somoch by him? Thou takeft diligent care for him / & suddenly doeft thou trye him

Why goest thou not fro me / ner lettest me alone / so longe tyll I swallow downe my spetle: I haue offended / what shall I do vnthou made me to stande in thy waye / & am so heuy a burden vnto my self: Why doest thou not forgive me my synne: Wherefoze takest now must I slepe in the dust: & yf thou sekest me to morow in þe morning / I shalbe gone.

Hen answered Baldad the Subtile / a sayde: How longe wilt thou talke of such thynges? how longe shall thy mouth speake so proude wordes? Doth God peruerthe the thyng that is lausfull? Or doth the Almyghtye destroye the thyng that is ryght? When thy sonnes

If he can by me / I myght not loke vpon him: yf he went his waye / I shulde not perceauie it. If he be hasty to take eny thyng awaye; who will make him restoe it agayne:
Who will saye vnto hym: what doest thou?
He is God; whose wrath no man maye withstande: but the proudest of all must stoupe vnder him. How shulde I then answere him? or what wordes shulde I fynde out agaynst him: Yee though I be righteous / yet will I not geue him one worde agayne; but mekely submytte my self to my iudge. All be it þ I call vpon him / and he heare me / yet am I not sure / þ he hath herde my voyce: he troubleth me so with the tempest / and woundeth me out of measure without a cause. He will not let my sprete be in rest / but fylleth me with bytternesse.

¶ If men wyll speake of strength / he is the

This one thyng wyll I saye: He destroyeth both the ryghuous & vngodly. And though gheth he at the punishment of the innocent.

As for the worlde / he geueth it ouer in to the wherof all landes are full. Is it not so: where is there eny / but he is loch on:

My dayes haue bene moze swyfte then a runner: they are gone sodenly, and haue leue no good thyng. They are passed awaye, as the shippes that be good vnder sayle, and as the Aegle that hasteth to the praye. When I am purposed to forget my complaininges to chaunge my countenance / & to comfort my self: then am I afrayed of all my work / for I knowe / thou fauourest not an euill doer. If I be then a wycked one, why haue I laboured in vayne? Though I washed my self with snowe water, & made myne handes neuer so cleane, yet shuldest thou dryppe me in the myer, and myne atone clothes shulde defyle me. For he that I must geue answere vnto, and with whom I go to lawe, is not a man as I am. Neither is there eny dayrman to reprove both the partes, / or to laye his hande betwixte vs. Let him take his rodd awaye from mee, & let him make me no moze afrayed of him, and then shall I answere him without eny feare. The .r. Chapter.

Job is weery of his lyfe & setteth out his fragilitie before God. He despyre the tyme to ryset. A descriptiō of death.

Neuerthelesse/nor will I put forth my wordes: I will speake out of my belly heynesse of my soule / & will saye vnto God: & do not cōdemne me / but shewe me the cause / wherfore thou iudget me on this maner. Chynkest thou it well done / to oppresse me / to cast me of / being a worke of thy handes / and to manteyne the counsell of the vngodly? Hast thou fleshy eyes then / or doest thou loke as man lokech? Are thy dayes as the dayes of man / and thy yeares as mā's yerres? that thou makest such inquisycion for my wickednesse / & searchest out my synne? where as (notwithstandynge) thou knowest that I am no wycked person / and that there is no man able to deliuer me out of thyne hande. Thy handes haue made me / & fashioned me alltogether round about / wilt thou then destroye me suddenly? Remembre (I beseeche the) how that thou madest me of the mould of the earth / and shalt brynge me to earth agayne.

Hast thou not milked me / as it were milke: and turned me to cruddes lyke chese? Thou hast couered me wth skynne and flesh / and ioyned me together wth bones & synowes. Thou hast graunted me lyfe / & done me good: and the diligent hede that thou tokest vpon me / hath preferred my spete.

Though thou hydest these thyngs in thine hert: yet am I sure / that thou remembrest the all. Wherfore didest thou kepe me / when I synned / and hast not clenched me fro myne offence? If I do wickedly / wo is me therfore: If I be vngodly / yet darre I not lyt by my heade: so full am I of confusyon / & se myne awne mysery.

Thou huntest me out (brynge in heynesse) as it were a Lyon / and troublest me oute of measure. Thou bryngeest fresh wytnesses agaynst me / thy wrath increaseth thou vpon me / very many are thy plagues & I am in. Wherfore hast thou brought me out of my mothers wombe? that I had perished / & I no eye had sene me. If they had caried me to my graue / as sone as I was borne / then shulde I be now / as though I had neuer bene.

Shall not my thort lyfe come soone to an ende? holde the fro me / let me alone / that I maye ease my self a lytle afoze I go thither / from whence I shall not turne agayne. Namely / to that lande of darchnesse & shadowe of death: yee into that darch cloudy lande & deadly shadowe / where as is no ordre / but terrible feare as in the darchnesse.

Job is vniustly reprehended of Sophar: God is incomprehensible. He is mercifull to the repentant.

The xi. Chapter.

When answered Sophar the Naamathite / and sayd: Shulde not he that maketh many wordes / be answered? Shulde he that babbleth much / be cōmended therein? Shulde men geue eare vnto I only? Thou wilt laugh other men to scoorne / and shall no body mocke the agayne? Wilt thou saye vnto God: The thing that I take in hande is perfecte / & I am cleane in thy syght? & that God wolde speake / and open his lippes agaynst the / that he myght shewe the (out of his secrete wysdome) how manyfolde his Lawe is: then shuldest thou knowe / that God had forgotten the / because of thy synnes.

Wilt thou fynde out God by thy sektag? wilt thou attayne to the perfectnesse of the almyghty? He is hyer then heauen / what wilt thou do? Deper then the hell / how wilt thou then knowe hym? His length exceedeth the length of the erth / & his bredth & bredth of the see. Though he turne all thynges by syde downe / close them in / or thrust them together / who darre check hym therfore?

For it is he that knoweth the banyte of men: he seyth their wyckednesse also / shulde he not then cōsidre it? A bayne body exalteth hym selfe / & the sonne of man is lyke a wyld asses foale. If thou haddest now a right hert / and lystedst by thyne handes toward hym: yf thou woldest put awaye the wyckednesse which thou hast in hande / so that no vngodlynesse dwell in thy house: then myghtest thou lyt by thy face without shame / then shuldest thou be sure / & haue no nede to feare.

Then shuldest thou forget thy mysery / and chyncke nomore vpon it / then vpon the waters that runne by. Then shuld thy lyfe be as cleare as the noone daye / and sprynge forth as the mozynge. Then myghtest thou haue comfort / in the hope that thou hast: & slepe quyetly / whē thou art burped. Then shuldest thou take thy rest / and no man to make the afrayed / yee many one shuld let moch by the. As for the eyes of I vngodly / they shall be consumed / and not escape: their hope shall be mysery and sorow of mynde.

Job in shewing his pacience declareth the myght and power of God.

The xii. Chapter.

When answered / and sayde: Then (no doute) ye are the men alone / & wyldome shall perishe wth you. But I haue vnderstandynge as well as ye / and am no lesse then ye. Yee who knoweth not these thynges? Thus he that calleth vpon God / and who God heareth / is mocked of his neyghboure: the godly and innocent mā is laughed to scoorne. Godlynesse is a light despyled in the hertes of the ryche / and is set for for them to stamble vpon. The houses of robbers are in wealth & prosperite / & they & maliciously medle agaynst God / dwell without care: yee God geueth all thynges ryche with his hande.

When the catell / & they shall infortune the: the fowles of the ayre / & they shall tell the: Speake to the earth / & it shall shewe the: & to the fyddes of the see / and they shall certifie the. What is he / but he knoweth that the hande of the Lorde made all these? In whose hande is the soule of euery lyuynge thinge / & the bryeth of all men. Haue not I eares pleasure in hearing / & the mouth in fastinge the thinge I eateth? Amonge olde personnes there is wyldome / & amonge the aged is vnderstandynge. Yee with God is wyldome and strength / it is he that hath counsell and knowledge. If he breake downe a thing / who can set it by agayne? If he shut a thing / who will open it? Beholde / yf he withholde I waters / they drye by: yf he let them go / they destroye the earth. With hym is strength and wyldome: he knoweth bothe the disceauer & hym that is disceaued.

When the carpey awaye I wyse men / as it were a spoyle / & brynge the iudges out of their wyttes. He lowseth the gyrdle of kynge / & gyrdeth their loynes with a bonde. He ledeyth awaye the prestes in to captiuyte / & turneth the myghty vpon syde downe. He taketh the berite fro out of the mouth / & disapoynteth the aged of their wyldome. He poureth out confusyon vpon Princes / & conforteth them that haue bene oppressed. Loke what lyeth hyd in darchnesse / he declareth it openly: and the very shadowe of death bryngeyth he to lyght. He bothe increaseth the people / & destroyeth them: He maketh the to multiplie / & dryueth the awaye. He chasigeth the herte of the Princes & kynge of the earth / & disapoynteth the: so that they go wandryng out of the waye / & grope in the darche without light / flackering to & fro lyke dionckē men.

Job reponeth his frendes to their awne saynges / and condemneyth hypocryse.

The xliij. Chapter.

When I haue I sene with myne eye / hearde with myne eare / & vnderstandit. Loke what ye knowe / that same do I knowe also / nether am I inferior vnto you. Neuerthelesse I am purposed to talke with the almyghty / & my desyre is to comen with God. As for you / ye are workmaisters of lyes / & vnprouytable Philistias all to gether. Wolde God ye kepte poure tonge / that ye myght be take for wyse men. Therfore heare my wordes / & ponde the sentence of my lippes. Wyl ye make answer for God wth lyes / and magnteyne hym with disceate: Wyl ye accepte the periscon of God / & intreate for hym? Shall that helpe you / when he calleth you to reckoning? Chynke ye to begyle him / as a man is begyled? He shall punyssh you / & reproue you / yf ye do secretly accepte any personne. Shall he not make you afrayed / when he sheweth his feare vpon you? your remembrance shall be lyke vnto the dust / & your pride shall be turned to claye. Holde poure tonges now / and let me speake / for there is some thinge come into my mynde. Wherfore do I beare my flesh in my teth / & myne soule in myne handes? Lo / there is nether conforzte nor hope for me / yf he will slaye me. But yf I shewe & reproue myne awne wayes in his syght / he is eue the same / that maketh me whole: & why? there maye no hypocrite come before hym. Heare my wordes / & ponde my saynges: yf your eares. Beholde / now haue I prepared my iudgement / & knowe that I shall be founde ryghtwys. What is he / that will go to lawe with me? For yf I holde my tōge / I shall dye. Neuerthelesse graunte me two thynges / and then wyl I not hyde my selfe from the.

Withdrawe thyne hande fro me / & let not the fearfull drede of the make me afrayed. And then sende for me to the lawe / & I maye my hope is to answere for my selfe: or els / let me speake / & geue thou the answer. How greate are my mysdoes & synnes? Let me knowe my transgressions & offences. Wherfore hydest thou thy face / and holdest me for thyne enemye? Wilt thou be so cruel & extreme vnto a flyng lease / & folowe vpon drye stubble? & thou layest so sharply to my charge / & wilt offer to vndo me / for I synnes of my youth? Thou hast put my fote in the stocks: thou lokest narrowly vnto all my pathes / & marchest the steppes of my fete: where as I (notwithstan dyng) must consume lyke as a foule carion / and as a cloth that is moth eaten.

Job describeth the lyfe of a man / and prophesieth of his hope. the resurreccyon. Hope susteyneth the godly / tll they obtayne that they loke for.

The xliij. Chapter.

When that is borne of a womā / hath but a thorte tyme to lyue / & is full of diuerse miseries. He cometh by & falleth awaye lyke a floure. He lyeth as it were a shadowe / & neuer cōtinueth in one state. Chynkest thou it now well done / to open thyne eyes vpon soche one / and to brynge me before the in iudgement? Who can make it cleane / that commeth of an vncleane thinge? No body. The dayes of man are thorte / the nombre of his monethes are knowne only vnto the. But as for man/when he is deed/perfshed & consumed awaye/ what becommeth of him? The floudes when they be dzyed bp / & the ryuers when they be emptye/are filled agayne thozow the flowynge waters of the see:but when man slepeth/ he ryleth not agayne/bntill the heauen perishe: he shall not wake by ner ryle out of his slepe

For thou hast nombred all my goynges/ yet be not thou to extreamē bpō my synnes. Thou hast sealed bp myne offencē/as it were in a bagg: but be mercyfull bnto my wyckednesse. Eliphaz reprehēdeth Job because he ascribeth wyl domē & purenes to him selfe. He describeth the curle þ falleth on the wycked/ & chenyng Job to be one of that nombze.

The .xv. Chapter.

When answered Eliphaz þ Chema nite/ & sayde: Shulde a wyle mā answer as the science of þ wynde/ & fyll his bely wyth the wynde of bayne wordes/ the east? Thou reppouest wyth wordes/ that shulde be hym are nothyng worth: & speakest the thynges/ selfe be bayne & which can do no good. As for shame / thou hast set it asyde/ els woldest thou not make tryfynge doct. so many woꝝd before God: but thy wycked trine. The east nestete acheth thy mouth/ & so thou hast cho sen the a craftie tonge. Thyne awne mouth & therfore by a condemneth the/ and not I: yee thyne awne bely filled with lypyes shapē the an answer. What vnderstandest thou/ but we can the same? With vs are olde and aged men/ yee soch as haue lyued lōger then thy fozefathers.

Thynckest thou it a small thyng of the consolacions of God? and are they with the a * lyngē woꝝde. Why doth thyne herte make the so proude? Why standest thou so greatly in thyne awne conceate? What is man/ that he shulde be cleane? what hath he/ (which is bozne of a woman) wherby he myght be knowne to be ryghtuous? Beholde ther is no trust to hys sanctes: yee þ very * heauē are not cleane in his syght. How moch moze then an abhominable and vyle man/ which * dzycketh wyckednesse lyke water: I will tell the/ heare me: I will shewe the a thyng/ that I know: which wyle men haue tolde/ & hath not bene hyd from their fathers: bnto whom only the lande was geuen/ that no straunger shulde come amonge them.

The yngodly despayreth all the dayes of his lyfe/ & the nobze of a tyrauntes peres is bnto knowe. A fearfull sounde is euer in hys eares/ & when it is peace / yet feareth he destruction: He beleueth neuer to be deliuered out of darchnesse/ the swearde is alwaye befoze his eyes. Whē he goeth forth to get hys lyuing/ he thynketh planely/ that þ daye of darchnesse is at hande. Sorow and carefullnesse make him afrayed/ & cōpasse him rōunde aboute/ lyke as it were a kyngē in his hooft redy to þ battayll. For he hath stretched out his hande agaynst God/ & armed hym selfe agaynst the Almyghtie. He runneth proude bpō him/ and with a styff necke fighteth he agaynst him: where as he couereth hys face with fatnesse/ and maketh his body well kyngē. Therfoze shall his dwelling be in desolate cyties/ and in houses which nomā inhabiteth/ but are become heapes of stones.

He shall not be rich/ nether shall his substance continue/ ner encrease bpō earth. He shall neuer come out of darchnesse / the flame shall drye by his bryanches/ with the blast of the mouth of God shall he be taken awaye. He wyll nether applye hym selfe to fapthfulnes ner treuth/ so soze is he disceaued with banite.

He shall perysh/ afoze his tyme be woꝝne out/ & his hande shall not be grene. He shall be pluckte of as an bntymely grape fro the vyne/ & shall let his floure fall / as the olyue doth

Job reppouest hys mylch/ sayth that he suffereth moze then his wyckednesse hath deserued.

The .xvi. Chapter.

When answered/ and sayde: I haue oft tymes herde soch thyngs. Miserable geuers of cōfozte are ye/ all the foꝝe of you. Shall not thy bayne woꝝdes come yet to an ende? Or / hast thou yet any moze to saye? I coude speake/ as ye do also. But wolde God/ that poure soule were in my soules strede: then shulde I heape by woꝝdes agaynst you / and make my heade at you. I shulde cōfozte you wyth my mouth/ and release poure payne wyth the talkyng of my lypyes. But what shall I do? For all my woꝝd/ my sorow wyll not cease: & though I holde my tonge/ yet will it not departe from me. And now that I am full of payne/ and all that I haue destroyed/ (wherof my woꝝcles beare wytnesse) there standeth by a dyssembler to make me answer wyth lyes to my face. He is angrie at me / he hateth me/ & gnaweth bpō me wyth his teth. Myne enemy shouldeth bpō me in hys eyes.

They haue * opened their mouthes wyde bpō me/ and smytten me bpō the cheke despytefully/ they haue ealed the felow thozow myne aduerlite. God hath geuen me ouer to the yngodly/ & deliuered me into the handes of the wycked. I was somtyme in wealth/ but sodenly he hath broughed me to nought. He hath taken me by the neck/ he hath rente me/ & set me / as it were a march for hym to shute at. He hath cōpased me rōunde aboute in his darters / he hath wounded my loynes/ and not spared. My bowels hath he poured bpō the ground. He hath geue me one wounde bpō another/ and is fallen bpō me lyke a gyaunte. I haue towed a sack cloth bpō my shynne/ & lye wyth my strength in the dust.

My face is coullēd wyth wepyng/ & myne eyes are watern hymne. Howbeit there is no wyckednesse in my handes / and my prayer is cleane. * Deaith/ couer not my blood/ & let my crye ge synde no to come. Though a body myght please to God/ as one man doth wyth another/ yet the nombze of my yeares are come / and I must go the waye/ whence I shall not turne agayne.

Job sayth that he is consumed awaye/ and yet doth he paye alio ex

The .xvii. Chapter.

When answered/ and sayde: My dayes are shored. I am harde at deathes doze. I haue disceaued no mā/ yet must I be myne eye cōtinue in heynesse. Myne innocent deliuer me/ and set me by the: who shall then be able to thrust my handes together? Thou hast withholden their hertes fro vnderstandyng / therfoze shall they not be sett bp on hye. He promyseth hys frendes parte of hys good/ but his awne chyldre spede it. He hath made me as it were a bywoꝝde of the comon people. I am hys gestyngē stocke amonge the. My countenance is heuy for very anger/ & the membes of my body are become lyke a shadow. Vertuous men therfoze shall well cōfyde this/ & the innocent shall take parte agaynst the ypocrite.

The ryghteous wyll kepe his waye/ & he that hath cleane hādes/ wyll euer be strōger & stronger. As for you/ turne you/ & get you hence / for I can not se one wyle mā amonge you. My dayes are past / my thoughtes are banysht awaye/ whych haue bered myne herte/ chaunginge the nyght in to daye/ and þ light into darchnes. Though I tary neuer so moch/ yet þ graue is my house/ and I must make my bed in the darche. I call corrupciō my father/ & the woꝝmes call I my mother & my syster. What helpeth then my longe taryenge? Or / who wyll fulfyll þ thyngē/ that I loke for? All that I haue / shall go dōwne in to the pytt/ and lye wyth me in the dust.

Waldad reherceth the paynes of the vnsapthfull & wycked.

The .xviii. Chapter.

When answered Waldad þ Suhite/ & sayde: When wyll ye make an soche as thou. I haue opened your mouthes: & marche well/ & cōfyde / we wyll speake also. Wherfoze are we counted as beastes/ and reputed so vyle in your syght? Why destroyest thou thy selfe wyth anger? Shall þ earth be forsaken / or the stones remoued out of their place because of the? Shall not the lyght of the yngodly be put oute? yee þ flame of his fyze shall not burne. The lyght shalbe darche in his dwellinge/ & hys candle shalbe put out in hym. His presumptuous goynges shall be kepte in/ & his awne counsell shall cast him dōwne. For his lete shalbe taken in the nett / and he shall walke in þ snare. His sote shalbe holdē in þ gilber/ and the thurstie shall catch him. The snare is layed for him in the grounde/ and a pitfall in the waye.

Fearfullnesse shall make him afrayed on every lyde/ that he shall not knowe / where to get out. Hunger shalbe his substance/ & mylfortune shall hange bpōn hym. He shall ly / that he left nothing behinde / therfore his goodes shall not prospere. Though he had plenteousnesse of euery thyng / yet was he poore / and therfore he is but a wretch on euery syde.

For though I wyched haue neuer somoch to fill his hely / yet God shall sende his wzath vpon him / and cause hys battayll to raygne ouer him: so I yf he lie the yron weapens / he shall be thott with the stele bowe. The arrowe shall be take forth / and go out at his backe / and a glistering swearde thorow the gall of him / feare shall come bys him. * There shall no darchnes be able to hyde hy. And vnkyndelye shall consume him / and loke what remayneth in hys house / it shall be destroyed.
The heauen shall declare his wickednesse / & the earth shall take parte agaynst him. The substaunce that he hath in his house / shall be taken awaye and perishe / in the daye of the Lordes wzath. This is the porcyon that the wyched shall haue of God / and the heretage that he maye liche for of the Lorde.

Job recyeth the prosperite of the wyched / & after describeth thei todaye ruyne and destruccyon.

The .xxi. Chapter.

Job answered / and sayd: I heare my wordes / & amende your selues.
Suffre me a lytle / that I maye speake also / and then laugh my wordes to scozne / yf ye wyll. Is it with a mā / that I make this disputacyon? which yf it were so / shulde not my spete be then in soze trouble? March me well / be abashed / and laye your hande vpon your mouth. For whē I ponde & cōsydye this / I am afrayed / and my flesh is smytten with feare. Wherefore do wicked men lyue in health and prof-perite / come to their olde age / and increase in ryches? Their chylders chyldren lyue in their sight / & their generacyon before their eyes. Their houses are safe fro all feare / for the rodd of God doth not smyte them. Their bullocke geueth / & that not oute of tyme:
their cowe calueth / and is not vnfrutefull.

They sende forth their chyldre by flockes / and their sonnes lede by daunce. They beare with them tabyettes and harpes / and haue instrumentes of musyck at their pleasure.

They spende their dayes in welthyngnesse: but sorely they go downe to hell. They saye vnto God: go from vs / we desyre not the knowledge of thy wayes. What maner of felowe is the Almightie / that we shulde serue him?
What profyt shulde we haue / to submytte oure selues vnto hym? Lo / there is vitarly no goodnesse in the / therfore will not I haue to do with the counsell of the vngodly. How oft shall the candle of the wicked be put out? how oft cometh their destruccyon vpon the?
What sorowe shall God geue the for their parte in his wzath? Yee they shall be euē as chaff before the wynde / and as dust that the storme carryeth awaye.

And though God saue their chyldre from soch sorowe / yet wyll he so rewarde the sel-ues / that they shall knowe it. Their alyue de-struccyon and misery shall they se with their eyes / & bynche of the fearfull wzath of the Almightie. For what careth he / what be come of his householde after hys death: whose monethes passe awaye wyfter then an a-rowe. In as moch the as God hath the hysell power of all / who can teach him eny knowlege? One dyeth now when he is myghty & at his best / rich / & in prosperite: euē whē hys bowels are at the fatte / & his bones full of mary. An other dyeth in sorowe & heuynesse / and neuer had good dayes. Now slepe they both a lyke in the earth / & the wormes couer them. But I knowe what ye thynke / yee & what ye ymagin agaynst me vnrighously.
For ye saye: where is the Prynces palace: where is the dwellynge of the vngodly? Alke eny mā that goeth by the waye / & (yf ye will not regarde their tokens & dedes) he shall tell you / that the wicked is kepte vnto the daye of destruccyon / and that the vngodly shall be brought forth in the daye of wzath. Who darre reproue him for his wayes to his face:
who rewardeth him for the vngodlynesse that he doth? Yet shall he be brought to hys graue / and watch amonge the braye of the deed. Then shall he be sayne to be buryed amonge the stones by the broke syde. All men must folowe hym / & there are innumerable gone before hym. O how bayne is the com-forte he geue me: Are not your answeres cleane contrary to ryght and treuth?

Eliphaz reprehendeth Job of vnnecyfulnesse.

The .xxii. Chapter.

Eliphaz the Themanite gaue answere / & sayde: Waxe a man be compared vnto God in wysdome / though he seme to him self / for to be lyke him: What pleasure hath God in the
Wh. iij. thou

thou art righteous? Or what doth it profite him? & thy wayes are perfect? Is he afrayed to reproue the? & to stepe forth in the in to iudgment? Cometh not this for a great wickednesse? & for thyne vnglacious dedes which are innumerable? Thou hast take a pledge from thy brethren for nought? & robbed a naked of their clothing: To such as were weary hast thou geue no water to drinke/ thou hast withdrewen bread fro a hungry: Shuldest thou then as bleth violence/ wronge & oppression/ (doinge all thinge of parcialite/ and hauinge respecte of personnes) dwell in the lande? Thou hast sent wyddowes awaye emptie & oppressed the pooze fatherlesse.

Therefore art thou cōpaled aboute with snares on euery syde/ & sorely bered w feare Shuldest thou the se no darcknesse? Shuldest thou not water floude runne ouer the? Now because God is hyer then the heauens/ & because thou seest the starres are so hye/ wilt thou therfore saye: Cūth/ how shulde God knowe? Both his domynion reach beyonde the cloudes/ Cūth/ the cloudes couer hym & he maye not se/ for he dwelleth in heauen.

Well/ thou wilt hope a olde waye/ that all wicked men haue gone: both olde & yonge/ whose foundaciō is a ruinge water/ which sape vnto God: go fro vs/ & after this maner: Cūth/ what will the Almightye do vnto vs? where as he (not withstanding) telleth their houses to al good. Which meanynge of the vngodly be farre fro me. For with ioye shall the godly/ and with gladnesse shall the innocent se/ that their increase shall be betwen downe/ and their posterite consumed with fyre.

Therefore recorde the vnto God/ & be content/ so shall all thynges prospere w righte well. Receaue the lawe at his mouth/ & laye vpon his wordes in thyne herte. For yf thou wilt turne to a vngodlyne/ thou shalt stande fast/ & all vngodlyne shall be farre fro thy dwellinge: He shall geue the an haruest/ which in plenty & abondance shall excede the dust of the earth/ and the golde of Ophir lyke ryuer stones. Yee the Almightye hys awne selfe shall be thine haruest/ & the heape of thy money. Then shalt thou haue thy de-lyte in the Almightye/ & lyft vpon thy face vnto God. Then shalt thou make thy prayer vnto him/ & he shall heare the/ & thou shalt kepe thy promyses. Then loke what thou takest in hand/ he shall make it to prospere w the/ and the lyght shall shyne in thy wayes. For who so humbleth hym selfe/ hym shall he set vp/ and who so loketh mekelly/ shall be healed. If thou be innocent/ he shall saue the: and thow the vngodlyne of thyne hādes shalt thou be deliuered.

Job affirmeth that he bothe knoweth and feareth the power and sentence of the iudge/ & sayth that he hath walked in his righte wellnesse.

The xxiiij. Chapter.

Job answered/ & sayd: My saying is yet this daye in bitterness/ & my hāde heuy amonge my greynngs. That I myght se him and fynde hym: & that I myght come before his seate/ to pleate my cause before him/ & to fyll my mouth w argumētes: That I might know/ what answer he wolde geue me: & that I might vnderstande/ what he wolde saye vnto me. I will he pleate agaynst me with hys greate power & strenght/ or will he leane him selfe utterly vpon me? Oh no/ let him not do so w me. But lett hym geue me lyke power to go to a lawe/ then am I sure to wyne my matter: For though I go before/ I fynde him not: If I come behynde/ I can get no knowledge of him: Yf I go on the left syde to pōdye his wordes/ I can not atteyne vnto them. Agayne/ yf I go on the right syde/ he hydeth him selfe/ that I can not se him. But as for my waye/ he knoweth it: & tryeth me as the golde in the fyre.

Nevertheless my fete kepe his path/ hys hys strete haue I holden/ and not gone oute of it. I haue not forsaken the cōmaundemēt of his lippes/ but loke what he charged me with his mouth/ that haue I shut vp in my herte. It is he hī selfe alone/ who will turne him backe: He doth as him listeth/ and bynggeth to passe what he will. He rewardeth me in to my bosome/ & many other thynges mo doth he/ as he maye by his power. This is the cause/ that I chynke at his presence/ to a when I conspōdye him/ I am afrayed of hym. For in somoch as he is God/ he maketh my herte soft: and seynge that he is Almightye/ he putteth me in feare. Thus can not I get out of darcknesse/ the cloude hath so couered my face.

Job describeth the wickednes of men/ & sheweth what curse belongeth to the wicked.

The xxv. Chapter.

Consyderynge then that there is no tyme byd from the Almightye/ how happeneth it/ that they which knowe hym/ will not regarde his dayes? For some men there be/ that remoue other mens landmarkes: that robbe them of their catell/ and kepe the same for their awne: that byrue awaye a alle of the fatherlesse: that take the wyddowes ore for a pledge: that thrust the pooze oute of the waye/ and oppresse the symple of the worlde together. Beholde/ the wyld asses in the deserte goo by tymes/ as their maner is/ to spoyle: Yee the very wyldernesse mynistreth foode for their chyldre. They reape the corne selde that that is not their awne: & gather the grapes out of his vinyarde/ who the haue oppressed by vpoience. They are the cause that so many men are naked and bare/ haue no clothes to couer them and kepe them from colde: So that when the showers in vmoūtaynes haue rayned vpon them/ & they be all wet/ they haue none other succoure/ but to kepe them amonge the rockes.

They spoyle the suckinge fatherlesse chyldre/ and put the pooze in prison: In somoch that they let the go naked without clothing/ and yet the hungry beare the sheues. The pooze are fayne to laboure in their oyle milles/ yee and to treade in their wyne presses/ & yet to suffre thyrst. The whole cytie cryeth vnto the Lorde with syghynge/ the soules of a dayne make their complaynte: But God destroyeth them not for all this/ where as they (not withstanding) are rebellious and disobedient enemyes: which seke not his light and waye/ ner turne agayne in to hys path. Tymely in the moynynge do they aryse/ to murthur the symple and pooze/ & in a nyght they go a stealynge.

The eye of the vngodly is lyke the aduolterer/ & wayteth for the darcknesse/ & sayeth thus in him selfe: Cūth/ there shall no man se me/ & so he dysgyseth his face. In a nyght ceason they search the houses/ and hyde the selues in the daye tyme/ but will not knowe a light. For as soone as the daye breaketh/ the shadowe of death cometh vpon the/ and they go in horrible darcknesse. The vngodly is very swyft: & his porciō also vpon erth were swyfter then a runnyng water/ which suffreth not a shipmā to beholde the saye/ & pleasaunt bynnyng. & they (for a wickednesse which they haue done) were drawen to a hell/ soner the snowe melteth at the heate.

That all cōpassion vpon the were forgottē: that their daynties were womes/ that they were cleane put out of remembrance/ & utterly hewē downe lyke an vnfrutefull tre. For they manteyne the bare/ & make the & they can not beare/ & vnto wyddowes they do no good. They plucke downe a mightie w their power/ & when they them selues are gotten by/ they are neuer without feare/ as longe as they lyue. And though they myght be safe/ yet they will not receaue it/ for their eyes loke vpon their awne wayes. They are exalted for a lytle/ but shortly are they gone/ brought to extreme pouerte/ & take out of the waye: yee & utterly plucke of/ as a eares of corne. Is it not so? who will the reproue me as a lyar/ & saye that my wordes are nothyng worth?

Balad proueth that no man is cleane & with oute synne before God.

The xxvi. Chapter.

Job answered Balad the Suhi: A te & sayde: Power & feare ys w him aboute/ & maketh peace/ & syngynge in his highnesse/ whose men of warre are innumerable/ and whose lyght arpleth ouer all. But how maye a mā cōpared vnto God/ be iustified? Or how can he be cleane/ that is borne of a womā? Beholde/ the Moone shyneth nothing in cōparison to him/ and a starres are vnclane in his sight. How moch more then mā/ & is but corrupciō: & a sonne of mā/ which is but a worme? Job sheweth that man can not helpe God/ and proueth it by his myracles.

The xxvii. Chapter.

Job answered/ & sayd: How helpest thou a weake? what cōforte geuest thou vnto hym & hath no strenght? where is a counsell & thou shuldest geue him/ which hath no wisdom? Wilt thou to thewe thyne excellent ryghteousnesse? Before whom hast thou spoken those wordes? who made the bryeth to come out of a mouth? The gyauntes & worthies & are dayne/ & lye vnder the worlde w their cōpanions: yee & all they which dwell beneth in the hell are not byd fro hym/ and a very destrucciō it selfe can not be kepte out of his syght. He stretcheth out a north ouer the emptie/ & hāgeth the earth vpon nothing. He byndeth the water in his cloudes/ & they fall not downe together. He holdeth back his stoule/ that it can not be sene/ & spyedeth his cloudes before it.

He hath cōpaled the waters w certayne boundes/ but yll the daye a night come to an ende. The very pylers of a heauē tremble & quake at his reproue. He stilleth a see with his power/ & thowome hys wysdome hath he set forth the worlde. With his sprete hath he garnished the heauens/ & with his hāde hath he wounded the rebellious serpent. This is now a thowte summe of his doynges. But here them vpon/ who is able sufficiently to rehearse his wordes: who can perceaue and vnderstande a thondre of his power.

The constantnes and perfectnes of Job/ & the part of the vnsaythfull with God.

The xxviii. Chapter.

Job proceeded & wente forth in his cōmunicacion/ sayynge: As truly as God lyueth (which hath taken awaye my power fro me) & the Almightye/ that hath bered my mynde: My lippes shall talke of no banite/ and my tonge shall speake no dyscreate/ whyle my bryeth is in me/ & as longe as the wynde (that God hath geuen me) is in my nostrils.

God forbode/ & I shulde graunte poure Balad cause cause to be ryght. As for me / vntyll myne ende come wyll I neuer goo from myne innocency. My ryghtwes dealynge kepe I fast / which I wyll not forsake: my hert shall not reproue me of my dayes. Therefore myne enemy shall be founde as the vngodly / & he taketh parte agaynst me / as vnrighteous What hope hath y^e hypocrite / though he haue greate good / and though God geue him ryches after his hert / desyre? Doth God heare him the soner / whē he crieth vnto him in his necessite? Hath he such pleasure and delecte in the Almighty / & he darre alwaye call vpon God? I wyll teach you in the name of God.

And the thinge that I haue of the Almighty / will I not kepe from you. Beholde / ye shall see in youre awne conceite / as though ye knew all thynges. Wherefore then do ye go aboute with such vayne wordes / sayinge: This is y^e porcion that the wycked shall haue of God / & the heretage that Traynantes shall recea-ue of the Almighty. If he get many chyldre / they shall perishe with the sword / & his posterite shall haue scarcenesse of bred. Loke whō he leaueth behinde him / they shall dye & be buried / and no man shall haue pite of his wyddowes. Though he haue as moche money as the dust of the erth / & rayment as ready as the claye / he maye well prepare it: but the godly shall put it vpon hym / & the innocent shall deale out y^e money. His house shall endure as the moth / and as a bothe that the watch mā maketh. When the rich mā dyeth / he carieth nothyng with him: he is gone in the twyncklinge of an eye. Destruction tak-eth holde vpon him as a water floude / & y^e tēpest stealeth him awaye in y^e night season.
A beheement winde carieth him hence / & departeth: a storme plucketh him oute of hys place. It russheth in vpon him / and spareth him not: he maye not escape from the power therof. Then clappe men their hādes at him / ye & feast of hī / whē they loke vpon his place.
Gods worth that the wysdome of God is vnfearchaile.

The. xxiij. Chapter.
Here are places where syluer is molten / & where golde is tryed:
where yron is dygged oute of the grounde / & stones resolued to me-tall. The darcknes shall once come to an ende / he can seke out þe grounde of all thinges:
the stones / the darcke / & þe horrible shadowe.
With the ryuer of water parteth he a sunder the straunge people / þe knoweth no good neighbourheade: such as are rude & unmaner-ly & boystours. He bringeth foode out of þe erth / & that which is vnder / consumeth he wth fyr. There is founde a place / whose stones are cleane Sapphires / & where þe clottes of þe earth are golde. There is a waye also þ the wydes knowe not/that no vulturs eye hath sene: wherin þ proude & hye mynded walke not/ & where no lyon cometh. There putteth he his hande vpo the stony rockes/ and ouer-thoweth the mountaynes. Riuer flowe out of the rockes/ & loke what is pleasaunt/ his eye seyth it. Out of droppes byngeth he greate floudes together/ & the thinge that is hyd bringeth he to lycht. How cometh a mā then by wysdome: Where is the place þ men fynde vnderstanding: Wherey no mā can tell how woorthy a thyng she is / nether is she founde in the lande of the lyuinge. The depe sayeth: she is not in me. The see sayeth: she is not with me. She can not be gotten for þ most fyne golde/ nether maye þ pryce of her be bought with eny moneye. No wedges of golde of Ophir/ no p̄cious Onix stones/no Saphirs maye be cōpared vnto her. No/nether golde ner Chystall / nether swete odours ner golden plate. There is nothing so woorthy/ or so excellent/ as once to be named vnto her: for perfecte wysdome goeth farre be yonder them all. The Topas that cometh out of Indē/ maye in no wyse be likened vnto her: yee no maner of apparell how pleasaunt and saye soeuer it be.

From whence then cometh wylsdomē? and where is the place of vnderstandynge? She is hyd from the eyes of all men/pee & fro the foules of payre. Destruction & death saye: we haue herde tell of her wth oure eares. But God seyth her waye/and knoweth her place. foz he beholdeth the endes of the world and loketh vpon all that is vnder heauen. When he weped the wyndes/ & measured the waters: when he set the rayne in oydre/and gaue the mightie floudes a lawe: Then dyd he se her/then declared he her/ prepared her & knewe her. And vnto man he sayde: Beholde/ to feare the Lorde/ is wylsdomē: & to forlake euell. is vnderstandynge.

Job complayneth of the prosperitie of the tyme past / suttelily reprimyng hys fryndes of iniurte / he cause they sayde þ Job sufferedt accordyng to his deservyng.

The .xiii. Chapter.
S Job pꝛoceaded and went forth in his communycacyon / sayinge: O that I were as I was in y^e monethes by past / and in the dayes when God pꝛeserued me: when hys lyght shyned vpon my head: when I wente after the same light & shynynge euē thozowte the darcknesse. As it stode with me / when I was welthy & had ynough: when God pꝛospered my house: whē the Almighty was with me:
 when my houtholde folckes stode aboute me: whē my wayes ranne ouer with butter/and when the stony rockes gaue me ryuers of oyle

of oyle: when I wente thorow the cite vnto the gate / and whē they set me a chayre in the strete: whē the young men (as soon as they sawe me) hyd them selues / & when the aged arose / and rode by vnto me: when the Princes left of their talking / & layed their hande to their mouth: when the myghty kepte still their voyce / and when their tonges cleued to the rofe of their mouthes. When all they hearde me / called me happye: and when all they that sawe me / wysshed me good. For I deliuered the pooze when he cryed / and the fatherlesse that wanted helpe. He that shuld haue bene lost / gaue me a good worde / and the wyddowes herte prayled me. And why?
I put vpon me^{re} ryghtuousnes / which co-uered me as a garmēt / and equyte was my croune. I was an eye vnto the blinde / and a fore to the lame / I was a father vnto the pooze / and when I knew not their cause / I sought it out diligently. I brake the chaftes of the vnyryghtuous / and plucked the spoyle out of their teth.

Wherefore/I thought hereby/that I shulde haue dyed in my nest: & that my dayes shulde haue bene as many as the sondes of the see.
¶ For my rote was spied out by þe water syde
& the dew laye vpo my cozne. Myne honour encreased moze and moze/and my bowe was euer the stronger in my hand. Vnto me men gaue eare, me they regarded/& with sylence they tarped for my counsell. If I had spokē/they wolde haue it none other wayes / my wordes were so well taken amonge them.
¶ They wayted for me/as the earth doth for þe rayne:and gaped vpon me / as the grounde doth to receaue the *latter shower. When I laughed / they knewe well it was not earnest:and this testimony of my countenance pleased them nothing at all. When I agreed vnto their waye/I was the chefe/and sat as a kyng amonge his seruantes: Or as one that comforteth soche as be in heuynesse.

¶ The greates dyspyllynge of men and curse of God that Job suffereth.

¶ The xxx. Chapter .
BUT now they that are myne inferiours and younger then I, haue me in dereliction: yee euen they/whose fathers I wold haue thoughtlesse to haue set with the dogges of my catell. The power & strenght of their handes might do me no good/and as for their age, it is spent and past away without any profit. If I be weary of misery and hunger/they wente aboute in the wyldernesse lyke wretches and beggers/plucking by herbes from amonge the bushes/a the Junipers rote was their meate. And when they were dyspnen forth, men cried after them / as it had bene after a thefe.

Their dwellingge was besyde foule brokes / yee in the caues & dennes of the earth. vpon the dype heeth wente they aboute cpyng / & in the byrme hyles they gathered the to gether. They were the chyldren of fooles & bylaynes / which are deed awaye fro the world.
 Now am I their songe / & am become their teasting stock: they abhorre me / they fle farre fro me / & stayne my face with spetie. for the Lorde hath opened his quyer / he hath hytt me / & put a bydle in my mouth. vpon my right hande they rose to gether agaynst me / they haue hurte my fete / made a waye to de-stroye me / & my path haue they clene marred. It was soealy for them to do me harme / that they neded no man to helpe them. They fell vpon me / as it had bene the breakyng in of waters / & came in by heapes to destroye me. fearfullnesse is turned agaynst me.

Myne honoure banysyth awaye more swiftly then wynde/ & my prosperite depareth hēce lyke as it were a cloude. Therfoze is my mynde poured full of heynesse/ & the dayes of trouble haue takē holde vpon me.
My bones are pearled thorow in the nyght season/ & my synewes take no rest. With all their power haue they chaūged my garmēt/& gyrded me therewith/ as it were w a coate.
I am euē as it were claye/ & am become like ashes and dust. When I crye vnto the/ thou doest not heare me: & though I stande before the/ yet thou regardest me not. Thou art become myne enemye/ & w thy vpolent hande thou takest part agaynst me. In tymes past thou dydest let me bp on hye/ as it were aboue the wynde/ but now hast thou geuē me a bery soze fall. Sure I am/ & thou wilt dely-uer me vnto death: where as a lodgyng is pzeared for all men lyuyng. Now ble not mē to do vpolēce vnto the/ that are destroyed all ready: but where hurte is done/ there ble they to helpe. Dyd not I wepe in the tyme of trouble? Had not my soule compassion bpō the pooze? Yet neuerthelesse where as I loked for good/ euell happened vnto me: and where as I wayted for lycht/ there came darknesse. My bowels seeth within me/ & take no rest/ for the dayes of my trouble are come bp on me. He hely & lowly came I in/yee & without any displeasure: I stode bp in the congregacyon/ and cōmuned with them.
But now I am a companion of dragons/ & a felowe of Estriches. My shyne vpon me is turned to black/ and my bones are bzēt with heate: my harpe is turned to sorow/ & my pyppē to wepyng.

The xxxi. Chapter.
B. b. I made

A* To make a cōuenaunt with myn e yes; that I wolde not loke byon a damsell. For how grete a por-cion shal I haue of God fro aboue?
What inheritaunce fro the almyghty on destruccyon & mylery come byon hym: Doth not he se my wayes / & tell all my goynges.

If I haue cleued vnto banyte oꝝ yf my fete

O then let my wyffe be another mans harlot and let other lye with her. For this is a wickednesse & synne / that is worthy to be punnyshed / yee a fyre that bttterly shulde consume / & rote out all my substāce. Wyd I euer thinke scoone to do right vnto my seruantes & maydes / whē they had eny mater agaynst me. But seyng & God will sytt in iudgmet what shall I do? And for so moch as he will nedes bylett me / what answere shall I geue hym? He that fashyoned me in my mothers wombe / made he not him also? were we not both shapen alyke in oure mothers bodys?
When the poore despyeh any thynge at me / haue I denyed it them? Haue I caused the wyddowe stande waytynge for me in bayne?
Haue I eaten my poꝝeꝝ alone / that the fatherlesse hath had no parte w me? for mercy grewe by with me fro my yowth / & cōpassion fro my mothers wombe. Haue I sene any man perissh thowow nakednesse & wat of clo-thynges? Oꝝ any poore man for lack of ray-ment / whose sides thanched me not / because he was warmed with the wolle of my shepe?
Wyd I euer lyfte by my hande to hurte the fatherlesse? yee in the gate where I sawe my selfe to be in auctozite: then let myne arme fall fro my shulder / & myne arme holes be broken fro the ioyntes. For I haue euer feared the vengeaunce & punysshment of God / & knew very well / yf I was not able to beare his burthen. Haue I put my trust in golde?
Oꝝ haue I sayde to the fynest golde of all: thou arte my confydence? Haue I reioysed because my substāce was great / & because my hande gat so moche? Wyd I euer greatly regarde the rylyng of the soune? oꝝ had I putacyon? Hath my hert medled pryuelly w the God that is aboue. Haue I euer reioysed at the hurte of myne enemy? Oꝝ was I

O h no. I neuer suffred my mouth to do soche a synne / as to wysp hym euell. Yet they of myne atone housholde saye: who shal let vs to haue oure belly full of hys flesch? I haue not suffred a straunger to lye with out / but opened my doꝝes vnto him. Haue I euer done any wycked dede where thowow I shamed my selfe before men: oꝝ any abhomyncy / that I was sayne to hyde it? For yf I had feared any grete multitude of people: oꝝ yf I had bene dyspyled of the symple / O then shuld I haue bene afrayed. Thus haue I quyetly spent my lyfe / & not gone out at the doze. O that I had one wyych wolde heare me. Lo / this is my cause. Let the almyghty geue me an swere: & let hym that is my contrary party / sue me with a lybell. When shall I take it byon my shulder / & as a garlande about my head. I haue told the nōber of my goynges / & deliuered them vnto hym as to a Prynce.
But yf case be that my *lande crye agaynst me / oꝝ that the forowes therof make any cōplaynte: yf I haue eatē the frutes therof vn-payed for / yee yf I haue greued any of y plow-men: then let thyffles growe in steade of my wheate / & thornes for my barye.

Here ende the wordes of Job.

¶ Eliu after the other had synnyshed their commu-nycacyon / reponeth them of folyshnes. Age maketh not a man wyse / but the sperte of God.

¶ The xxxij. Chapter.

So these thre men wolde stryue no more with Job / because he helde hym selfe a ryghteous man. But ¶ Eliu the sonne of Barachel the Bussite of the kinred of Ram / was very soze displeased at Job / that he called him self iust before God. And with Jobs thre fryndes he was angry also / because they had founde no reasonable answere to ouercome hym. Now taried Eliu tyll they had ended their cōmunicacyon with Job / for why they were elder then he. So when Eliu the sonne of Barachel the Bussite sawe / yf these thre men were not able to make Job answere / he was mylcontent: so that he gaue answere him selfe / & sayde: Consydryng / that I am younge / & ye be men of age / I was afrayed / & durst not shew forth my mynde / for I thought thus within my selfe: It becommeth olde men to speake / & the aged to teache wisdom. Euery mā (no doute) hath a mynde / but it is the inspiraciō of the Almighty that geueth vnderstanding.
All mē are not wyse / nether doth euery aged man vnderstande the thynge that is lawfull.

¶ Therefore wyll I speake also (in so farre as I maye be hearde) & wyll shew you myne opponyon. For when I had wayted tyll ye made an ende of youre talkynge / and heardē youre wyldome / what argumētes ye made in your communycacyon: yee when I had delygetly pondred what ye sayde I founde not one of you that made any good argument agaynst Job / oꝝ that directly coude make answere vnto his wordes: lest ye shulde prayse youre selues / to haue soude out wyldome: because it is God that hath cast hym out / & no man.
¶ Neuerthelesse / seyng he hath not spokē vnto me / therefore wyll I not I answere hym as ye haue done (for they were so abashed / that they coude not make answere / nor speake one worde) but in so moche as ye wyll not speake / standynge styll lyke dom men / and makynge no answere: I haue a good hope for my parte to shappe him an answere / and to shewe him my meanyng. For I am full of wordes / & the sperte that is within me / compelleth me.

Beholde / I am as the new wyne / which hath no bente / and bursteth the newe vessels in sunder. ¶ Therefore wyll I speake / that I may haue a bente: I will oꝝ my lyppes / & make answere I will regarde no maner of personne / no mā will I spare. For yf I wold go aboute to please men / I knowe not how sone my maker wolde take me awaye.

¶ Eliu sheweth wherein Job offendeth. With God may we not stryue / nor curiously searche ou: his wayes.

¶ The xxxij. Chapter.

Wherfore heare my wordes (O Job) & herken vnto me all / that I wyll saye: Beholde / I wyll open my mouth / and my tonge shall speake out of my chawes. My hert shall oꝝze my wordes a ryght / & my lyppes shall talke of pure wisdom. The sperte of God hath made me / & the byeth of the almyghty hath geuen me my lyfe. If thou canst / then geue me an-swere: prepare thy selfe to stande before me face to face. Beholde / before God am I euen as thou / for I am fashyoned and made euen of the same mould. ¶ Therefore / thou nedest not be afrayed of me / nether nedest thou to fear / that my auctozyte shalbe to heuy for the. Now hast thou spoken in myne eares / & I haue herde the voyce of thy wordes: I am cleue without any faute / I am innocent / & there is no wickednes in me. But lo / he hath pyked a quarell agaynst me / & taketh me for his enemy: he hath put my fote in y stocks / & loketh narrowly vnto all my pathes. Be-holde / vnto these vnreasonable wordes of thyn wyll I make answere.

Shulde God be reproued of man? why doest thou then stryue agaynst him / because he geueth the no accōpters of all his doynge?
For when God doth once cōmaunde a thynge there shulde no man be curyous / to searche whether it be ryght. In dreames & vylyōs of the nyght season / when sloupyng cometh vnto men / yf they fall a slepe in their beddes) he rowndeth thē in the eares / he infourmeth them / and sheweth them playnly / that it is he / which withdraueth man from curyll / de-lyuereth hym from pryde / kepeth hys soule from destruccio / & hys lyfe from the swearde.
He chasteneth hym with sycknesse / and byn-geth hym to his bed: he layeth soze punysh-ment byon hys bones / so that hys lyfe maye awaye with no byed / & hys soule athyrteth to eate any dayntye meate: In so moche that his body is cleane consumed awaye / and his bones appeare no more. Hys soule draweth on to destruccyon / & hys lyfe to death. Now yf there be a *messenger (one amōge a thousande) sent for to speake vnto man / and to the shewe hym the ryght waye: then the Lorde is mercyfull vnto hym / & sayeth: He shalbe deliuered / that he fail not downe to destruccyon / for I am suffycently recōpyed. ¶ Chan hys flesch (which hath bene in mylery & trouble) shalbe as it was in hys youth. For yf he submytte hym selfe vnto God / he is gracys-ous / and sheweth hym hys countenaunce ioy-fully / and rewardeth man for his rightous-nes. Soche a respecte hath he vnto men.
¶ Therefore let a man confesse (and saye) I offended / but he hath chastened and reformed me: I dyd vnryghtously / neuerthelesse he hath not recompensed me thereafter. Yee he hath deliuered my soule from destruccyon / and my lyfe / that it seith the lyght. Lo / thus woꝝketh God allwaye with man / that he kepeth hys soule from perisshynge / and letteth hym enioye the lyght of the lyuynge.
¶ Marke well (O Job) and heare me: holde the styll / vntyll I haue spoken. But yf thou hast any thynge to saye / when answere me / and speake / for thy answere pleaseh me. If thou hast nothyng / then heare me / and hold thy tonge / so shall I teache the wyldome.

¶ Eliu prayseth the iustyce of God / whych iudgeth the woꝝlde / and gouerneith all.

¶ The xxxij. Chapter.

Eliu proceeding forth in his com-munycacyon / sayde: Heare my wordes (O ye wyse men) herken vnto me / ye that haue vnderstan-dynge. For lyke as the mouth tasteth y meates / so the eare proueth and dyscerneth the wordes. As for the iudgement / let vs seke it out amonge oure selues / that we may knowe what is ryght. And why? Job hath sayde: I am ryghteous / but God doth me wronge. I must needs be a lyer / though my cause be right / and violently I am plagued where as I made no fawte: where is there soche one as Job / who ruleth by scozefulnes like water?

Which goeth in the company of wycked doers / and walketh with vngodly men: for he sayeth: Though a man be good / yet is he naught before God. Therefore hearken vnto me / ye that haue vnderstandynge.

Farre be it from God / that he shoulde meddle with wickednesse: and farre be it from the almighty / that he shoulde meddle with vnrightuous dealing: but he rewardeth the wor-kes of man / and causeth euery man to finde acordynge to his wayes. For sure it is / that God condemneth no man wrongously / and the iudgement of the Almyghty is not vn-righteous. Who ruleth the earth in his strede?
Or whom hath he left to gouerne the whole worlde? To whom hath he geuen hys herite / for to drawe hys spere and bryeth vnto hym?
All flesh shall come together vnto naught / and all men shall turne agayne vnto earth. If thou now haue vnderstandynge / heare what I saye / and hearken to the voyce of my wordes.

Maye he be made whole / that loueth no ryght? If thou were a very innocent man / wouldest thou then be punished? For he is euery the same / that knoweth the rebellious
